MISSING AVIATRIX SAFE AFTER ISLAND LANDING

Mrs. Keith-Miller Reaches Nassau With Thrilling Account of Battling Gale at Sea

[Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune]

NASSAU (Bahamas) Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian pilot and women's transcontinental speed champion of the United States, who has been missing since she left Havana, Cuba, Friday morning on a flight to Miami, Fla., is alive and safe. She arrived here today aboard a fishing boat after her tiny bullet plane had been forced down on one of the Andros Islands in the Bahama group on the same day she took the air at the Cuban capital.

With the compass of her rickety plane crippled and without a radio, or even a turn and bank indicator Mrs. Keith-Miller flew blind for several hours as a terrific gale buffeted her about the sky. With only a drop of gasoline left, the aviatrix had given up hope when she spied the Andros group.

"I saw land and turned my plane with the wind," she said upon her arrival. "There wasn't enough gas left for me to try to make a safe landing. I zoomed down at a great speed, the machine rolled into a clump of bushes and stopped. I was not even hurt. I didn't even know where I was."

According to Mrs. Keith-Miller, the plane was undamaged by the forced landing.

After stepping off the fishing boat and rescued air woman cried: "Where's the cable office? I want to tell my mother I'm safe."

CABLES MOTHER

Her first act was to file a cable to her mother, Mrs. C. S. Beveridge, in New York. The cablegram said:

"Safe. Notify friends. Love."

Mrs. Keith-Miller, who left Havana at 9 o'clock Friday morning, made her forced landing at 3:30 in the afternoon at Kemp's Bay in the Andros Islands, which is about [illegible] miles east of Key Largo, Fla. In [illegible] miles east of Key Largo, Fla. In the six and a half hours, her plane had been swept off the course to Miami by the gale from the west.

After she landed her plane, the aviatrix called for help. There was no response. She looked for signs of habitation and found none. After wandering about for a half-day, she discovered a path and walked sixteen miles before she found a settlement.

FINDS SETTLEMENT

The settlement boasted a wireless station, but the apparatus was not working, and she was unable to communicate to the world that she had not been swallowed up by the sea. Commissioner Forsyth came to her assistance and secured a fishing smack to take her to Nassau.

When the weather permitted, the boat left for Nassau with Mrs. Keith-Miller as the sole passenger. The Australian pilot tonight announced that she would return to Kemp's Bay tomorrow by plane to retrieve her machine.

"I'll fly it to Miami, too," she said.

The Nassau agent of the Pan-American Airways tonight notified Miami officials by radio of the landing and requested fuel for the ship.

Alimony Seeker Told She's Not Married to Man She Calls Hubby

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (Exclusive) All those New Yorkers planning Reno divorces, as well as those who already have shed their mates by the quick and easy processes of the Nevada tribunal and particularly those who have remarried since obtaining such decrees, were hit today by a high-court ruling that in New York State a Nevada divorce is a worthless scrap of paper. In effect the Court of Appeals held that none of them is worth the cost of the parchment upon which it is written.

VOIDS ALIMONY

Judge O'Brien and his associates of the bench established this precedent when they ruled that Mrs. Ida Fischer of the Hotel Cecil is not entitled to $75 weekly alimony in her separation suit against Arthur Fischer, a wealthy manufacturer.

They decided that Mrs. Fischer is not the legal wife of Fischer and thus had no right to sue him for separation here.

She previously had divorced Bernard Dolinsky in Reno and the jurists agreed that her Reno decree was null and void so far as the laws of New York State are concerned. In other words, she is still Mrs. Dolinsky in the eyes of this State and her later marriage to Fischer is not recognized.

PAPER SCRAPS

"Her divorce is a scrap of paper," argued Fischer's lawyer, I. Maurice Wormser. "Her hands are unclean. Her conduct in marrying Fischer was illegal and immoral." And the court sustained him by its verdict.

Mrs. Fischer divorced Dolinsky on January 18, 1927. She married Fischer on May 26 of the same year

OIL POLICY OF HOOVER HELD VALID

Court of Appeals Rules Conservation Steps of Wilbur Legally Sound

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—President Hoover's policy of "complete conservation of government oil" and the steps taken to enforce it were sustained today by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

In a majority opinion, the court upheld as a valid exercise of executive power an order by Secretary Wilbur rejecting all applications for permission to prospect for oil on the public domain.

The President's policy was enunciated in a brief informal statement to newspaper men a few days after his inauguration, and Wilbur's order was issued immediately thereafter.

Justice Van Orsdel dissented from the court's majority opinion and held the policy could have been made effective only upon the issuance of a formal Presidential proclamation.

The decision was based on an opinion of the Supreme Court, which held in the Midwest Oil case the President could make temporary withdrawals of public land without formal proclamation.

The case in question was brought by Roy G. Barton, who filed an application for a prospecting permit at Las Cruces, N. M.

Two justices of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, Frederick L. Siddons and Jennings Bailey, have held Wilbur exceeded his authority.

Rich Oil Man's Will Contested

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—The widow and mother of James Bryce, wealthy oil operator who died two months ago, today contested his will which left most of his $100,000 estate to Miss Ella Snow Hall of San Francisco. The protest was filed when the will was offered for probate.

The widow, Mrs. Mabel F. Bryce, is ill in a Hollywood hospital. The mother, Mrs. Ellen H. Fanshaw, lives in Morristown, N. J.

ZERO COLD GRIPS MIDWEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Zero weather again closed down on the Middle West tonight with the lowest temperatures of the season recorded during the day in the northern tier of the Central States.

Today an unofficial reading of 20 deg. below zero was recorded at Bemidji, Minn., with official lows of 18 deg. below reported from Devil's Lake, N. D., 14 below at Duluth, and 10 below at St. Paul.

The forecast for tomorrow in the Chicago area is for fair weather with lowest temperatures about zero in the city and somewhat below in the outlying districts.

In Chicago today the thermometer on the Federal Building registered a high of 14 above zero. In the afternoon it began declining at the rate of almost a degree an hour that is continuing tonight.

The cold wave appears to be marked by an almost total absence of snow in the Central States, with the exception of Ohio, where there was a heavy fall today that added to the drifts remaining from last week's storm.

The cold sent thousands of homeless persons to seek shelter. All Chicago's relief agencies were working at top capacity and the various shelters were filled to overflowing, while the fire department battled scores of fires resulting from overheated stoves and furnaces.

MEASURE TO REDISTRICT STATE NEAR

Sacramento Assemblyman to Introduce Bill When Legislature Meets

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Reapportionment of Assembly, Senatorial and Congressional districts in California on the basis of the 1930 Federal census, is proposed in a bill Assemblyman West of Sacramento said today he will introduce in the coming session of the Legislature.

West said the eighty Assembly districts are set up under a population unit of 70,853 to the district, while the Congressional districts are on a population unit of 283,412.

The Assemblyman's bill reapportions the Assembly so as to give Los Angeles county thirty-one Representatives in the lower house, an increase of nine; San Francisco would get nine, a loss of three, and Alameda county seven, a loss of one.

West said he believes the Legislature is duty bound to carry out its reapportionment pledge despite the fact that San Francisco and Alameda counties lose and Los Angeles gains. He said his proposal follows strictly the terms of the Constitution relative to representation.

Border Scandal Warrants Issued

President Ortiz Rubio was unable to attend the meeting and sent Secretary of the Interior Riva Palacio in his stead.

Gov. Gomez in his address urged co-operation for early completion of the road from Los Angeles to the Mexican capital, which will be a link in the proposed highway from Alaska to Argentina.

Governors of the Pacific Coast States of Mexico and E. E. East of the Southern California Automobile Club, sponsors of the international highway movement, attended today's meeting. The conference will continue tomorrow and Wednesday.

Stimson Denies Agreements on Foreign Loans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Discussing the general question of American loans to Europe, Secretary Stimson said today the American government is in no agreement with any foreign government with a view to refusing loans abroad for armaments.

The Secretary's statement was made in response to inquiries regarding reports from Europe that the United States and France had reached an understanding that loans for armaments would be refused.

No discussions have taken place between the State Department and foreign representatives.

DAVIS CASE PONDERED

Vote Funds Put at $625,000

Resolution Considered for Withholding Oath From Keystone Senator

Nye Gets New Reports and Will Ask Delay Today if Aspirant Appears

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Resolutions to withhold the oath of office from James J. Davis as a Republican Senator from Pennsylvania were considered tonight after the Nye campaign funds committee received reports indicating primary expenditures in behalf of the Davis-Brown ticket had reached more than $625,000.

It had been expected the contest would be initiated today, but Davis deferred appearing in the Senate to present his credentials pending examination of the additional expenditure reports by the Nye investigators. He indicated, however, he may appear to be sworn tomorrow.

"I was informed," Davis said, "that Senator Nye wished to study further the matter of contributions in the recent Pennsylvania election. After consultation with Senate Republican leaders who had also conferred with Senator Nye, it seemed to me best to withhold my credentials until Chairman Nye had time to make his examination, that is, tomorrow."

CO-OPERATION PLEDGED

"In the meantime," Davis added, "I desire to say that having nothing whatever to conceal, I fully court whatever further investigation Senator Nye cares to make, and will co-operate with him and the committee."

Chairman Nye termed the former Secretary's action as "gracious," but added he will be compelled to ask a delay in acceptance of his credentials if he appears before the committee completes its investigation of reports it received today from Harrisburg.

Regardless of when Davis appears it is almost certain tonight he will be asked to step aside pending Senate determination of his case.

Senator Dill of Washington, a Democratic member of the committee, expressed a willingness to offer a resolution, if Nye does not, to bar Davis and have his credentials referred to the Nye committee.

Meanwhile, Senator Grundy, who was appointed to the seat denied William S. Vare, but who was defeated for the nomination by Davis, still holds the post which has stirred the Senate to heated debates for four years.

VAUCLAIN TO BE CALLED

Nye said it is impossible to call his committee together again on the Pennsylvania primary until Wednesday. Samuel Vauclain, treasurer of the Davis-Brown campaign committee in Philadelphia, will be asked to appear. County campaign treasurers probably will be subpoenaed, too, Nye said.

Testimony of Vauclain and others before the committee last May, Nye said, showed expenditures totaling $368,962.

"It is now found," the chairman continued, "that two weeks after making his report of expenditures of $129,693, Mr. Vauclain made a report of expenditures by his committee of $196,905, and in addition unpaid bills of $117,843, said report being made to the Secretary of State of Pennsylvania, which constituted an expense of $185,055 more than was reported to the committee.

"Other reports filed with the Secretary of State of Pennsylvania reveal expenditures heretofore unknown to the committee in excess of $75,000," Nye said, adding:

"A representative of the commit-

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] Robbery statistics from all cities were shown today (they can show you the statistics but no robbers.) We go to great length to keep track of what a robber did but none to find out where he went. There was more "white spots" shown in this report than any that the government has issued. We don't want to be accused of bragging as usual, but Los Angeles was second, right behind Detroit. We will catch 'em next month if we can only dig up some more money to be robbed of. Prohibition hasn't caused this wave of robberies; it's business depression. The poor robbers have to rob more people to make their quota than they used to. Give us good times again and the robber will get what he needs that day out of the first man robbed.

WILL ROGERS.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS CONVICTION OF BOMBER

All but One of Justices Opposed Freeing, Meaning That Mooney Also Must Stay in Prison

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Warren K. Billings and Thomas J. Mooney were guilty of the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing beyond all shadow of doubt and were rightfully convicted. This, in brief, summarizes the outstanding conclusion of six of the seven justices of the California Supreme Court in their recommendation to Gov. Young against a pardon for Billings, announced and forwarded to the Governor today for his guidance a second time in determining the future of these two prisoners whose fourteen-year fight for freedom has been maneuvered into a place of international prominence.

The court recommendation applies, in itself, only to Billings, who had to obtain it before getting direct action from the Governor because he is a felon serving his second penal term. It is expected to apply also to Mooney, however, because Gov. Young publicly has announced he considers the cases parallel and will judge the Mooney pardon petition on the basis of the Billings recommendation.

VOLUMINOUS REPORT

The recommendation, made after an extended rehearing, is similar to that returned by the justices July 2, last, after the first consideration of the Billings pardon application. It is far more voluminous, however, and covers much ground not covered at that time because of new matter developed at the rehearing. As in the first instance, Associate Justice Langdon filed a dissenting opinion, declaring his belief the recommendation against pardon is based upon facts accepted as true, but not established as true. In a separate report, Justice Langdon recommends executive clemency.

The majority report was written by Associate Justice Richards and won the concurrence of Chief Justice Waste and Justices Curtis, Seawell, Preston and Shenk. In addition to this opinion a general one, consisting of twenty-six pages, Justice Richards, who was a member of the District Court of Appeal which considered the Billings appeal following his conviction, prepared a summary; Justice Preston, who conducted the major portion of the examination at the rehearing for the benefit of the court justices, prepared a critical analysis of the testimony and his individual conclusions, and Justices Shenk and Seawell submitted individual simplified conclusions.

FIGHT MAY GO ON

The whole comprises a document of 110 pages covering every phase of the protracted Mooney-Billings cases and goes exhaustingly into each and all of the major points of the cases from the bombing down to the present time.

Justice Preston's individual opinion comprises, in forty-nine pages and a fifteen-page appendix, a complete review of the matter.

In it he cites the law which applies in cases such as that of Billings, calls attention to the fact burden of proof rests upon the petitioner, recalls the defense concession that Billings had a full, fair and just trial by an unprejudiced court and jury, gives a history of Billings's life of crime as well as a brief history of the "red" movement in San Francisco which led to the bombing of the Preparedness Parade, shows the connection of Billings and Mooney with anarchists and anarchistic publications such as The Blast, describes the crime, discusses the evidence, reaches the conclusion "certain agents have illegally tampered with witnesses by the use of money and chicane," and expresses the opinion the petitioner has failed to "sustain the burden of his innocence, but has left an abiding conviction of his guilt."

"NO REASON FOR PARDON"

He concludes with the observation "that no discrimination against the laboring or in favor of the capitalist class is involved; that the trial of the petitioner was fair; that petitioner is intentionally omitting to apply for a parole in order to promote the circulation of false propaganda concerning this crime;

CONGRESS IN TURMOIL

Short Session's Start Hectic

Harassed Leaders Struggle to Bring Order Out of Legislative Jumble

President Hoover Scheduled to Present Message at Noon Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Turmoil prevailed both inside and outside the Capitol today as the election-torn ranks of the Seventy-first Congress reassembled for the concluding short session.

While Communists battled police on the Capitol Plaza and Congress went through its brief opening formalities, harassed party leaders inside were striving to work out of a jumbled legislative docket an orderly program that could be completed by March 4, next.

The only unanimity, however, appeared to be on drought and unemployment-relief legislation.

DROUGHT RELIEF

The first measure proposed dealt with drought relief. Senator Robinson, Arkansas, Democratic leader, who yesterday assured President Hoover of support for a bipartisan relief program, introduced a $60,000,000 drought-relief bill and Republicans in the House and Senate hastened to advance similar legislation.

But the organization of the public buildings, road construction and drought-relief program awaits the recommendations to be submitted to Congress tomorrow by President Hoover.

The problem of what to do with the World Court protocol, which President Hoover has decided to submit to the Senate, and that of Muscle Shoals ahead, caused leaders to be dubious of their ability to forestall an extra session in the spring.

NIGHT SESSIONS

Representative Tilson, Connecticut, Republican leader, announced he is ready to begin night sessions with a view to clearing up all controversies.

Ignoring the demonstration by the Communists, early crowds filled the galleries in the Senate and House. The members slapped each other on the back and exchanged greetings like schoolboys. At noon, Speaker Longworth and Vice-President Curtis rapped their gavels, but each had to pound several times before they could make themselves heard.

After the prayers of the chaplains and the opening roll calls, newly elected members were sworn in to complete unexpired terms. A committee including the Republican

REDS RIOT IN WASHINGTON

Tear Gas Bombs and Police Sticks Used to Rout Radicals as Congress Convenes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Several hundred Communists picked the moment of the convening of Congress today to foment a wild scene on the broad plaza of the Capitol before tear gas bombs and policemen's sticks drove them away in a straggling march.

Dispersed with comparative ease, the demonstrators left behind them a fear of further reprisal. Capitol police, hours afterward, patrolled their stations equipped with army rifles, while Washington bluecoats gathered in knots near the White House and toured the city in police cars.

REDS HEAD EAST

Many Communists, however, left before nightfall in special busses headed toward New York, and no further disorder was reported. Six remained in jail, while one required hospital treatment for a broken nose.

It was noon when the demonstrators made their first move, shouting and pulling denunciatory placards from beneath their coats.

No sooner were the placards shown than the police tore into the crowd to snatch them down. Fist fights broke out between Communists and bystanders.

As the demonstrators moved down to the foot of Capitol Hill, District of Columbia police rained tear bombs and nightsticks upon them.

Women with tears streaming down their cheeks shouted "don't wipe your eyes, let them see it," while the men cried "down with imperialism" and "down with the dirty cowards" in answer to shouts from the spectators to "take them away."

RESERVES CALLED

Police reserves were called and the fighting stopped. Several dozen Communists moved up Pennsylvania avenue toward the White House but halted before reaching there.

Chairman Fish of the Communism investigating committee announced he will grant a hearing Friday to Communist leaders.

The demonstration at the Capitol was under the auspices of the conference for the protection of foreign born, declared to be representative of 1000 organizations with 270,000 members.

Leaders of the conference had prepared a lengthy statement, to be presented to Congress, demanding the abolishment of "all restrictions on immigration," including the "exclusion of Chinese, Japanese and Hindus."

It demanded also a rewriting of that part of the immigration law excluding those "who disbelieve in or oppose organized government."

CONGRESS GETS BACK TO WORK

Turmoil Prevails at Capitol at Reopening Session

Party Leaders Strive to Get Order Out of Jumble

Signs of Unanimity Limited to Relief Legislation

and Democratic leaders of each branch was sent to the White House to inform President Hoover Congress was in session.

Business will be the order in the Senate and House tomorrow. The President's message is expected at noon.

Employment and drought-relief bills proposed the expenditure of billions of dollars.

Senator Robinson's bill would authorize President Hoover to take control of the wheat purchased by the Federal Farm Board and distribute it for food and seed necessary for making next year's crop. The measure also would authorize $60,000,000 for seed, feed and fertilizer loans to farmers; authorize loans of $5,000,000 to drought-stricken States for highways other than those aided by the usual funds; and provide $3,500,000 for agricultural extension work in drought sections.

EMPLOYMENT MEASURE

Meanwhile, Senator Glenn, Republican, Illinois, was drafting for introduction tomorrow a compromise measure to deal with the unemployment situation.

Glenn was preparing his bill at the request of administration leaders. It would authorize the immediate appropriation of $150,000,000 for speeding up public construction work under the enlarged rivers and harbors, public buildings and highway programs authorized in the last session of Congress.

Meanwhile, the bill basket in the House was crowded with similar measures.

Representative Aswell, Democrat, Louisiana, proposed to authorize $60,000,000 for feed and seed loans to farmers.

A bill to remove the $15,000-a-mile limitation on Federal aid highway construction was proposed by Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts.

VETERANS' PAYMENTS

Representative McLeod, Republican, Michigan, introduced one proposing immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus by a $4,000,000,000 bond issue. Another by Representative Clancy, Republican, Michigan, would reduce the interest rate on adjusted compensation certificates from 6 to 4 per cent.

A bill to provide expenditure of $500,000,000 in two years for road construction was introduced by Representative Browne, Republican, Wisconsin.

Among other measures to provide emergency relief and prevent future business depressions were those:

By Representative Ludlow, Democrat, Indiana, to create a Federal industrial commission to stabilize employment.

By Representative Kelley, Republican, Pennsylvania, to appropriate $10,000,000 for public building construction.

By Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, to authorize $52,000,000 for veterans' hospital construction.

"LAME DUCK" PROPOSAL

The first proposal to abolish the "lame duck" session was introduced by Representative Johnson, Democrat, Texas. Veterans' measures included bills by Representatives Swick, Pennsylvania and Irwin, Illinois, Republicans, to allow $30 a month to the widow of each World War veteran and $6 for each child. Swick proposed to grant a $20-a-month pension to dependent fathers and mothers of deceased veterans.

Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, proposed increases of from $13 to $20 a month in benefits allowed disabled veterans.

Representative Kelley, Republican, Pennsylvania, asked $150,000 for an addition to the Pittsburgh Marine Hospital.

Establishment of a board of veterans' appeals was suggested by Representative Hall, Republican, Indiana.

OTHER MAJOR BILLS

Among other major measures were those by Representatives:

Welch, Republican, California, to restrict Philippine immigration for five years.

McClintic, Democrat, Oklahoma, to suspend for ten years quota limitations on immigration.

Crisp, Democrat, Georgia, to reenact all schedules of the 1928 Fordney-McCumber Act except those applying to agriculture and taking the latter from the 1930 Smoot-Hawley law.

Ruth Bryan Owen, Democrat, Florida, to create a department of the home and child.

Williams, Democrat, Texas, proposing a $1-a-barrel tariff on crude and fuel petroleum.

Hull, Democrat, Tennessee, to raise the duties on dairy products.

Timberlake, Republican, Colorado, to limit tariff-free importation on Philippine sugar and cocoanut oil.

McClintic, Democrat, Oklahoma, to allow the States to regulate inter and intra-State trucks and busses.

Swing, Republican, California, to amend the Boulder Canyon Act to provide employment of American citizen laborers.

Arentz, Republican, Nevada, to prohibit the employment of aliens and specifying natives of Utah, Nevada, California and Arizona, be favored in work on the Boulder Canyon project.

Bachman, Republican, West Virginia, to exclude aliens from countries with which the United States has no diplomatic relations.

REPEAL POLL PROPOSAL

Two national referenda on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment were proposed along with bills to permit the manufacture and sale of wines and beer. In addition, Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, proposed in a bill that the Federal government give assistance to States in bringing interstate gangsters and racketeers to justice.

Representative Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland, chairman of the House wet bloc, summoned the executive committee to a conference Wednesday to map out an aggressive plan of action for modification or repeal in both this session and in the new Congress.

Proposing a national referendum on prohibition, Representative McLeod, Republican, Michigan, also offered an amendment to the Constitution to legalize the manufacture of liquor for "use in homes and places of abode" and for a constitutional convention.

ANOTHER ATTACK

Attacking prohibition from a different slant, Representative Andrew, Republican, Massachusetts, asked in a resolution for a vote on an amendment to the Constitution repealing the Eighteenth Amendment. He would allow seven years for ratification by the States through conventions.

A Democrat, Representative Boylan of New York, proposed to exclude beer, ale, porter and stout of not more than 4 per cent alcohol and wine cider of not more than 10 per cent from prohibited beverages, provided they are legalized by the States.

Representative Goss, Connecticut, Republican, who took his seat today, announced he will introduce tomorrow a bill to legalize 4 per cent beer and another authorizing physicians to prescribe malt liquors for medicinal purposes in increased quantities.

DELAY SOUGHT ON WORLD COURT PROTOCOL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP) — A movement to defer consideration of the World Court protocol until a year hence was launched in the Senate today, but there was no assurance tonight of such an agreement.

Oddly enough, friends of the court initiated the postponement move to avoid involving it in the snarl over an extra session, while some of the most bitter foes were among those insisting the protocol be given prompt consideration.

It was agreed by both sides there is little or no likelihood the protocol can be acted upon at the short session.

Arizona Students Back From Study of Mastodon Relics at Duncan

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 1. (AP)—Dr. Byron Cummings and a party of University of Arizona student archeologists returned today from examination of an ancient pueblo ruin at Duncan, where they unearthed another section of a recently discovered mastodon.

The mastodon, probably 40,000 years old, Dr. Cummings said, is being unearthed bit by bit, and when assembled is expected to stand twelve feet high.

The pueblo being investigated is in the center of a group of prehistoric village compounds near Redrock, thirty-five miles east of Duncan. Steady rainfall prevented Dr. Cummings and party carrying their examination as far as they had hoped.

PUZZLE ARISES OVER WHO'S SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—For quite a while today no one knew who, if anyone, was Secretary of Labor.

William N. Doak, newly appointed to be Secretary, took the oath of office, but the ceremony later was described as "merely a rehearsal."

The White House helped straighten things out with an announcement that Secretary Davis's resignation will become effective tomorrow. Davis will then join the ranks of the unemployed until objections to his entering the Senate have been cleared away.

Doak cannot take the oath of office until he has been confirmed by the Senate and in the meantime Robert Carl White, the Assistant Secretary of Labor, will be acting Secretary.

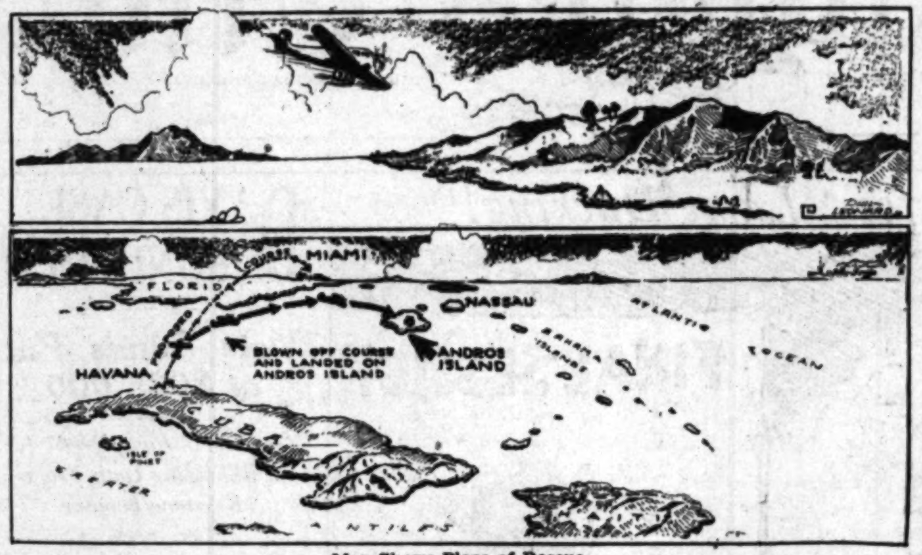
In his letter accepting Davis's resignation the President thanked him "for the manner in which you have conducted the Department of Labor for a period of nearly ten years."

In his letter of resignation, Davis reminded Mr. Hoover they had entered the Cabinet of President Harding together in 1921, "in a time of depression far greater than that through which we are now passing and we came out of it into the greatest prosperity in the history of the country."

"Under your guidance we will emerge from the present depression into a prosperity as great as the one before," he said.

Mr. Hoover said in his reply he regards it "as fortunate indeed the country is still to retain your service in the Senate."

Gale-Whipped Plane of Aviatrix Far Off Route



Map Shows Place of Rescue

Some idea of how far Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller was blown from her charted course may be obtained from this map drawn by a Times staff artist. The light arrow marks indicate the planned course of Mrs. Keith-Miller while the heavy ones show the presumed course she took which brought her near one of the Andros Islands where she was forced down. She was rescued by a fishing boat which took her to Nassau, from where she notified her mother in New York, of her safe arrival.

Press tonight that she had a telegram from her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, sent from Nassau, the Bahamas, and saying she was safe after being missing for several days in an attempted flight from Havana to Miami, Fla.

The cablegram said "Safe, notify friends. Love." It was received by Mrs. Keith-Miller's mother at 5:20 p.m.

"I am so happy I hardly can speak," Mrs. Beveridge said, "but I never have for a moment given up hope that my daughter would be found. It just seemed as if a voice kept telling men over and over that she would come out of it alive."

PLANE REPORTED LANDED UNDAMAGED ON ISLAND

MIAMI (Fla.) Dec. 1. (AP)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian air woman, landed her plane safely on Andros Island last Friday after losing her course on a Havana-Miami flight, and tonight requested twenty gallons of gasoline and enough oil to continue to Miami.

The Nassau agent of Pan-American Airways informed company officials here tonight by radio of the landing, and requested fuel for the ship. The plane was undamaged in landing, the message said.

Capt. W. N. Lancaster, former flying partner of Mrs. Keith-Miller, said tonight he will leave at dawn tomorrow in a chartered plane with a mechanic and fuel.

After dropping the mechanic and fuel at Andros Capt. Lancaster said he will fly on to Nassau to pick up Mrs. Keith-Miller and return to Andros.

"I probably will not allow Mrs. Keith-Miller to fly her plane back here," Capt. Lancaster said, "but will bring it myself. She is heroic in her plan to continue the flight, but I think it best she should not fly from the island."

Capt. Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller were associated in a Pittsburgh-Havana-Pittsburgh flight, he said.

Jeffers, who was 55 years of age, joined the Red Cross forces in 1917 after organizing a chapter in Pueblo, Colo., where he was pastor of the First Congregational Church. He had been manager of the Pacific area in San Francisco since 1927.

UNION STATION CASE ADVANCED

Supreme Court Decides to Assume Jurisdiction

City and State Board May Ask Early Ruling

Final Order in Spring of 1931 Held Possible

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Conclusion of the long fight to compel the railroads serving Los Angeles to build and operate a union passenger station on the Plaza site was brought a step nearer today when the Supreme Court assumed jurisdiction in the suit filed by the railroads in an effort to escape the order of the California Railroad Commission ordering them to construct the station.

It is expected that the action of the high court will be followed by a motion by the city and the State commission to advance the case for early hearing. If such a motion is not made, and granted, it is extremely doubtful that the case will be reached for argument before the court recesses next June. But if the motion is made and the court agrees to expedite the case, it is probable arguments can be disposed of early in 1931 and the former hopes of counsel for the city and commission of a final decision in the spring of 1931 realized.

Naturally the railroads involved do not want the case advanced on the calendar and will oppose such a move. They are the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Los Angeles and Salt Lake (Union Pacific.) Each of the lines filed its own brief and the three cases have been consolidated by the court.

The question before the Supreme Court this time is wholly one of jurisdiction. For several years there has been a legal argument as to whether the Interstate Commerce Commission or the California State Railroad Commission has authority to decide the station controversy and order the terminal built. Finally, the thing simmered down to where the Supreme Court indicated last year that the State commission probably had jurisdiction, whereupon that commission renewed a previous order requiring the carriers to erect the station. This order was upheld by the California courts, the railroads appealed, and now the Supreme Court has again taken hold for what it is believed will be final determination.

INFANT MORTALITY IN ENGLAND DECLINES

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP) — In three months ended September '30, last, 165,768 babies were born in England and Wales, the Registrar-General reported today. In the same period England showed the lowest infant mortality rate in the history of the Registry Bureau. Only forty-five English babies per 1000 died before they were a year of age. The figures represent a decrease of fourteen per 1000 under the average for the third quarter of the last ten years.

BRUENING PLAN GERMANY'S LAW

Von Hindenburg Exercises Dictator's Power

Measures Reichstag Refused Imposed by Decree

Slash in Public Expenses Feature of Program

BERLIN, Dec. 1. (AP)—With a stroke of his pen Germany's venerable President, Paul Von Hindenburg, tonight declared the Bruening financial reform program part of the law of the Reich.

In signing the decree promulgating the new laws which Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and his Cabinet have worked on for months in an effort to straighten out Germany's involved finances, the President reported to the extraordinary powers of Article 48 of the constitution. This establishes a semidictatorship and can be legally invoked only "when public peace and safety are in danger."

OVER ITS HEAD

The program recently received the approval of the Reichsrat, or Federal Council, but the chance is being passed by the Reichstag—the principal legislative body—appeared so faint that the Chancellor appeared to Von Hindenburg to use his constitutional right to go over the Reichstag's head.

When the Reichstag convenes Wednesday it has a right to revoke the President's act, but the Chancellor is confident the legislators who were unwilling to vote for such unpopular reform will be equally unwilling to assume the responsibility for upsetting this important and far-reaching program.

The Fascists, avowed enemies of parliamentary government, will be in an unusual position Wednesday. They must either accept the situation as it is or else insist on the sacred right of a parliamentary system—that of revoking a Presidential decree.

The decree signed by President Von Hindenburg embraces three groups of laws:

CHANGES IN LAWS

(1.) Minor alterations of the emergency decrees of last July, when Article 48 was invoked.

(2.) Twenty-six laws through which the government's financial and economic reform proper will be effected.

(3.) Measures for the relief of agriculture.

The essential features of the Bruening program are the ruthless slashing of public expenditures; a sweeping reduction in public salaries, beginning with a 20 per cent cut in that of Von Hindenburg; the halting of government contributions to various doles and the blocking of the upward march of taxes.

Bank Loan Ban to Cut Cotton Acreage Urged

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1. (AP)—A proposal to withhold bank loans to force reduction of cotton acreage in the South met virtual unanimous approval here today at a conference of the Southern Cotton Reduction Association.

The proposal provides for a reduction of at least 25 per cent each year for the next five years as a means of bringing the price of cotton back to a profitable basis, estimated by conference speakers at between 18 and 20 cents a pound.

The only dissenter was William L. Glover of Orangeburg, S. C., who said he favored the plan but "couldn't see how it would be enforced except with a shotgun."

Ruth Morgan Becomes J. V. Converse's Fourth Wife in New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Ruth Morgan, showgirl and daughter of State's Attorney Morgan of Fairmount, W. Va., was married last Friday to James V. Converse, financier, the Evening World said today.

The marriage took place in New York, the World said. Miss Morgan came here from Hollywood some weeks ago to join the cast of a Ziegfeld musical comedy.

Converse, member of the firm of Bennett, Converse & Schwab of New York and Washington, is known as a horseman, tennis player and clubman. His first two marriages—in 1914 to Nadine Melbourne of New York, and in 1919 to Thelma Morgan, twin sister of Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt—ended in divorce. His third wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Walter Converse of Washington, was killed in an automobile accident near Warrenton, Va., several weeks ago.

STATE RAIL BOARD ASKS RATE SLASH

Brief Filed With I.C.C. on Freight Charges for Fruits and Vegetables

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—The California State Railroad Commission through Arthur C. George, chief counsel, filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington a brief in support of its fight for a reduction of freight rates on deciduous fruits and vegetables moving from California to the East.

California shippers would save about $9,000,000 annually in rates if the Commerce Commission grants the reduction, George said.

In July, 1927, the Commerce Commission at the instance of the Railroad Commission and the California Growers' and Shippers Protective League issued an order reducing deciduous fruit rates.

These reductions were in force until last July. The Supreme Court of the United States held the Interstate Commerce Commission had based its new rates on an erroneous construction of the so-called Hoch-Smith Congressional resolution, and further had failed to prove the former rates were excessive.

Thereupon, the Railroad Commission and the growers' and shippers' organization reopened the fight for a lower rate.

Berlin Police Wield Clubs on Red Rioters

BERLIN, Dec. 1. (AP)—Police swung their clubs on a mob of Communists who gathered in front of the City Hall today shouting "We want work or wages."

It was a riot of minor proportions, like others in which fifty were injured and one was killed all over Germany during the week-end.

There were hundreds of men and women in the crowd which marched through the center of the city today. As police moved in, scattering the crowd, others barricaded the City Hall doors. Several arrests were made but no one was badly hurt.

HIGH COURT TO RULE ON RATES QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission over railroad rates on freight shipments originating outside the United States will be passed on by the Supreme Court. The court today consented to review a case brought by the Southern Pacific lines contesting a commission order awarding a refund to the Lewis-Simas-Jones Company of San Francisco, which had complained against rates it had paid on an imported commodity.

LINDSEY TALKS TO CHURCHMEN

Companionate Marriage Plan Urged in Speech

Bishop Manning Protests Address in Vain

Judge Heard After Vote of Association Members

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Judge Ben B. Lindsey presented his views on marriage today to the New York Churchmen's Association despite the objection of Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York. Bishop Manning did not attend.

The famed founder of Denver's Juvenile Court, waited an hour while seventy members of the association, made up of Episcopal clergymen, ate luncheon. He waited another hour while they debated the advisability of hearing him, and an additional thirty minutes while they prepared a statement for the press to make clear their belief in the sanctity of marriage.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

In the official statement the clergymen said they were "governed by the conviction it is both the right and the duty of the clergy to hear speakers on matters vitally affecting the welfare of the people to whom they are called upon to minister."

The number of clergymen attending the meeting established a record. The Rt. Rev. Charles E. Gilbert, suffragan bishop of New York and president of the association, retired from the chair and withdrew as soon as the vote to hear Judge Lindsey was taken. A few others departed.

A rising vote committed the members of the association to strict silence to the press.

Judge Lindsey was invited last April to make the address.

Bishop Manning urged cancellation of the invitation as soon as he received announcement of it last week, and the speakers' committee agreed to submit the matter to the membership.

REFORMS ADVOCATED

While Judge Lindsey waited, he told newspaper men what he planned to say, outlining four reforms advocated by him. They were the legalization of companionate marriage; divorce of discordant couples by a commission composed of two physicians and a lawyer instead of a court; a system of education in schools and colleges on the art of love, and alimony and support after divorce with reference to economic status rather than by arbitrary laws.

He insisted he believed in the sanctity of marriage.

"And in children, too," he said. "I have a lovely little girl and I am hoping for another addition to the family in the spring.

"I am not an advocate of free love. When I say legalize companionate marriage, I mean legalize what now is practiced, namely, marriage without begetting."

EFFORT TO END COAL WAR FAILS

Seventy Thousand Miners Remain Out on Strike in Fields of Scotland

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Negotiations for settlement of the strike in the Scottish coal fields, where 70,000 of the 90,000 miners have quit work, failed today.

High hopes were based on today's peace negotiations and news of their failure caused keen disappointment. Some anxiety was expressed that the trouble might extend to the South Wales district, where a shutdown on a gigantic scale was so narrowly averted over the week-end.

Thus far such abstentions from work as have occurred outside Scotland have been on a small scale. One that has created much concern is the refusal of half of 1500 miners employed at a colliery at Trehafod, South Wales, to work owing to allegedly Communist agitations.

HOOVER SPEAKS FOR CHILD CARE

Broadcasts Address to 4-H Club Winners

Ills of Youth Declared Largely Curable

Members Congratulated as Future Leaders

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Steps to improve the health of young people were urged tonight by President Hoover.

The Chief Executive advocated this action in a radio talk from the White House over the National Broadcasting Company chain to the annual convention of 4-H Clubs in Chicago.

Recalling that the recent conference on child health and protection had developed that one boy and girl in every four is enjoying less than the "full measure of health which is the inherent right of every human being," Mr. Hoover added.

PREVENTABLE ILLS

"Most of their physical deficiencies could be prevented or remedied or compensated if knowledge of the best ways of every-day living was spread to every family, every school and to every community."

"You know from personal experience how much more flourishing is the result from a single row of corn to which you have applied your industry and your skill.

"Imagine how much more flourishing would be the 10,000,000 young human beings if equal industry should apply equally exact scientific knowledge in making them as strong and vigorous and perfect as the prize-winning row of corn.

"Not only would the world be materially enriched by their greater possibilities of usefulness when they grow up, but much more than that, their own life would be enriched by untold joy and happiness."

FUTURE LEADERS

President Hoover congratulated the members of the organization, which is composed of young farm boys and girls, on their work, which he said is one "of real accomplishment."

"You are the future leaders in the oldest art of organized society, that is agriculture," he said, "in many ways it is the best of all callings in the world and your progress and your future leadership is its great promise.

The convention was attended by 800 prize-winning 4-H members who were given a trip to the International Livestock Show.

CONSERVATION WILBUR'S PLEA

Secretary Makes Annual Report to Hoover

Wise Rather Than Hoarding Course Favored

Reclamation Work Upheld as Backbone of West

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—The cry for conservation of natural resources was raised again today by Secretary Wilbur in the annual report of the Department of Interior addressed to President Hoover.

Secretary Wilbur depicts the struggle between exploiters and those for conservation, favoring a course he calls "wise use rather than hoarding." He reports the opposition among those who would obtain permits which might increase oil overproduction, and charges them with being "more interested in immediate revenues than in the ultimate utility of oil and gas."

Answering critics of reclamation work, Wilbur asserts the reclamation efforts to be "the backbone of the Far West" and advocates continuance, while he points out that the most important crops produced on the reclaimed lands are mainly of such character "that there is no substantial competition in eastern States."

DAM PROJECT GREATEST

He refers to the Boulder Dam project as "the greatest engineering job ahead of this department," and "next to the control of the Mississippi . . . is the greatest attempt at solution of a whole region's water problem that the country has before it."

"Contracts for the dam itself," the Secretary reports, "will be advertised within a few months. The structure will raise the water level 582 feet, generate 1,200,000 horsepower of electricity, cost, with its own power plant $100,000,000 and will pay for itself by its own falling water. The result will be flood protection to Arizona and California lands, reclamation of deserts, improvement of navigation, and the bringing of needed water for domestic supply to the coastal plain of Southern California.

POWER TO PAY COSTS

"Power-sale contracts were successfully negotiated which will reimburse the United States for the cost of the dam and the power plant if the rates set in those contracts continue to be maintained when the readjustment periods prescribed by law are reached."

Following explanation of the power allocations, the Secretary declares that revenues derived from the power sales will net the Colorado River Dam fund a surplus of $30,000,000 to $60,000,000 for other dams on the river, during the fifty-year amortization period, and will net to Arizona and Nevada between $300,000 and $600,000 a year each, if secondary power is available in the amounts expected.

As to oil and gas conservation, Secretary Wilbur anticipates strong aid from recent legislation granting authority for government participation in unit operation and development of single oil pools involving public lands, permitting development of these common pools by the minimum number of wells.

OIL AGREEMENT DUE

"Negotiations are now under way," Wilbur's report states, "for a unit agreement in Kettleman Hills, California, whose production of high-grade oil, if allowed to flow under the ordinary old-fashioned wasteful conditions from a score of ready and waiting wells, would flood the oil market with gasoline exceeding in quantity the entire California production.

"The gas wasted from that field each day exceeds 450,000,000 cubic feet, although only about six out of thirty wells are being allowed to produce. Each year the waste of energy from Kettleman Hills is over twice the total expected annual electrical output of Hoover Dam. Californians who, for years have urged the development of the Colorado River as a great new source of energy probably do not realize that failure to enforce strict conservation measures is costing them annually twice as much irreplaceable energy as Hoover Dam will be able to make good."

Conquest of tillable land in the West finds favor in the Secretary's report and he strongly urges the carrying on of reclamation work.

CROP WORTH ESTIMATED

"Last year the crops produced were worth over $160,000,000, or roughly the entire construction cost of all reclamation projects, exclusive of their cost of operation and maintenance. The cumulative value of crops grown on Federal reclamation projects exceeds $1,600,000,000.

"Reclamations' 40,000 farms have a population of nearly 160,000, and, in addition, support 214 project cities and towns, with an additional population of more than 470,000. About $250,000,000, including operation and maintenance charges, has been expended by the Federal government for reclamation projects which has increased the value of the land and other properties on farms and in towns within reclamation enterprises by at least $1,000,000,000, or four times all government expenditures.

"The magnitude of the engineering work accomplished in reclaiming the arid lands of the West can only be conceived when a figurative comparison is used. In creating its 39,970,000 irrigated farms, peopled with 157,088 inhabitants, this bureau has indirectly brought about the development of 214 cities and towns, the population of which when added to the project inhabitants equals more than the entire population of the District of Columbia.

MUCH WORK DONE

"To accomplish this there has been excavation of enough material to have created a ditch across the continent with a fifty-foot width and a ten-foot depth, riprap placed by this bureau to date would create a pyramid nearly equal in size to the Cheops—the largest pyramid of Egypt—concrete laid to date would have paved the shortest direct route from New York to Los Angeles with six-inch paving on a sixteen-foot highway. Telephone and power transmission lines used by this bureau on its various projects aggregate enough in distance to parallel the phantom highway through its length with a mileage of telephone lines sufficient to have created a cross line from Chicago to New Orleans."

DAM PLANS BEFORE BOARD

More Than Seventy Sets Receive Consideration as Colorado River Group Meets at Denver

DENVER, Dec. 1. (AP)—More than seventy designs and specification lists for the Boulder Canyon Dam, are before Secretary Wilbur's Colorado River Board, which tonight concluded its first meeting of a session that probably will last throughout the week.

Only four of the five members of the board named by the Secretary of the Interior were able to be present. Illness prevented Charles H. Berkey, consulting geologist, Columbia University, New York, from attending. The others who met here today are Maj.-Gen. W. L. Sibert, Mobile, Ala., chairman; Dr. Daniel W. Mead, Madison, Wis., engineer; Warren J. Mead, University of Wisconsin, geologist, and Robert Ridgeway, New York, engineer.

After reaching a decision on a design and on specifications from the many before it, the board's recommendations will be taken to Washington by Raymond F. Walter of Denver, chief engineer. The decision of the board will not be announced in Denver. It is expected bids will be advertised for about the 20th inst.

Air Tube Used for Feeding of Trapped Miner

DORTMUND (Germany) Dec. 1. (AP)—Deep underground in a cavity of a coal mine near Kastrop lies a miner buried seventy-two hours in a collapse of a gallery, but still alive and being fed through an air tube.

The gallery caved in Friday noon, engulfing two men who were given up for lost until after thirty-six hours when one of them was able to communicate through an air tube that he was not hurt.

Milk and beef tea are being administered to him by means of compressed air, he being able to catch the food in his shoe. It is believed he can be saved but his companion is thought dead.

Swing's Move in Congress Based on Celebration

Resolution Contingent on Raising of $5,000,000

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Participation by the Federal government in a world fair to be held at Los Angeles in 1937 to celebrate the completion of the Boulder dam project on the Colorado River was proposed in a joint resolution introduced in Congress today by Representative Swing of El Centro, co-author of the Boulder Dam Act.

The resolution makes co-operation of the Federal establishment contingent upon the raising of $5,000,000 by the State of California, city of Los Angeles and other States and communities interested, to assure the financing of the fair, which would be called the Southwest Exposition. Other nations would be invited by the President to take part in the exposition.

It is Representative Swing's view, judging from the wording of the resolution, that the entire Southwest is eager to engage in such a celebration to commemorate the completion of the greatest engineering project of the kind in history.

EVANGELINE BOOTH SAILING HOMEWARD

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in the United States, and six other American Army officials sailed for home today after having completed their work at the world conference of army commissioners here. Commander Tomanuro, head of the Japanese organization, sailed with the party on the liner Majestic.

SANDY MacPherson Still Plays Golf

Sandy had tough luck with his game. He had been playing only six years when he lost his ball in a water hazard. Couldn't swim, either. Had decided to give up the game, when a friend told of a caddie at the 16th hole who sold recovered balls for 20c. Then worst of all, his home-knitted golf socks, which had been sent to him from his mother in Scotland only a few years previously, shrunk so badly it took two men and a horse to pull them on. And he couldn't do without them, for nothing short of a lawnmower would have made his calves respectable for a public appearance.

THEN HIS BOSS PRESENTED HIM WITH A PAIR OF HOZFORMS. Sandy still plays golf. On the strength of the present, he invested in a new pair of socks. It looks now (with the aid of the Hozforms) like these socks will survive three MacPherson generations.

These Hozforms would be a great thing for you, too. Something new, but remarkably good. One slips the golf hose, when still wet from the wash, on these sturdy forms. Hose dry in a fraction of the time they would on the line. When dry they'll look like new . . soft, fluffy, perfectly fitted to the foot, ankle, and leg. Hose can't shrink when dried on Hozforms.

Hozforms come in all standard sizes. Made in two types: Regular type, made of steel rod plated with a patented rust-proof coating. Stainless Steel Hozforms, absolutely rustproof, are made to last a lifetime.

Ideal Christmas Gifts

Hozforms are the perfect gift for the golfer or any one that wears knickers. Give HIM a pair and he'll remember you every time he puts on his hose. Hozforms for every member of the family, come in all sizes (men's regular and golf hose, women's sport and silk hose, children's and infants' hosiery), priced from $1.50 to $4.50. Obtainable at the better department and shoe stores, men's wear and sporting goods shops. Stainless Steel Hozforms present a handsome silvery appearance and are packed in beautiful gift boxes. Ask for them by the copyrighted name, "Hozform" . . . accept no substitutes.

HIGHER MAILING RATE PLEADED

Brown Presents His Appeal to Hoover in Report

Half-Cent Additional Need on Letters Set Forth

Postal Executive Appalled by $58,779,000 Deficit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Postmaster-General Brown's prescription for that old aggravation—the postal deficit—is to charge a half-cent more to deliver those letters now mailed outside the locality for 2 cents.

Appalled by the $58,779,000 by which the department found itself behind for the year ended last June, he spoke out today to President Hoover in his annual report.

The recommendation is for a 2½-cents-an-ounce rate for first-class mail of a nonlocal destination, while the 2-cent rate would remain in effect for local deliveries. This "only practical" remedy, under the legislation proposed, would go into effect April 1, 1931.

Last year's receipts reached $705,484,000. Despite that tremendous total, the deficit exceeded that of 1929 by $1,913,000.

ESTIMATED INCREASES

"The department should conduct its strictly postal operations without a financial loss," is Brown's starting point. He estimates the increase will boost income $55,000,000 annually; and recommends nominal revision of fees for money orders, insured and registered classes of mail to net an additional $8,000,000 yearly. Postcard rates would remain as at present.

The Postmaster-General also terms leasing of postal quarters at annual rentals exceeding $6000 "uneconomical." The general subject has been under Senate investigation, with a report in the offing. Meanwhile the Postoffice Department is shown in its report to have formulated a plan for ultimate ownership of all quarters now costing more than $6000 a year.

ARGUMENT ADVANCED

Noting that present first-class rates have been the same since 1885, except during the war, Brown argued for the increase as follows:

"Since 1916 there has been an increase of 82 per cent in the second-class rate, an increase of 21 per cent in the third-class rate, and an average increase of 10 per cent in the parcel-post rate.

"When there is taken into account the reduced purchasing power of the dollar, the 2-cent postage rate of 1885 is equivalent to 3½ cents at the present time. If there is taken into account the relative wages paid to labor, the 2-cent rate of 1885 is equivalent to 7 cents at the present time.

WAY OUT OF RED

"While a higher rate than 2½ cents would be justified, nevertheless the ½-cent increase will take care of the deficit and balance the postoffice budget, except, of course, for extraordinary and nonpostal expenditures."

To increase the rates on second, third and fourth-class matter instead of first class, Brown contends, would "drive much of it out of the mails, the net result being to increase rather than decrease the deficit."

The total excess of expenditures over receipts was $98,215,000, as compared with $85,461,000 for 1929. Deduction of $39,669,000 from this total deficit is allowable by Congress for expenditures chargeable to nonpostal activities, such as ocean and air-mail subsidies, free-mailing privileges, etc.

READJUSTMENT BLAMED

To the 1928 Congressional readjustment of rates on cards and secondary matter is attributed responsibility for much of the deficit.

As to the department's "general welfare" functions, Brown said obviously there should be no rate increase on account of such nonpostal factors.

The total amount available for public buildings was $363,000,000. Of this, $248,000,000 has been allocated. For allocation of the remainder, a survey of building needs is expected to be ready for Congress this month.

Air mail is reported increasingly popular, with requests for new routes received constantly. A total of 7,719,698 pounds of mail were flown in 1930 over 14,939,468 miles in all.

ENGINEER GENERALS FAVORED

Chief of Army Group Asks That Division Chiefs Get New Rank and More Pay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—There should be more generals in the army, it seems.

Maj.-Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, set out in his annual report today, that the Army officers detailed as division engineers in charge of the vast river, harbor and inland waterway improvements should have the rank and pay of brigadiers.

He would choose men, he said, without relation to their permanent rank but solely for ability. It now is hard to place the most able men in these responsible positions at the low salaries available, he maintained. Under Brown's plan, the number of divisions would be reduced from eight to six, north and south Atlantic going together, and north and south Pacific being combined.

WIDESPREAD PROPAGANDA TERMED WHOLLY FALSE

Efforts to Intrigue Woman Into Changing Her Testimony Said to Savor of Felony

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—After an introduction setting forth the nature of the Billings pardon petition rehearing and the more comprehensive nature of the public rehearing from that of the original hearing in which the Supreme Court recommended against a pardon, the majority opinion of the justices reads as follows:

There were certain important factual conclusions deduced by us upon our former consideration of this matter from the rather incomplete showing there made, but which upon rehearing have been established beyond the realm of possible doubt. The first of these relates to the integrity and propriety of procedure and conduct on the part of the police department of San Francisco, and of each and all of its members, and also on the part of each and all of the prosecuting officers thereof during the entire course of the investigation, as to the possible perpetrators of the Preparedness Day crime, and as to the identification, arrest, trial and conviction of the defendant, Billings, charged with others, with its commission.

The affirmative proof placed before us upon this later hearing was such as to satisfy every reasonable mind as to the truth of the foregoing statement and of our former finding thereon. Upon this hearing, however, this assurance was made doubly sure and was, in fact, removed from all peradventure of doubt by the frank, open and unqualified admission as to its truth by the counsel for the applicant himself.

We, therefore, declare the foregoing statement of our former conclusion to have been absolutely and unqualifiedly established and affirmatively conceded upon the recent hearing. We place emphasis upon this result for the present reason that for the past several years there has persisted, with direct reference to the case of Billings, a widespread propaganda of misrepresentation and falsehood affecting the integrity and official conduct of the San Francisco officials in their investigation of, and effort to apprehend and punish the perpetrators of this most dastardly crime, and which propaganda of misrepresentation and utter falsehood we earnestly trust will now and forever cease.

IDENTIFICATION POSITIVE

There are certain inevitable sequences to be drawn from the foregoing fully established conclusion which we shall later discover and discuss.

The second conclusion announced in our earlier findings, which to our minds became fully and finally established upon the recent hearing, was as to the fact that on the date of the crime, and within a half hour, or even less, of its commission, Warren K. Billings was seen and positively identified by several witnesses as being at the premises consisting of a low, two-story building, known as 721 Market street in said city. Thus our former finding was not only strengthened by the entire absence of any attempt upon the later hearing to impeach or otherwise discredit the testimony of the witnesses Wade and Moore, who had so testified upon the Billings trial, but by the further fact that the persistent and diversified effort to discredit and destroy the testimony of Estelle Smith, who, upon said trial, testified with much more of detail, but with not less certainty, to the same effect, but who it was later charged had repudiated, by both written statement and affidavit, her said testimony. We did not, for this latter reason, upon our former review of the record place much, if any reliance upon the testimony of Estelle Smith as given at the Billings trial, nor did we essay the initiative in the way of procuring her presence and evidence at the recent hearing. But Estelle Smith voluntarily appeared at such hearing, and upon being sworn as a witness not only repeated in substantial language, detail and effect her testimony as given upon said trial, but further proceeded to explain her later purported repudiations of such testimony and to relate in detail the circumstances under which and by whom such repudiations had been sought, suggestionized and procured.

STORY RINGS TRUE

We will not here go into detail with respect to this sordid and discreditable matter as to all concerned, further than to say that we are satisfied that Estelle Smith told as nearly as such an emotional, voluble, impressionable personage could be expected to tell it at a public trial, the truth as to the main episode of her contacts with Warren K. Billings with a suitcase at 721 Market street a short while before the Preparedness Day explosion; that her repetition of such testimony as to the substantials of her former story was also true, and that her story as to the persons and circumstances connected with her later repudiations of her former testimony bears so far the evidences of sincerity and truth as to satisfy our minds that the means employed in the effort to intrigue, overpersuade, suggestionize and seduce her into repudiation of her former truthful testimony savored strongly of subornation of perjury.

The testimony of Estelle Smith as given at the Billings trial and as later repeated before us dovetails in its essential circumstances, insofar as the identification of Warren K. Billings as having been seen with a suitcase at 721 Market street is concerned, perfectly and with quite surprising exactitude into the evidence of School Teacher Wade and Policeman Moore, and in so doing further satisfies our minds as to the actual presence of Billings with a heavy suitcase at said time and place; that the suitcase was of such size, weight and general appearance, as to form and color, as would serve to sufficiently identify it with the time-bomb-filled suitcase which a short while thereafter exploded at Steuart and Market streets. The testimony of Estelle Smith is also in singular accord with the testimony of Policeman Moore as given at the former trial that the Ford jitney which was seen by him standing in front of 721 Market street at the same moment when he saw Billings there, that Billings evidently knew its owner and whereabouts, and that said car and Billings had both disappeared when he returned a little while later.

TESTIMONY UNSHAKEN

The third conclusion which we arrived at upon our first report related to the presence of Warren K. Billings at the corner of Steuart and Mission streets without said suitcase a few moments before and after said explosion and to the truth of what there occurred, according to the testimony given upon the Billings trial by the witness, J. J. Crowley. This witness asserted that he knew Billings personally, but even if he did not, the positiveness of his testimony removes all doubt as to his identification of him and as to his presence there without a suitcase, if the statement of Crowley is to be believed. Upon said trial he was unshaken upon cross-examination and he was not impeached by any attack upon his reputation for truth and integrity, or by any other means than the production of some proofs that he had been involved in troubles with his wife and had some moral shortcomings, which could not be held to affect his testimony as a disinterested witness at that trial.

Crowley entered the service during the World War and died in the destruction of a transport by a submarine. He could not, therefore, be produced at the present hearing; but a witness named Clairbourne presented himself, with much show of standing and assurance, to testify that at the time when Crowley testified as to his having seen Billings at Steuart and Mission streets, he was actually under the witness' car within the garage where he was employed and hence could not have seen Billings at the time and place to which he testified.

"ALL-AROUND SCAMP"

Within a few hours, however, the mask of respectability fell from the face and form of Claiborne when it was made to appear that the latter was a felon, convicted of perjury in the year 1915 and an all-around scamp, entitled to little or no credence, and a little while later his credibility was utterly destroyed and that of Crowley rehabilitated by the evidence of Mr. Jones, who testified that at the time fixed by Crowley's evidence, he, Crowley, was in and out of the garage, of which Jones was part owner, and that he was so far trusted as to have full and free access to the cash register of the garage.

We conclude, therefore, that the fact of Billings's presence at Steuart and Mission streets on the afternoon of the explosion and a few moments after it occurred without a suit case was and is a fully established fact upon both the former and the present hearing.

ALIBIS VANISH

The conclusion which we thus reach upon the last two matters of fact, viz.: The presence of Warren K. Billings at 721 Market street a short while before the explosion, with a suit case generally similar, in its externals and also in its estimated weight, with the suit case which concealed the deadly explosive; and the presence of Billings at Steuart and Mission streets without a suit case a few moments both before and after explosion, leads our inquiry to two vital conclusions.

The first of these is that the several former alibis of Billings disappear from the case as utterly as though they had never been offered in testimony; while as to his later alibi, with respect to his being occupied on Preparedness Day in throwing acid upon newly painted automobiles in order to make work for striking painters, which is in nowise inconsistent with the double occupation of carrying a time bomb to the place of its explosion, it only serves to show this applicant to be that which he describes himself to have been at that very time, viz: a lawless mercenary, ready to commit any act of villainy for pay.

DEFENSE COLLAPSES

The second conclusion to which in reason we are forced by the finality of the foregoing facts is that since Warren K. Billings has been sufficiently proven to have been at 721 Market street with such a suitcase as might well have concealed the deadly bomb only a short while before its explosion, and since he has also been sufficiently proven to have been at Steuart and Mission streets without a suit case a few moments after the explosion, and since his alibis as to his whereabouts in the intervening time have disappeared, it was incumbent upon Warren K. Billings upon the present hearing to offer some affirmative showing that he did not in fact commit the crime of which, upon his former fair, full and impartial trial, he was convicted. He has made no such showing.

On the contrary, he has furnished us largely from his own lips the history of his life, from which it appears that he was born and reared an outcast in the slums of the city of New York! He entered early upon a career of crimes of violence. He was convicted of the possession of burglar's tools while yet a minor and confined in prison at Elmira. He chose the career of a burglar and came west with his burglar's tools. He stopped over long enough in Utah to become familiar with the use of dynamite in mines.

ACTIVE IN STRIKES

He then came on to California where he joined a union and went to work in a shoe factory. When shortly thereafter a strike occurred among its employees he remained, with pretended but false loyalty, with his employers and was allowed to sleep in the factory; but he reported regularly to T. J. Mooney, one of the pickets of the strikers outside. During the course of the strike a considerable quantity of shoes in the course of manufacture were mutilated by acts of sabotage. The watchman discovered Billings in suspicious proximity to the place of such mutilation, and in the struggle which ensued the watchman was shot by Billings and almost killed. He was arrested, but his trial dragged until the strike was over when he was discharged.

He went to live at the house of the notorious Belle Lavine, whose home was the rendezvous and hiding-place of the McNamaras, of Smith and Kaplan, the confessed or convicted dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times Building. He began hiring himself out to steal dynamite during strikes, and to convey dynamite to various places for use in destroying property during labor troubles. He was hired by T. J. Mooney upon at least one occasion to do this nefarious work, and upon another occasion by an official of the electrical workers' union, whose name he frankly, but whether falsely or truly, tells, to carry sixty-six pounds of dynamite in a suit case from Oakland to Sacramento to be used in blowing up the towers or other works of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in that region. He was arrested upon arrival in that city while still in possession of said dynamite and with the detonating caps in his pockets.

SERVED PRISON TERM

He also was found to have upon his person his burglar tools, which he frankly admits he proposed making use of in committing burglaries during the State fair. He was brought to trial and convicted of the unlawful possession of explosives for felonious purposes and served his term in Folsom, until his parole, between the years of 1913 and 1915 upon that conviction.

Upon his release in the latter year he returned to his old habitues and associations in San Francisco, varying his vocation as a burglar by acting, according to the frank admissions of his counsel, as a labor spy during strikes during the first part of the year 1916 and later and in the early summer of that year was engaged by a labor leader of the machinists' union to commit acts of sabotage upon automobiles, consisting of applying an acid or paint remover upon late models, the local agents for which were employers who were refusing to employ union machinists.

AIDE OF ANARCHISTS

During all of these later years the intimate associates of Billings, or his occasional employers who hired him to act as a spy or mercenary in the perpetration of unlawful and criminal acts, were to be found among a group of anarchists, at that time well organized and operating in San Francisco, the leaders of which were Alexander Berkman, Edward Nolan, Emma Goldman, Thomas J. Mooney and others, who, in the main, were members of various revolutionary groups, including the I.W.W., and who during the first half of the year 1916 were engaged in the publication known as "The Blast," the columns and articles of which were in each issue filled with editorials and personal communications violently assailing the growing policy of "preparedness" on the part of the Federal government and its citizenship, which augmented to the point of holding simultaneous Preparedness Day celebrations, processions and exercises during the month of July all over the land.

These published assaults were of the most violent and unpatriotic character, recommending all sorts of desperate expediences and even acts of violence for the purpose of discouraging, preventing and interfering with the holding of such patriotic exercises and parades.

KEYED FOR VIOLENCE

It would seem to be a foregone conclusion that the mind and purposes of Warren K. Billings would, both by his associations and the lawless enterprises in which he was then engaged, be strongly infected with disloyalty, to the extent of being willing to do whatever stronger, more cunning but less courageous men of the type above described, would urge, plot, scheme and suggest in the way of direct action, constituting an actual and violent interference with the holding and progress of the Preparedness Day parade. He was, according to his own life story, just the ready-made mercenary for such an unlawful and disloyal undertaking.

That the Preparedness Day explosion which occurred at the hour of 2:06 p.m. July 22, 1916, was caused by the placing of a time bomb contained in a suitcase which a short while theretofore had been deposited at or near the corner of Steuart and Market streets by the deliberate act of some person or persons knowing its contents and deadly character may be taken to be the next fully established fact upon the present inquiry. As to that fact, our former conclusion not only remains unchanged, but it has been fortified by a further examination of the record, and also by the fact that upon the present hearing no serious attempts have been made to controvert it.

MacDONALD'S TESTIMONY

The importance of the testimony of the several witnesses who testified to having seen such suitcase shortly before the explosion, standing upon the sidewalk at the precise point where, as shown by the indentations in the sidewalk, the explosion actually occurred, consists chiefly in the fact that this evidence supplies strong corroboration to the testimony of the main and only witness who came forward to testify as to the actual placing of the suitcase at the indicated spot. That witness was and still is John MacDonald.

That John MacDonald was at or near the corner of Steuart and Market streets at the time when the suitcase was placed at the spot of its subsequent explosion has never been seriously or successfully disputed. He himself so testified repeatedly at the several trials in which he appeared as a witness during the years, 1916 and 1917. He so reiterated in his affidavit of February 7, 1921. He repeated and reiterated the truth of his statement in the foregoing regard in his several statements in affidavits made in Baltimore in the year 1930. In his recent appearance and testimony before the members of this court during the month of August of the present year, he has uniformly and repeatedly reasseverated that he was present at Steuart and Market streets at the time when the suitcase was placed at the spot of its explosion, and that he witnessed such placement.

NO CAUSE FOR DOUBT

During all of the years which have elapsed since that fatal day, and during all of the efforts which have been put forth in aid of the applicant herein, there has never been one scrap of evidence produced tending to show that John MacDonald was anywhere else than where he has continuously and consistently asserted he was at the time of the placement of the time bomb upon the spot of its explosion. His own testimony upon that subject, therefore, remains not only unimpeached by himself, not only unassailed by any showing that he was elsewhere, but is, on the other hand, strongly corroborated by the testimony of several other persons whose credibility is unattacked.

It is in evidence that practically immediately after the explosion John MacDonald, stirred wtih the importance of the circumstances he had witnessed, endeavored to speak to a police officer who was keeping back the crowd from surging in upon the scene of the explosion, but that he was not permitted to do so. A short while later he began telling to various persons that he had seen the suit case planted by a man whose actions he described. From thence onward during the two days which followed he told to several witnesses his story as to what he had witnessed respecting the placement of the suit case, and which story he repeated in the presence of the members of the police department on the second day following the casualty, and from the essential facts of which he has never since varied.

CORROBORATING EVIDENCE

It must, therefore, be taken to be a fully established and fully corroborated certainty that John MacDonald saw the suit case placed and saw the person or persons who placed it at the point of its explosion at 2:06 p.m. July 22, 1916.

The next step in our search for truth leads us to the further consideration of the testimony of those several persons to whom John MacDonald told the story of what he had witnessed at Steuart and Market streets shortly before the explosion. Upon the details of the story thus related by him to them at different times and places during that and the following day these disinterested witnesses substantially agree. The importance of the testimony of these witnesses touching the foregoing statements of John MacDonald centers about two vital situations.

The first of these concerns the fact that John MacDonald began to tell in detail what he had observed as to the placing of the suit case almost immediately after he had learned of the explosion, the place of its occurrence and its fatal effect. This story thus brings the matter of its relation nearly if not quite within the principle "res gestae" as to raise a strong presumption as to the truth of such statements when their time relation to the occurrence removes the likelihood of any motive to falsify.

VALUE OF DETAILS

The second important fact consists in the degree of circumstance and detail embraced in these first statements made by John MacDonald to the foregoing witnesses before he had come in contact with the police or official departments, and even before the publication of the details of the explosion itself.

Without time for reflection; without either wit or motive to concoct a falsehood, John MacDonald related to these several witnesses certain details immediately relating to the identity of the individual who placed the suit case at the point of its explosion, and to which details he consistently thereafter adhered during the several trials at which he was a witness in the years 1916 and 1917.

To each and all of these persons MacDonald related that he had observed the man who came with the suitcase and set it down at the place of its subsequent explosion. He described the peculiar actions of the man—his turning his head from side to side—his excited actions and conduct which particularly arrested MacDonald's attention.

CONFUSION SLIGHT

To these details as thus related to these several persons MacDonald consistently adhered in his testimony before the grand jury and at each of the several trials, and he has never since specifically denied the truth of his statement and subsequent testimony as to these details. It is true that some confusion exists as to MacDonald's several statements as to the appearance of the two persons who attracted his particular attention at the time of the placing of the bomb at the place of its explosion. These relate to the apparent height, age and manner of dress of the two men who thus momentarily, so to speak, came within his observation. This confusion is partly due to the fact that the height or age of any stranger coming within the vision of any ordinary observer is a matter largely of approximation, which rarely accords with the actual facts as they are later and exactly shown to exist; and is also partly due to the fact that the police officers who undertook to take down MacDonald's first statement upon this subject got their descriptions of the two men mixed. MacDonald's first and later statements as to the two men whom he saw together at the time of the planting of the suitcase do not sufficiently vary as to justify the discrediting of his testimony upon that subject to any material degree.

TRUTH APPARENT

In the light of the foregoing deductions it must, therefore, be accepted as an established fact that the several statements made by John MacDonald during the day of and the two days succeeding the explosion and substantiated by said witnesses in detail as to the appearance, actions and conduct of the two persons who were immediately concerned in the planting of the suitcase containing the time bomb at the point of its later explosion, were substantially true.

We thus arrive at the day and hour when John MacDonald first presented himself at the offices of the police department of the city and county of San Francisco for the purpose of telling his story. We may at this point properly visualize John MacDonald in personality, in character, in standing and in moral quality, as his life history up to that time reveals him to our view.

HIS LIFE REVIEWED

John MacDonald was born and grew up in Baltimore, Md., where some of his relatives still reside. He received some education in the public schools but early became a wage earner with no fixed trade, but much of his life following the occupation of a waiter in restaurants. He drifted about the country, coming to San Francisco in about the year 1911, and had lived the intervening five years prior to the giving of his evidence in the Preparedness Day trials, working, in the main, as a waiter, or when that employment failed, living at the Salvation Army headquarters, but earning his living by work. During a portion of this time prior to his testimony, he had been ill and in a hospital, suffering from some form of social disease, but had been discharged as cured of same and was engaged in earning a living selling newspapers at the time of the Preparedness Day explosion.

When he presented himself at the police department on July 24, 1916, the department looked him up before receiving his statement, and finding that he had no police record and that his past life in San Francisco had been about as above stated, turned him over to Sergt. Goff for examination as to the details and truth of his story.

Here occurred one of the most remarkable and significant episodes in the entire course of the inquiry into the identity and guilt or innocence of those who were or were to be charged with the commission of this atrocious crime. When Sergt. Goff, after hearing MacDonald's story, asked him if he thought he would be able to identify the two persons whom he had stated he had seen in connection with the suitcase placement at Steuart and Market streets, and when told by MacDonald that he could do so, the latter was shown a collection of photographs of some twenty-five suspected dynamiters and asked to pick out, if among these, the persons he had so seen.

IDENTIFICATIONS

MacDonald examined these pictures carefully, without any aid or suggestion on the part of the police officer, and presently pointed to the picture of the man whom he had seen as having carried and deposited the suitcase. It was Warren K. Billings. He then examined the pictures further and again picked out the picture of the man who had come out of the saloon. It was Thomas J. Mooney. In so doing MacDonald directed attention to the fact that Mooney, as shown in the picture, had a mustache, but as seen by him at Steuart and Market streets had none. The officer placed his finger over the mustache of the man as shown in the picture, whereupon, MacDonald positively identified him as the man he had previously seen.

When it appears from the record before us, as it unmistakably does, that MacDonald had no previous knowledge of the careers or past connections of either of these men prior to Preparedness Day, and had in fact never heard of or seen either of them except as he had stated; and when it further appears, as concededly it does, that MacDonald's identification of these two men in connection with the placement of the time bomb upon the spot of its explosion was made as above stated, his identification of them and each of them as thus made becomes a controlling factor in determining whether the testimony of MacDonald, as given a few days later before the grand jury and as repeated at the trials of Billings and the other persons charged with said crime was true or false.

UNIMPEACHED

How did it happen that this man, within two days after the commission of this crime, should have thus laid his accusing finger upon the two men of all others, either in or out of said list of dynamiters, who from their past contacts and associations should be the two individuals most likely to have conjoined in the conception and execution of the Preparedness Day crime? How does it happen that this man MacDonald a few days later, when, first, Billings and then Mooney, had been arrested and were being held in the City Prison, should have been able, without suggestion or aid from the police, to positively point out successively these two men from a number of other prisoners shown him, as the two men he had seen at Steuart and Market streets?

These two identifications of each of these two men remained unimpeached as to the method and manner of their making during the course of the five separate trials at which John MacDonald gave his testimony; and they remain unimpeached so far as Warren K. Billings is concerned by anything in the record before us, other than the so-called repudiations of his former statements made by John MacDonald in his later affidavits and evidence, but which, in so far as he attempts in these to associate with his aforesaid identifications the commission of certain improprieties on the part of the officials of the police department and District Attorney's office have been incontrovertibly proven to be utterly false.

HONEST CONVICTION

We arrive at the conclusion that in the making of these two identifications of each of the two men MacDonald asserted himself to have seen at the corner of Steuart and Market streets in immediate connection with the placement of the time bomb-filled suit case, he truly stated and demonstrated his honest and positive conviction that these were the two men whom he had thus seen.

Within a very few days after John MacDonald had made his foregoing positive identification of Warren K. Billings as the person who had placed the suitcase at the spot of its explosion he was called to testify before the grand jury. He did in fact so testify on August 1, 1916. His testimony as given before that body is quite instructive. He, therefore, the first time told his story under oath and without question and answer. He told it with detail and circumstance which in common experience is not the way of a witness who is lying, unless he has been coached, of which there is not the slightest proof. He related minor incidents which only bear collaterally upon the main story, but which an unskilled perjurer would not be likely to invent. He describes Billings as he first came within his vision as being "a young fellow." He states with precision of circumstance his actions and movements which caused the witness "to notice him in particular."

CONVINCED GRAND JURY

His entire testimony with respect to the identity and actions of both persons was throughout marked with the freedom of expression and consecutive attention as to detail which are characteristic of a truthful witness but which are lacking in a lying one, unless he has been carefully coached and has, so to speak, learned his story by rote.

The grand jury were entirely convinced that MacDonald was telling them the truth and they returned their indictments accordingly. From that time forth until the trial of Billings, which began on September 11, 1916, and lasted fourteen days, the fact that John MacDonald was to be a witness at such trial was known, and the testimony which he had thus given before the grand jury was available to Billings and his attorneys, who were skillful and experienced criminal lawyers. When that trial came on, MacDonald again testified as he had done before the grand jury, in every substantial detail.

He was subjected to a long and rigid cross-examination on the part of defendant's able counsel, during which his entire story was related without material variation. Some effort was made to show that he was testifying as he did in hope of a reward, but no effort was made during that trial to impair or impeach his evidence either by proof affecting his character or reputation or by contradictory evidence, except that of the defendant himself and of his codefendants.

COURT'S INSTRUCTIONS

Upon the conclusion of that trial the trial judge gave to the jury a very full and detailed set of instructions covering every ph the case as developed by th dence. He instructed the ju under the law every witne presumed to speak the trut that this presumption may b pelled by the manner in wh witness testified, by the cha of such witness and of the te offered by him, by his mot by contradictory evidence, a a witness found to be wilfully in a material part of his te was to be distrusted in othe thereof. By the guidance foregoing instructions as by the other fair and full tions of the trial judge th were called upon to weigh th dence given by the witness Donald. In so doing they g MacDonald's aforesaid te full credence and belief, as by their verdict of guilty.

In undertaking now and this hearing to weigh and mine the truth as to the te of MacDonald as given up Billings trial, we are bound ily to submit that evidence cisely the same tests as th upon that trial were instru do. In other words, leaving the moment MacDonald's quent attempted repudiati certain vital portions of his testimony, we are bound in instance to apply to such testimony of MacDonald, as before the grand jury, up Billings trial, and upon each subsequent trials of his co ants, the records in which fore us, the same legal tests the jury or several juries w rected to apply.

EVIDENCE SUFFICIEN

In so doing we are bound clare that MacDonald's mony given upon each an eryone of said occasions every appearance of s consistency and truth; withstood successfully eve sault upon it made during peated and extended cro aminations by the most criminal lawyers in the country, and that except later attempted repudia the part of MacDonald h it was and still remains cient, with the other e offered, to support the and conclusion that W Billings was, and was p found to be, guilty of th ous crime for which he sentenced to imprisonm life, and that he is not titled to a recommendation he receive a pardon for crime.

We thus arrive at the the course of this inquiry we are required to consi Donald's subsequent atte pudiate certain vital por his aforesaid testimony a termine the effect to be gi to. Before engaging in quiry, however, there are later developed circums curring between the time taking of MacDonald's upon the trials of Billings his codefendants separa and the date of his first purporting to repudiate his testimony.

LATER DEVELOPME

After having given his upon these trials during 1916 and 1917 MacDonald in California for about t half years, following vari tions. WITNESS CREDIBILITY LAW

Justice Seawell, However, Finds Chief Flaw in Billings's Excuse for Delayed "Alibi"

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Justice Seawell, in his individual opinion accompanying the Supreme Court's decision in the Billings case, recounts the unshaken testimony of Estelle Smith, agrees with the dissolution of the fiber of John MacDonald, and continues:

In passing it may be observed that the testimony given by MacDonald at the former hearings is by no means all of the evidence of an incriminatory character which was deduced against petitioner at the trial, however earnestly the contrary may be asserted. Practically every witness who was called by the prosecution has been charged with the commission of some crime or irregularity of conduct. The private records of numerous witnesses have not escaped close inspection. In a number of instances acts brought to light do not go to the truthfulness, honesty and integrity of said persons, but to such lapses or errors which cast their shadows upon character, but because of which the wrongdoer should not be outlawed as an unbelievable persons where his or her weaknesses or proclivities do not involve traits which directly affect credibility.

MUST SEEK TRUTH

In criminal cases it not infrequently happens that the law must consider the testimony of witnesses who are badly tarnished by contact with crimes. But the fact that they are so tarnished does not relieve the investigator of act of duty of endeavoring to search out the truth, believing where the testimony in whole or in part convinces the understanding and disbelieving where it fails. It is the law that the jury may believe the whole or a part of the testimony of a witness or disbelieve him or her in toto as it may be convinced of the truth or falsity of such testimony, or it may reject it entirely.

Such are the instructions that are given to every jury in the trial of criminal cases and it not infrequently happens that convictions are obtained in cases where the moral standing or, indeed, the integrity, of a number of witnesses is admittedly unsavory. This unpleasant but not unusual spectacle affords the excuse for a refusal to carefully scrutinize the evidence and act upon it if it carries convincing force. The important question after all is, is the evidence believable, this court is not permitted to override the laws of appraisal of the credibility of witnesses who pass the test in a proper forum.

Petitioner was brought before us and interrogated over a period of approximately three hours. It does seem that he did not exhibit the frankness and open mindedness that might be expected of a man who had no connection with the commission of a crime of which he stands wrongfully convicted.

MUCH UNEXPLAINED

The suggestion that his failure to account satisfactorily for his whereabouts on the day of the explosion was protested by the fact that it would have required him to reveal his activities in the commission of other offenses of a most despicable character is not persuasive in view of the great disparity as to penalties existing between the crime he actually committed and the crimes he was suspected to have committed.

The latter carried with it a possible death penalty.

The testimony has been reviewed quite extensively and has been fully considered by this court in its many conferences. Before I feel justified in joining in an order recommending a pardon and thereby annulling the judgment of the several courts which have considered petitioner's case, there are a number of incriminatory circumstances and considerable evidence that must be explained away. No satisfactory explanation has yet been made. This being so I cannot find myself able to recommend that a pardon be granted petitioner.

BILLINGS EVIDENCE WEAK

Justice Shenk Points Out Burden of Proof Was Convict and He Failed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Justice Shenk, along wit Supreme Court's recommendation that a pardon to Warren K. Bi be denied, submitted an individual opinion to emphasize "certain p of the matter" appealing particularly to him. He reiterates the tion of other justices, and observes:

I desire to accentuate the position taken by six members of the court on the former hearing of this application and now maintained, viz.: That the proceeding before us is not a retrial of the case of the people vs. Warren K. Billings. I challenge as unsound the view expressed by some that the duty of the justices, in acting upon this application, is to determine whether the applicant has been proved guilty of the crime with which he was charged. The applicant has been proved guilty of that crime in the trial at which he was convicted.

SITUATION ALTERED

On that trial the applicant was clothed with the presumption of innocence and the burden was on the people to prove his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. Concededly he was accorded a fair trial and on appeal the evidence was declared to be abundantly sufficient to support the conviction.

The applicant now stands before us a convicted felon unsupported by the presumption of innocence. The presumption of guilt is now against him. The burden has been and is cast upon him to establish either that he is innocent, or, notwithstanding his conviction, he is entitled to a pardon.

In support of his claim of innocence we have his plea of "not guilty," and his later insistence that he did not commit the crime. As against this claim is the record of his conviction after a fair and impartial trial in which he was adequately represented by counsel and protected in all of his legal rights. This conviction must stand unless there is sufficient evidence before us that notwithstanding the judgment he is entitled to go free.

The applicant has endeavored to prove that he was convicted by the perjured testimony of witnesses who appeared against him at the trial. From time immemor has been the law of the land such perjury must be met a trial. But in our considerati the application we have swept that rule of law and have and freely heard testimony th fect of which is claimed to that certain witnesses at the were false to their oaths or honestly mistaken.

of MacDonald as given upo
Billings trial, we are bound pr upon that trial were instruc

the moment MacDonald's certain vital portions of his testimony, we are bound in th instance to apply to such testimony of MacDonald, as before the grand jury, upon Billings trial, and upon each subsequent trials of his code

the jury or several juries we

EVIDENCE SUFFICIENT

In so doing we are bound to clare that MacDonald's te

We thus arrive at the p

we are required to consider

Medical science has known for three-quarters of a century that fresh yeast exercises remarkable effect in cases of intestinal congestion.

Eaten regularly, like any other food, yeast softens and loosens the accumulated waste masses that are at the bottom of Intestinal Fatigue. At the same time it stimulates natural intestinal action.

But, in addition, yeast is the richest known food substance in vitamins B and G and the "sunshine" vitamin D. Each cake contains these three vitamins.

BILLINGS'S PLEA REJECTED BY SUPREME JUSTICES

He and Mooney Must Stay in Cells; Conviction of Bombers Upheld and Prosecutors Vindicated

that the petitioner has not been frank with the court and that no reason exists to justify a pardon."

Although the opinion expresses the hope this action will end the case for all time, attorneys representing both men indicated their intention to go beyond the recommendation in any way they can, thus evincing a desire to carry on with a fight that has been waged for fourteen years, with the expenditure of thousands upon thousands of dollars, and which has consistently brought decisions unfavorable to the prisoners throughout all that time.

Because of the desire of certain justices to add their individual conclusions, the preparation of the text of the decision was delayed several hours and gave rise to erroneous reports there had been a disagreement in the majority opinion.

Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings, was not present when the decision was announced, but two representatives of Mooney were in the Supreme Court chambers, Cyrus B. King, associated with Frank P. Walsh as counsel for Mooney, and the latter's sister, Annie Mooney.

MAJOR POINTS

The major points of the Billings rehearing, as brought out in the opinion, follow:

Every shred of innuendo and mouthed charges of corruption on the part of the San Francisco police department and the District Attorney's office of this county in the handling of the investigation of the bombing and the trials which grew out of it, was removed beyond any reasonable doubt, not only by facts brought out at the rehearing, but by repeated admission of defense counsel themselves.

Billings was positively seen and identified at 721 Market street with a suitcase similar to that containing the bomb which exploded in the midst of the parade, was identified both a few moments before and after the bombing at Steuart and Mission streets, a block from the explosion scene, by a witness whose testimony has come back from the grave and proved true despite an effort to minimize it, and Billings was identified as having placed the suitcase with the bomb which caused the explosion.

TESTIMONY ANALYZED

Estelle Smith, "suggestionized" and influenced over a period of years to refute her identification of Billings at 721 Market street with the bomb suitcase, testified volubly and often at random during the rehearing, but through her entire story, which was a reiteration of her original identification of Billings, she carried without dropping the clear thread of evident truthfulness at the present time, thereby establishing, as never before, the moral and legal justice of the convictions in the cases.

Billings, required by law to prove the burden of his plea of innocence, not only failed to do so but, by his own words, conjoined to the testimony of others, proved his alibi indisputably worthless and branded himself a "lawless mercenary" without character and exactly the type of criminal who would be led by others into such a nefarious crime as the Preparedness parade bombing. By his associations with known criminals and radicals and advocates of direct violence, he demonstrated his willful intent.

TRUTH DISCERNED

John MacDonald told the truth when he identified Billings and Mooney as the guilty persons immediately after the parade and before there could possibly have been any action taken to influence his version of the events of that day. John MacDonald told the truth during the five trials of grand-jury appearances at which he subsequently testified, there being ample evidence to prove it. He has not told the truth at any time in the various statements he has made since 1921, including the 1921 New York affidavit and the 1930 Baltimore affidavit, because of the influences which have been brought to bear upon him since that time. These influences, among which are Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin; the Chicago Federation of Labor and its secretary, Edward N. Nockels, and known revolutionaries, such as Berkman and Goldman, have been such, the opinion finds, as to border closely on subornation of perjury.

The foregoing constitute the most vital factors making up the complete report.

CHARGES ANSWERED

In the general decision, an amplification of the long-raised hue and cry over corrupt action in official realms of San Francisco brings the following observation:

"The affirmative proof placed before us upon this latter hearing was such as to satisfy every reasonable mind" on the "integrity and propriety" of the procedure by police and District-Attorney's aides.

"Upon this hearing, however," the decision reads, "this assurance was made doubly sure" in comparison to the first hearing, "and was, in fact, removed from all peradventure of doubt by the frank, open and unqualified admission as to its truth by the counsel for the applicant himself.

"We place emphasis upon this result for the present reason that for the past several years there has persisted, with direct reference to the case of Billings, a widespread propaganda of misrepresentation and falsehood affecting the integrity and official conduct of the San Francisco officials in their investigation of and effort to apprehend and punish the perpetrators of this most dastardly crime, and which propaganda of misrepresentation and utter falsehood we earnestly trust will now and forevermore cease."

MINDS SATISFIED

Of the long effort on the part of Fremont Older to change the original damning testimony of Estelle Smith, an effort admitted by him on the witness stand, the majority opinion finds that "her story as to the persons and circumstances connected with her later repudiations of her former testimony bears so far the evidences of sincerity and truth as to satisfy our minds that the means employed in the effort to intrigue, overpersuade, suggestionize and seduce her into repudiation of her formal truthful testimony savored strongly of subornation of perjury."

Lest there be any tendency to rest alone on Estelle Smith and the mistaken interpretation which has been placed upon her volubility before the court by those directly interested, the decision points out her version of the events at 721 Market street dovetailed precisely and conclusively with those of other witnesses, and, in addition, she withstood the rigors of severe cross-examination without being shaken a whit in any of her fundamental contentions.

ALIBI CONSIDERED

Billings's alibi of throwing acid on automobiles for the benefit of a striking painters' union "is in no wise inconsistent," the decision reads, "with the double occupation of carrying a time bomb to the place of its explosion," but only "serves to show this applicant to be that which he describes himself to have been at that time, viz: a lawless mercenary ready to commit any act of villainy for pay."

Billings has not shown he did not commit the crime charged and for which he was convicted, the report reads.

"On the contrary, he has furnished us largely from his own lips the history of his life, from which it appears that he was born and reared an outcast in the slums of New York. He entered early upon a career of crimes and violence."

The opinion then sketches his subsequent criminal activities, his penal servitude for some of them, his association with Mooney in inferential criminal movements, his learning of the uses and handling of dynamite, his disloyalty to the legitimately constituted organizations for which he acted as a spy while ostensibly working in their best interests, and concludes:

SUBSERVIENT TOOL

"It would seem to be a foregone conclusion that the mind and purposes of Warren K. Billings would, both by his associations and by the lawless enterprises in which he was then engaged, be strongly infected with disloyalty to the extent of being willing to do whatever stronger, more cunning but less courageous men of the type above described would urge, plot, scheme and suggest in the way of direct action, constituting an actual and violent interference with the holding and progress of the Preparedness Day parade. He was, according to his own life story, just the ready-made mercenary for such an unlawful and disloyal undertaking."

There is every reason to believe, the report says, that MacDonald ;the itinerant waiter who brought about the rehearing, told the truth before influences backing the Mooney and Billings pardon fight became active, but by the time that influence had been sufficient to bring him before the justices of the Supreme Court for examination on the last of his repudiations, the Baltimore affidavit of last spring, "it may be said that a more abject spectacle of debased and degenerated manhood was never before presented to any body of judicial or quasijudicial investigators."

REPORT SUMMARY

In summary, the majority report reads, "it may be stated as our deliberate conclusion that the effect upon our minds of the production of John MacDonald as a witness before us has been but to reinforce our former conclusion that his attempted repudiation of testimony which he gave before the court and jury in the Billings and succeeding cases was so abundantly shown to be false, if not, as we believe, corruptly inspired, as to be utterly valueless for that purpose, and hence that the testimony of John MacDonald as given upon the Billings trial in 1916 and the truth thereof have not been successfully assailed or overthrown; that there can be no question as to the sufficiency of that evidence to justify the conviction of Warren K. Billings for his participation in the crime of the Preparedness Day explosion; and that nothing has been presented before us upon this hearing sufficient to convince our minds that Warren K. Billings is now entitled to a recommendation for pardon at our hands."

Justice Langdon's dissenting opinion, five pages in length, declares the "consolidated majority report is unsound and indefensible" because its conclusions "are not founded upon established facts" and because "it appeals to passion and prejudice." He denies the infallibility of the MacDonald identifications and, in the light of all testimony taken, "when fairly considered, the bottom drops out of the cases against Billings."

Because of the tremendous interest in the Billings rehearing, the justices make their position in the matter clear in the following language in the form of a preface to the recommendation:

"This entire proceeding appears to have been regarded by a considerable portion of the public and the press as a new trial of the petitioner, during which he should, at all time, have been accorded the presumption of innocence.

"We have not, and do not, regard it in that light. On the contrary, petitioner comes here, after his conviction in our constitutionally established courts by a jury, in a trial at which he was accorded every opportunity to establish his innocence. He is not now entitled to the presumption of innocence but stands here with the burden on him to satisfy the pardoning power that he is entitled to executive clemency."

The concluding paragraph, containing the majority opinion, reads:

"We are, therefore, of the view that the petitioner, Warren K. Billings, has not made out a case for the granting of a pardon, and we are, accordingly, unable to recommend that such action be taken."

INVESTIGATOR CONVINCED MOONEY, BILLINGS GUILTY

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Capt. Charles Goff, of the San Francisco traffic squad, chief investigator during the trials here of Warren K. Billings and Thomas J. Mooney, commenting today on the State Supreme Court's action in refusing to recommend a pardon for the men, said he was convinced of the guilt of the pair.

In a letter to Gov. Young Capt. Goff told the executive he at one time had altered his opinion and felt the two men, if not connected with the San Francisco bombing outrage of 1916 for which they received life terms, had been given an unfair trial.

He added:

"The recent Supreme Court hearing and the investigations I have made during this hearing have completely removed every shadow of doubt I may have previously entertained and I now am fully convinced the defendants, Warren K. Billings and Thomas J. Mooney, committed the acts charged against them."

Capt. Goff added while the defendants were held up as martyrs in a noble cause and champions of the working people neither was in the true sense a working man.

RED INDUSTRIAL AIM DISCOUNTED

Treason Suspect Declares America to Hold Lead

Sabotage in Show Plant of Russia Indicated

Switch in Textile Machines Termed Detrimental

MOSCOW, Dec. 1. (AP)—One of the eight Russian engineers on trial for high treason tonight expressed the belief soviet Russia would not get ahead of the United States in technical production for many years.

The defendant, 67-year-old Alexander Fedotov, had been asked by Prosecutor Krilenko whether he thought the plans of the soviet to outstrip America would succeed.

"I am guilty, of course," replied the engineer, "but I must admit I don't believe the soviets will get ahead of America for many years."

MACHINES DISCARDED

Another witness said American textile machines had been discarded by the conspirators for English machines of an inferior type. This witness, Alexei Kirpotenko, a textile expert and a confederate of Fedotov in the work of sabotage, had been called to confirm some of the defendant's statements.

He did this and then told of the discarding of the American machines which had been undergoing tests in Russia. He said he considered this an act of sabotage because the American machines were better adapted to Russian conditions.

Kirpotenko is also a prisoner on a charge of counter-revolutionary activity.

SHOW PLACE SCANDAL

Fedotov caused some amazement in the courtroom by saying the conspiring engineers had "sabotaged" the famous Dzerjinsky textile plant at Ivanovo, which is one of the show places where most foreigners are taken.

He said the engineers prepared plans for the building which ran the cost far higher than the government really should have spent. "But," he added, "it's a good plant, although entirely too good."

CONFUSING PLANS

The engineers in their cross examination testified much of their sabotage concerned the drawing up of irregular plans, the making of false estimates and otherwise confusing underofficials by starting arguments on ways and means which resulted in great delays in various construction projects.

It was not known just how well these plans succeeded, but two or three failures were listed by the engineers.

Leonid Ramsin, another of the defendants, ceased for a moment today to be a man on trial for his life and angrily defended his honor as a scientist.

"I've confessed my crimes of trying to wreck the soviet industries," he shouted at M. Krilenko, the public prosecutor, "but I must insist my scientific writings are honest theories and beliefs and never once in those writings have I departed from the honest views of a scientist."

HENDERSON PROTESTS CHARGES OF SOVIET

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Arthur Henderson, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has instructed the British Ambassador at Moscow to communicate to soviet authorities he takes exception to certain reflections on former and present British governments in connection with the trial there of eight men for treason.

He made this announcement in the House of Commons today in reply to several questions regarding references to British subjects and government officials in the indictments against the accused. He said he could not tell what further steps would be necessary until he had heard from the Ambassador, nor did he indicate the "reflections" to which he objected.

The indictment charged Britain was implicated with France and several other nations in a plot to overthrow the soviet government.

Scramble for Federal Judge Seat Warms Up

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—With at least five candidates in the field, the scramble for the vacant Federal district judgeship in Southern California is growing warm.

One of the avowed applicants—Judge Craig of the Los Angeles Superior Court—was in Washington today interviewing members of Congress from California, and it is reported that Col. Eric Fowler, chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee, is due to arrive soon from Florida to take a hand in the selection if he can find a way to offer advice.

Other candidates for the place, either avowed or suggested by friends, include Judge Hahn of Pasadena, Everett W. Mattoon, Los Angeles County Counsel; Judge Drumm of Orange county and Judge Hollzer of Los Angeles.

There is no indication as to how soon the appointment will be made or who will get it.

MISS ADAMS SPEAKS, BUT SAYS LITTLE

Actress Talks for Press on Return From Abroad; Denies Barrie Revival

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Maude Adams, whose return to the stage after twelve years' retirement has been announced, granted a newspaper interview today.

It consisted of twenty-three words and was given through a spokesman as she returned from England on the liner Adriatic. She traveled under her real name "Miss M. A. Kiskadden."

"Absolutely not" was her reply when she was asked by Herbert Satterlee, former assistant Secretary of the Navy and brother-in-law of J. Pierpont Morgan, whether she intends to come back in a revival of "Peter Pan." Satterlee, who met Miss Adams, put the question in behalf of the reporters.

To the question: "Is it true that you are going to return to the stage?" she replied:

"As far as anything connected with the stage is concerned, you are referred to Justice Erlanger, trustee of the estate of A. L. Erlanger."

It had been announced she will appear shortly in a play by John Colton, coauthor of "Rain."

GIRL DROPS GUN MEANT FOR ACTOR

Flaming-Haired Student Says She Sought ex-Mate of Anita Stewart

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—A girl with fiery red hair "went gunning" for Rudolph Cameron, screen actor, today but her pistol dropped out of her handbag in a taxicab and the frightened chauffeur had her arrested.

Ten days ago, Cameron, former husband of Anita Stewart, summoned police to his hotel room to eject the girl, Lucille Lavelle. She turned the tables by preferring a charge against the actor, but he was released when she withdrew the complaint.

The fashionably dressed young woman told police today she visited a friend, saw a pistol, "and thought it would be a good idea to go gunning for Cameron." As she entered the taxicab the pistol dropped on the floor. She picked it up and the driver took to his heels.

"It was funny to see him run," laughed Miss Lavelle.

She said she is a student at a school in Highland Falls, N. Y.

Two Missionary Women Still in Bandits' Hands

PEIPING (China) Dec. 1. (AP)—Telegrams today to the United States Legation from Saratsi, Suiyan Province, said that the two missionary women, Mrs. H. B. Hayward and Miss E. Gomersall, who were kidnaped several days ago by bandits on the Yellow River, were being guarded by eight Mongol soldiers ringed around by 500 bandits.

There has been some fighting, in which forty Chinese soldiers, presumably part of a relief expedition, have been killed. An Anglo-American rescue party is due in Paotowchen, near by. Both American and British legations have made strong representations to the Nanking government and provincial authorities of Suiyan and Shansi to secure release of the two.

So said K. Kalekar, who has just been released from the same jail at Poona which holds Gandhi, in addressing students of the leader's Ashram (seminary) tonight.

"Gandhi is satisfied nonviolence has saved the nation," said Kalekar. "He is in good health on the whole, although his weight has been reduced from 104 pounds to 101."

DISARMAMENT SPEED SOUGHT

Germany Asks for General Conference in 1931

Geneva Commission Hears Plea in Silence

Begins Final Consideration of Draft Proposal

GENEVA, Dec. 1. (AP)—Germany tonight demanded at the meeting of the preparatory disarmament commission that a general disarmament conference be called for November 2, 1931.

No discussion followed, but general belief is that the conference will not be called before early in 1932.

The German demand was made as the commission began its final review of the draft disarmament convention which it has been formulating the last several weeks.

LIMITATIONS

In its final review, the commission confirmed its former decision to limit effectives of land, sea and air by direct enumeration and voted at a narrow majority to limit government-owned aircraft in reserve, as well as military aircraft in service. Russia again was defeated in her attempt to commit governments to reduce as well as limit armaments.

The decision to limit directly government-owned aircraft was on a British amendment, supported by the United States, Italy, Canada and Holland. The amendment was opposed by the French group, but was carried by a vote of nine to eight.

The former decision to limit military aircraft by total horsepower, as well as by number, was adhered to, despite a Canadian effort to eliminate the horsepower method as impracticable.

RESERVES STATUS

Walter Riddell, the Canadian delegate, favored limitation by number, plus a limit on total budget expenditures. The representatives of Spain, France and Germany spoke in favor of the horsepower method and Riddell then withdrew his opposition.

Russia also pressed again for a limitation of trained reserves, but without success. Lord Cecil of Great Britain said his government had abandoned this proposal after vigorously supporting it for a long time because sentiment in certain countries which are committed to conscription is so strong against limitation that Great Britain had considered it hopeless to oppose.

IT'S TOUGH YEAR FOR RUM GANGS

Federal Punishment Falls More Heavily on Them

Justice Department Report Shows Gain in Sentences

Padlockings Also Increase; Courts Still Clogged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Federal punishment fell more heavily on the bootlegger and the rum runner in the last fiscal year.

Congress received the tidings today through the annual report of Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, which said enforcement as reflected in prosecutions improved over 1929.

"Evidently the commercial violator was having more of his day in court," it continued. "Jail and prison sentences were imposed in 27,709 cases in 1930—5107 more than in 1929. The average length of sentences increased in greater proportion than did the number."

Moreover, twenty-nine vessels were seized for participating in a revival of "the liquor smuggling business as conducted on the high seas and in our territorial waters." All but four were British.

The report did not embrace the prohibition unit's activities, since these remained under Treasury jurisdiction until the close of the fiscal year on June 30.

MANY GUILTY PLEAS

Of the 52,437 prohibition cases terminated, nearly 78 per cent brought guilty pleas, about 13 per cent were dismissed and the remainder had jury trials. The ratio of convictions by jury remained constant, 73 per cent.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Youngquist, in charge of enforcement, said the work had been embarrassed "by some State and municipal officers who, under the color of their office, are actively violating the law themselves." Such officers convicted numbered ninety-five, and eighty-five cases were pending when the present fiscal year began.

The year's padlockings numbered 8801, a gain of 2498 over the previous year. A total of 11,882 such cases were commenced.

CONGESTION CONTINUES

Mitchell labeled as unsolved the problem of "congestion in some of the Federal district courts, particularly in large cosmopolitan districts." He urged provisions for additional judges, and that steps be taken to supplement inadequate forces in the offices of United States attorneys.

The congestion was illustrated by a report of the judicial conference held last October, written by Chief Justice Hughes. It showed that at the close of the fiscal year there were pending upon the dockets of district courts 155,730 cases, an increase of more than 7000 over the previous year.

"We are also informed," Hughes wrote, "that in the 35,849 criminal cases pending on June 30, 1930, there were included 22,671 cases under the national prohibition act."

The Assistant Attorneys-General reported 150,389 cases were pending before the Customs Court, thirty-five major antitrust cases were pending; and 2117 criminal cases were instituted under the postal laws; 3505 under the Antinarcotic Act, and 532 under the White Slave Act.

In the Court of Claims 526 new cases were instituted, involving claims aggregating $11,320,928,564, while 449 were disposed of involving $10,304,396,289.

Mitchell also dealt with prison congestion, offering as one solution the development of a system of prison camps.

On June 30, there were 778 prisoners in these camps and before the end of this year the number will reach 1350.

HIGH COURT DECLARES M'DONALD'S FIRST STORY TRUE

wrote to Cunha saying that if anyone was entitled to reward he thought he was entitled to some of it, and asking Cunha to suggest the name of some lawyer who might urge his claim.

FRANK LETTER

This letter is entirely friendly in tone and evinces neither any loss or diminution of mental powers, nor any apparent desire to retract any portion of the testimony he had given upon the previous trials. He was advised at that time that no reward was being paid to anyone.

On January 11, 1921, he wrote a letter to Duncan Matheson, then captain of detectives of San Francisco, from Trenton, N. J., in a cordial and friendly vein, telling where he was and the sort of work he was doing and wherein he goes on to say: "What is all the fuss about Mooney again? . . . I will say if I was on my deathbed and the last words from me would be that he is guilty and that what I swore to was nothing but the truth, and I am willing to take the stand tomorrow and swear to the same things. Do you think Brady will open up the other case against him? If they want me they can get me any time and I will swear to what I swore before, the truth."

In this letter there is no sign of any waning mental powers nor of the existence of any sense of a troubled conscience, but on the contrary the most positive reassertion of the truth of his former testimony. Nor is there any intimation that in so doing he is further seeking or hoping for a reward. This letter to Duncan Matheson, as though it were a looking glass, discloses the MacDonald, as of the date upon which it was written, to have been a self-respecting, hard-working, clear-minded man, upon friendly terms with the San Francisco police officials, with no conscientious scruples over the honor and rectitude of his past actions, but on the contrary reiterating and standing ready to repeat his former testimony if required so to do.

DEFENSE ACTIVITY

What, then, shall we say of the John MacDonald of February 7, 1921, the date upon which he swore to the affidavit which he signed in the office of Mr. Frank P. Walsh in the city of New York? At the very time when his foregoing letter to Duncan Matheson was being written or was on its way, the folds of a serpent were insiduously enveloping John MacDonald. Edward N. Nockels, secretary and disbursing agent of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who, with his organization had, according to his own testimony, become actively interested in the defense of both Billings and Mooney immediately after their conviction and who had, therefore, upon several occasions, as testified to by Fremont Older, sent money to California to be expended in an effort to cause certain witnesses for the prosecution in those cases to change their testimony as given upon said trials, learned by means which he describes that John MacDonald was working in Trenton, N. J.

Accordingly Nockels went on to New York, taking with him, or being followed by a trusted confederate of his from Chicago whose name is given by Nockels as Jack Johnson, but who was known to John MacDonald as Thompson. This man was sent to Trenton upon a mission which was successfully accomplished when John MacDonald was finally induced to go with this agent of Nockels to New York, there to meet with Nockels and the attorneys for the Mooney and Billings defense, with a view to making the affidavit of February 7, 1921.

DISPLAY OF MONEY

During the weeks which followed the appearance of Johnson or Thompson in Trenton, he was in daily communication with Nockels in New York. What arts were used, what methods were employed, what aid from others was given, what temptations were unfolded, what inducements were offered, we have no means of knowing, but we do know the consequence of the cunning conspiracy which was spread about the feet of MacDonald during these weeks, and which finally induced him to journey to New York for the purpose of putting himself, soul and body, in the hands of those who were seeking a repudiation of his former testimony. Having succeeded, having procured from MacDonald the affidavit of February 7, 1921, MacDonald, according to Nockels's admission, according to Nockels's testimony, was paid the sum of $500 or $600 in currency and was handed a round-trip ticket to California. Johnson, or Thompson, was handed a similar sum and a similar ticket. How much money altogether MacDonald was at this time or later given outright for making the said affidavit we have no exact means of knowing, but there is evidence before us that MacDonald, after reaching California upon this occasion, displayed a roll of bills approximating $1500, and at the time of his return east some weeks later had still remaining about $900.

ALL BILLS PAID

On the way to California MacDonald was under the constant espionage of Nockel's man Johnson (or Thompson.) When the pair reached Sacramento they were joined by two reporters of the San Francisco Bulletin (Mr. Older's paper,) taken by auto to San Jose, installed at the St. James Hotel, where for several weeks they remained, their hotel bills being paid by one of the reporters with the money of his employer, while MacDonald, well dressed and debonair, disported himself among the questionable resorts and women of the town.

The ostensible purpose of having MacDonald come on to California at this time was that of telling his new-made story before the San Francisco grand jury, but if such was the real object of his journey it was never consummated or even seriously attempted to be so; and after several weeks in disporting himself, always under the watchful eye of his guardian, but with better clothes, more money and a course of luxurious living such as he had never had in all his life before, MacDonald returned east to his native city, where he has since resided.

AFFIDAVIT FAILS

We turn from this sordid story to consider the content of the affidavit which MacDonald subscribed on February 7, 1921. It contains approximately sixteen pages of typewritten matter. We do not need to deal with this affidavit in detail further than to say that it consists, as to at least fourteen pages thereof, in a mass of ridiculous and unbelievable falsehoods, mainly devoted to charging the police officials and members of the District Attorney's office of the city of San Francisco with having concoted, and with MacDonald's reluctant aid carried into execution, a frame-up, having for its purpose the conviction of Billings, Mooney, and certain other persons of having conceived and carried into fatal effect the Preparedness Day explosion, upon evidence which they sufficiently knew to be false.

Measured by the same legal standards which, as we have seen, was applied by the court and jury to his former testimony, and which we also have rightly applied thereto, this affidavit of John MacDonald fails in every respect to carry conviction as to its truth.

The presumption of truth which, under Sec. 1847 of the Code of Civil Procedure, attends the testimony of a witness, was repelled by the application to it of every succeeding provision of that section of the code. It was contradicted by the terms of his own recent letter to Duncan Matheson. It was discredited by his own self-confessed character as a willful perjurer upon former occasions. It was attended by the gravest distrust because of the manifest willful and admitted falsity of the major portion of the affidavit itself. It was subjected to well-founded suspicion because of the method of its procurement.

Standing alone, this affidavit of John MacDonald, made as aforesaid in 1921, is not entitled to the slightest credence as in any degree overthrowing the testimony which he gave upon the trial of Warren K. Billings in 1916. It is argued to us, however, that we should disregard the evidence of John MacDonald given in 1916 for the reason that he has shown himself to have become a willing, corrupt and shameless perjurer in 1921 and again in 1930.

We know of no such rule to be applied to the testimony of witness which, as first given, is marked by every appearance of voluntariness, sincerity and truth, which withstands assault upon cross-examination and which wins belief from both court and jury to the extent of procuring a verdict of conviction and the denial of a motion for a new trial. If testimony of this character is to be overthrown by a subsequent repudiation thereof by the witness giving it, but which repudiation not only bears upon its face the manifest proofs of falsity, but is subjected to the gravest suspicion of having been procured by methods savoring of subordination of perjury, no verdict or judgment of a court of justice would ever be safe from similar assaults.

Upon our former consideration of this matter we pointed out the essential weaknesses and falsities of the MacDonald affidavit of 1921 and then and therein concluded that his testimony as given in 1916 had not been overthrown. We felt, however, that MacDonald should, if possible, be located and produced before us for questioning. We made some effort to discover his whereabouts, only to find that he apparently had disappeared.

HIS SUDDEN CHANGE

Upon our delivery to the Governor our findings and conclusions upon the matter as then presented before us and upon their subsequent publicity, MacDonald is suddenly and surprisingly located as living in Baltimore and as willing to come to California and testify before this body. Accordingly a new application on behalf of Billings was presented and allowed to be heard under the conditions hereinbefore described. In due time MacDonald appeared, and with him also appeared a new bundle of affidavits and statements made by him, wherein he undertook to reassert the truth of every portion of his affidavit of 1921. With these were also produced certain other statements and affidavits as to the circumstances under which these later declarations on his part were made.

It is obvious, however, that if the affidavit of 1921 was the offspring of corruption and was a document saturated with manifest, willful and now admitted falsifications, his later sworn statements, reasserting the truth thereof are entitled to no more of credence than that which was to be accorded to his perjuries of 1921.

It is, therefore, the personal appearance of MacDonald before us which constitutes the chiefly significant fact or circumstances arising out of the more recent developments of this remarkable case. In due course John MacDonald appeared as a witness before us. In advance of whatever regard we are to give to his testimony, it may be said that a more abject spectacle of debased and degenerated manhood was never before presented to any body of judicial or quasi judicial investigators. It is needless to describe him to those who saw him, or to attempt to depict him to those who heard him testify.

DIFFERENT BEING

Had the John MacDonald of 1916 been, in outward appearance or manner of testifying, the John MacDonald of 1930, as he appeared before this body, it is inconceivable that any appreciable amount of credence would have been accorded him or his evidence before a court or jury, and it is particularly beyond belief that the court and jury which were occupied in the trial of this applicant should have been so far impressed with the sincerity, consistency and truth of his testimony as there given as to have based the conviction of this or any other defendant thereon.

The testimony of John MacDonald as given before us upon the instant hearing occupied, with his direct and cross examination, many days. Without attempting to detail the same, it is sufficient to say that at every point wherein he sought to reiterate the content of his affidavits of 1921 and 1930, or to cast discredit upon his testimony of 1916, or upon the manner of its production, he was abundantly and repeatedly shown to be an unmitigated and shameless perjurer. When confronted, as he frequently was, with his manifest perjuries and with proofs of the truth of his former testimony, he betook himself to such broken utterances as "all lies, all lies," or covered his face with his handkerchief in simulation of wretchedness, and weeping, during which, however, it was observed that no tears fell.

HYPOCRITICAL EVASION

In short, a more hypocritical, evasive, unbelievable witness could hardly be conceived. Long before his examination and several cross-examinations were completed, practically every portion of the content of his several affidavits contradicting his evidence as given upon the several trials of Billings and his codefendants had been indisputably shown to be false.

A sample of the degeneracy and utter disregard for truth on the part of the John MacDonald of today may be furnished by the fact that when a witness before us John MacDonald stated that on Preparedness Day he was sober, and that he was so fully established from the lips of other witnesses who knew him and had seen and talked with him upon that day. Yet, as we are informed, when John MacDonald was brought before the Governor of California a few days later he shamelessly and for the first time stated that he was drunk on Preparedness Day.

CONCLUSION REINFORCED

To sum this matter up it may be stated as our deliberate conclusion that the effect upon our minds of the production of John MacDonald as a witness before us has been but to reinforce our former conclusion that his attempted repudiation of the testimony which he gave before the court and jury in the Billings and succeeding cases was so abundantly shown to be false, if not, as we believe, corruptly inspired, as to be utterly valueless for that purpose, hence that the testimony of John MacDonald are given upon the Billings trial in 1916 and the truth thereof have not been successfully assailed or overthrown; that there can be no question as to the sufficiency of that evidence to justify the conviction of Warren K. Billings for his participation in the crime of the Preparedness Day explosion; and that nothing has been presented before us upon this hearing sufficient to convince our minds that Warren K. Billings is now entitled to a recommendation for pardon at our hands.

BOMB PAIR NOT SURPRISED

Billings and Mooney Get News of Court Decision but Reserve Statements Until Later

FOLSOM PRISON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Warren K. Billings said he "could not expect anything different," when told today that the State Supreme Court had for the second time denied his plea for a pardon. He stated emphatically that he will not consider a parole.

When word of the court's decision reached the prison, Warden Court Smith had Billings taken to the administrative offices. There he was told the news.

"This is what I expected," Billings said, referring to the court's action. "The Supreme Court turned the investigation over to the ex-prosecution officials, so naturally I could not expect anything different."

"Maybe you will consider a parole now," some one suggested. "I will not consider a parole," Billings shot back with emphasis. "I would much rather stay here than do that. I rather like it here anyway," he added, grinning at the warden.

"As far as I am concerned the case is not changed one bit from what it was thirteen months ago before I petitioned the Supreme Court. No, I don't know just now what I'll do. I won't decide until I have seen the court's decision. Maybe there will be something on which to base a petition for rehearing."

Thus, the interview ended and the short, small-framed young man returned to his task as "house gardener," cultivating plants about the guards' homes.

MOONEY DECLARES HE'S NOT DOWNHEARTED

SAN QUENTIN, Dec. 1. (AP)—Tom Mooney was given a copy of the decision refusing to recommend a pardon to Warren K. Billings. The opinion was brought to him tonight by his sister, Miss Anna Mooney.

Through her he issued the following statement:

"I am not surprised at the justices' decision in the Billings case because I had no confidence in the manner in which the hearing was conducted. I shall make an exhaustive study of their decision and when I have thoroughly digested it I shall issue a statement to the press through the defense committee. I am not at all downhearted, but will continue my fight with renewed vigor and redoubled energy."

MOONEY ATTORNEYS TO KEEP UP FIGHT

OAKLAND, Dec. 1. (AP)—Attorneys for Tom Mooney announced tonight they will lose no time in pressing Mooney's pardon application before Gov. Young.

The announcement was made by C. B. King, after he said he had talked over long-distance telephone with his associate, Frank P. Walsh, who is in New York. Walsh, King said, will arrive here about the 15th inst. and will then go before Gov. Young and his advisory board.

"Legally," King said, "the Billings case has no bearing on Mooney's status. Of course, the Governor has said the two cases are closely linked and both are equally innocent or guilty. We are now gathering data for presentation to the Governor on the hearing of Mooney's pardon."

MATHESON REMAINS OF SAME OPINION

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Referring to the Supreme Court's opinion in the Billings case, Capt. Duncan Matheson, now City Treasurer, who headed a special bomb detail during the original trials, said tonight:

"The refusal of the Supreme Court to recommend the application for a pardon is final. Personally I still stand by my recommendations in both cases. If I were in their places, whether guilty or innocent, I would forever feel a rank injustice was done me by the character of the testimony upon which the verdict of guilty was rendered by the jury.

"My conscience will not permit me to judge otherwise."

WEST COAST PORT FUNDS NOW SOUGHT

Army Engineer Chief Asks $5,186,500 for Pacific Area With $375,000 Here

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Expenditure of $5,186,500 to improve Pacific Coast harbors and waterways is asked in an estimate submitted to Congress today by Maj.-Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of Army engineers.

The annual estimate for the ensuing fiscal year calls for a total of $60,000,000 for the entire nation, which is $5,000,000 more than was asked for and received last year.

Pacific Coast allotment of government funds is based on a total coastwise tonnage of 109,885,206 tons of commerce handled. The total amount of commerce of the nation's waterways last year was 1,299,985,928 tons.

Of the entire amount estimated as necessary to increase the efficiency of water-borne commerce, Brown estimates, $36,200,000 is necessary for improvements and almost $24,000,000 for maintenance. The coast sums are $1,803,000 for improvements and $3,383,500 for maintenance.

Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors would be allotted $375,000, San Francisco Harbor $444,000, Oakland Harbor $244,000, Monterey Harbor $250,000, Humboldt Bay and Harbor $180,000, Coos Bay (Or.) $1,090,000, Columbia and Lower Willamette Rivers $712,000 and Grays Harbor $180,000.

Filipino Motorist Speeds Away With Injured Lad on Front of Auto

YUMA (Ariz.) Dec. 1. (AP)—Arthur Mathews, 8-year-old son of M. E. Mathews, railroad telegrapher at Sentinel, Ariz., near here, was injured fatally this afternoon when struck by an automobile driven by Joe Abigamia, 26, Filipino, of El Centro, Cal. The accident occurred at Aztec. The child was carried for more than two miles on the front bumper of the death car before witnesses armed themselves and gave chase to the Filipinos, overtook the car and forced Abigamia to stop. car and forced Abigamia to stop. The child died tonight in a Phoenix Hospital.

Abigamia and two male companions, both Filipinos, are being held in the County Jail here without bail. Only Abigamia would give his name.

Bandits Try to Hold Up Police

OAKLAND, Dec. 1. (AP)—Two "hammer bandits" were captured tonight when they attempted to hold up a police automobile containing three officers who were searching for them.

The pair are accused of holding up eight persons on Oakland streets today and with beating Elbert Pond, 56 years of age, so severely with a hammer he may die.

The arrested men are Larry Connors, 26, and John Busk, 23, laborers. Connors is of Oakland and Busk is from Hayward.

BURMA'S PLEA GAINS SUPPORT

Separation From India Gets Round Table Backing

Eventual Dominion Status Declared Its Goal

Racial Differences Cited in Colorful Appeal

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Another British Dominion is in the chrysalis stage as an outgrowth of agreement of the Indian round-table conference today on the principle of the separation of Burma from India.

The picturesque U Ba Pe, a Burmese delegate to the conference, presented Burma's case before the round-table members in full assembly at St. James Palace. With one exception of a warning from an Indian delegate the general support of the conference was given to Burma's demand for political self-determination such as India is seeking.

That warning voice came from C. Y. Chintamini, Indian Liberal, who said the Burmese might be playing into the hands of British commercial interests, which were thoroughly established in Burma.

RACIAL PRIDE TOLD

U Ba Pe described Burma's status as a major province in Great Britain's Indian empire as an anomaly contrary to the wishes both of Indians and Burmese but in accord with British imperial policy. Burma's hope is for dominion status under the British crown.

"We have nothing in common with the Indian people," said U Ba Pe. "We are more Mongolian than Aryan. We have customs and manners quite different and our women are as free as any women in this country, if not more so. We are known by law as Indians and we do not like to be called Indians, not because we are anti-Indian, but because we do not want the Burmese race to disappear from the earth."

PROBLEMS OUTLINED

Among the problems which will be put before a special committee appointed by Prime Minister MacDonald to study the method of Burma's separation will be protection of the interests of the Indian minority in Burma and an equitable settlement of Burma's present responsibility in Indian national finance.

The Prime Minister set up three other subcommittees for dealing with various subjects for the detailed work in connection with the framing of an Indian federation.

The separation of Burma from India was one of the recommendations of the Simon report.

Engine Smoke in Tunnel Kills Three on Train

EUGENE (Or.) Dec. 1. (AP)—Three men on a Southern Pacific freight train were suffocated and sixteen others were overcome by gas fumes when the train stopped in a 2900-foot tunnel between Oak Ridge and West Fir today.

Reports here said the train broke in two in the tunnel and the crew disconnected part of the train and went on to Oak Ridge. When they returned for the other portion they found the dead and gassed men.

A strong wind blowing from one end of the tunnel is believed to have carried the deadly carbon monoxide gas from the locomotive back over the train. A back draft then "bottled" the gas in the tunnel.

REAL

To Investors Who Seek Security of Principal and Certainty of Income

FOR seventeen years the Mortgage Guarantee Company has been loaning money on choice California real estate, particularly properties of an essential character possessing a known rental value in addition to a readily ascertained intrinsic value.

Vacant land, subdivision projects, churches, hospitals, theatres, clubs, etc., because their current value is dependent largely upon management, rather than upon inherent rental value, cannot be accepted (with, perhaps, rare exceptions) as security under the standards which have been established and consistently adhered to by this Company.

Not only do the appraisals made by this Company conform with the standards of the State Insurance and Banking Departments under the Mortgage Insurance Act of California, but also with the very strict requirements of large institutional clients whose funds can be invested only in securities of the very highest order.

But the margin of safety back of the Insured First Mortgage Certificates of this Company is not dependent alone upon the selection of prime underlying security. The matter is carried still further. Certificates are never issued against a single piece of property or a small group of properties. The first liens represented by these certificates are secured by numerous properties, all choicely located, and widely diversified, as to type of construction as well as to location. In fact, the principle of diversification is carried to its limit of practicability.

Critical investors are invited to compare these certificates point for point with other high-grade securities, using the following features as the basis of comparison:

SECURITY: Insured First Mortgage Certificates of the Mortgage Guarantee Company are secured by a multiplicity of first liens on desirably located properties. These include liens on private residences, courts, flats, apartments and business properties, located in the settled and growing communities of California.

Properties securing the liens have an aggregate appraised value of at least twice the face value of outstanding Certificates.

APPRAISALS: Appraisals are made by thoroughly experienced, State-approved appraisers, who operate in accordance with the very conservative system of calculation required by the Mortgage Insurance Act and by the strict self-imposed policy of this Company. Certified copies of all appraisals are filed with the State Insurance Commissioner and the Superintendent of Banks.

INSURANCE: Ample insurance against fire and other hazards is required in every instance. Title insurance by a company of known responsibility is likewise an invariable requirement.

INCOME: The Company's interest income is derived from a large number of responsible property owners in various settled localities, thus applying the advantages of diversification to the protection of income as well as principal.

MATURITIES: Certificates are obtainable in convenient maturities, and arrangement may be made for the immediate re-investment of funds on maturity dates without any loss of interest.

DENOMINATIONS: Certificates are issued in denominations of $100 and multiples thereof, thus enabling purchasers to keep their funds closely invested. This is another important factor in avoiding interest losses.

INTEREST PAYMENTS: Interest payments—either quarterly or semi-annually as desired—are made promptly by check on due dates. There are no coupons to clip—or to overlook. This is still another safeguard against interest losses.

GUARANTEE: For the reason that it is not humanly possible to provide any form of security which alone is 100% safe under any and all circumstances and conditions, it is obviously desirable to have an investment which is effectually insured against loss of either principal or interest—something which it is impossible for the average investment house to provide. Hence the guarantee of these Certificates by this Company—one of the strongest institutions of its kind in the United States—under the Mortgage Insurance Act of California, is an exceedingly important factor to careful investors.

LEGAL FOR SAVINGS: These Certificates are legal investment for savings banks, insurance companies and trust funds in California.

REGISTRATION: Certificates are registered in the name of the owner and therefore replaceable in the event of loss or destruction.

YIELD: With an interest return of 6%, extraordinary security of principal, and an unquestionable guarantee of both principal and interest, we believe that these Certificates offer the best possible combination of safety and yield obtainable in the entire field of investment.

Other Important Advantages

(For Business Reserves)

Business concerns which have reserve funds for investment find these Certificates especially adapted to their needs by reason of their high degree of safety, certain and adequate interest return, and their high bank loan value.

Because they are non-fluctuating, and free from the influences of the speculative market, these Certificates when purchased for business reserves, constitute a constant and dependable shield against reverses.

(For Estates)

Arrangement can be made whereby a liberal percentage of these Certificates may be liquidated at their full face value plus accrued interest, immediately upon demand, in the event of the death of the registered holder. This is in marked contrast with the delays and losses usually involved in the liquidation of estates, and constitutes another important reason why every investor of large holdings should include a substantial proportion of these Certificates to insure sufficient quick cash for State inheritance tax, Federal estate tax and other expenses incidental to the settlement of the estate. Thus used, these Certificates may be regarded as a form of insurance, with the added advantage of 6% interest.

NEON SPECIALTY UNIT ORGANIZED

Electrical Products Starts New Division

Nation-wide Distribution to Be Undertaken

Earnings Will Boost Net of Delaware Company

Continuing its policy of aggressive expansion which has materially aided in boosting net operating profits above the 1929 period in the face of the current business depression, Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Ltd., of Delaware has formed the Neon Specialties Corporation through its California subsidiary, Electrical Products Corporation.

The new unit, which is now occupying a plant with 10,000 square feet of floor space adjacent to the Electrical Products Corporation Oakland factory, is now devoting its activities to the manufacture and sale of Neon barber poles, John Harris, president of the new company, said yesterday. The favorable reception accorded the first of these poles on the Pacific Coast indicates that the future nation-wide distribution of them will provide another substantial source of revenue for the parent company, according to Mr. Harris.

PROFITS FIGURED

Preliminary estimates as to the potential market for these poles place the potential profits as high as $1 a share per annum on the Claude Neon of Delaware stock. Additional specialties will be placed on the market shortly by the new company, it was stated.

M. C. King, general sales manager, is at present establishing divisional sales agencies for national distribution of the new company's products. The company is capitalized at $100,000, all of the stock being owned by Electrical Products Corporation of California.

Other subsidiaries of the California operating company which are beginning to swell the profits of the parent concern include the Electro Therapy Products Corporation of Los Angeles, which is manufacturing and distributing a new type of cold-quartz ultraviolet ray apparatus.

The formation of Epco Investment Corporation, Ltd., was announced last week as the first step in a plan to secure wider distribution of the stock of Claude Neon of Delaware through an installment plan which will be offered first to employees and later extended to customers and the general public.

EARNINGS INCREASE

H. A. Gallant, Mexico City manager of the Mexican Neon subsidiary, who is now in Los Angeles, yesterday reported that the volume of neon business in Mexico was steadily increasing and was running about $300,000 gross annually. A feature of the business in Mexico City has been the adaption of neon lighting for interior illumination by one of the leading cafes, a cabaret and a shoe store, Mr. Gallant said.

In the first nine months of this year, Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Ltd., of Delaware, reported net operating profits of $559,050.25, as against $440,076.66 in the 1929 period, an increase of $118,973.59, or more than 27 per cent.

Army Planes on Lockheed Slate

DETROIT, Dec. 1.—Production schedules calling for sixty military and transport planes to cost $1,250,000 for the next six months were announced today by P. R. Beasley, president of the Detroit Aircraft Corporation, who said that the winter production will be about equally divided between military and commercial planes.

Carl Squier, general manager of the Detroit Aircraft Corporation's Lockheed division at Burbank, is in Detroit attending an executive conference at which production plans of the company are being formulated, it was stated at the Burbank factory yesterday. At present the local plant is operating at about 50 per cent of capacity, employing seventy-five men and producing approximately four ships monthly.

TWO INDUSTRIALS DECLARE EXTRAS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Standard Cap and Steel Corporation and Hygrade Lamp Company today joined the growing list of industrials voting extra dividends for the year-end. Standard Cap declared an extra of 50 cents a share payable on the 29th inst. and Hygrade Lamp voted a special of $1 in addition to the regular quarterly of 25 cents a share on the common payable January 2.

Petrolite Corporation Being Formed by Combine of Rectifiers

Petrolite Corporation, Ltd., will be the name of the new company now being formed through the consolidation of Petroleum Rectifying Corporation of Los Angeles and William S. Barnickel & Co. of St. Louis, Mo., it was revealed yesterday by D. C. Norcross, president of the Los Angeles company, who said that formal announcement of the completion of the deal will probably be made within a week.

The new company will acquire all of the stock of Petroleum Rectifying Company of California, the operating subsidiary of Petroleum Rectifying Corporation, and of the Tuxedo Corporation which owns all of the stock of Tret-O-Lite Company, the operating compang using a chemical dehydration process perfected by William S. Barnickel & Co., the holding company for the St. Louis concerns.

Stockholders of Petroleum Rectifying Corporation will receive one share of Petrolite Corporation stock for each share of their present holdings. The new company will have only one class of stock which will be of no par value. The St. Louis company is a close corporation and the exchange basis for its stock has not been disclosed.

D. C. Norcross will head the new company as president while John S. Lehmann, president of the St. Louis companies, will become secretary-treasurer of the new organization. Application will be made to list the shares of the new company on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, it is understood.

The merger will bring under control of the new company the two outstanding dehydration processes used for the extraction of water from crude oil, namely the Tret-O-Lite or chemical process owned by the Eastern company and the Potreco or electric process controlled by the Los Angeles company.

Reorganization Path Cleared

Formal service was made on the State Corporation Commissioner yesterday of a writ of mandate signed by Judge Pat R. Parker, in Superior Court, directing the commissioner to issue a permit to Golden State Milk Products Company, authorizing distribution to its stockholders of 488,371 shares of stock of Golden State Company, Ltd. This removes the last legal obstacle to reorganization of the company. The stock distribution is upon a share-for-share basis.

Golden State Milk Products Company reorganization, which was scheduled for completion last September, was held up by protest filed with the Corporation Commissioner by L. E. W. Pioda, former chairman of the company. The balance sheet of the new company shows assets of more than $21,500,000, as against indebtedness of less than $4,500,000.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—A steady opening in cotton here today was followed by declines which carried the market off to 10.32 for new December and 10.91 for May, or about 15 to 18 points net lower and into new low ground for the present movement.

Some stop orders were uncovered on this decline, but were absorbed by covering and trade buying, and the market late recovered a good part of its loss on a continuation of this demand. December was holding around 10.37 and May 11.05 in the early afternoon when the active months showed net declines of about 3 to 11 points.

CHAIN BANK TOPIC UP AGAIN

Southern Failures Lend Timeliness to Congressional Hearings; Management Chief Factor

BY EARLE E. CROWE

When Congressman McFadden's banking and currency committee resumes its investigation into branch, group and chain banking, the committee members will have a live topic in the recent failure of chain bank system in Kentucky and Arkansas. Whether fully justified or not, the chain systems are certain to come in for some sharp criticism.

In California the chain idea has never flourished to any extent, this State having been the pioneer and the most active exponent of branch banking. There are one or two small chains in the State comprising country banks, but on the whole California banking fortunately will escape whatever criticism is directed at chain banking.

MEANS TO END

As a rule chain banking is the means to an end. Most chains have the ultimate objective of conversion into branch systems. Bankers generally agree the centralized management possible in branch banking is more desirable than decentralized management usually practiced in the chains. For this reason, the chains are merely waiting until legal barriers preventing consolidation into single systems are removed.

The weakness of the chains now is the possibility of one link becoming insecure for some reason, usually bad management or an unfavorable run of poor business in the community, which subjects the whole chain to loss of confidence and runs by depositors. The Kentucky and Arkansas affairs are mainly traceable to these causes.

Because, however, one or two large chains have gotten into trouble there is no valid reason for consigning the whole idea to the junk heap. Bad management may exist in the branch or independent banks as easily as in the chains, and, correspondingly, the controlling owners of the chains may supply just as capable direction for their banks as competitive systems.

This is a test period for the chain system of banking, and financial experts will watch the results closely to discover if fundamental weaknesses are uncovered. So far it would appear that incompetent management, the bugaboo of all business and financial enterprises, is the chief reason for mortality.

EXPANSION RAPID

The American Bankers' Association, through its economic policy commission, has not taken a stand on the merits or demerits of the various systems of banking. Its complete study, however, has disclosed astonishing growth of chain banking in those States limiting branch bank activities.

According to statistics presented at the recent Cleveland convention of the association, there are something like 273 chains in the United States comprising from fifty to 100 banks each. The total of banks involved is 1858, having total resources of $13,275,000,000.

On the basis of these figures, it is estimated the chains control approximately 7½ per cent of the nation's banks and 18 per cent of the total resources.

Acquisition of County Utility Units Effected

Natural Gas Corporation of California, subsidiary of Pacific Public Service Company, formally acquired yesterday the gas plant and distribution system of Inland Empire Gas Company, located at El Centro in the Imperial Valley, R. E. Aitcheson, executive vice-president of the former company, announced.

The general service of gas in Imperial county has been made possible through application of the liquefied calol process recently developed. Gas service comparable to that in the larger cities is now being brought to numerous smaller communities in California, Oregon and Washington under the new process, Mr. Aitcheson stated.

"Within the past two months gas plants and mains have been completed in the cities of Brawley and Calexico, north and south, respectively, from El Centro," Mr. Aitcheson said. "The distance between the towns being only fourteen miles makes possible an economical group operation from El Centro. The area to be served with gas by this group contains some 50,000 inhabitants and the consumers already connected number 4200."

BANK CLEARINGS UP AT HUNTINGTON PARK

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 1.—Bank clearings for eleven months this year show a gain of more than $6,000,000 as compared with the entire twelve months of last year. The Huntington Park Clearinghouse Association shows that the clearings for the present year have reached $56,594,793.53 as compared with $50,380,403.74 for the entire twelve months of last year.

John L. Steinbarger, formerly manager of the Commercial and Regent branch, Inglewood, of the Security-First National Bank, yesterday assumed the management of the West Los Angeles branch of that bank. Mr. Steinbarger, who suceeds Frank L. Slusher, deceased, is a banker of thirty years' experience. He was for fifteen years cashier and director of the First National Bank of Lewistown, Mont.

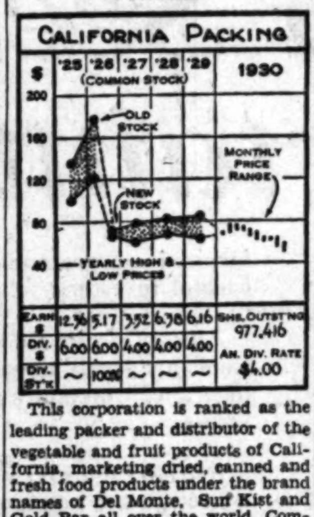
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

CALIFORNIA PACKING CORPORATION



This corporation is ranked as the leading packer and distributor of the vegetable and fruit products of California, marketing dried, canned and fresh food products under the brand names of Del Monte, Surf Kist and Gold Bar all over the world Company is also an important factor in the packing and canning of sardines, salmon and tuna fish, owning and operating subsidiaries in Alaska, Oregon and California. Plants in Haiti, Hawaii, and the Philippine Islands, in the Middle West and Florida supplement the main group along the Pacific Coast. Del Monte coffee has recently been introduced as a step toward the inclusion of grocery products in the company's line.

Although earnings tend to vary with the size of the fruit and fish pack each year, the company has shown an unbroken dividend record of dividend payments since its formation in 1915 and its earnings in the past five years have averaged well above the present $4 rate per common share. A greater physical volume of sales than in 1929 has so far been canceled by price reductions, and earnings in 1930 are, therefore, expected to be somewhat smaller than last year.

Security House to Open Offices

Formal opening of the four Pacific Coast offices of First National Old Colony Corporation, national investment banking organization, will take place today. The new offices are located in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. The corporation's private wire system was recently extended to the coast from the former western terminus at St. Louis, linking all principal financial centers of the country.

First National Old Colony Corporation is affiliated with the First National Bank of Boston, which was originally organized as the Massachusetts National Bank in 1784. The bank with its securities affiliate ranks as one of the most active American institutions in the foreign banking field, its correspondents now including more than 22,000 foreign banking institutions. McBurney Howard is in charge of the Los Angeles office.

TRADING COMPANY OMITS PREFERRED

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (Exclusive) Prince & Whitely Trading Corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the preferred stock due at this time. The market value of the company's holdings as of November 26, last, plus cash and less estimated liabilities, totaled approximately $5,350,000, giving an indicated net asset value of $28.75 a preferred share.

CALIFORNIA BANK STAFF BONUS DUE

Announcement Made by President Chaffey on Return From Abroad

Payment of a Christmas bonus of one-half of December salaries to employees of the California Bank and affiliated institutions was announced yesterday by A. M. Chaffey, who has just returned to Los Angeles after a five months' trip through Europe.

"Although the earnings of California Bank during 1930," Mr. Chaffey said, "have not been as large as in 1929, when a record was established, it was believed by the board that the employees, whose hard work and loyalty during the year of 1930 had much to do in creating these earnings, were entitled to the same bonus as last year. The board also felt that in authorizing the bonus it could give no better expression of its belief in the fundamental soundness of conditions in Los Angeles city and county.

"Disbursement of this award, which is available to employees who have been with the bank continuously since July 1, last, will be made some time prior to the holidays in order that it may be available for Christmas shopping.

"In addition to the cash bonus, California Bank carries for each member of its staff who has been with it or affiliated institutions for one year, an insurance policy with a maximum of $5000, depending on salary and length of service, and also permits the purchase of additional insurance up to $10,000 at a nominal rate."

While he was absent from the city, Mr. Chaffey was elected president of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association.

DUTCH OIL RUMOR HIT BY LEADER

Sir Henri Deterding of Company Says Reports of Bond Issue False

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 1.—Sir Henri Deterding, managing director of Royal Dutch Company, at a special meeting of stockholders today, branded as absolutely false rumors that the company would float a bond issue and reduce the final dividend for this year.

"The offer of bankers to take over $25,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds of Royal Dutch on the same conditions as the last issue," Sir Henri said, "was refused, due to the fact that the company has an abundance of liquid cash on hand on which only a low interest rate is received. There is no reason whatever for any fear as to the financial results for this year.

"Financial condition and earnings capacity are splendid and can be compared with those of any other leading oil company. Royal Dutch Shell subsidiaries have held back expenditures for expansion which was not immediately necessary.

"We remain optimistic on the future of the oil industry. The permanent stockholder in Royal Dutch has always profited over the past forty years and we have every confidence that he will in the coming year.

"It has always been the policy of Royal Dutch Shell to write off vast amounts. Losses in Russia were immediately written off 100 per cent. Enormous stocks of oil of affiliated companies appear in annual benefit sheets at cost or market value, whichever is lower. This will benefit shareholders as soon as the present oil situation changes for the better."

Swing Plans to Aid Palo Verde

Congressman Phil D. Swing will introduce a bill at the short session of Congress in December which will provide for the reimbursement to the Palo Verde Irrigation District and the taking over by the government of the present levee system, Parker Adkinson, secretary of the district bondholders' committee, stated yesterday.

Mr. Adkinson pointed out one of the principal reasons for the default of the district bonds is the large amount of money that has been expended by the district in the battle with the Colorado River, a total of $2,250,000 having been spent in levee protection and river straightening. To provide the bondholders' committee with proper authority to represent the bondholders in legislative action, a request for the deposit of bonds has been issued. The committee's office is in the C. C. Chapman Building.

Van Court Joins Staats Concern

Association of Albert E. Van Court with William R. Staats Company, effective January 1, was announced yesterday by John Earle Jardine, Sr., president of the Staats company.

Until recently, Mr. Van Court has been secretary and treasurer of the California Company, Ltd., recently consolidated with the Pacific Company. Prior to that time he was associated with Torrance Marshall & Co.

REPORT ON TAX STUDY OUT

Inquiry of National Body Relating to Property Assessment Systems Completed

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—After a year of study the National Industrial Conference Board has completed a most comprehensive report on the subject of State and local property taxes. The board has divided the report under two subjects, the various kinds of taxes imposed and how they are administered.

Of course, the first essential of any tax system is that it should be enforceable. Many ideal forms of taxes seem to be nonenforceable, which is a fatal weakness. Looking into the future, the board concludes that from the present trend the future tax systems will include those "imposed upon real estate and upon such tangible personal property that has been found to be taxable, while the major part of the intangibles will be exempt and the property taxes will be supplemented by taxes upon other evidences of ability to pay, such as, for instance, income, inheritance, business and sales of certain selected commodities."

The conference board concludes that the State Tax Commission in every State should be made the important body to which the State Legislature should turn for advice on tax matters. For "a poor law, well administered, may result in an equitable tax system. A good law, poorly administered, cannot produce satisfactory results."

Thomas L. Chadbourne, New York lawyer and financier, has been able to get the Cuban government to set aside $42,000,000 of borrowed money for the National Sugar Export Corporation, which will enable it to purchase 1,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar and withdraw it from the market.

The corporation has wide powers—almost dictatorial in sweep, both in the field of production and export. The money will come from a loan which has been negotiated privately, but which later may be offered publicly in the United States.

If it is, President Hoover will find himself in an embarrassing situation. As a member of the Coolidge Cabinet he prevented American loans being made to both Brazil and Germany for the same purpose—price stabilization.

In the meantime, Mr. Chadbourne is on his way to Amsterdam to confer with the Java sugar producers, who are up against world sugar overproduction. Will they join hands with Cuba? If they agree to the plan, then the rest of the world will be asked to join.

It is an ambitious program. World restriction in the cases of rubber, copper and coffee have been a fizzle. What about sugar? Perhaps this will be the exception.

The sum of $165,000,000, the amount of new real estate bond, note and stock financing in the United States during the first ten months of 1930, represents the lowest level in seven years—a decline of 67 per cent under the first ten months of 1929 and 78 per cent under 1928.

Great and drastic reduction in building construction is the answer.

"There is little likelihood of any upward trend in the real estate securities market, until there is an increased demand for more buildings and rents are stabilized on a proper basis," says Nelson, Hunt & Co. of Chicago, real estate specialists in first mortgage bonds.

The four cities responsible for the largest October financing—in fact, 67 per cent of the entire total for the country—were New York, Chicago, Baltimore and Detroit.

Other cities which showed more than ordinary activity were Philadelphia, St. Louis, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Louisville, Macon, Ga., and Richond, Va.

Resources of Building-Loan Gain Sharply

Resources of Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, largest building-loan institution in the United States, increased $719,523 during the months of November to a total as of November 29, of $72,634,899, R. B. F. Randolf, vice-president and director of management, announced yesterday.

The statement shows a loan total of $64,376,778, which is a net increase of $1,912,902 for the month. This compares with a net increase of about $800,000 during October and $1,400,000 during September.

"November has usually been a month of seasonal dullness with our institution," Mr. Randolf said. "The results, therefore, during the month just ended are highly satisfactory and indicate to us a confirmation of the general impression that business conditions are improving."

Capital, surplus and undivided profits to November 29, reached $3,100,646, which is the highest total ever achieved by the institution.

METAL MARKET DEMAND QUIET

Usual Preholiday Slackening in Buying Reported

Lead Active and Steady; Zinc Situation Weaker

Mixed Copper Price Status Still Prevailing

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
(Editor, the Mining Journal, Phoenix)

Normal quietness, combined with the usual holiday layoff, has made the past week a particularly dull one for the metals. Copper remains slow with a spread of 1½ cents between the price offered and the price asked, 10½ to 12 cents f.o.b. Connecticut Valley. Lead still sticks to 5.10 although having ample reason to increase somewhat, and zinc has continued to weaken and is now 4.10 f.o.b. St. Louis, not far from the low point from which it started its recent rise.

Lead sales are more active than either copper or zinc and a fair tonnage is being disposed of but there is not much interest in future deliveries. The lead situation is rapidly shaping itself for improvement. There has been a 20 per cent curtailment in the Missouri district. Thus, production figures are downward. consumption upward, and an ample difference between the London and New York prices, all of which indicates that better lead prices are to be expected.

PRICE CONTINUES DOWN

Zinc producers apparently did not get very far when they "bulled" the price of that metal from 3.95 to 4.50 f.o.b. St. Louis in the face of conditions and statistics that did not justify a rise at the time. Each week has seen a recession from this price and now it is almost back again. Zinc for future delivery is quoted somewhat higher than the market but there is not much interest in it.

The zinc price was marked up in anticipation of a sharp cut in production. World production figures indicate to the buyer that he might wait to see what that cut really is. World slab zinc production in October, so far as could be reported, was 92,606 tons, compared with 89,807 tons in September, and 95,185 tons in August. The United States contributed 40,940 tons, compared with 40,485 tons in September, and 41,029 tons in August. For the ten months ended October world zinc output has been 960,648 tons.

COPPER SALES SMALL

Very little copper is being sold on domestic account and what is turning ranges from 10½ to 11 cents. Resale and custom smelter metal is taking this business as the producers are sticking pretty close to the asked price. Foreign business is very slow largely as a protest against the export price which is now 12.30, but foreign buying cannot be postponed long as they are not stocked ahead. The turn of the copper price started a large demand for copper products but this ceased when price lists came out based on 12-cent metal.

The fabricators and consumers are in splendid position to make a very thorough test of the ability of the producers to hold a 12-cent price. They can lay off the market for a long while as they do not need to buy metal. It will take one of two things to break a long period of quietness, a general improvement in business conditions which will require the fabricator to more fully cover his requirements or actual evidence of a curtailment of sufficient size to convince the consumer that his day of bargain copper is over and that he had better get himself covered while the going was still good.

There is no evidence of further copper curtailment in the world production figures for copper. World production of copper in October amounted to 152,544 tons, as compared with 152,405 tons in September. This was at a daily average rate of 4921 tons, as compared with 5080 tons in September. Of this total the United States contributed 70,149 tons, Chile and Peru 27,836 tons, and Canada 8573 tons. The United States September output was 68,487, while the Chilean and Peruvian total was 26,374 tons for that month. For the ten months ending October, the world copper production was 1,483,844 tons.

IMPROVEMENT REMOTE

The recent change in the copper situation has provided no improvement which should have any immediate effect. The sum and substance of the change is that, instead of producing 300,000,000 pounds of copper monthly at 9½ cents, the world is going to produce 260,000,000 pounds for which the producers are asking 12 cents. Instead of producing 40,000,000 pounds more than has been sold per month during the past year, the mines are going to produce an amount that is a little under the present consumption and thereby gradually reduce the large surplus stocks which have accumulated.

The changes and curtailment program are merely serving to put the copper mines in a better condition to weather the depression and to get themselves eventually out of the hole which a couple of years of overproduction has put them into and to spread the carrying cost over the copper industry of the entire world somewhat in proportion to their ability to cash in during prosperous times. It is but a step in the direction of providing more stable conditions and its success depends largely upon how closely the copper producers stick to their program. It will be six months, however, before there will be any real effect upon the copper market.

General Rise Effected for Copper Prices

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Custom smelters, which have been offering copper in the domestic market at 10½ cents a pound delivered, increased the price to 11 cents today.

Foreign sales were reported improved today. In the early dealings 2,000,000 pounds of regular shapes were sold at 12.30 cents a pound, c.i.f. European base ports, a price on a parity with the 12-cent level for copper in the domestic market.

Wheat Futures Hold Steady on Heavy Delivery

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—In the face of the fact wheat deliveries on December contracts reached a huge total of about 15,000,000 bushels today, prices held steady. The chief reason was that as expected the bulk of the mountain of wheat apparently found its way into the strong hands of government-sponsored agencies, and the market kept an even keel, fluctuations of values being mostly fractional and showing no decided trend. Corn advanced owing to wintry weather and smallness of receipts.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ranging from 1c off to ⅜c up, compared with Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@¾c net higher, oats unchanged to ⅜c advance and provisions varying from 15c setback to a rise of 5c.

In the provision market, lard showed firmness despite downturns of hog values.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Edison Leads General Improvement of Stock Prices While Trading Activities Slacken

Strong evidence of underlying strength supporting the market at current levels was indicated on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday when, despite a very meager turnover, prices moved in an upward direction. While aggregate sales were even smaller than the volume for the brief session Saturday, dealings were spread over a wider list of issues.

Southern California Edison featured operations with an advance of 1 1-4 points to 47 7-8. The stock opened at 48, where it held for a greater part of the session. A final board-lot transfer sliced off the 1-8 point.

Transamerica, which overshadowed all activities Saturday with a turnover of nearly 10,000 shares, was dealt in to the extent of 3200 shares and sold within 1-8 point to close unchanged for the day at 15 1-4. With the exception of California Bank, which dropped a point to 91 all other price changes were narrowed to fractional limits and a large portion of the board closed unchanged from Saturday's close.

Union Oil and Union Associates were both traded briskly and with Edison were the chief attractions of the market. Union Oil advanced 5-8 to 26 and Union Associates 3-4 to 25. Rio Grande and Richfield dipped 1-8 each on light sales to 8 1-8 and 6 1-4, respectively. Shell Oil, with a turnover of 700 shares, firmed up 1-4 to 8 3-8 and Standard Oil of California strengthened 1-8 to 49 1-4. Hancock Oil, after shading off to a new record low at 9 1-4, closed at 9 5-8 for a net gain of 1-8.

Pacific Public Service moved up 1-4 to 23⅛ and Pacific Gas and Electric, 1-8 to 48 7-8. Los Angeles Investment Company yielded 1-4 to hit a new bottom at 12½.

Sales totaled 10,648 shares, valued at $240,191; previous day, 13,160 shares valued at $240,328.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—The week opened with a good supply of cattle and despite early indications to the contrary, trade was active and fully steady, with a few sales of steers looking strong to a little higher. She-stock and bulls were mostly unchanged. Bulk of fresh arrivals were of California and intermountain origin, with a good consignment of southwestern stock. Holdovers of over 600 head were largely stockers and feeders, demand for which has slowed up considerably.

A load of outstanding 1417-pound California fed steers topped at 9.75, with a few show cutouts at 9.50. Bulk of the medium to good steers of all weights cashed at 7.85@8.85, with a few lots at 7.25@7.75. A load of Imperial Mexican steers made 7.15, with staggy Arizona Mexicans down to 6.00. A few lots of light feeder steers made 7.25.

Medium to low good heifers brought 6.85@7.00, with plainer kinds down to 6.00. Part loads of fairly good intermountain cows scored 6.25@6.35, with a few fleshy dairy type cows to 6.00. Bulk of common to medium cows brought 4.50@5.75, with low cutters and cutters largely 2.50@4.25. Some feeder cows cashed at 4.00@4.50, with others selling by the head. A few light bulls brought 6.00, with bulk of medium kinds at 4.00@5.75.

CALVES—The odd head of medium grade native milk vealers sold about steady at 9.50@11.50. Southwestern calves were plentiful and hard to move, with most sales on a 25@50c lower basis. One load of desirable weight turned at 9.00 to a killer, with bulk going at 7.15@8.50, including stockers at 8.15 down. Common heavy calves sold down to 5.25.

HOGS—Trade was very slow in the hog division, with two loads of desirable weight easterns selling today at 10.10, the day's top. Nine loads of eastern butchers were around 25 cents lower at 9.65@9.85, with one load unsold late. A few packing sows brought 7.75@8.50.

SHEEP—Offerings of around six decks of lambs did not include anything of good to choice quality and considering this fact prices looked strong with Saturday's 25-cent higher deal. Four decks of medium 77-pound Utah lambs scored 7.00 straight, and a part load of California was unsold. Saturday a deck of good to choice 82-pound lambs brought 8.00, with a sort at 7.00. Medium to choice ewes are quoted at 3.00@4.00.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Active trading in United States governments, which have been at the highest average level since April, 1928, was the feature of a dull and irregular session in the bond market today. A mild reaction appeared at the close.

One block of $1,000,000 Treasury 4s appeared on the tape at a concession of 1-32nd from the opening price, and the issue closed ⅛ net lower. Treasury 4¼s yielded ⅛ of a point, and Treasury 3⅜s, in which the turnover was $800,000, declined 3-32nds. Treasury 3⅜s of 1943-47 reached a new 1930 maximum and Liberty 3½s duplicated its high of the year.

The movement in the corporate domestic list was a mixture of small gains and losses. Railroad bonds of all classes resumed their decline, but it was less marked than Saturday.

The average for thirty domestic bonds was 1-10th of a point higher, the first advance in more than a week.

Standard European governments were stable. South Americans were dull.

Pacific Gas and Electric 5s were among the domestic utility issues that registered a small advance.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as high.

What Stocks Offer the Greatest Opportunity for Profit?

"The best grade stocks as a rule are now selling from 35% to 60% below their 1929 highs. Other weaker issues have declined from 60% to 90% in value. Which type offers the greater opportunity for profit?" an investor recently asked us.

"There is but one answer," we replied. "The strongest issues are always last to decline and first to recover. Certain weak stocks never will come back. Others will recover only a percentage of their former values. Buy the best, always."

Massachusetts Investors Trust

—offers, through a single security, a group interest in 140 of America's strongest dividend-paying stocks. Bought at present price levels, this trust offers a cash and stock return of better than 7%, combined with a surprising opportunity for profit. Write for detailed folder.

28 GREAT COMPANIES

• • • assets over 23 billions
• • • surplus over 6 billions
• • • age averages 58 years
record 33 years • • •

IT has been proved that the greatest return, on average, comes from high grade common stocks held over a term of years. Generally speaking, the stronger the company the higher will be the return from its stock.

This principle is responsible for the rapidly increasing wealth of people who own high grade stocks. The regular dividends received may be at a low rate based on the prices of the stocks; but extra cash and stock dividends, rights and split-ups representing appreciation all go to produce a total return far higher than those generally received from second grade or speculative stocks.

CORPORATE

representing an interest in one of the largest and strongest fixed trusts, bring to all investors the benefits of owning the common stocks of 28 leading American corporations. These companies have an average age of 58 years. They have grown and prospered through wars, panics and depressions. They show records of unbroken dividend payments ranging from 14 to 70 years, and averaging 33 years. Together they have 1532 affiliated and subsidiary companies. Their combined assets total 23 billions; their surplus over 6 billions. Their strength is the strength of the best in American industry.

Under this trust all the accruing dividends, rights and split-ups are immediately turned into cash and paid to the trust shareholders with added interest from the reserve fund. Published details are available for the asking.

Price at the market, about $7.00 per share

Occasional weakness is reported in the price of rail steel bars in commercial shapes at Chicago, where buyers have sought a reduction of $1 per ton. WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Trading in wool is very light, but a feeling of hopefulness that the volume of business may increase in the near future is being displayed by members of the wool trade as a result of more numerous receipts recently of sample lots. Receipts of both foreign and domestic wools at Boston continue very small. During the week ending November 29, receipts of domestic wools amounted to 209,900 pounds, compared with 1,585,100 pounds the previous week.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—The curb market today began the last month of a dim year with a firm tone and a continuous revival of professional speculative activity in the low-price specialties.

The utilities continued to lead the list, nevertheless, and a few shares developed some buoyancy. Transfers totaled 307,300 shares.

Electric Bond and Share rose more than 2 points in a large turnover to close at 48⅝. United Gas, a member of the bond and share group, rose ⅝ of a point to 9⅝. American Gas gained nearly 4 points and Duke Power jumped 11½.

The oils were inclined to be sluggish, although Vacuum rose a point and Cities Service ⅛. Margay Oil dropped 2 points to a price of 3. Union Oil Associates touched a point to a new low. Coppers were dull. Newmont slipped back a point.

Deere gained about 2 points. The Rainbow Luminous issues, which had not been traded since October, when Piperno & Co., specialists in the issues, were suspended, were reinstated. The Class "A" stock closed at 3⅝, a loss of 9⅝ since its last previous price, and the "B" stock finished at 1⅛, off 2⅜.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

HERE'S THE BIG CHANCE:

This is an electric-mechanical age. Factory moving in modern tempo and supplying a product that meets this new demand requires additional capital for expansion. Orders coming in and big government purchase under negotiation. This business developed and not experimental. A thoroughly business-like and clean cut proposition. An exceptional opportunity for a serious investor keen enough to appreciate the merit of a reliable business. 802 Bank of Hollywood Bldg.

Words matched and strung like beads into neatly rounded sentences... Words loosely joined, broken or interrupted... Words spoken in every mood, in every tongue, in all major and minor keys—at the rate of nearly twelve million a minute, spoken over the endless wires of the Bell Telephone System.

After several months of prelimi-ary work which included a care-ul survey of its lease, the Prairie il and Gas Company is preparing o make a permanent location for s first test to be drilled on a por-ion of the El Capitan ranch, em-racing approximately 4500 acres aking in considerable ocean front-ge not far from Goleta and extend-g to the southerly boundary of he General Petroleum Corpora-ion's Erburu lease nine miles west f the Elwood field.

Prairie Oil leased the El Capitan anch six months ago. That prop-rty has never been prospected and he company is said to be planning o drill not far from General's Er-uru holdings where seven we ave been completed, all of which t present are shut in to aid the tate-wide oil curtailment program.

Three locations have been consid-red by Prairie Oil on the El Capi-an ranch and field reports state hat a definite location has been elected and that site is being raded. Equipment and supplies for derrick are expected to be trucked n soon and drilling will probably e under way within thirty days. This undertaking is a new effort o develop commercial production long the Santa Barbara coast line nd will be watched with interest.

ew Locations Staked

As a result of the completion of everal good producers in the south-asterly portion of the Signal Hill ield, the Shell Oil Company has made locations for Stakemiller No. and Nesa No. 13.

Shell's Stakemiller No. 9 is a di-ect offset to the M. & A. Oil Com-pany's latest producer and drilling perations are expected to be under-way within a short time. That por-tion of the field has been largely instrumental in Signal Hill hav-ing steady production from the deep zone developed there more than a year ago.

Activity in Decline

Having brought in two excellent producers at Poso Creek, the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company has not planned to drill new wells at present and has suspended activities on its lease indefinitely. The company's Poso No. 1 and No. 2 were completed within the last two months, each for about 300 barrels of oil and have since been shut in. Both of these producers offset Harry Fahling's producer.

Two miles southeast of the Seacliff field, Chanslor-Canfield continues to mill on iron in Hobson No. A-2 at about 7452 feet with bottom of the hole at 7521 feet. A whipstock was recently landed at about 7400 feet in an endeavor to sidetrack past eighty feet of two and one-half-inch frozen drill pipe. This project developed a daily flow of about 250 barrels of oil several months ago. The General Petroleum Corporation and the Continental Oil Company hold offsetting properties and await development there before starting drilling operations.

Deep One Suspended

George F. Getty, Inc., has suspended drilling operations in No. 48 near the top of the structure at Santa Fe Springs. After drilling to a point below 9300 feet, Getty's No. 48 is reported to have cored some interesting showings, although no attempt was made to develop it into a producer.

Getty also has complied with drilling obligations in the Venice oil field where seven of its wells continue to flow. Getty drilled and completed the seven wells there within the past six months. The operator's daily yield there exceeds 4000 barrels of oil.

Installing Equipment

A blow-out preventer and heavier equipment is being installed at the J. J. Ritchie No. 1 wildcat located on Sec. 33, 11-19 five miles east of Wheeler Ridge in Kern county and considerable precaution is being taken in the event this project should come in. At present it is standing cemented and plug is expected to be drilled out Friday or Saturday for a production test.

New Increase Recorded

A new peak in daily production has been established by the Superior Oil Company's Huffman No. 1 on Sec. 29 21-17 on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills field. It is flowing at the rate of 14,600 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 8324 feet. The company's Hoffman No. 2 is one of sixteen drilling projects located on the north dome. The next two possible completions there are expected to be the Standard Oil Company's No. 65 offsetting Superior's producer and the Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 2 on Sec. 35, 21-17. Both are drilling in oil sand and brown shale and are expected to continue to at least 8300 feet before making a production test.

Steady Producer

The Associated Oil Company's Floyd No. 96 in the Ventura-avenue field has been completed for 3900 barrels of 27.6 deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 7538 feet. Daily gas flow exceeds 4,000,000 cubic feet.

Meeting Planned

A meeting of the fact-finding committee is expected to be held tomorrow or Thursday, according to word yesterday. W. E. Dunlap, chairman of the group, will call the meeting to discuss the future oil curtailment program for the State.

Spuds In

The Union Oil Company recently spudded its O'Donnel No. 17 in the north Belridge district and will endeavor to find deep production near the Belridge Oil Company's No. 15, which continues to yield in excess of 3800 barrels of oil a day along with 45,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Standard is building derrick for McPhail No. 2 and the company's McPhail No. 1 is drilling ahead. Texaco's Martin No. 1, Associated's No. 1, K. C. Wallace's No. 1 are all drilling ahead. The Richfield Oil Company successfully landed a string of casing to about 5500 feet in No. 1 in the North Belridge district. Bottom of the hole is at 5804 feet.

CANADIANS NOT MARKED FOR OUSTING

Local Immigration Men Deny Retaliation Here in Rumored Deportations

Dispatches from Vancouver, B. C., indicate the Canadian immigration officials are showing unusual activity in ousting American tourists who stay there and take jobs. Local immigration officials state that no move is under way here to oust Canadians in retaliation. It was pointed out by Joseph Conaty, acting district director of immigration here, that the United States government for years has been deporting all aliens who are found unlawfully in the United States.

It is stated that a Canadian or other alien tourist who overstays his leave here is subject to deportation. It is denied at the local offices that orders to concentrate upon deportation of Canadian tourists have been received from Washington. What deportation cases are pending are in the regular routine of the bureau, in progress for years.

It is stated that a large number of Americans employed in Mexico have become Mexican citizens to hold their positions.

Wife Granted Divorce From Studio Official

Thomas G. Hazenbush, manager of the United Studios, yesterday was divorced by Mrs. Julia Holmes Hazenbush. Desertion formed the basis of the wife's complaint. Superior Judge Wilson granted the decree. The Hazenbushes married at Riverside on July 18, 1918, and separated August 28, 1929.

Mrs. Hazenbush testified the film studio executive abandoned her after eleven years of married life. Judge Wilson awarded her custody of their son, George, 11 years of age, and approved a property settlement agreement whereby Hazenbush is to pay $200 a month for the boy's support, while Mrs. Hazenbush relinquishes all rights in three tracts of land.

MEXICAN MARRIAGE ANNULMENT SOUGHT

Only one witness, and that an illegal one, attested the marriage certificate of Samuel L. Howard and Mrs. Blanche E. Howard, according to the complaint for annulment of the ceremony, filed by Howard yesterday. The complaint asserts that Miss Eleanor Richards, who was the witness, was not a resident of Mexico, as required by a statute of the southern republic, and that, therefore, the ceremony, not conforming to Mexican law, may be annulled in a California court.

CASH FLOODS COFFERS AS TAXPAYERS PAY UP

Yesterday was the busiest day of the year thus far for the Tax Collector on the third floor of the Hall of Justice. At the close of business it was estimated that approximately 7000 persons had paid their taxes during the day and that between 2:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday and between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. yesterday $2,117,336.92 was collected in taxes.

Taxes collected to date amount to $18,406,185.95 or approximately 14.60 per cent of the total of $126,131,533.60 to be collected for the fiscal year of 1930-31. Tax collections at this time are about .39 per cent higher than last year's collections for the corresponding period, a comparison revealed.

Collections now being made comprise first installments of the yearly levy, for the most part. All first installments unpaid by 5 p.m. next Friday become delinquent and subject to a penalty of 10 per cent. Between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 is expected to be collected within the ensuing five days through payments made at the office and close to $40,000,000 through mail remittances.

FAMILY DIVIDED ON KILLING

Brother and Sister Found on Opposite Sides in Investigation of Meeks Shooting

With a brother testifying against his sister, a Coroner's inquest w be conducted today into the fatal shooting Sunday night of Bert Meeks, 30-year-old asserted bootlegger, at the hands of Albert Sutherland, 40, tractor driver, in the latter's home at Huntington Beach Boulevard an Smeltzer Road, six miles from Huntington Beach.

Sutherland is in Orange County Jail on suspicion of murder and Walter Meeks and Mrs. Bertha Meeks Jackson, brother and sister of the victim, are held as material witnesses.

Whether a complaint will be issued against Sutherland depends largely on the testimony to be offered at the inquest, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fris said at Santa Ana yesterday. Sutherland insists he shot Meeks in self-defense. Walter Meeks maintains the killing was without provocation.

MURDER INCITED

The shooting occurred about 10:30 p.m. Sunday. The Meeks brothers appeared at Sutherland's home, where their sister, Mrs. Jackson, 32, the mother of seven children, has been living as housekeeper. When they rapped for admittance Mrs. Jackson opened the screen door slightly and, according to Walter's statement to police, called to Sutherland to "shoot and do a good job!" A blast from a shotgun struck Bert Meeks in the left eye and he died a short time later in Orange County Hospital.

When Deputy Sheriffs Howard and Buckles reached the scene, they reported, they found Sutherland with the gun. He was standing backed against the house. Beside him was Mrs. Jackson. Sutherland surrendered and said his life had been threatened by the slain man. Walter, however, declared he and his brother had gone to the Sutherland house seeking liquor.

COMPLAINS OF BROTHER

Several hours before the shooting, police say they learned, Mrs. Jackson appeared at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Meeks, a block from the Sutherland house, and complained that Walter Meeks had tried to choke her. This is denied by Meeks.

Mrs. Jackson's husband and six of her seven children live at Compton. The seventh child is in a correction home at Anaheim. The woman is one of eleven living children of Mrs. Mary Meeks. Two of her sisters, Mrs. Nellie Campbell and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, live at Long Beach.

PLANS FOR SKYWRITING ANNOUNCED

Capt. Boutillier Tells of Project on Departure East to Arrange Details

Resumption of skywriting over Southern California on a large scale was announced last night by Capt. O. C. Boutillier, former war-time member of the Royal Air Force, on his departure for New York to complete arrangements for establishment at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport of the western branch of Skywriting Corporation of America.

CAPT. O.C. BOUTILLIER.

Boutillier and Earl W. Gordon plan to have regularly scheduled, specially equipped Fairchild open biplanes in the air before Christmas.

Boutillier states the letters in skywriting are formed backwards in level flight—in a manner similar to writing on a pane of glass so that an underside view reveals the letters so they may be read from left to right.

EARL W. GORDON

The national corporation holds all patents on the equipment necessary for forming the chemical smoke figures, according to Boutillier.

Skywriting was invented by Maj. Savage of the Royal Air Forces. America's first glimpse of mile-long letters was in 1923.

Snake Bites Spectator at Reptile Show

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 1.—Mrs. Anna Forbish of 1328 West Tenth street, San Pedro, was bitten on the arm tonight by a snake in one of the concessions in the amusement zone here. She was taken to Seaside Hospital where belief was expressed that she will recover.

Here on a visit, Mrs. Forbish had been attracted to the exhibition of snakes by an announcement of their reputed deadly character. A few minutes after entering she was heard to scream; she had been standing near a cage containing one of the deadly specimens and displayed a rapidly spreading red area on her right arm into which one of the snakes had sunk its fangs.

Labor-Theft Charges Heard

Preliminary hearing of grand theft charges against F. L. Corrigan, executive of the Corrigan Petroleum Company, Venice, accused of defrauding twenty-five employees by failing to pay their salaries amounting to more than $200 each, unfinished yesterday, will be resumed today before Municipal Judge Galbreth.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClure charges that Corrigan worked the men knowing that he could not pay them. The defense scored yesterday when McClure was unable to prove any conversation between Corrigan and the men in which he assured them of his ability to pay their wages.

CHIROPRACTOR FACES COURT IN DEATH CASE

Dr. Ralph Crowley, chiropractor of 3834 South Vermont avenue, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday on murder charges growing out of the death of Genevieve Brown, 19 years of age. His preliminary hearing was set for the 11th inst.

Miss Brown, a West Los Angeles schoolgirl, died as the result of an asserted illegal operation, Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay charged. Crowley contends he did not perform the operation, but that he recommended the girl be sent to a hospital when she came to him for treatment. At the request of McKay, who said extenuating circumstances in the case justified the recommendation, Judge Ballard released Crowley on $2500 bail pending the hearing.

OCCIDENTAL ACTORS TO OPEN PLAY SERIES

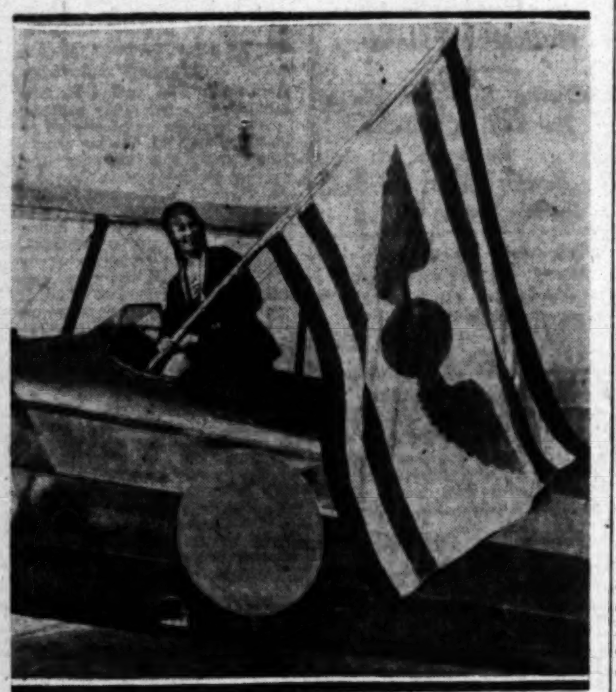
The first of a series of plays to be given in the new Little Theater on the campus of Occidental College will be given by the Occidental Players the 10th and 11th inst. when George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" will be presented. Rehearsals were begun last week under the direction of Miss Lee Law, dramatic director. The settings of the three-act play will be modernistic in design and color. The set and costumes of the first act will be of blue; those of the second of red, and those of the third act purple. Hazel Gray will play the lead as Riana and will be supported by Francis Curtis as Sergius. The players plan to give two more plays during the winter semester.

DAMAGES SOUGHT IN TRAFFIC SMASH

As a result of an automobile collision June 3, 1930, at the corner of Mullen Place and Slauson avenue, Mrs. Mary A. Reed is suffering from "traumatic neuresthesia," according to a complaint filed yesterday by Attorney A. Brigham Rose. Mrs. Reed asserts that the automobile of A. D. Ault collided with her car, and she asks that Ault be required to pay $22,000 dagames.

AIRPORT FLIES NOVEL FLAG

Newest United States Ensign Shown



Oh, Say, Can You See?

Mrs. Louise Fewkes displays Uncle Sam's latest banner of air mail service.

VISITORS to the United Airport in Burbank yesterday saw a new flag flying over the administration building. It is the recently adopted official standard of the government air-mail service and may be flown only at airports used by the air-mail service. United Airport is the local terminus of Pacific Air Transport, which carries mail to the north.

The new flag has a white field with four horizontal bars of red, two at the bottom and two at the top. In the middle is the air-mail service insignia in orange, consisting of a globe from which eagle wings extend at either side. Across the globe in black outline letters are the words "U. S. Air Mail."

Cache of Loot Found and Three Boys Arrested

Three youths asserted by the police to have had in their possession loot taken in a number of recent burglaries in the Hollywood and Wilshire districts were arrested by detectives of the Seventy-seventh-street station last night. The youths were trailed by Detectives Schmitz and Darcy to 2421 East Fifty-third street, where more than forty suits of clothing, several fur coats, a half-dozen radios and five guns were found.

The youths gave their names as Richard E. Rogers, 18 years of age; Douglas Stevens, 17, and his brother Edward, 16. A suspicion of burglary charge was placed against them. The detectives asserted they expect to obtain a confession as to a large quantity of jewelry the prisoners are believed to have disposed of.

Kin Identifies Amnesia Victim

A name and identity were found yesterday for the ampesia victim who last Saturday told Venice police he had forgotten who he is.

He is Horace Keeler, 37 years of age, World War veteran of Glendale. He was identified by Thomas Logan, his cousin, of Ontario.

Detectives said he told them he was booked for a series of radio broadcasts on aviation over a local station beginning today. Keeler is estranged from his wife and daughter, who live in the East. He recently had been working for the Curtiss-Wright flying service, it is said.

Sales of Seals Aid Children

That children have been the greatest gainers from the country-wide antituberculosis campaign, was the statement made by Miss Sidney M. Maguire, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association. The local association is now conducting its annual Christmas Seal campaign, its sole source of revenue which enables it to maintain numerous projects designed to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

Miss Maguire revealed that for the ten-year period, 1917-1927, the tuberculosis death rate for the country as a whole declined 45 per cent, while the rate for children under 5 years of age declined 63 per cent.

PREMATURE GRAY HAIR WINS WOMAN DIVORCE

Because Mrs. Aileen Charboneau's black hair turned gray before she was 30 years of age, as a result, she testified, of living with Albert Charboneau, Superior Judge Gates yesterday gave her a divorce. Mrs. Charboneau testified that she worried constantly over her husband's gambling debts. They were married in 1923 and separated in 1926.

WIFE LAYS WOE TO TRIP FOR FILMS

Mrs. Evelyn I. Avery yesterday sued her husband, Minor Paul Avery, for divorce, asserting that he went on a motion-picture location last June and returned seven weeks later a "changed man."

The couple was married at Yuma, Ariz., just before Avery left to go on location. He finally left home November 19, last, it is asserted.

Coroner's Jury to Hear Knife Death Evidence

The Coroner's inquest into the death of Glenn Carter, former policeman, who died as the result of a knife wound in his chest Sunday following an altercation with a woman with whom he had been living at 903 West Vernon avenue, will be held at 2 p.m. today. The woman, Mrs. Jennie Cuvillier, 34 years of age, is held at the County Jail on suspicion of murder.

Stories of witnesses who lived in the building indicated, according to the police, that Carter had severely beaten the woman several times during the day and was attempting to do so again when she snatched up a carving knife. The woman asserted that Carter fell on the knife during the struggle to gain possession of it. Carter resigned from the police force six years ago.

LOCAL BUS SERVICE STARTED AT BURBANK

BURBANK, Dec. 1.—The new local bus service to take in the Burbank hill section and the southeastern area of the city started this morning. The service is given by J. H. McKee, who has been operating a taxicab line here for the last several months. The service which will be hourly in some sections and thirty minutes in other sections will service the upper part of the city from Providencia avenue and Cypress avenue on the east and west, and San Fernando Boulevard and Tenth street on the south and north as far south as Victory Boulevard, and east as far as Allen street in the southeast section. The bus line virtually is to serve as a local streetcar system which Burbank for some time has maintained it has needed badly. The Pacific Electric runs from Burbank to Glendale and Los Angeles. It is of no use as a local carrier. A large percentage of Burbank homes are a mile or more from its tracks.

KEFFER TO SURVIVE CRASH WITH TRAIN

VAN NUYS, Dec. 1.—No apprehension is felt for the recovery of Frank M. Keffer, president of the Van Nuys News Publishing Company and prominent Van Nuys and San Fernando Valley land owner, who was seriously injured when the sedan he was driving was struck Saturday night by a backing freight train at the Southern Pacific crossing on Kester avenue near Oxnard street. Keffer's left leg was broken between the knee and thigh. The sedan was demolished. Mrs. Keffer who was in the car was not seriously hurt. At the crossing where the accident occurred the train tracks are chiefly used for switching purposes. Slow trains only, infrequently pass the point.

CLEAR CURBS WANTED AT NORTH HOLLYWOOD

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1.—Capt. C. A. Hodson, commanding the San Fernando Valley division of police, has recommended to Chief of Police Steckel that the request of North Hollywood business men for a one-hour parking law on Lankershim Boulevard between Chandler and Magnolia boulevards be granted. The business men have complained that autos of all sorts remain so long at the curbs in the local business district that it is impossible for shoppers to reach any of the stores.

SUSPECTS IN NUT ROBBERY IN JAIL

SANTA SUSANA, Dec. 1.—Thieves entered the warehouse here of the Simi Valley Walnut Growers' Association and stole sixty sacks of walnuts valued at $1500. Deputy sheriffs traced the nuts to Los Angeles, where they had been sold to a dealer. The walnuts were recovered. It is understood four or five persons were involved in the robbery. Several of them have been arrested and jailed.

COUNTY TAKES OVER BOULEVARD PROJECT

The City Council yesterday gave its consent to the Board of Supervisors to handle the project for paving Sunset Boulevard between Havenhurst avenue and Horn avenue. Most of the stretch to be improved is within the county, but some is within the city limits. The project is estimated to cost about $200,000.

SHIPPING NEWS AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

COAST SHIPPING PROPHECY FAILS

Forecast of American Tank Ship Tie-up Hit

Survey of Craft in Offshore Oil Trade Made

Only Two Concerns Shown as Using Foreigners

BY WALDO DRAKE

Prophecies of Coast shipping experts that California oil companies would lay up their own American-flag tankers in offshore trade and charter some of the huge number of new Scandinavian tankers, offered at record low prices as a result of the world-wide slump in the crude and fuel-oil movement, are not borne out by a survey made of the local situation yesterday. These figures show that only two concerns have replaced their American ships with foreigners.

One of these is the Chile Steamship Company, shipping subsidiary of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, which has operated three American tankers between Los Angeles Harbor and Chilean ports for transport of fuel oil for its mining operations. All three of these ships are now laid up here in the West Basin; they being replaced by the Norwegian motor tanker Velma and the Swedish motor tanker Capella.

The Texas Company has six chartered tankers operating in offshore trades, including the Norwegian motorship New Zealand from this port to the Antipodes, and five others from east coast shipping centers. Eight of its American-flag tankers are laid up as a result, four on the east coast and at Los Angeles Harbor the Washington, Oregon, Arizona and California are out of service.

Union Oil Company has four American-flag ships in foreign service, plus the Panaman motor tanker Brunswick in regular gasoline trade to the Antipodes. The big motor tanker California Standard, in gasoline trade to the United Kingdom, is Standard Oil of California's only offshore ship. Richfield Oil Company's export trade is now handled entirely by American tankers, while the oriental export of the General Petroleum Corporation is almost entirely carried by six British-flag tankers of the Standard Transportation Company fleet. Standard Oil Company's gasoline trade to Australia and New Zealand is carried by three British-flag units of the Vacuum Oil Company, a Standard Oil subsidiary. These are the Plume, Vacuoline and Pulpit Point.

TUNA FLEET TO TIE UP SIXTY DAYS

Effective yesterday all tuna fishing boats, on returning from sea, will lie up in port for sixty days, both at San Pedro-Wilmington-Long Beach Harbor and at San Diego.

The tie-up is a voluntary move upon the part of the various fishermen's associations at the two ports to obviate a possible reduction of tuna prices paid fishermen by canneries.

The curtailment found unanimous accord among the canning executives, whose voluminous pack, it is declared, soon would have crowded the markets if some relief had not been found. The market has remained firm to date and packers say the respite in fishing and canning will be sufficient to keep it so.

Probably 100 big boats manned by a dozen to eighteen men each, will be effected by the cessation, while many hundreds of employees in the packing plants in both cities will be given a forced vacation.

Some tuna boats are still out, but as soon as they return they will remain in port for two months. All will undergo overhaul and make minor repairs during the respite.

The curtailment will mean the packing of perhaps 200,000 cases less of tuna, valued at more than $1,250,000, than if operations had been continued.

Coupled with the temporary discontinuance yesterday of sardine packing in certain local and Monterey plants, announced last week, the cannery employees and fishermen here are said to face the leanest Christmas in years.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, former American woman golf champion, sailed yesterday on the Panama Mail liner El Salvador for New York whence she will proceed to her home in Philadelphia, after two months of competitive play in California. The liner carried out sixty travelers, and a full cargo of California products including more than 1000 tons from Los Angeles.

The body of William I. Winn, sailor on the U.S.S. Lexington, was picked up floating off White Point near San Pedro yesterday by the county patrol boat Cobra and brought to the post. He was washed off ship near Long Beach two weeks ago. The body is at Goodrich-Halverson's mortuary, San Pedro, awaiting funeral arrangements.

The new Norwegian motor tankship Morgana, just completed in Scandinavian yards is due here on her maiden voyage today to load gasoline at Union and General Petroleum docks for United Kingdom under charter to the Petroleum Storage and Finance Company. The new Norwegian tanker Velma is due from Chile today completing her first round-trip voyage carrying fuel oil from here for the Chile Steamship Company. R. Thominson arrived yesterday from Norway to become her new chief officer.

Harold H. Ebey, general Pacific Coast representative of the Hamburg-American Line, was at the port yesterday from his San Francisco headquarters for his periodic survey of Southland traffic conditions.

Both eastbound and westbound offerings in the line's European-Pacific freight and passenger trade have shown steady improvement since offshore shipping business hit bottom last September, said Mr. Ebey. He pointed out that Hapag's seven liners in regular trade to the Coast are running at cargo capacity, necessitating the addition of the steamer Bitterfield, here yesterday homeward bound, to meet the demands of the seasonal apple movement from the Northwest.

Invitations to attend the launching on the 9th inst. of Dollar Line's new $8,000,000 express liner President Hoover at the yards of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company were received yesterday by local shipping executives.

As the 33,000-tonner slips down the ways at 11 a.m. Mrs. Herbert Hoover will christen her by breaking a bottle, containing water from each of the seven seas, across her bows.

MARINE NOTES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—The tanker Tamiahua, which went on the rocks off Pescadero on November 6, and now on the Hunter's Point dry dock, will be one of the largest repair jobs of its kind ever handled in local shipyards, marine observers said today.

A survey showed the entire bottom of the tanker seriously damaged. The cost of repair work is estimated at $400,000. This does not include the cost of floating the tanker, a job which was undertaken by Merritt, Chapman and Scott on a basis of "no cure, no pay," nor the cost of keeping the vessel on drydock, which it is estimated will run close to $1000 per day.

A sharp decline in net tonnage and the number of vessels passing through the port of San Francisco last month, as compared with the totals for November, 1929, was revealed in figures released today by the Marine Department of the Chamber of Commerce.

During the past month, 1190 ships passed through the harbor as compared with 1310 for November, 1929. Their net tonnage was 3,108,684 tons, or 83,340 less than the same period last year.

SEATTLE, Dec. 1.—Reviewing the freight market for November, the General Steamship Corporation said today the Pacific Coast freight and charter market probably passed through one of the dullest months of a dull year with the volume of chartering less than any other period. The lumber market continued in a bad condition, the company said.

TACOMA, Dec. 1.—A total of 122,00 bushels of wheat will be shipped from this port to the Orient during the next five days, the harbor master reported today. The grain will be taken by the Manila Maru, Mishima Maru and the Seattle.

Apples and fresh fruit will continue to be principal cargoes of European-bound vessels as an average of six cargoes a day are brought to local piers. One dock reports having thirty-five cars on hand awaiting vessels which will call for the produce.

Two large foreign ships, the Portland of the Hamburg-American Line and the Danish motorship Hoyanger were loading cargo here today for European discharge. The former took 560 tons, while the latter is loading 1000 tons.

PORTLAND, Dec. 1.—Negotiations have been completed for the purchase of the six-masted schooner Helen B. Sterling by navigation interests, W. W. Payne, president of the Pacific Transport Company, her owners, said today.

The schooner arrived at Sydney last March 27 with a cargo of more than 2,200,000 feet of logs from the Columbia River.

Railway Merger Riddle of East Reported Solved

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (Exclusive) A solution of the long-standing controversy over railroad consolidations in the East, bringing a division of carriers in the territory among the four large trunk lines, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Van Sweringen group, is imminent, it was reported in the financial district today.

The agreement among the four principal systems, needing adjustment of only a few minor details, is expected to meet approval in Washington, where, it was assumed the proposal had been informally discussed with individual members of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Announcement of the understanding is scheduled to be made within a fortnight either in Washington or in Wall street.

The telephone company officials in making a plea to the railroad commission during the summer for an increase said that the company had been operating at a loss for ten years. Request was made for a 7 per cent profit on the investment, and the request was granted.

Katherine Spangler Shows Her Skill as Imitator

Dr. Frank McCoy to Talk During Forum Period

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Jennie Durkee, instrumentalist; Dr. Frank McCoy, editor of Diet and Health in the Sunday Times. World-wide news, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Katherine Spangler, whistler on KECA at 3:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, broke up the even tenor of our Times Tower canary household. Both feathered lads, Radio Kindness and Happiness, nearly tore the bars off their cage. They would have flown right into the speaker.

Radio Kindness has had all the advantages of life in a well-regulated aviary. Happiness is just a plant vagrant—flew into an office on Main street not long ago and was taken to the tower. Since arriving he has refused to do anything but eat. In fact, you'd think he was stuffed if he didn't move now and then.

I'll tell you what Radio Kindness has just whispered to Happiness—"Happy, if I ever get a chance I'm going to fly into that radio box over there." Whereupon, Happiness replied, "Sez you—I'll reduce you to pin feathers if you try to beat my time."

All of which means there is one radio artist who can say, "I do exactly what I aspire to do"—and she has two witnesses who will take the perch any day to substantiate it.

They tell us that—

The Kangaroo court in the City Jail is going to give Joe quite a reception. He's been cleaning up vice in Blossomhurst and now they've tossed him in jail with his victims—KHJ at 7 tonight—Joe and Vi.

Mozart's Concerto in D Minor for piano and orchestra—Rochester Civic Orchestra—KFI at 7 tonight—opens with Guiraud's "Persian Dance"—a high light.

Claudette Colbert, Parisian screen star—guest on Paramount Publix Theater Hour—KHJ and KNX at 7:30 tonight—Jesse Crawford, organist—gossip of stage and screen.

In the days when barges carried queens instead of coal—Tom Terriss, the Vagabond film director—KFI at 8:30 tonight—"A Night With Cleopatra."

"A Game of Chess"—radio playlet—Stuart Buchanan and G. Donald Gray—KFWB at 8 tonight—all Russians in a typical Russian setting—"When I tire of chess I shall tire of life itself"—says Alexis.

Tapestries of Life—KHJ at 8 tonight. A musical romance—an hour of delightful music and a story woven of the love of Lord Philip Compton and Larry Margery Spencer.

Radio Station KECA, beginning today, will maintain a broadcasting schedule of thirteen and one-half hours a day. They will open the day at 8:30, handling NBC network programs to 12 noon—resume broadcasting at 1 and continue until 12 midnight. Today's NBC programs between 9:15 and 12 this morning are not known—so there's a surprise.

Sammy Jackson and Paulie Walker will tangle at the Olympic at 9:30 tonight—KFWB—a fight that is expected to provide plenty of action.

Folk songs of Portugal—marimba band and a string ensemble—KECA at 5 tonight. An NBC program—Berna Frechette, European soprano.

Spooky clock chimes—the shades of Edgar Allan Poe—Raymond Paige is the director—the witching hour of midnight—every night—the wind will howl—12 to 1—an organ recital too—"the goblins will get you." KHJ, 12 m.

Another Russian play — "Envoy and the Russian Spy"—KNX at 8 tonight—dramatic playlet.

Están Alimentando por Medio de un Tubo a un Minero Sepultado

DORTMUND (Alemania) Diciembre 1.—A gran profundidad subterránea, en una cavidad de una mina hullera cercana a Kastrop, se halla un minero que lleva setenta y dos horas de enterrado por el desplome de una galería; pero que vive todavía y está recibiendo alimento por medio de un tubo de ventilación.

La galería se hundió el viernes a medio día, sepultando a dos hombres a los que ya se daba por muertos, hasta que, transcurridas treinta y seis horas, uno de ellos pudo comunicarse por el referido tubo y anunciar que no estaba herido.

Se le está administrando leche y jugo de carne por medio de aire comprimido, y el recoge esos líquidos en sus zapato. Chéese poder salvarlo; pero se teme que su compañero haya muerto ya.

Méjico Combatirá a los Propagandistas Rojos

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Diciembre 1.—Hoy ha dado instrucciones el procurador general a los agentes del ministerio público federal en varias partes del país, de que procedan enérgicamente contra los propagandistas del comunismo, e impidan la circulación de sus folletos. Esta orden fué librada después de haber regresado el procurador general de un viaje al norte de la República, donde, según se dice, obtuvo pruebas de que se estaba haciendo en gran escala propaganda de ese género.

Abdica la Reina de los Cabarés Nocturnos de Londres

LONDRES, Diciembre 1.—La señora Kate Meyrick, famosa reina de los cabarés de Londres, ha renunciado a su trono, pues juzga, según han dicho sus amigos al Daily Herald, que el puesto le trae más penalidades que ventajas.

La señora Meyrick, que fué sentenciada a su tercer periodo de prisión el 3 de Julio por vender sin licencia licores embriagantes, salió hoy de la cárcel y se dirigió a su lujosa casa de Park Square, Londres.

Dicen sus amigos que la dueña de cabarés pasó buena parte de su última condena en el hospital de la prisión, y que es urgente para ella descansar. Quizá se vaya a Francia a abrir establecimientos de esa clase, pues ya se cansó de la cosa en Inglaterra.

Una de las hijas de la señora Meyrick se casó con el marqués de Kinnouli, y otra, con Lord de Clifford.

Exhúmanse más Huesos de Mastodonte

TUCSON (Arizona) Diciembre 1. El doctor Byron Cummings y un grupo de estudiantes de arqueología de la Universidad de Arizona han regresado hoy de examinar las ruinas de un antiguo pueblo en Duncan, donde exhumaron otra parte de un mastodonte recién descubierto.

El paquidermo, que, según el doctor Cummings, vivió probablemente hace 40,000, años, está siendo desenterrado a pedacitos, y cuando se le restaure, alcanzará quizá una altura de doce pies.

El pueblo que se está estudiando ocupa el centro de un grupo de aldeas prehistóricas cercano a Redrock, treinta y cinco millas al este de Duncan. La persistente lluvia impidió al doctor Cummings y a sus discípulos llevar su examen tan adelante como tenían proyectado.

Pospónese la Inauguración de una Línea Aérea

NEWARK (Nueva Jersey) Diciembre 1.—Ha sido aplazada hoy hasta mañana, por E. P. Lott, gerente de operaciones, la inauguración de la ruta transcontinental del norte por la "National Air Transport," porque llegaron noticias de lluvias y nieblas en las regiones montañosas de Pensilvania.

Un avión bautizado por la señora Thomas A. Edison iba a salir para Cleveland y Chicago, a fin de enlazar allí con la línea de Boeing, que va a Seattle y San Francisco.

El Marido no Era para Ella sino un "Abono" de Comidas

"No se casó conmigo; se casó con $1200 al mes", dijo ayer Robert M. Arthur, gerente de una fábrica de cosméticos, al juez superior Scott, quien le otorgó el divorcio de Louise D. Arthur.

Arthur declaró que, con motivo del mal estado de los negocios, bajó su renta, y que entonces le había dicho su mujer "que se había casado para tener un abono de comidas, y que este le había resultado muy medianejo".

El juez Scott aprobó un convenio de división de bienes, por el cual se compromete Arthur a pasar $100 mensuales a la señora Arthur, y a darle, además, su automóvil y una póliza de seguros, ya enteramente pagada, por valor de $10,000.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

Enriquito, que anhelosamente escuchaba en un rincón, se subió callandito a su cuarto; y antes de quedarse dormido, empapó sus almohadas con el amargo llanto del desengaño (Little Henry, who was listening eagerly in a corner, stole upstairs to his room; and before he went to sleep, his pillows were drenched with bitter, disappointed tears).

Nadie habría podido adivinar en aquel momento que el afligido chiquillo que lloraba en la oscuridad porque había sido criticado su primer poema, llegaría a ser un gran hombre y uno de los poetas más famosos que han producido los Estados Unidos (No one could have guessed then that the sad little boy crying in the darkness because his first poem had been criticised, would grow up to be a great man and one of the most famous poets that America has produced).

PLANE CHASES KIDNAPERS' HOMING PIGEON UNTIL---

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Relatives of Michael Cushing, missing since November 19, received a telephone call today from men who said they are holding him for $1000 ransom.

The relatives were directed to go to a spot in Queens where they would find two homing pigeons in a cage, tie one $500 bill to each pigeon and let the pigeons do the rest.

The Cushings got the police and the police got an airplane. Lieut. Charles Dorschel went up, circled above the cage, and one of the pigeons was released. There were a lot more police on the ground, and an elaborate system of signals had been worked out between the ground cops and the air cop.

The freed pigeon took off with the airplane after him, but the chase lasted only a few minutes. For on a roof the pigeon espied a large flock of pigeons. Down he flew. The airplane circled the roof, hoping to drive him out. It did—and a lot of other pigeons, too. They all looked alike.

The airplane went back to the hangar and the police planted men in the bushes near the other pigeon's cage—to await developments.

COMMONS PROVIDES MORE DOLE FUNDS

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—By 2 votes to 214 the House of Commons tonight adopted a resolution which increases the limit of Treasury advances to the unemployment fund from £60,000,000 to £70,000,000 ($300,000,000 to $350,000,000.) The unemployment fund provides the much-discussed dole.

The Finest And Most Complete

People who are unfamiliar with modern funeral comforts can hardly realize the many extra benefits provided by the new Colonial Mortuary.

But when there is reason to wish a service of unusual beauty and magnificence, befitting the station of a family prominent in social or civic affairs, no establishment of smaller resources could be expected to provide the refinements of this old-established firm.

And, in such surroundings, it is of course easier to make the least expensive service a source of gratifying comfort to families of modest means.

Complete services of the most beautiful kind, for as little as $70.

His election was made unanimous after Supervisor Shaw had withdrawn his one dissenting vote with the explanation that he would cast it for the choice of the other four members in the interest of future harmony in the new organization.

Contrary to the expectations of all, the name of Supervisor Quinn was not placed in nomination at all for the reason he was the first to name Wright for the honored post.

One of the first acts of the new chairman was to announce a radical change in the formation of committees by naming a chairman and two members on each committee. Heretofore the work of each committee has been handled by one member only.

OLD BOARD BUSY

The last half-day of the old board was a busy one. The board composed of Sidney T. Graves, chairman; Henry W. Wright, John R. Quinn, Frank L. Shaw and Fred T. Beaty met at 9:30 a.m. Facing them was a bale of papers and matters that had to be disposed of before noon.

The most important piece of business was the matter of leasing the Royal Palms Acreage for county recreational purposes. After hearing Councilman Henning from the Harbor District speak for it and John Steven, associate secretary of the Los Angeles Municipal League, speak against it, the board, on motion of Supervisor Quinn, adopted a resolution to place the lease in escrow, dependent upon the clearing of the titles to the physical improvements on the property, the water rights and the boundary line.

At noon Chairman Graves announced the old board in recess. Immediately Miss Mame Beaty took the chair and announced the new board would organize. Supervisor Beaty left his seat and presented it to Hugh A. Thatcher, his successor. The same was done by Supervisor Graves, turning his chair over to J. Don Mahaffey. Both Beaty and Graves made short speeches wishing their successors success.

ELECTION OF CHAIRMEN

The clerk then announced the business before the new board was the election of a chairman.

Supervisor Quinn immediately placed the name of Supervisor Wright, oldest member in point of service, in nomination for the post. Supervisor Shaw followed by nominating Thatcher.

Following the ballot, Supervisor Shaw declared that he wished to withdraw his nomination of Thatcher and cast his vote for Wright.

Long before the new board was organized the Supervisors' room on the third floor of the Hall of Records was packed with friends of old and new members. The wives and relatives of the newly elected members were present, as well as the wives of some of the retiring members. Loud applause greeted the victory of Supervisor Wright.

"I appreciate and thank you for the honor you do me in electing me your chairman. I accept it with full sense of its responsibility, both to you and the county of Los Angeles," declared Supervisor Wright.

"On behalf of the older members of the board, I offer congratulations to the new members and welcome them to a full share of our responsibilities, our duties, our pleasures and our brickbats as the days come and go.

AS TO SECRET SESSIONS

"During these ten years, it appears to me the volume and variety of county business has increased about tenfold, until today, this board is representing 2,500,000 people and directing the collection and expenditure of upward of a $100,000,000 per year.

"The orderly and expeditious conduct of the business of such a vast corporation should impel us to recognize and observe certain well-defined rules as to our deliberations.

"We hear much these days about secret sessions. I am not afraid

CHURCH TO BUILD HOSPITAL

Plan of Presbyterians for New Structure Here Announced by Extension Secretary

Plans for the erection of a Presbyterian hospital, similar in cost and equipment to those now operated by Methodists, Lutherans and other denominations, were announced yesterday by Dr. Guy Wadsworth, general secretary of the Presbyterian board of church extension.

"The board of directors of the hospital fund has been authorized by the Los Angeles presbytery to raise funds to be added to the $400,000 donated to the presbytery for this purpose several years ago and we expect, in the not distant future, to have a Presbyterian hospital that will be a credit to Presbyterianism and to Los Angeles," said Dr. Wadsworth.

Dr. Wadsworth also announced that the local presbytery has organized the Presbyterian Foundation, Ltd., and that the foundation will handle all properties deeded to the board of church extension.

Officials of the presbytery, together with their office furniture and other equipment, yesterday moved from their old headquarters in the Columbia Building to the seven spacious rooms provided for them on the eighth floor of the American Bank Building. Five-sixths of the building recently was deeded to the presbytery by a Presbyterian elder who asked that his name be withheld from the public. The gift came through the annuity department of the Presbyterian board of church extension of which Rev. Paul G. Stevens is director.

Here's Chance to Get Free Mess of Fish

Come early and bring your gunny sacks.

The county game warden, Spence Turner, and his ef-fish-ient deputies, are going to give away 10,000 fish at the Chatsworth Reservoir, beginning at 8 a.m. today.

True, most of them are carp, but even a carp makes a good meal if one is careful about the bones. And only a hardened critic would carp at a mess of free fish.

It originally was intended to transport all the fish in Chatsworth to Puddingstone Reservoir, but at a conference of of-fish-als it was determined that Puddingstone might be overpopulated, and the net result was a decision to give the fish to the public that owns them.

"It is hoped that no one not actually in need will apply for these free fish," said Warden Turner, after he had explained that Deputy Warden John Doe would change his name to Richard Roe for the occasion. "We have been working all week transferring black bass and perch to Puddingstone, and Tuesday's catch will be the finish."

Wrigley Plans for House and Stables Ready

Plans for a rambling one-story ranch house and adjoining stables to be erected on the P. K. Wrigley Rancho on Catalina Island were completed yesterday. They have been drawn by Malcolm Renton and provide for a typically Alta Californian dwelling with red tile roof, hollow-tile walls, stucco finish and a spacious veranda, supported by rough-hewn timbers. The stables will be laid out in a quadrangle 600 feet below the house at the foot of a knoll known as Campo Blanco.

Mr. and Mrs. Wrigley, who are en route to Chicago to spend the holidays, propose to import a string of Arabian horses to augment the shipment of twenty-four blooded Palominos from the New Mexico ranges, which arrived last week.

PUBLISHER FAWCETT WILL ARRIVE FRIDAY

Capt. W. H. Fawcett, head of the Fawcett chain of publications, will arrive here Friday with his wife and official staff. He is traveling by motor from Minneapolis, the publication center of his magazines. After visiting with friends Capt. Fawcett will sail for the Antipodes from San Francisco on the 24th inst. He plans to hunt in Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand.

POLICE BOARD UNDER LENS

Grand Jury Calls for Records of Investigations; Culver City Case Also Looked Into

Secret records of the Police Commission today may be placed in the hands of the grand jury, now in the process of investigating municipal affairs, it was learned last night. That this move was contemplated was asserted following a visit to the grand jury room yesterday by Thomas James, formerly an investigator for the Police Commission and now a police officer on the Chinatown detail.

James, it was learned, was subpoenaed before the inquisitorial body yesterday and when he appeared was told to get records of various investigations he made for the Police Commission and return to the jury room with them today.

James, it was declared at City Hall, was once a strong supporter of Mayor Porter, taking an active part in the last mayoralty election and later being assigned to work with the Police Commission. After some months, however, Porter and James, it was said, disagreed and James was moved to the Chinatown beat.

A succession of witnesses, in addition to James, appeared before the jury yesterday. These included Mrs. Ann McCaughey of Culver City and her daughter Rosalie, 15 years of age, an inmate of the El Retiro School for Girls. The jury, it was declared, called Mrs. McCaughey and her daughter as they investigated the reasons why charges against men supposed to have been intimate with the girl were dropped.

In connection with the same case Harvey Kincaid and Earl Bobier, former Culver City Councilmen; Macey Bernard, once Chief of Police at Culver City, and Charles Burke, once a confidant of Mayor Porter, also were called as witnesses. Burke, it was learned, conducted an investigation of vice conditions in Culver City at the request of a motion-picture studio.

Arraignment of George Brown, Negro politician, and Reuben Scott and Bennie Kelso, Negro policemen, indicted recently for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, was postponed yesterday in Superior Judge Wood's court until next Thursday, when the defendants are scheduled to enter pleas to the charges against them.

EDUCATOR TO SPEAK

Dr. Albert Sidney Raubenheimer of the school of education of the University of Southern California is to address members of the combined Parent-Teachers' Associations of Beverly Hills tonight on the subject of "What is the type of control that can be justified so as to allow for the development of a self-choosing personality in the child?"

RADIOLOGISTS OPEN SESSION

Symposium Conducted on Physical Therapy

Radium Disclosed as New Aid to Beauty

X-Ray Equipment Monopoly Given Consideration

Among the many services which the science of radiology is performing, it was disclosed yesterday at the opening session at the Ambassador of the sixteenth annual convention of the Radiological Society of North America, is that of handmaid to beauty.

Its utility in this direction was told about by Dr. Benjamin H. Sherman of Hollywood, who explained how radiology is being used to eradicate defacing scars caused by burns or other injuries. Such eradication has not yet been found possible in all cases, he said, but success has been met with in many instances and the further development of the treatment promises great service in restoring the comeliness of men and women hitherto thought to be defaced for life.

SYMPOSIUM PRESENTED

The opening day of the convention was given over mainly to registration and welcoming of delegates. At 1:30 p.m. the first session was called to order by Dr. Robert J. May, president, and during the afternoon a symposium on physical therapy was presented by Drs. Willis S. Peck, Wilhelm Stenstrom, John S. Coulter, Sanford Withers, Ralph C. Walker, Charles F. Geschickter and Archer Hoyt and Jesse W. M. Du Mond of California Institute of Technology. Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins, leading world authority on bone ailments, conducted a "bone clinic."

Visitors and delegates alike spent a great deal of their time viewing and having explained to them the exhibits of new and improved radiological devices which have been gathered for display in conjunction with the convention.

INTERESTING DEVICE

Unusual interest was manifested in a simple little measuring device invented by Dr. Clayton R. Johnson, young roentgenologist on the staff of the Los Angeles General Hospital, which performs a hitherto impossible service of inestimable benefit to the medical and surgical professions.

It is called the stereo-roentgenometer and by its use the radiologist is enabled to determine with absolute accuracy the location and dimensions of any of the bodily organs or bones or of any foreign object, such as a bullet, in the body. An obvious use, Dr. Johnson pointed out, is the location of a bullet in the body, doing away with the necessity for tentative probing, but its most important service is being rendered, he said, in obstetrics, for by using this device the obstetrician can infallibly determine whether a Caesarean operation is or is not necessary.

While the outside public is not being shown any samples of radium, a large supply of this precious substance is being used in scientific demonstrations for the delegates. The largest individual supply of the substance on the Pacific Coast is a piece weighing 145 milligrams, worth $12,000, which is owned by Dr. Albert Soiland of this city.

ANNUAL DINNER

The counselors of the association held their annual dinner at the Ambassador last night, discussing problems of importance to their profession. The most important of these problems, it was declared by Dr. Edwin C. Ernst of St. Louis, who is president of the Radiological Institute of America, is an asserted monopoly in X-ray equipment, particularly X-ray tubes, by one company in this country.

This monopoly, he said, is being exercised not only through the ownership of original patent rights and a high tariff on European-manufactured equipment, but through forcing dealers to sign agreements to handle this company's products exclusively. The situation is of great importance to the public, Dr. Ernst declared, because it raises the cost of X-ray treatment and thus forces many people to be deprived of its benefits.

Dr. Leon J. Menville of New Orleans, State Director of Health of Louisiana, outlined a campaign of education to be undertaken by the society to protect the public against the operation of X-ray and radium equipment by any other than li-

SHUT-IN CHILDREN HAVE PARTY

Event Sponsored by Miss Chevaillier

Joy Giver Marks Birthday

Miss Faith Chevaillier and some of tots she made happy. Left to right, Dolores Serrano, 3 years of age; Ezequiel Canales, 2; Leandro Rivera, 3.

MISS FAITH CHEVAILLIER, known commonly as the Angel of the Jail and the Joy Giver, yesterday celebrated her eightieth birthday in typical fashion. In accordance with her annual custom she provided a party for the shut-in children in the wards at the General Hospital. She engaged the Meglin Kiddies to provide musical entertainment and then personally distributed refreshments and presented each child with flowers.

Miss Chevaillier won for herself the name of the Angel of the Jail because of the prison welfare work she sponsors. At regular intervals she arranges entertainments in the jails and at Christmas time she sees that each prisoner is presented with a gift. Her greatest treasure is the thousands of letters she has received from those she has befriended.

EVANGELIST TOO ILL FOR INTERVIEWS

Mrs. McPherson Described as Little Improved Over Condition of Last Week

Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple, yesterday was described by her business manager, F. C. Winters, as being too fatigued to stand the strain of newspaper interviews. Winters added in a verbal bulletin given late yesterday afternoon that the evangelist's condition is little changed since last week, but said she apparently enjoyed her appearance on the temple platform Sunday and that the experience had not harmed her.

Affairs of the McPherson home adjoining Angelus Temple apparently resumed a normal routine yesterday with the chains and locks which barred entrances last week missing, as well as the troop of guards.

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, at home in her cottage near the temple yesterday continued to demand a complete explanation of Mrs. McPherson's illness.

"I do not believe that Aimee is physically ill," she said, "and if that crowd of pay roll people who are keeping her in her room would let her alone. Sister would be back on the platform in a few days."

STREETER CASE DELAYED

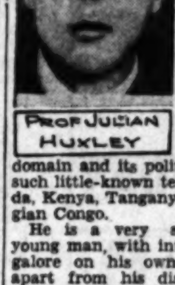
The case of Clarence C. Streeter, wealthy broker of Los Angeles, accused in three counts of evading the income-tax law, was continued yesterday by United States District Judge Hazel until February 1 to be set for trial, upon receipt of information that an offer in compromise is in progress.

AFRICANS DISCUSSED BY HUXLEY

Scion of Noble Name, at Ebell Club, Gives Glimpse at Dark Continent

BY ALMA WHITAKER

The scion of a noble name arrived in town yesterday in the person of Prof. Julian Huxley, M.A., grandson of the mighty Victorian intellect, Thomas Huxley, and son of Leonard Huxley, now editor of England's Cornhill Magazine. His brother is the distinguished novelist, Aldous Huxley. He came here primarily to address the Ebell Club on Central Africa, its natives, its domain and its politics. He took in such little-known territory as Uganda, Kenya, Tanganyira and the Belgian Congo.



He is a very serious, learned young man, with intellectual honors galore on his own account, quite apart from his distinguished forbears. His numerous scientific works include "The Individual in the Animal Kingdom," "The Stream of Life," "Essays in Popular Science," "Religion Without Revelation," "Animal Biology," etc., all of which are university reference works.

All the same he smokes American cigarettes and refuses to utter a teeny, weeny word of criticism against club women. Back East it was all universities . . . Princeton, Yale, New York, Boston, Johns Hopkins, Cincinnati, etc. . . . he being a professor at King's College, London, and a super-expert on zoology and biology. He stayed with his friend, Prof. Morgan of California Tech, in Pasadena, last night and will make two addresses in that city. He is about 33 years of age and likes mushrooms.

ZONING ACTION HELD UP

Action by the City Council upon the ordinance zoning for industry property in Stanford avenue between Washington and Twenty-third streets was deferred yesterday until the 23rd inst.

SKATE ROLLS UP TROUBLE FOR NEIGHBOR FAMILIES

The molehill of a quarrel over a little girl's skate assumed proportions of a mountain at the District Attorney's office yesterday when it was disclosed that the dispute over ownership of the skate had been taken up by grown-ups, one man being beaten over the head with a hammer until he was unconscious.

The story of the skate is told in a complaint filed against John L. Mitchell, who lives next door to F. W. Gaines of 336 East One Hundred and Third street. Mitchell is charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. Gaines was the victim.

The owner of the skate, according to investigators, is Margarette Hammill, who lives with her mother at 336 East One Hundred and Third street. And this is the story as told to officers:

Last week Margarette lost one of her skates. The house was turned upside down in a search for it without result. Sunday she spied the skate on the foot of a neighbor boy, a son of Mr. Mitchell. Calling her mother, Mrs. Margarette Corbett, the girl asked the boy to return the skate. He attempted to remove it, Mrs. Corbett states, but was unable to loosen the buckle, so she aided him and the skate was returned.

A few moments later there came a knocking at Mrs. Corbett's door. It was Mrs. John L. Mitchell calling. And Mrs. Corbett says the language her caller used was very strong and decidedly personal.

So a family council was held. F. W. Gaines, who also lives there, announced that Mr. Mitchell should know of his wife's actions, but Mr. Mitchell then was attending church. When Mr. Mitchell returned he was met by Mr. Gaines, Mrs. Corbett and her daughter. They told him the story of the skate and the informal call of Mrs. Mitchell.

Whereupon Mr. Mitchell announced that they were standing on his property and requested that they remove their persons at once. Mr. Gaines declared that he had accompanied Mrs. Corbett there and would not leave until she gave the word.

The complaining witnesses assert that Mitchell then went into his house, obtained a hammer and returned to the lawn, announcing that he intended to kill Mr. Gaines. And they also assert that he first smote Mr. Gaines on the nose with the hammer and then on the head, rendering him unconscious.

So the quarrel over a child's skate may send one man to the penitentiary.

STECKEL MAKES POLICE CHANGES

Fifteen Divisions Revised Into Three Areas

Captains Chosen to Serve as Acting Inspectors

Chief Fixes Responsibility to Subdue Crime

Separation of the fifteen police divisions into three distinct areas, promotion of three captains of police to acting inspectorships to command them, reorganization of the Central vice division for it to become a part of the Central police divisions and promotion of two detective lieutenants to acting captaincies was ordered yesterday as Chief of Police Steckel announced his police department reorganization in effect.

The three captains of police chosen to command the new areas are L. J. Amman, who has been in charge of Central division; A. W. Gifford, who has been assistant to Deputy Chief Davis in the traffic division, and J. D. Hubbs, who has been in command of the Georgia-street division.

OTHER CHANGES

The Central vice division, which heretofore has had supervision of the personnel of the vice squads in the various outside divisions, has been placed in charge of Detective Lieutenant D. McD. Jones, who during a recent leave of absence made an unsuccessful campaign to become Sheriff. This division, under the new plans, will cease to exist as a division and will be known as a squad under the supervision of the captain of Central division.

Acting Captain Walter A. Weyerman, who was appointed by ex-Chief Davis and has since been in command of the Central division, has been appointed head of a new department known as the supply and maintenance division. This will include the pistol range, the storerooms and the garage and transportation. The latter units were under the supervision of Capt. Clarence J. Sweeney for years up until the time of his retirement a month ago. Sergt. Eddie Barnes, who was Sweeney's assistant, was in temporary command.

PROMOTIONS MADE

Detective Lieutenant E. E. Hack and Police Lieutenant W. B. Hutchins were promoted to acting captaincies. Hack was placed in command of San Pedro, and Hutchins in charge of the Wilshire division. Capt. W. F. Backman, who has been in command of the Wilshire, will be in charge of the Georgia-street division.

To fill the vacancies left by the creation of the acting inspectorships, Capt. R. C. Combs is ordered transferred from University to Central division, Capt. Dan Long from San Pedro to University division and Bachman to the Georgia-street from the Wilshire division.

Definite creation of a department to be known as the communication division was also announced by the Chief. This will be in charge of Sergt. A. R. Ferguson, and will include supervision of telephones, teletypes, Gamewell system and radio. Ferguson has handled this work for the last two years exclusive of the radio, which has not yet been put into operation.

WILL WALK BEAT

C. C. Jackson, who has officiated in an honorary position of inspector of uniforms, has been transferred to walk a beat in the Wilshire division.

The license bureau, which has been supervised to a great extent by the Police Commission and police investigator for the commission in its actual operation, has been placed distinctly in charge of Sergt. Gene L. Gibson.

Other transfers include Lieut. Ernest F. Gleason from Central to Hollywood division, and F. F. Stevens from Georgia-street to Hollywood.

TERRITORY DIVIDED

In the allocation of the various police divisions into the three areas, Gifford will be in charge of No. 1, including Valley, Hollywood, Wilshire, West Los Angeles and Venice divisions. Hubbs will command No. 2, including Highland Park, Lincoln Heights, Hollenbeck Heights,

CRIME WAVE WASHES HIGH

November Felonies Outstrip All Records of City; December Starts With Added Impetus

Breaking all records in the history of the city for this class of violent crime, robberies during November totaled 273, according to figures given out yesterday by Police Statistician Cross. The highest previous record was 211, established in February, 1928. The total shows an increase of 136 when compared with 137 reported during October with one more day, and an increase of 146 when compared with the robbery total for November last year.

Burglaries during November last also established a new record, 628 being reported, as compared with 477 in October and 576 in November, last year.

That this month may even be more crime-ridden than November was indicated in the unusual early morning activity of bandits yesterday. From midnight until 1 p.m. seven robberies, in which one woman was tied up and beaten and two other victims bound and gagged, were reported.

The latest robbery occurred in the apartment-house of Mrs. T. R. Hughes of 5607 Virginia avenue, Hollywood. Two youths, on the pretext of looking at an apartment for rent, entered the rooms of Mrs. Hughes after she had opened her door. Once inside one produced a revolver while the other grasped Mrs. Hughes, tied her hand and foot with neckties and gagged her with a tea towel. They then ransacked the rooms and took $25 in cash.

Enraged at the smallness of the plunder, the pair demanded to know where their victim kept her valuables. When she denied having any they sought to make her talk by kicking her in the stomach. When she seemed about to lose consciousness the bandits fled.

B. Klies reported three bandits held him up in his second-hand store at 3905 Sunset Boulevard and, after beating him about the head while he was tied hand and foot on the floor, left with $60 in cash.

Juan Diego, night man in a garage at 1415 Alvarado Terrace, was the second victim tied up. Unable to obtain any money the two bandits who perpetrated the hold-up left with a patron's automobile.

Delivering milk at 6507 South Western avenue, F. S. Morris of 734 East Thirty-fifth street was held up by a lone bandit and robbed of $8.

Dressed in immaculate suits and light overcoats and wearing kid gloves, two "gentlemen bandits" held up L. I. Pace of 811 North Van Ness avenue, and A. A. Feldman of 1118 North Harvard Boulevard

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

ROCKNE is trying to give a thrilling imitation of a coach shivering with terror. He indicates that his Notre Dame team is coming out to get the beating of its life and that nothing remains except the funeral . . .

That seems to be football etiquette for coaches in these days. They all sound as though they were at a wake.

But it's all hooey, children. That Norwegian wouldn't believe that his team was beaten if it were the last minute of the game with a score of 74 to 0 against it and everybody in the ambulances except the program boys.

SHOCKING INCIDENT

The only way I can account for the rude photographer who interrupted Miss Greta Garbo's sun bath is that some scientist is trying to find out—by further investigation—whether Greta Garbo or the lovely Marlene Dietrich looks the most like Greta Garbo.

HENRY SPEAKS

Henry Ford says that prosperity will not return until the cost of the essentials of life comes down.

The truth is that conditions at the present time are more nearly normal than the period through which we have been living. We are trying to recover from a jag.

THE MORNING AFTER

We are back to the place where we can expect to work hard for money. If you can live for less than you get, you can save some and buy something that will net you a fair interest. The days when we bought property with the expectation of selling it for double before the next payment came due will never come again unless we have another World War and have our pockets full of money. Or what seemed like money and wasn't.

WHAT DID WE EXPECT?

The debauch of violent crime still continues. It would be amazing if it were otherwise. We can't send a whole generation to war—hold up to them the idea of violence as a noble career; then shut it off like a gas furnace by pressing a button.

THE GLAD GIRL

For one, I'm glad Aimee is back again. Life without her would be as an egg without salt. This time I hope she dives into the desert and comes up in the ocean. She makes the tame business of being virtuous more exciting than any other person who has ever been among us.

WHAT, AGAIN?

And now Senator-elect Davis has to be investigated. It has come to be a regular part of politics to be elected; and then to face shocked inquiries as to the cost of getting elected. The way the system is hooked up now, no one could possibly make the boat for the price the laws allow. But, anyhow, these investigations are good clean fun. Even if they mean nothing.

A RACE OF GIANTS

Discovery of the bones of a giant race in Mexico contributes another puzzle. We know beyond question that the men of the Middle Ages were much smaller than we are. Only the shrimps can get into medieval armor. But recent discoveries all over the Southwest indicate that there must have been a previous race who were about eight feet tall. Did they die off, or were these Goliaths exterminated by a race of smart Davids?

Among the leading civil actions the petition of H. B. R. Briggs, lbert Brown and Rodney Brink the Los Angeles Record for a rit of prohibition against Supe- or Judge Collier to prevent the rist from presiding at the Record ial for contempt of court. The titioners contend that Judge Col- er is disqualified by reason of ejudice. The contempt-of-court tion arose out of the publication numerous articles and cartoons iticising the grand jury and Dist.- tty. Fitts for their handling of e Julian Petroleum Corporation quiry.

The Record case was taken un- er submission July 3, last, but the der of submission was set aside ovember 3 and the case placed gain on the calendar for argument.

It is slated for tomorrow's session of the court.

OIL LAW ATTACK UP

Another important civil action is the appeal of Twin Bell Oil Syndicate, Second Twin Bell Syndicate and the Star Petroleum, involving an attack on the State's oil and gas conservation law. Points raised are substantially the same as those raised in an appeal by five oil concerns, headed by the Bandini Oil Company, to the District Court of Appeal, which action was decided for the State in an opinion handed down Saturday.

The first matter that will come before the court today will be the admission of fifteen attorneys to the practice of law.

BALDWIN STEER WINS AT SHOW

Barley-Fed Hereford Best in His Class

Same Breed Champions in Carlot Division

California Also Captures Shorthorn Honors

California took the spotlight in the judging of fat live stock yesterday at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards, when a barley-fed California steer was awarded the grand championship in this division at the fifth annual Christmas Live Stock Show and Rodeo, which closes Saturday night. The winning steer is Brainy Bill, a modern-type compact baby beef of Hereford breeding, raised and fed by the Baldwin ranch of Pleasanton.

The winning animal was entered by W. L. Bergstrom, manager of the Baldwin ranch, and will be sold at public auction in the fat cattle sale Thursday morning.

Herefords were also accorded grand championship honors in the carlot class, when the entries of Dan D. Casement of Manhattan, Kan., took this prize, repeating his performance of last year at the show. The cattle shown by Casement were pure-bred Herefords, raised by the Matador Land and Cattle Company, and purchased by Casement as feeder calves a year ago. They were fattened on a ration consisting mainly of wheat.

Championship in the fat Shorthorn division was won by the Kenwood Farms, Kenwood, Cal., while James B. Hollinger of Chapman, Kan., won the championship in the Aberdeen-Angus division, the latter also taking the reserve grand championship prize.

Other prize-winning steers were shown by Winterton Brothers, Woodland, Utah; Piedmont Land and Cattle Company, San Simeon; Dos Pueblos Ranch and Improvement Company, Goleta; W. D. Corley, Jr., Colorado Springs, Colo., and Banning-Lewis Ranches, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Prize-winning Shorthorn steers were shown by James Lund, Fountain Grove, Utah; Kenneth Wald and Angus Hardie, students at California Polytechnic School, San Luis Obispo, and Bob Irvine of the same school.

Aberdeen-Angus steer honors were divided by Rancho Del Monte, Carmel Valley, Monterey; Congdon & Battles, Yakima, Wash., and James B. Hollinger, Chapman, Kan.

CARLOAD DIVISION

In the carload fat cattle division, results follow:

Fifteen head, fat steers or heifers, 2 years, under 3 years—First, Herefords of L. O. Cutler, Visalia; second, Herefords of Bob Mason, Fort Worth, Tex.; third, Herefords of L. O. Cutler.

Fifteen fat steers or heifers, 1 year, under 2 years—First, Herefords of Dan D. Casement, Manhattan, Kan; second, Herefords of Marigold Ranch, Redlands; third, Aberdeen-Angus steers of Condgon & Battles.

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon that John Elliott of Brush, Colo., a 16-year-old high school boy and a member of the Future Farmers, had won first prize in an essay contest in which more than 1000 boys participated from ten western States outside of California. Woodrow Peterson, Malad, Idaho, placed second; Doyle Cardon, Smithfield, Utah, third; Warren Gray, Raton, N. M., fourth, and Eugene Olson, Pine Bluffs, Wyo., fifth.

The subject of the contest was "History and Development of the Live Stock Industry in Producing a Better Meat Supply."

JUNIORS STIR INTEREST

The junior activities in connection with the live-stock show are creating much interest. On Friday, about 600 delegates to the Future Farmers convention will arrive in Los Angeles. They are bringing two bands—one, the Future Farmers' Band of thirty-six pieces directed by Frank Mancini, and the other representing the California Polytechnic School of San Luis Obispo.

Judging of registered Hereford exhibits will commence this morning and should be completed by tomorrow afternoon. A feature of the judging will be held in the rodeo arena this evening, beginning at 7 p.m., when the two large classes, including the best five head for the coveted solid silver Hotel Biltmore trophy, and the best five head of bulls, will be judged.

Tomorrow will be Long Beach Day at the show, when a large delegation headed by Frank F. Merriam, newly chosen Lieutenant-Governor, will visit the show. The Long Beach Municipal Band, city officials, members of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and school heads, will be in the party. School children will also visit the show from the beach city, a half-holiday having been offered for this purpose.

Exciting events at the rodeo performances both yesterday afternoon and evening continued to draw record-breaking crowds.

ADVERTISING CLUB WILL HEAR JUDGE OF LIVE STOCK

The live-stock industry will form the background of discussion today at the weekly meeting the Advertising Club in the Biltmore. Henry W. Marshall, publisher of the Lafayette (Ind.) Courier-Journal, who is here as a judge at the fifth annual Christmas live-stock show and rodeo at the Union Stockyards, will speak on "The Value of the Farmer to the City;" and J. A. McNaughton, executive director of the show, on "Where Can I Get a Good Steak?" Entertainment will be provided by the show's cowboy band and trick ropers.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY WILL MEET TONIGHT

Arthur M. Ellis and two other authorities on local history, J. Gregg Layne and Frederick Baker, will combine forces tonight to give the Historical Society of Southern California a picture of Maj. Horace Bell, famed Los Angeles character and author in the 'fifties. Their lectures will include many anecdotes and reminiscences. The Historical Society meets at 8 o'clock in the Board of Education rooms, Chamber of Commerce, and will hold a business meeting and election of officers preceding the talks.

CONTROL OF OIL FLOW DEFENDED

Court Grants Injunction Against Canceling Lease Due to Conservation

Upholding the principle of oil conservation in California fields, Superior Judge Gates yesterday granted a temporary restraining order against cancellation of an agreement by which the Texas Company is operating four oil wells on a lease controlled by Mrs. Alta Vedder, in Kern county.

The Texas Company sued, complaining that it had drilled four wells, and that Mrs. Vedder was threatening to cancel the lease because the wells were not allowed to flow at capacity, to her great damage. The wells were making only 20,000 barrels a month, it was testified.

The Texas Company, admitting that the wells were "beaned down," asserted that this was in line with the State and Federal conservation policy which attempted to limit California production to 590,000 barrels a month.

Plaintiff was ordered to post a $20,000 bond, to protect the defendant, in case the judgment of the court was reversed.

WAVE OF CRIME WASHES HIGHER

as Pace stopped his automobile at Bronson and Melrose avenues. Threatening their victims with revolvers the pair stepped into the machine, forced them to drive through Hollywood district for half an hour, robbed them of $38 and then stepped out near a vacant lot to make their escape in a waiting taxicab.

Held up by two bandits at Olive and Temple streets, Lupe Rodriquez of 1356 La Couvreur avenue, Wilmington, was forced to drive to Elysian Park and there was kicked out of the machine after being robbed of $40 and the car.

ON BUSY CORNER

Shortly before noon L. Tartas picked up a man waiting for a street car at Sixth and Main streets and drove him to Sixth and Alvarado streets. As the passenger announced his intention of leaving he suddenly drew a pistol and robbed Tartas of $48. Then he made Tartas step out of the machine. The bandit drove off in a heavy line of traffic as Tartas made an attempt to commandeer another car to take up the chase.

Before midnight C. M. Manley reported being held up and robbed of $20 while sitting with a girl friend in his car at Colton and Douglas streets. L. A. Case reported two bandits robbed him of $25 in his grocery at 4344 Mercury avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Parrish reported they were robbed of $15 near their home at 1006½ Graham avenue by two bandits.

A bandit held up Samuel Babrob in his malt shop, 5562 Hollywood Boulevard, yesterday, locking him in a rear room and departing with $15.

BURGLAR WOUNDED

Awakened during the night by four men attempting to break into his grocery store at 6009 Holmes avenue, which also serves as a postoffice, George B. Frank reported to the Sheriff's office that he believed he wounded one of the men. Frank, who occupies quarters in the rear of the store, told officers he fired at the legs of the men as they fled when discovered, according to the report. One of the men fell and had to be assisted to an automobile in which the four made their escape, he said.

Theft of clothes and various household articles valued at $551 from the residence of J. S. Morgan, 2515 West Eighty-fourth Place, is being investigated by the Sheriff's office. Entrance to the house was made by cutting a screen on a bedroom window and forcing the window open.

DRUG STORE ENTERED

Deputy sheriffs also were asked to find a burglar who during the week-end broke into the drug store or Joe Cralego, 1500 East Florence avenue, stole $55 which had been concealed and escaped in the proprietor's automobile, which was parked in the rear of the store.

Burglars obtained articles valued at $60 from the warehouse of Balfour-Guthrie Company, Ltd., at Rivera but failed to take anything after entering the real-estate office of Robert J. Hughes at 4400 East Ninth street.

SEALS GIVEN TO AID JOBLESS EX-SOLDIERS

Hollywood Post-War Service League yesterday announced a donation from the Hollywood Boulevard Association of 1,000,000 Santa Claus Lane Christmas seals. The seals will be sold to provide funds for unemployed veterans. Shortly after they were placed on sale at the Buddy Shop, conducted by the league at 6756 Hollywood Boulevard, a batch of 100 was purchased by Mrs. Mary M. Haver of Pasadena, State hospital chairman of the American War Mothers. The Buddy Shop is operated each year from Thanksgiving to Christmas and offers tooled leather gifts, beadwork, scarfs, hooked rugs and other articles of handicraft fashioned by the veterans. Proceeds from all sales are turned over to the makers.

Detective Badge Won by Officer Without Test

Efforts of Ralph A. Sears, a patrolman assigned to duty with the vice squad, to become a detective without the formality of passing the civil service test, were successful yesterday, when his appointment as detective lieutenant was approved by the Police Commission.

The Civil Service Commission, after a request by the Police Commission, November 25, last, cleared the way by providing for the promotion without a test on the ground that Sears was doing detective work for Watts when that district was annexed and should have been listed as a detective instead of a patrolman.

Beating Story Wins Divorce

Bruises were inflicted upon her by her husband, Mrs. Hazel Elma Dickerson yesterday complained in divorcing Charles Otto Dickerson.

"He threw me out of my sister-in-law's home and told me to get out August 21," complained Mrs. Dickerson. "I was bruised for two weeks. Frequently he was intoxicated and stayed out all night."

Superior Judge Neville granted her a decree and ordered Dickerson to pay $20 a month for the support of her daughter June, 8 years of age.

PASTORS CLASH ON SHULERISM

Methodist Preachers Flay Broadcaster's Tactics

Radio Board Finally Asked to Dismiss Complaint

Belief in Free Speech Said to Motivate Action

A request to the Federal Radio Commission to dismiss complaints against Rev. R. P. Shuler's broadcasting station, KGEF, was voted by members of the Methodist Preachers' Meeting at First Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday, following a stormy session in course of which several ministers accused Shuler of falsehood and slander and declared that unless the text of the report of the committee on resolutions and morals were modified (which later was done.) they would not vote for its adoption.

The original report was submitted by a committee consisting of Revs. F. D. Mather, chairman, and Clyde Crist and R. Fred Moseley. Only Messrs. Mather and Crist had signed the report, Mr. Moseley having refused to affix his signature.

PROTESTS VOICED

The last word of the report had hardly left Mr. Mather's lips when half a dozen ministers rose, simultaneously, to protest its adoption.

"I will not vote for the adoption of this report unless some one is appointed to visit Mr. Shuler and obtain his assurance that in future he will tell the truth," said Dr. E. E. Helms, pastor of the First Methodist Church. "I never knew a man to tell more untruths than did Mr. Shuler concerning Arthur Briggs. The fact that he dragged me into his radio talk is incidental."

FREE SPEECH BACKED

"Because I believe in free speech, I shall vote for adoption of this report, but I insist that it be amended," said Dr. F. M. Larkin, secretary of the State Church Federation. "Mr. Shuler has said outrageous things from his station and has maligned good church members in a way that is inexcusable. However, we must not be divided in this matter, for division among us would furnish ammunition to the foes of Mr. Shuler and of free speech.

"Let us stick to the fundamental principles of the right of free speech and not drag in details. If Mr. Shuler violates the law, let him be brought into court and sent to jail again, if necessary, but let us not go on record as being against his operation of his radio."

STATEMENT CHALLENGED

"Mr. Shuler is nauseating to me in many ways, but I am an advocate of free speech and so I shall vote for adoption of the report," said Dr. Carl F. Seitter.

The original report stated that "it is a significant fact that Mr. Shuler is solidly opposed by business and political crooks, bootleggers and their sympathizers, the underworld and other powers of darkness," that all of these "would rejoice if KGEF were silenced," but that "the continuance of Mr. Shuler's license would be approved by the great majority of citizens of Southern California."

"It is not true that the renewal of Mr. Shuler's license would meet the approval of the great body of Southern Californians," said Dr. Larkin.

REPORT AMENDED

After a lengthy discussion the report was amended to read as follows:

"To the Federal Radio Commission: The Southern California Methodist Preachers' Meeting, a representative organization of more than 200 members, respectfully requests your honorable body to dismiss complaints against Rev. R. P. Shuler's broadcasting station, KGEF, and to renew his license to operate the same. We make this request in the interests of justice, morality and the freedom of speech. While we do not approve of some of Mr. Shuler's utterances, we are compelled to acknowledge that by his radio talks he has accomplished much good in exposing schemes and practices of business crooks, designing politicians and corrupt officials and in stimulating the constructive endeavors of multitudes who are interested in the promotion of morality, civic righteousness and good government in the community and State. The continuance of said license will be, in our judgment, an act of justice which will have the approval of that great body of citizens of Los Angeles and Southern California who are most interested in the diffusion of morality and righteousness and the maintenance of good government."

ONE MAN SIGNS

The secretary was instructed to sign and attest the document before a notary public and to send one copy to Mr. Shuler and another to the Federal Radio Commission at Washington.

Following the meeting, Lucius Dale appeared at the City Club, at a meeting of the county and municipal government and the State affairs sections of that club, with a petition for signatures favoring the continuance of Mr. Shuler's license. One man signed the petition.

E. E. CLARK, NATIONALLY KNOWN, DIES

Monrovia Man, for Thirty Years on Federal Boards, Victim of Long Illness

Edgar E. Clark, 74 years of age, member of numerous national commissions during the last thirty years, died last night at his home in Monrovia following an illness of a year.

EDGAR E CLARK

Clark received his first commission appointment in 1902 when he was named on the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, and on August 28, 1906, was appointed by President Roosevelt to the Interstate Commerce Commission, where he remained until 1921. He also was appointed to the Eight-Hour Commission in 1917.

Clark resigned from the Interstate Commerce Commission to form the present law firm of Clark & La Roe of Washington, D. C., his former home.

He was an active member of the Masonic order, B.P.O.E. and was Grand Chief Conductor and Grand Senior Conductor of the Order of Railway Conductors from 1890 to 1906.

Born in Lima, N. Y., February 18, 1856, Clark spent the earlier part of his life in New York State, where he attended Williams College and was given the degree of LL.D.

After years of active service in Washington, Clark, in broken health, moved his family to Monrovia a year ago last June, where he purchased property for a permanent home at 337 North Canyon Boulevard.

He leaves, besides his widow, Mrs. Agnes Clark, three daughters, Mary B. Clark, Monrovia; Mrs. L. A. Kling of Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. L. E. Atlins of Juneau, Alaska, and three sons, Edgar E., Jr., Monrovia; Frank Clark of Floral Park, N. Y., and Marshall Clark of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Funeral services will be private and will be conducted from the home tomorrow at 2 p.m. The body will be sent to Cedar Rapids for burial, and will be accompanied east by the members of the family in Monrovia.

SHARP GAIN IN INDUSTRY PREDICTED

Chrysler Sales Manager Foresees More Car Sales During Coming Year

For the first time in history, more cars were junked than were produced during the last year. And the automotive industry — indicator of general business—is due for a sharp turn for the better in 1931.

J.W. FRAZIER

These statements were made here yesterday by J. W. Frazer, general ales manager of the Chrysler Corporation, who arrived in Los Angeles from Detroit. He is registered at the Biltmore and is on a tour of the country investigating local markets and business conditions.

Frazer is extremely optimistic over business conditions in general and the automotive industry in particular. "Past records show that the automobile business goes in cycles," he asserted. "Every three years shows a new peak of production. The year 1929 topped all automotive production records.

"People have money, as shown by savings bank statements and those things which have become necessities must be replaced. They are going to be replaced in 1931, so we look for a very definite increase in automobile sales."

Frazer pointed out that increased buying by the public has already started in the East. "Factories are now extremely conservative in the purchase of raw materials," he said. "Retail stores and automobile dealers are not carrying the large stocks they did a few months ago. Most factories have not a surplus of stocks on hand. So when buying magnifies and orders start pouring into manufacturing centers, the wheels of industry will have to turn fast to fill even a minimum of orders."

Accompanying Frazer here is Fred Golden, regional manager for Chrysler, and several California Chrysler distributors. He conferred yesterday with P. H. Greer, distributor for Southern California.

Wife Ordered to Pay Spouse Back Alimony

Two 72-year-old divorce contestants were in Superior Judge Smith's court yesterday quarreling over the $120 back alimony that Mrs. Helen P. Reed owes Edward George Reed, and the upshot was that the court followed the recommendations of Commissioner Doyle and ordered Mrs. Reed to pay her husband the money. No more alimony need be paid before the case goes to trial, however.

Mrs. Reed has been contending that her income was from separate property, in which Reed claims a community interest. Reed pointed out that he is unable to work and has a $43 medical bill to pay.

Annual Fair for Benefit of Children's Hospital on Today and Tomorrow

The doll fair, sponsored every year by a group of matrons of the city for the benefit of the Children's Hospital, will be in progress today and tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Lee Allen Phillips, 4 Berkeley Square, with Mrs. J. B. Lippincott and Miss Florence O. Hunt in charge.

About 150 dolls of every conceivable variety have been assembled for the occasion, in addition to which there will be doll furniture, doll accessories and home-made candies included in the sale. A special attraction will be grab bags for both boys and girls.

During the two days of the fair, members of the Children's Hospital board of directors and board of managers will receive visitors and tea will be served during the afternoons. The public is invited to attend and bring the youngsters.

Cotton Fields Work Offered 500 Families

Five hundred families are needed for employment in the cotton fields of the San Joaquin Valley, it was announced yesterday by J. J. Fallin, superintendent of the Department of Labor's employment service, 901 North Alameda street.

Applicants must have means of transportation and must supply their own bedding and cooking utensils, but shelter will be provided free by the employers. The picking season will continue until February, 1931.

Further information may be obtained by phoning MUtual 0442.

French Music to Be Featured

A concert program never before given at Bullock's will be presented by Dr. Bruce G. Kingsley tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock on "French Music in Symphony—Opera and Dance." It includes such famous numbers as "The Tambourin" by Rameau, "The Caliph of Bagdad" by Boieldieu, "The Roman Carnival" by Berlioz "The Death of Pelleas" from Debussy's "Pelleas and Melisande" and "La Valse" by Ravel.

Following a custom which is proving highly successful, a demonstration will be given by a leading instrumentalist on the French horn—showing just how it is played and rendering well-known examples of music written especially for that instrument.

Trial Started in Crash Suit for $50,000

Trial of suits for damages totaling $50,000 directed by Jennie B. Graham and her mother, Mrs. Ada I. Graham, against the Yellow Cab Company began yesterday before a jury in Superior Judge Wilson's court. Mrs. Graham is 72 years of age and her daughter is 27. Each asks $25,000 damages, asserting personal injuries.

Miss Graham complained that she and her mother were standing in a safety zone in Fifth street between Flower street and Grand avenue February 1, last, when they were struck and knocked down by a taxicab owned by the defendant.

Widow Files Will Contest

Joseph L. Fox, who died November 1, last, was of unsound mind when he made his will, according to charges in a contest by the widow, Mrs. Mae Weiss Fox, 621 Gramercy Place, on file yesterday.

Mrs. Fox lists as aberrations a bequeathal of $50,000 to the decedent's brother, and $5000 each to two nephews. The residue of the estate is in trust, the income going to the widow while she lives, and on her death to her son, Roger Weiss Fox.

Today's Bible Text

To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in His throne.—Rev. iii:21.

WELL HEELED

Prior to 1825 all women's shoes were made without heels. Talk about the good old days! Women have risen several inches since then.

PLACE IN THE SUN

A man who weighs 200 pounds on earth would weigh 5400 pounds on the sun. This accounts for the ambition of many lightweights to get a place in the sun.

CALIFORNIA PRODUCTS

Iowa raises her corn. Michigan grows her beans and automobiles. Massachusetts makes boots and shoes and brains. But California produces vast quantities of oranges, talkies, sunshine and reckless drivers.

BLOODY BATTLE

The San Francisco Call-Bulletin reports a bloody battle in that city in this lurid and fascinating fashion: Policeman Lee Grant was shot in the stomach; John Marcinoak, Indiana Harbor taxicab driver, was shot in the hip; and a trusty at the jail was shot in the excitement.

SILENT ANNOUNCER

Street cars in Los Angeles are to have the names of streets announced by a device which will permit the printed name of the street which the car is approaching to appear like titles on the screen. For those who do not hear well, for those who are absented-minded and for all who are annoyed by shouting voices, what a blessing that this very much-needed information is to be given silently.

NEW SIGNS NEEDED

In addition to the little tin warnings, "No canvassers, agents or peddlers," which are now tacked on doors of office buildings, the person who endeavors to do any constructive or creative work in his own home will soon need some sort of drastically worded screed to ward off the various sort of proselyters who go from door to door trying to convert the world to their own point of view. A really courteous person dislikes to slam the door of his own house on these thieves of his time.

G. B. S. RECANTS

In recanting, as the cables inform us, a large part of his old Socialist doctrines and acknowledging that his views were mistaken ones, Bernard Shaw has made a statement that is as commendable as it is surprising. As leader of the Fabian Society's campaign for a Socialist Utopia years ago, Shaw wrote essays recommending the reconstruction of society "in accordance with the highest moral principles," among them being government rather than individual or corporation rule of utilities.

In a lecture before the Fabian Society in London the other night the older and wiser Shaw admitted that the Fabians had been wrong in staking their hopes on a parliamentary system which would carry out their schemes, when all the system could do was to prevent things being done. This dictum will be regarded by many as a body blow to the Laborites.

Fabians are a mild sort of Socialists compared to the Marxians, as they advocate no revolution and are not so keen for demanding for the workingman the full product of his labor. Still they are strong for a Utopian condition in which the land and industrial capital would be "emancipated from individual and class ownership and be vested in the community." This is Communism, of course. The scheme has been tried in large and small ways, but never successfully. Weak, tottering, moribund Russia is the most conspicuous example of it. Little wrecks by the wayside have been Brook Farm, Sinaloa, Fountain Grove and Llano.

Right truly could human nature say with Brahma, "They reckon ill who leave me out." For in the failure to recognize the demand of human nature lies the inevitable fate of all Socialistic plans. Shaw, like other old-time Socialistic leaders, sees this now if he never glimpsed it before. His advocacy of Socialism made quite a stir in radical circles forty years ago. What will now be said in those circles about his admission that the idea is a mistake?

GASOLINE PRICES

Tentative assurances that Southern California gasoline prices are shortly to be reduced will, when they are realized, prove very welcome to Southern Californians who have been helping to support their own huge oil industry at considerable cost to themselves and with a minimum of grumbling. When transportation costs and tax are considered, these prices have been the highest in the United States; with transportation alone considered, the second highest; with only the price paid by the motorist considered, the third highest. That they are out of line is plain from any analysis of the figures, particularly when it is considered that here we produce nearly a third of all the petroleum and a fifth of all the gasoline used in the United States.

Either the prices are too high in this, one of the principal producing centers of the nation, or too low elsewhere, and the vast surplus stocks on hand do not indicate that, from a merchandising standpoint, the price is too low anywhere. From a manufacturing standpoint it may be. That this surplus is due to uncontrolled and uneconomic production in the past is true enough, but of no significance in the present discussion; which is not concerned with how the surplus came about, but with how best to dispose of it. Commercial history seems to indicate that the best thing to do with a surplus is to put a price on it that will move it.

At the same time the oil men are entitled to more sympathy than criticism. The leaders of the industry recognize more clearly than anyone else that the industry needs to put its own house in order, that oil and gas wastage require to be stopped, that production beyond requirements is bad for all concerned, including, in the long run, the public. The principal obstacle in the way of improvement is the Sherman law, which prevents the sort of combination or agreement which would be most effective in restoring order. Whether the benefits of the Sherman law in some other directions outweigh the detriment it has been to the oil business, and what ought to be done about it in the interest of the general welfare, is a difficult question. It may be that the oil industry ought to be considered a public utility and placed under special rules. Certainly it has many elements of a natural monopoly, and it is well known that competitive control works badly in the case of most natural monopolies.

This is getting rather deep into general theory, however, for present purposes. It is probably sufficient now for the public to realize that the oil business is not as prosperous as it should be, and that the public would be better served were the industry on a sounder basis. Such sounder basis cannot be reached through destructive methods, except at a high price. Too deep a cut in gasoline price would be such a destructive method, entailing the elimination from the picture of the weaker companies now doing business on the margin of profitable operation.

Specifically, gasoline is now selling in Los Angeles at 20½ cents a gallon, tax paid, equivalent to a base price of 17½ cents. In Atlanta, where the tax is 6 cents, the retail price is 21 cents, but the base price only 15 cents, and in Helena, where the price of 23 cents includes 5 cents tax, the base is 18 cents. But Montana must pay the freight out of this. In Los Angeles the freight is a negligible item and our base price of 17½ cents is consequently actually higher than Helena's. Detroit and New Orleans have a base price of 9½ cents; Austin, Tex., is paying 11, St. Louis 11.4, Baltimore 12.2, Denver, San Antonio, Toledo and Albuquerque 13, Indianapolis 13.9 and Chicago 14. New York pays 14.3, Cleveland and Cincinnati 15. All but one or two of these points are far removed from oil fields and their gas prices include shipping costs.

The price of crude oil is now very low and there seems no real reason why this should not be reflected in a lowered cost of filling the local motorist's tank.

THE LIVE-STOCK SHOW

California fruits, of endless variety, are celebrated all over the world and honored in their homeland with shows and county fairs from January to December. This week, however, public attention is concentrated, through the Los Angeles Live Stock Show and Rodeo, on our oldest and still biggest food industry, live stock and meat packing.

This week at the Union Stockyards our people may learn something of the romance of the old days on the range in the spectacle of the rodeo and a great deal they had hardly sufficiently appreciated about the modern extent of the stock-raising business and the importance of the meat-packing industry to Los Angeles.

We know that the vegetarians have made progress in the last few years and the consumption of fruit and garden truck has been a large factor in the modern scheme of a properly balanced diet. Yet in the garden spot of the world Los Angeles is still one of the largest meat slaughtering and distributing centers of the country and our livestock industry has an annual cash turnover of more than $400,000,000.

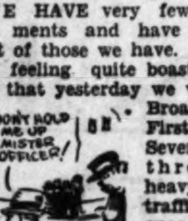
The Christmas Live Stock Show and Rodeo supplies plenty of ocular evidence on the pride our western livestock raisers are taking in the breed and quality of the cattle, sheep and hogs brought into Los Angeles from every State west of the Rockies, to be distributed in the shape of juicy joints, prime cuts and well-cured ham and bacon to a people still strongly carnivorous. Moreover, the public at large is manifesting an interest in this December exposition which is certain to encourage the stockmen to keep up the reputation they have won and make the tag "shipped from California" mean as much when affixed to a car of packed meat as to a box of navel oranges or a case of canned golden cling peaches.

Stimulating interest in an industry as old as the State of California before the coming of the gringo, and as up-to-date in its methods as the big centers of Chicago and Kansas City, was the hope and intent of the sponsors of the live-stock show. It is a great satisfaction to find the people responding so enthusiastically. On the spectacular side the rodeo is sufficiently exciting to account for the crowds visiting the Union Stockyards this week. The business value of such a show is, however, its finest recommendation.

THE LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

WE HAVE very few accomplishments and have to make the most of those we have. Just now we are feeling quite boastful over the fact that yesterday we walked down Broadway from First street to Seventh street through the heavy shopping traffic and never once had to stop for a traffic bell. So we're going to thrust aside our native modesty for a moment and admit that when it comes to obstacle walking we are pretty good.



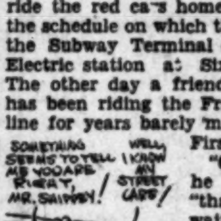
DON'T HOLD ME UP MISTER OFFICER!

We have it reduced to a science. So long as there is a choice of two ways to go, we keep on the opposite side of the street from our destination. Then if we come to a crossing and find ourself stopped by a traffic signal we cross to the side for which we are bound, but if we're not stopped by a signal we continue on the wrong side to retain that choice of routes till we need it. Or, if we are in the middle of the block and see that the signal is going to be against us when we reach the next corner, we look for a dotted-line crossing in the middle of the block.

By following those simple rules, we often are able to catch a street car which we would miss if we didn't. Each traffic signal holds you up forty-five seconds and if you are so unfortunate as to be held up by three of them between your office and your home-bound street car you are likely to be out of luck.

Some Are Duller Than We Are

We are by no means the only genius to figure out the quickest way home, but it is surprising how many people who have offices downtown and must ride the red cars home do not know the schedule on which their cars leave the Subway Terminal or the Pacific Electric station at Sixth and Main. The other day a friend of ours who has been riding the Franklin-avenue line for years barely missed a car at First and Hill.



SOMETHING SEEMS TO TELL ME YOU ARE RIGHT, MR. SHIPPEY!
WELL I KNOW MY STREET CARS!

"Confound it!" he grumbled, "that means a wait of fifteen or twenty minutes, and the wife wants me to hurry home."

"Then take this Hollywood Boulevard car," we suggested. "It probably will beat the car you missed to Hollywood and Western."

He'd never thought of that, nor of the precious minutes which might be gained by taking the first Hollywood Junction car that came along on Hill street and transferring from it to the Santa Monica Boulevard or Hollywood Boulevard car one wants.

That probably is why he is a mere successful business man while we are a wealthy reporter.

All the same, we believe anyone who regularly rides the cars out of the Subway Terminal and fails to acquaint himself with their leaving schedule has to pay for his carelessness by at least two good hours a month spent in irksome waiting. Rush-hour traffic ruins the schedules of all surface cars in the downtown district, but most cars out of the Subway Terminal leave on the dot.

Count Pennies, But Not Time

We don't know how many Scotchmen there are in Los Angeles, but there are lots of Angelenos who will walk a block to save a cent and a quarter.

Most of us buy tokens on the yellow cars, which makes a ride cost us 6¼ cents, and some of the rides one can take for that sum are astonishingly long. On a railroad train charging standard rates they would cost close to half a dollar. But the red cars will carry you the length of one zone for 5 cents. "Our short-haul downtown traffic has increased noticeably," a red-car conductor tells us. "Every day one man from the Hall of Records walks up Temple street to catch my car, rides down to Fifth, and then walks back to Broadway. He says he can't bear to pay more than 5 cents for a six-block ride, so he walks two blocks to save 1¼ cents. And he figures it pays, now that the price of half-soles has been reduced so much."

Courtesy That Paid

We don't know how many Scotchmen there are here, but we have the goods on one extremely thrifty fellow. He happened to be in Paris when we were and often rode in the same motor bus with us. Over there he was the soul of courtesy, always letting all the women and elderly people get into the bus ahead of him and nearly always having to stand. Now he often rides the same street car we do, swinging on before the car stops and scrambling for a seat. We were mystified by the change in him till we recollected that those who have to stand in the Paris motor busses pay only second-class fare Such an innovation in this country would bring consolation to a great many who have to stand, and might bring back courtesy.

Joshua Little Says

It's especially in street cars that women admire fine, upstanding men.

The wages of sin is too often just a fat lawyer's fee.

Many a man gets a reputation as an epigrammatist just because his companions are not well-read enough to know he is a plagiarist.

A lot of us forget that if we improve our positions more than we improve ourselves we merely become misfits.

If the crime suppressers want a slogan they might try this: What must be cured can't be endured.

I simply can't see any wisdom in hoarding up your money now in order to have it when it won't buy half as much.

The trouble with the average American is that he's clever enough to earn a living, but not wise enough to live within it.

THE SECRETARY OF LABOR

President Hoover's nomination of William M. Doak of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen as Secretary of Labor is reported likely to precipitate a fight in the Senate against his confirmation on the part of the American Federation of Labor. The President has not been intimidated so far by the threats of federation reprisals, and it is not likely that he can be. The assertion of President Green of the federation that only a federation man should have the post, is not backed up by a good argument. It is a part of the federation assumption that it "represents" labor, whereas, in fact, it represents only about 6 per cent of the working men and women of the country, less than 10 per cent of whom are organized into any sort of union.

The Secretary of Labor should function for the benefit of all labor, not merely organized labor, and a much better case can be made out for appointing him from the 90 per cent of free workers than from any organization.

It is an open secret that Mr. Green wanted the post himself and that his second choice was President Lewis of the United Mine Workers, who is his principal backer in federation politics.

Doak, who has been legislative representative of his brotherhood at Washington for some years, is recognized as a man of ability. He is neither radical nor fanatical. If the appointment had to go to any sort of an organization man, he is probably the best choice.

THE LOQUACIOUS OYSTER

Once more the oyster season is in full blast.

Oysters are becoming more popular from year to year. Their influence and radius are widening, possibly due to better methods of refrigeration. The modern oyster does not become discouraged and give up the ghost as well as other things as soon as he did in the good old days. He can retain friendship longer.

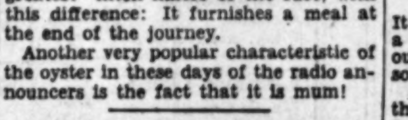
Housewives especially fall for his seductive possibilities. He dives into more turkey dressing, swims in more soup, flops into more frying pans and can make sawdust and crackers taste more like ambrosia than any other permeating institution. He helps housewives hold husbands tighter by their apron strings than any other accessory they have.

Ninety per cent of the cooks are said to include oysters in their menus. There was a time when this delectable Baltimore resident was a rare visitor inland.

Occasionally he would swim through a kettle of soup at a church supper and the remains could be sold at considerable per. The oyster went to church more in olden days than any other animal.

Today it is widely traveled, even though it wears its backbone on the outside of its pants and has no legs to speak of. It has become one of the greatest hitch-hikers of the race, with this difference: It furnishes a meal at the end of the journey.

Another very popular characteristic of the oyster in these days of the radio announcers is the fact that it is mum!



THE HYPOCHONDRIAC

By James J. Montague

I have got an incurable failing;
  I am seized with the shudders and shakes
When acquaintances tell me they're ailing
  And describe all their pains and their aches.
I grow gloomy and morbid and sour,
  Though before I've been cheerful and gay,
For I fear that inside of an hour
  I shall feel the same way.

If I go to consult a physician
  And he says, when he's counted my pulse:
"I find you're in first-class condition"
  I am fearful of fatal results.
His manner seems furtive and stealthy,
  As I afterward grimly recall,
And why, if he thought I was healthy,
  Did he count it at all?

I suffer from trembling disquiet
  Whenever my eyes chance to meet
An article treating of diet
  And listing the things I should eat.
I am sure the right path I've forsaken,
  And I fidget and worry and brood
With the thought that I may have partaken
  The wrong kind of food.

I wake in the nocturnal stillness
  And flounder about in my bed,
While the fear of some unforeseen illness
  Keeps buzzing around in my head.
But it's probably not overeating,
  Which brings all these ills in its train;
One weakness I have that needs treating;
  And that's in my brain.

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

BY FRED HOGUE

I

The history of the world is measured by events, not by years. There have been generations in almost every country and race that have lived, suffered and died without leaving a single trace on the surface of the earth, or on the surface of human thought to show that they had lived.

Other generations have set their stamp so deep on the face of time that their memory outlines the centuries.

Some generations are remembered by what they builded, by the foundations they prepared for future prosperity; but more generations are remembered for what they destroyed.

With human beings, destruction moves much more rapidly than construction. What has been a century in building may be destroyed between two suns.

An oak or pine that has been a century in maturing may be felled by ax or saw in an hour.

I recall seeing one afternoon in the Blue Ridge Mountains a cyclone destroy in ten minutes a pine forest older than the memory of man.

Growth is slow and continuous; destruction swift and violent.

History can be divided into cycles and cycles into decades; and it is not unusual to find one decade supply vastly more material to history than another century.

The progress of civilization has been called the progressive dominion of man over natural forces. Man has been learning to command nature.

But how does man command nature? Before man can command he must learn to obey. In fact, man does not command natural forces; he only directs them. It is by obeying natural laws that they can be led to perform a human service.

We call scientists men who discover natural laws and their reciprocal relations. After the scientist comes the inventor, who applies these laws to human service.

Newton was a scientist; but he invented nothing. Watts, Whitney, Edison discovered no hitherto unknown laws; but they gave to the discoveries of others a practical application, beneficent to the human race.

There are still philosophical dissertations over whether the inventors have done more good for the peoples of the earth than evil. It seems invariably the case that whenever one inventor finds a beneficent, constructive application of a newly discovered law, another inventor finds a destructive application for the same law.

Only the future can disclose whether our present civilization will be destroyed by its own deadly inventions.

Inventors have been conquering space, only to enable one people the more quickly to invade the territory of another.

Inventors have conquered time; only to give us more time to waste.

But no scientist, alas, has been able to discover the secret laws of happiness; and no inventor has been able to conquer happiness.

Our Declaration of Independence affirms the right of each individual to the "pursuit of happiness." We have invented express trains, automobiles and airplanes, in order to pursue happiness the more swiftly. But happiness is fleeter than the swiftest airplane. Happiness has never been captured by pursuit.

Happiness does not consist in material things, but in thoughts. It is not a condition of fact, but a state of mind.

How often have I seen happiness perched smiling on the hood of a dilapidated flivver, while a limousine rushed by at a speed of sixty miles an hour in the vain pursuit of happiness.

As I look back on my own life, I discover I was happier when I made my first dollar, than when I made my first $10,000.

Diogenes in his barrel was perhaps happier than Alexander in his palace.

Happiness is not a commodity. It is not bought and sold. It is a ray of sunshine that steals out of the infinite to nestle in some human heart.

Dollars can buy smiles; but they cannot buy hearts. Happiness is at no man's beck and call.

During the last two decades the civilizations of both the Orient and the Occident have plunged into an abyss in a blind pursuit of happiness.

We have been following phantoms, will-o-the-wisps.

Some have imagined that happiness was to be attained through the establishment or destruction of certain governmental institutions.

Some have imagined happiness was to be conquered with the sword.

Some have fancied that happiness was to be found in wealth, others in great learning.

Some have sought happiness in dissipation, in seduction, in intoxication.

Men and women have lied, deceived, tortured, mutilated, burned, plundered, murdered in the vain search for happiness.

How many imagined in the joy and exultation of battle on land and sea to find happiness! But, when the blood of the slain and the mutilated rose up to heaven, they came, one by one, to agree with Sherman that "War is hell."

I recall a great capitalist, who was also a great philanthropist. I imagined in my folly he must surely be happy. I found him weary in mind and haggard in body. He told me that, in making his millions he had ruined his health; that he was happier in youth with a good digestion than in middle age with all the power and the illusory bodily comforts his millions could command.

I recall a prima donna of great beauty and charm, who danced on the hearts the round of the hours, who was equally envied and adored. I imagined then that happiness was a bird with scarlet wings and that it must surely be nesting in her breast.

When I filled an appointment for a press interview, I found her eyes, not tender, but flashing. She was in a furious rage over a favorable press notice of one of her rivals.

I interviewed an eminent scholar, celebrated alike for his wisdom and his probity. Here was wealth in intellect that no break in the stock market could destroy.

A secretary was reading to him. He had worn his eyes almost to blindness in the pursuit of knowledge. Something was said about the progress of learning. I recall his saying that education might render individuals more worthy, but it would not make them happier.

We spoke of China. He told me the Chinese rice farmer was happy, because he was content, until a young ass came along and told him he was being robbed by the government and that he should go out and kill somebody about it.

I recall reading some months ago a clever brochure circulated in Hollywood entitled, "How to be happy, though rich."

Motherhood is blessed; but more than half the tears of the world fall from the eyes of mothers.

Happiness has been sought in glory. Napoleon strode across Europe, treading on the ruins of a dozen thrones; only to end a prisoner on a rocky isle in the Atlantic with a fatal case of diabetes.

Yet happiness exists. There is no human heart into which at some moment in life happiness does not beam. And there is no human heart in which it makes its permanent abode.

For happiness and sorrow are comparative states of mind. Each completes the other. It is possible to be happy though rich and possible to be happy though poor. Who has never known much can be happy on little; but who has been happy on little will surely find wealth a burden before his years end.

Happiness is the absence of sorrow. So shyly does it nest within our hearts that we are not aware it has been with us until it departs. From my own experience I can say that I was always happiest when I was not aware of being happy.

By a peculiar contradiction one can give to another a happiness that he does not himself possess; and I am convinced that in service the most substantial happiness is to be found.

Faith in something is a great incentive to happiness; and I am of the opinion that religious faith is and has been a great incentive to happiness. But through another contradiction, the thing in which we believe may be false; but until we discover that we have been deceived, our illusion in the false can give us just as much happiness as though it were true.

Perhaps we have more moments of happiness through our illusions than through any other source. To make us happy, it is not important that something should be true, the essential is that we shall believe it true.

The more one strives to define happiness, the more apparent it becomes that there are no rules for happiness. The nightingale is said to sing its sweetest tunes with its breast against a thorn.

The saddest face may suddenly be wreathed in a smile, and as Southwell wrote, "the saddest birds a season find to sing."

Happiness is the sunlight of the heart and the starlight of the soul. But old Socrates, rendered pessimistic by his wisdom, defined happiness as "unrepented pleasure."

Happiness, like glory, may have but an hour, perhaps only a moment; but to know one hour of genuine happiness makes life worth the living.

Happiness comes as a solace, as a reward; for, to know happiness, one must first have experienced pain.

It is not true that happiness is where we find it; for happiness is not to be found. Happiness finds us.

We are placed in the world with the expectation that we shall be of use to the world, shall perform some necessary service; for nature in its economy makes nothing without a purpose. And it is to nature abhorrent to find a vacuum in a living skull where a brain should be.

Bank Holiday Weather

The August Bank Holiday takes its place as one of the most important events on the calendar for the reason that it seems to concern the greatest number of people. When the weather is not propitious, it is a calamity and it has happened so frequently that the day is marred by unfavorable weather that an effort is being made to have the date changed. During the last sixty years there has been a burst of cool weather at the end of July and early August, and the chances of its manifesting itself in any given year are nearly three to one.

In seven years out of the last eleven the August Bank Holiday has been either thoroughly wet or unsettled, threatening and cool in the southeast of England, and this year was one of the worst.

Platinum Ingots Vanish

London police are searching for eight ingots of platinum weighing 120 ounces which disappeared from a van while it was en route to deliver the platinum to a firm. The ingots were wrapped in brown paper and every once in a while the driver would glance at the paper package. When he arrived at his destination the package was gone.

MERCY SLAYING TRIAL NEAR END

Final Arguments in Steele Killing Due Today

Defense Basis of Unproved Malice Assailed

Jury Expected to Receive Case Tomorrow

Final arguments in the trial of Mrs. Ruth Weimer, charged with the "mercy killing" of her sister, Mrs. Mabel Steele, will be made in Superior Judge Fricke's court today.

With the conclusion of the testimony of Dr. Samuel D. Ingham, defense witness, Nathan O. Freedman, attorney for Mrs. Weimer, rested his case. George Stahlman, prosecuting the case, then made his opening argument to the jury.

DEFENSE ATTACKED

Stahlman declared that the defense theory, that it had not been shown that Mrs. Weimer had killed her sister maliciously, was untenable because the law holds that when no malice is proved, then implied malice applies. He also questioned the value of Mrs. Weimer's defense that she suffered from a sudden attack of emotional amnesia and did not recall the killing of her sister.

After Stahlman finished his opening argument, Attorney Freedman spoke in behalf of the defense. Today he will resume his argument. The closing arguments probably will occupy the entire court day and the case will go to the jury tomorrow.

SANITY TEST DUE

If Mrs. Weimer is found guilty, she will be subject to another trial to determine her sanity. This is necessary because the defendant pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity.

Mrs. Weimer is charged with killing her sister because she had been ill for many months and constantly prayed for death while grieving over her two children who were with her estranged husband.

POLICE BOARD RID OF CAR

Further efforts by Commissioner Coe to restore the police car assigned to the Police Commission to the department were successful yesterday when the commission voted to turn the sedan over to Chief of Police Steckel for him to assign it where it is needed.

For several years efforts to have the car turned back to the department were opposed by former President Thorpe, now no longer a member of the board.

CONTINUANCE GRANTED ACCUSED TAX ADVISERS

A continuance until the 15th inst. was granted to two Hollywood income tax advisers, accused of aiding in making false income tax returns for motion-picture actors, yesterday by United States District Judge Hazel. Samuel T. Curson, adviser for Richard Dix, and I. Ira Angus, adviser for Earle Foxe, are the two accused.

ELDERLY MAN GIVES BAIL

Arthur W. Welton, 75 years of age, appeared before United States Commissioner Head yesterday and gave $500 bail for his release on a charge of possession of apparatus for a still and of a small amount of liquor. The defendant waived hearing and will await a grand jury hearing.

Husband Says He Was Only Meal Ticket

"Se didn't marry me; she married $1200 a month," Robert M. Arthur, manager of a cosmetics concern, yesterday told Superior Judge Scott and won a divorce from Louise D. Arthur on his cross-complaint. Mrs. Arthur had filed suit for separate maintenance but failed to press it to trial. They married September 20, 1923, and separated May 19, 1928.

Arthur said that when business slumped his income dropped.

"Then she told me she had married me for a meal ticket, and that I had proven a poor one," he asserted.

Judge Scott approved a property settlement agreement whereby Arthur is to pay Mrs. Arthur $125 a month and give her their automobile and a $10,000 paid-up insurance policy.

ORDINANCE ADOPTED

The ordinance of intention for the opening and widening of Beachwood Drive between Franklin avenue and Hollywood Boulevard, thus breaking a traffic bottleneck, was adopted yesterday by the City Council. The date of protest was set for January 8.

LIEN SHARK MAY LOSE HIS TEETH

Legislators Make Report on Plans for New Laws

Limitation of Assessments to Be Fought For

Other Changes Advocated for Street Improving

A limitation upon the assessments, which can be imposed on property for public improvements is one of several proposals submitted in the preliminary reports of the Legislative Committee on the Revision of Street Improvement Laws, which conducted its final hearing yesterday afternoon in the public session room of the Board of Public Works at City Hall.

A considerable crowd of attorneys, organization representatives and individuals appeared before the committee, and several expressed opinions on the report. Most of these were unanimous in support, although some suggested minor alterations.

The tenor of the report is to throw additional protection about the property owner, without, however, nullifying all efforts at providing paving and improving of streets.

The report is signed by Assemblyman Woolwine, Los Angeles, chairman; Senator Lyon, Los Angeles, vice-chairman; Assemblyman Lyons, Los Angeles, secretary; Senator Weller, Glendale; Assemblyman Little, Santa Monica; Senator Murphy, San Francisco and Assemblyman Arnold, Los Angeles.

NEW LAW SUGGESTED

The committee recommends adoption of a State law whereby excessive improvement charges can not be placed against property. The suggestion is made that the city or county supervise the circulation of improvements petitions, these petitions to contain a larger amount of information than at present.

It is proposed that in the larger cities and counties, commissions be created with power to investigate and determine and report on the advisibility of improvement projects.

The committee also recommends that legislative bodies make a more comprehensive study of projects before initiating them to prevent overlapping assessments and similar evils.

The elimination of the ad valorem plan in special assessments is advocated, with the imposition instead of specific charges on individual properties, as well as the repeal of all improvement acts except one covering openings and widening of streets, one calling for street improvements, and one for acquisitions.

REPEALS ADVOCATED

The repeal is advocated of the legal provisions for suits of foreclosure upon delinquent assessments, such procedure to be carried out through the city or county treasuries instead. It is also recommended that collections be made through the government treasuries instead of by the contractor. These provisions, it is understood, will do much to eliminate the "lien shark."

The committee also calls on the Legislature to change the gasoline tax acts to give the municipalities a share in the income, now going to the State and counties alone.

It is proposed that where streets of more than sixty feet in width are constructed, the excess be financed from general funds instead of by assessment district.

The committee also calls for reduction in delinquent penalties, so far as possible, the elimination of technical language in property descriptions, to extend the term of improvement bonds, and a means of notifying property owners of contemplated changes of grade of streets, so they may have an opportunity to file claims for damages.

Chairman Woolwine will present the final report to the Legislature when it meets January 5, in Sacramento.

Extract Toping Cited by Wife Gains Divorce

Flavoring extracts quenched her husband's thirst, Mrs. Maybelle Peagley Reeves yesterday testified in Superior Judge Scott's court, where she got a divorce from Lohman E. Reeves, paperhanger.

"He drank vanilla extract, lemon extract, almond extract and stomach bitters," testified Mrs. Reeves. "He was away from home last New Year's Day and later told me he spent the day with his former wife and that she was the best friend he ever had. Last July 7 he drove off saying he was going to the ranch. He was gone several days. Later I learned that he was jailed in San Bernardino for intoxication and reckless driving."

Judge Scott granted her a decree.

Dick Ferris, Still 'Only 38,' to Celebrate

Dick Ferris, promoter and clubman, will celebrate another birthday on Thursday in his apartments at the Engstrum. He still will be "permanently 38," having refused to pass that figure for many years.

Ferris abandoned the stage to promote such projects as Los Angeles' first airplane meet, the city's leading taxi company and various other enterprizes. At one time he headed his own stock company at the Philharmonic Auditorium, with Florence Stone, then his wife, as leading lady.

Film Director Sued by Wife

Alice Glazer, wife of Benjamin Glazer, motion-picture director, yesterday sued for divorce on grounds of mental cruelty. The couple have lived apart for almost a year.

It is asserted in the complaint, which was filed by Attorney C. O. Bacon, that Glazer embarrassed his wife by refusing to appear with her in public places. It was stated a property settlement has been made out of court.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the lovely affairs of recent date was the dinner with which Mrs. Thomas Lee Woolwine and her sister, Miss Mary E. Foy, entertained Thanksgiving Day at the home of the former, 814 South Lucerne Boulevard, the especial guests of honor being Admiral Frank H. Schofield, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet of the Pacific, and Mrs. Schofield and Capt. Harry E. Lackey, commanding the flagship U.S.S. California. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Neher, Mr. and Mrs. Remington Olmsted, Remington Olmsted, Jr., Samuel Foy Olmsted and Thomas Lee Woolwine, Jr.

Miss Ardiane Olmsted, who is attending Stanford University, did not come home for the holidays.

The Schofields have been frequent visitors at the Foy home, during a friendship which started when Admiral Schofield first visited this coast as ensign aboard the cruiser Baltimore, flagship of the squadron for special service which was at San Diego during the historic Cabrillo celebration.

In 1905 Mrs. Schofield visited at the Foy home in San Rafael Heights, accompanied by her son Perry after their return from the first trip to Guam, and later Mrs. Schofield joined Miss Cora Foy on a trip with the Sierra Club to Mt. Rainier, after which they went to Bremerton for a visit.

The holiday was enjoyed in many pleasant reminiscences, as the families have many pleasant memories in common.

Olympiad Ball

One of the outstanding pre-Lenten events, following shortly after the Christmas holidays, will be a great gala ball which is planned to stimulate public interest in the tenth Olympic Games to be held here in 1932.

While the affair is to be given under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus of Southern California, it will be sponsored by a large number of the Southland's most prominent men and women, many of whom will serve on the various committees, to be formed for handling of details.

Among the society leaders sponsoring the event who will head the list of patronesses are Mrs. Edward Laurence Doheny, Mrs. Alfred J. Pryer and Mrs. Arnold Burkelman.

Although details of the plans for the festive entertainment and ball are still in the hands of the sponsors, it is understood that the ball itself will be featured in a brilliant setting of pageantry most appropriate to the games, representing the Realm of Olympia presided over by King Zeus and his Queen Olympias, surrounded by members of the royal court.

Sorority Tea

Saturday afternoon the Misses Beatrice Bickel and Thelma Evans entertained the Delta chapter of the Kappa Psi Sorority at a bridge-tea at the Hollywood Knickerbocker Hotel. Guests included Mmes. Erma Walters, Ann Van Noy, Helen Jordon, Rose Fredericks and Misses Marie Basso, Alice Clark, Jane Dickson, Irene Dehler, Evelyn Edlund, Katherine Heck, Jeanne McCarthy, Helyn Williams, Dorothy Wagenback and Mary Wilson.

Clark-De La Marr

The Wee Kirk o' the Heather was the scene of a pretty wedding recently, when Miss Gladys Edna Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Haight of Hollywood, became the bride of Glenn De La Marr, son of Mr. and Mrs. John De La Marr of Salt Lake City, Utah. Rev. Franklin L. Gibson of St. Anthony's Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, officiated.

The bride was charming in ivory satin, princess model, white satin slippers, long tulle veil with white satin cap. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Assisting the bride were the Misses Ruth Fletcher, Dorothy Jappel, Genevieve Clark, all gowned in pastel shades of chiffon, and carrying pastel shades of sweet peas and pink roses. James Milton Webb served as best man. The ushers were George W. Campbell, Jr., and Thurman Colgrove.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. De La Marr motored south for a honeymoon.

Bridge Luncheon

Miss Martha Ellis, daughter of Mrs. G. P. Ellis 4806 Elmwood avenue, was hostess to seven of her classmates at Marlborough School at a beautifully arranged bridge luncheon recently in the French Lounge of the Hollywood Knickerbocker Hotel. Low mounds of fall flowers carried out the decorative motif.

Volker-Sullivan

In the presence of immediate relatives and close friends, Miss Dolly Anna Volker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Volker of Iowa, became the bride of Laurence Joseph Sullivan, son of Mrs. Margaret Sullivan of Boston, recently at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, with Rev. Paul Luther Miller of Glendale officiating

The bride was lovely in a white satin grown, a long tulle veil, cape effect, and bandeau of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Vera La Verne Conklin gowned in nile green lace, princess model, was maid of honor. Frank Sullivan, brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man.

After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will be at home to their friends at 2943 Leeward avenue.

Candle Light Tea

Pi Beta Phi Sorority will hold a formal Christmas candle light tea for its alumnae at the home of Mrs. P. M. Young 1846 North Harvard Boulevard on Saturday afternoon the 13th inst. at 2 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged by Mrs. C. H. Jeffries and will include Christmas songs by John Claire Monteith, concert baritone and well-known teacher. Mr. Monteith will sing carols in English, French, German and Russian. Miss Meriam Brownstedter will give a Christmas reading.

Mrs. B. C. Gerwick of Berkeley, province vice-president will be guest of honor. Those who will receive are: Mmes. P. M. Young, Vernon Wright, Warren T. Smith, and Miss Gail De Wolf. Assisting will be Mmes. H. G. Hayward, F. H. Beach, Irving H. Prince, Stanley Chambers, E. C. Carman and Miss Mary Hubbard and the past-presidents, Mme. John D'Aule, Ward Henry, and Walter Burbank.

Daughter Welcomed

Felicitations are being received from many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stephens Jones of 347 South Highland avenue upon the birth of a daughter early this week at the Good Samaritan Hospital. The little baby girl will be named Frances after Frances Howard (Mrs. Sam Goldwyn) a sister of Mrs. Jones (Constance Howard.)

Savoy Hotel Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Archie L. Mayo of Los Angeles who are on an extended European trip, arrived recently at the Savoy Hotel in London from Paris. They will return to Paris before sailing for New York.

A container filled with salt and pepper, well mixed, is convenient for the invalid's tray. It eliminates an extra shaker and is easier for the sick person to handle.

BRIDE - TO - BE FETED BY SISTER

Marriage Date of Twin Not Yet Set

(Murillo for Western Press Service)

Miss Charlotte Culver and Mrs. Myron E. Packard

ONE of the loveliest affairs of recent date was the beautifully appointed luncheon and bridge with which Mrs. Myron E. Packard (Catherine Culver) entertained at her home in Sherbourne Drive in honor of her twin sister, Miss Charlotte Culver, whose engagement to Dr. E. S. Safarik was announced recently. The bridal motif was effectively stressed in all the decorations and appointments, and a profusion of fall flowers and ferns adorned the luncheon tables. Twenty guests were bidden.

Both Mrs. Packard and Miss Culver are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Culver. Miss Culver was graduated from Hollywood High School, while her fiance attended University of Michigan and University of Chicago. No date has been set as yet for the wedding.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CREAM OF ALMOND SOUP

Blanche and grind or pound one-half a pound of almonds, cover them with two cupfuls of milk and let them simmer slowly for five minutes. Melt one tablespoonful of butter and blend with it one tablespoonful of flour, but do not allow it to bubble. Add one cupful of milk and stir and cook until slightly thickened. Then add the almond mixture and simmer again until creamy. Remove from the fire and add one-half a cupful of cream, season with salt and white pepper.

BEEF LOAF

Take two pounds of ground beef, add to it the well-beaten yolks of three eggs, three tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter or shortening and one-fourth of a cupful of soft bread crumbs, one-half a teaspoonful of kitchen bouquet, two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, one-half a teaspoonful of grated lemon rind, one tablespoonful of grated onion, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Mix all together thoroughly, place in a baking dish, pour over a fourth of a cupful of melted butter, and half a cupful of boiling water. Place in a moderate oven and bake for forty minutes.

POACHED EGGS WITH FRIED TOMATOES

Take rather large tomatoes and cut them in slices one-half an inch thick. Add three tablespoonfuls of butter to a saute pan, fry the tomatoes in this and season with salt and paprika. Fry the same number of slices of bread that have been cut round in butter, place on a hot platter a slice of the fried bread, on top of it a slice of fried tomato, and on top of that a carefully poached egg. Add to the pan in which the tomatoes were fried two tablespoonfuls of cream, one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoonful of mushroom ketchup, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, and a teaspoonful of flour. Stir until thick, then pour over the eggs.

CUCUMBER JELLY SALAD

Two cupfuls of water, one-third of a cupful of diced celery, a seasoning of salt, paprika, one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice, a few drops of tobasco sauce, one medium-sized onion, one-half of a clove of garlic, one bouillon cube, two level tablespoonfuls of gelatin, two tablespoonfuls of cold water, four medium-sized cucumbers. To the two cupfuls of water add the celery, seasoning and onions, thinly sliced and the garlic finely chopped. Cook gently for fifteen minutes, strain and to the two cupfuls of liquid add the bouillon cube, and the gelatin that has been soaked in the two tablespoonfuls of cold water. Peel the cucumbers and chop them fine, press out all of the moisture, place the gelatin mixture in a cold bowl and as soon as it starts to set, add the cucumber pulp, rinse individual molds with cold water, pour the mixture in them, chill thoroughly, place on lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

EVERY WINTER TAKES ITS TOLL

A winter never passes by without a few deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning, and this in spite of the repeated warnings given in newspapers and other periodicals. This gas gives very little warning of its approach, for it is colorless, odorless and tasteless. It may form during the burning or combustion of any kind of fuel containing carbon.

Among these fuels may be listed natural and artificial gas, coal, charcoal, petroleum and gasoline.

As some of you may know, an atom of carbon becomes oxidized or burned by combining with two atoms of oxygen to form CO2. This combination is called carbon dioxide, and is the same kind of gas, that you exhale with your breath. This gas (CO2) is colorless, odorless and tasteless just the same as carbon monoxide (CO) gas, but it is not poisonous in the same way. The one atom of oxygen left off of the CO2 produces the dangerous CO. This important extra atom of oxygen is left off when not enough oxygen reaches the carbon while it is burning. Whenever any of the fuels which might produce carbon monoxide are used, it is important that either a large supply of oxygen reaches the burner, or that the fumes are carried away by a flue from the room where you are, out into the open air.

Sometimes when the air is cold outside, people have made the mistake of trying to warm up their automobile motors in closed garages. This is one of the kind of mistakes that one rarely makes twice. The victim is not usually aware of anything wrong until he is unable to rescue himself. Fortunate is he if someone rescues him. Otherwise, the newspapers will next day tell about another death from carbon monoxide poisoning.

Cooks sometimes suffer from partial poisoning by having the pots too close to the gas burner so that an incomplete combustion of the gas takes place. Small open heaters in bathrooms and bedrooms sometimes cause poisoning when the air intake is partly closed.

There is little warning of danger. A few full breaths of air containing this gas may bring about unconsciousness. Partial poisoning produces general weakness, dizziness and headache. If carbon monoxide is present in sufficient quantity, unconsciousness follows, the skin assumes a livid color, the pulse becomes rapid and weak, and sometimes convulsions occur. When a coma has lasted twenty-four hours, death is almost inevitable. Even after recovery there may be serious bronchial or nervous complications.

One affected with this poisoning should be immediately taken into the fresh air, and if unconscious, be given artificial respiration just the same as if drowned. The fire department should be notified, for most fire departments have an apparatus for giving a mixture of oxygen and carbon dioxide, which has proven most effective for this condition. After the patient recovers, he should be given a moderated diet of alternate feedings of orange juice and milk at two-hour intervals for a few days, before the regular diet is employed. The patient should be encouraged to take deep breathing exercises. One usually takes some time to fully recover as the gas has combined with the hemoglobin of the blood and destroys its oxygen-carrying power. Even after the victim has recovered in the fresh air, he should be carefully observed for a time because of the serious blood changes which have taken place.

Home Helps

Woolens will be lovely and soft if rinsed in the same temperature water as that in which they were washed.

A wooden spoon is a splendid utensil for cake mixing, as it is so much less tiring for the arm than a metal spoon.

An amusing face pasted on the bottle of bitter medicine will help the youngster forget the nasty dose. Just a little psychology.

Nuts can be chopped quickly and satisfactorily by rolling firmly with a rolling pin. Saves washing that tricky food grinder, too.

This baby has made an average gain of six ounces weekly for the last six weeks, which knocks the idea of underfeeding smartly in the head. The only stray bit of evidence that leads to any conclusion is that he cries after the orange juice feeding. Suppose you halve the amount of orange juice and give it immediately after, instead of right before the feeding. Give two feedings of it, at 9 and 5, instead of just at 9. His late afternoon crying might be caused by discomfort, or it is possible with even this splendid gain to find baby less satisfied after the afternoon feedings, than earlier in the day.

TOO MANY CLOTHES

Our leaflet on "Why Babies Cry After 6 P.M.," in your case 5 p.m., might clear up the mystery. I would try a small complementary feeding, just in case hunger is the cause. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for the above leaflet, please.

One thing is certain, baby is wrapped as if he were ready to embark on a trip to the North Pole. Vest, band, shirt, hose, diaper, petticoat and dress! And most of them woolen. No wonder he sweats and has a constant cold. Take off the band, for after the navel is healed it has no further usefulness. I would suggest, too, that you replace the knitted band with an all-cotton one and let the single bit of wool be in the shirt or vice versa. The petticoat, especially if it is flannel, could be dispensed with.

Keep the room temperature no higher than 70 deg. and take baby out daily if the sky is clear and he has no temperature.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Treatment of Shoes

Alternate different pairs of shoes if you wish them to last.

Never wear shoes when in need of repair. Have them mended before they are hopeless.

Have your shoes polished regularly so as to remove dirt before it has worked into the leather and caused real damage.

Consider what you need most when purchasing shoes and don't wear dancing slippers to work and expect them to last as long as a business shoe.

Fine Lace

Very delicate lace can be washed without mishap or strain upon it if put in a Mason jar and then the jar partly filled with warm water and reliable soapsuds. Screw on the lid and shake vigorously for several minutes. Rinse just as carefully and dry by placing between two towels for a while and then spread out on one towel in the sun. Pull into shape gently instead of ironing.

A Small Pan

Never use a large pan for omelet or the eggs will spread and the omelet become tought and thin. A deep pan is ideal if you are not fortunate enough to own a regular omelet pan.

seemed to him that his heart thumped so that Reddy Fox must hear it. Would Reddy turn his head and look at that old log, or would he go on? It seemed as if he never would move. Once he started to turn his head as if to look toward the place where the young Muskrat crouched in terror, but just then Jerry Muskrat squeaked again from farther down the Laughing Brook and close to the bank. Reddy moved forward swiftly, eagerly, soundlessly, a picture of craft, alertness and stealth.

He passed close to the upper end of the very log to which that terrible trap was holding that helpless young Muskrat. The scent of Reddy filled the young Muskrat's nose. Yes, indeed, that was a tense moment. It was a terrible moment. Then it was over. Reddy had passed on, intent on catching that Muskrat who, to judge by the sounds, must be on the very edge of the shore.

As a matter of fact that is just where Jerry Muskrat was. He was running along the very edge and taking pains to make a noise doing it. All the time he was watching and listening for Reddy Fox It wouldn't do to allow Reddy to catch him on land. So he gradually led Reddy farther and farther down the Laughing Brook and away from the helpless young Muskrat. At last he slapped the water sharply with his tail and dived in deep water. He knew that Reddy would know that that was an alarm signal and that every Muskrat within hearing would thereafer be on guard.

Reddy stopped short and a look of disappointment replaced the eagerness in his expression. Then he turned and trotted away toward the Green Meadows. For the time being that young Muskrat was safe. Jerry swam back swiftly.

WOMAN'S PLACE FINALLY FIXED

Debate Judges Hold Sex Best as Home Maker

Club Members Argue Moot Question to Finish

Mother-and-Teacher Idea of Functions Wins

BY MYRA NYE

A hotly contested debate by two well-known Los Angeles women before a large audience of women in the Playhouse yesterday resulted in victory for the old-fashioned theory that women are of much more service beside their own hearths than in business or the professions.

MRS AMELIA JOHNSON

Three prominent men of affairs in Los Angeles took their courage in their hands and decided the debate. They were Ivan Kelso, Orra Monnette and Gary Fitzgerald. In deciding that woman's place is in the home they were quick to explain they were not voicing their personal opinions, but merely passing judgment on which arguments were more convincing in the debate.

MRS LOUISE WARD WATKINS

Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins, member of the Friday Morning Club, and mother of several children, took the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That Women Are More Valuable in the Home Than in Industry or the Professions." Mrs. Amelia Johnson, deputy City Prosecutor and mother of one child, took the negative. The debate was under the auspices of the Woman's City Club.

Mr. Monnette, speaking for himself and the other judges, said the manner of delivery, the response of the audience, the arrangement of the material by the two debators and the logic of the arguments were the elements influencing them in their decision.

WOMAN'S FUNCTIONS

There are only two basic functions for a woman, according to Mrs. Watkins, and she named them as motherhood and teaching. A mother must be a teacher to her children, she said, and education would advance greatly if all women teachers were at least in heart mothers. Aside from these two professions Mrs. Watkins declared that women, as a rule, are not preeminently successful. Even in literature, she said, there are only a half-dozen women who are supreme, surpassing men.

"The tired business man employs tiresome business women because he can get them cheaper than men," she declared, refuting Mrs. Johnson's argument that a woman out in the world can come home refreshed to entertain her children and to be a good companion to her husband.

SAUCE FOR GANDER

Mrs. Johnson, in presenting the negative side, asked why some of the men who have income enough without their jobs should not give up as well as women.

"Why shouldn't women who can earn them, have luxuries as well as the idle wife whose husband has wealth? Why penalize marriage?" she said.

The debate became a heated one at times with women from the floor participating. One of the debators declared that woman has the right to seek happiness where she can; that she should not be denied marriage because she can earn more money than her prospective husband and that now, as always, women seek husbands. "Now for the first time the chance of marrying the boss is raised fully 50 per cent," she said.

ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Mrs. Robert D. Shields, president of the club, presided over the debate and introduced the speakers as well as the judges. Mr. Monnette delivered an address on the unemployment situation, saying that all are talking of it too much and too often and that it is not half so bad as most people think. Ike Sewell of the Junior Chamber of Commerce spoke on "The Airway Express," which the chamber is sponsoring.

FUND VOTED FOR COUNTY FLOOD WORK

Seventeen Projects to Cost $45,000 Launched for Jobless Relief

Work will begin immediately on seventeen different flood-control projects, according to an announcement yesterday by E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of the county flood control department, following the action of the Board of Supervisors in appropriating $45,000 to pay the costs.

The new work, which consists chiefly in the building of check dams in the area in the Malibu mountains recently swept by fire and along the bed of the Los Angeles and San Gabriel rivers, will retain approximately 125 men in employment and place into service at least 125 more, Eaton said.

Under ordinary circumstances the work that is about to be done would not be started until next summer, but it is being rushed by the county at the present to help relieve to some extent the unemployment situation. The work as outlined was at the request of Supervisor Shaw, head of the charities department of the county, who has requested a survey of all work in every department of the county.

ALUMNI GATHER IN HOMECOMING

Annual Trojan Get-together Now on for Four Days

Sororities and Fraternities Keeping Open House

Program Includes Dedication of New Building

The seventh annual homecoming of alumni of the University of Southern California opened yesterday with all sorority and fraternity houses keeping open house for returned members, a reunion tea in the Herbarium room for the graduates of the department of botany, and a reception and informal tour of the new Physical Education Building last evening, followed by a dance in which students and "old grads" mingled.

Today's program is to be marked by the formal opening of the new Physical Education Building, with the board of trustees, the women councillors of the institution, the faculty, and administration taking an active part in the event. Also at 8 p.m., in Bovard Hall a debate open also to the public, between S.C. and University of California will be staged.

The Trojan Amazons composed of sophomore and junior co-eds of Southern California, will entertain the alumni at a tea tomorrow afternoon, and at 8 p.m., a program of "Musical Meanders" will be presented by the college of music with former students as audience guests.

A men's smoker is scheduled for tomorrow evening, also, in the men's gymnasium of the new Physical Education Building, at which Tom Lieb, football coach at Loyola, will proxy for Knute Rockne of Notre Dame as guest speaker of the occasion. Joe Brown will be master of ceremonies, assisted by Cliff Edwards. Guests will include Benny Rubin and Norma Shearer. Carl Wirsching, chairman of the 1930 Trojan alumni homecoming, and Merritt Adamson, president of the S.C. General Alumni Association, will offer official greetings to the assembled old-timers. Sidney Cherniss, Oliver Cratburn, Cleo Knapp, Gene Roberts and Dan Gallery are in charge of the event.

On Thursday afternoon the annual English Journal Tea will be held at 4 p.m. in the Social Hall of the Women's Residence Hall, 666 West Thirty-sixth street, and on Friday the "alums" of the law school and the college of dentistry will meet in a golf tournament.

TRIO OF WIVES CALLED IN SANITY CASE

When psychiatrists yesterday disagreed as to the sanity of Donald Hartman, chauffeur, Superior Judge Gould decided to ask the man's three wives whether he is sane. To subpoena the wifely trio, the judge continued the sanity hearing until Thursday.

At yesterday's hearing Hartman admitted that he married Rachael Mumford in 1925, Winifred de Rosa last April, and Blanche Allen last August. Judge Gould asked him whether that little matter of obtaining a divorce had not occurred to him.

"I thought I could get a divorce any time," said Hartman. "I can get one now, can't I?"

He continued living with Mrs. Rachael Mumford Hartman while taking on successors, Hartman admitted. He carries her picture proudly. He said that he never lived with Winifred because she spoke slightingly of Rachael on the day of the purported marriage, and that he was arrested in Bakersfield one day after marrying Blanche.

BURNHAM DEFENDS JOHNSON

Mining and Oil Expert, on Stand for Defense, Calls Promoter Man of Word

Maj. Frederick R. Burnham, mining and oil expert, yesterday afternoon took the stand in the defense of Gilbert S. Johnson, wealthy oil promoter of Texas and California, now on trial before United States District Judge Cosgrave and detailed dealings he had with Johnson in the oil business. Johnson is accused of using the mails to defraud.

The witness stated that he leased Johnson land in Santa Paula Valley, on which the Fernando Oil Company, controlled by Johnson drilled for oil. He said the land adjacent to the lease had producing wells and that "it was no fault of Johnson that he drilled two dry holes." He stated that he considers Johnson a man of his word and that he "has always lived up to his obligations."

Johnson resumed testimony after Maj. Burnham left the stand. Earlier in the day Special Assistant to the Attorney-General Pratt adduced testimony that Johnson arrived at Fort Worth, Tex., with little funds and shortly afterward purchased the Lewis Oil and Gas Company, paying $20,000 in cash and giving several notes. Johnson stated he obtained the money by sale of stock of the Johnson Oil Company. He denied that he obtained numerous oil leases and sold them to his company at an exorbitant price. The case will go on today.

EX-AIDE OF CLARA BOW MAKES PLEA

Miss De Voe Denies All Guilt on Thirty-seven Counts of Grand Theft

Daisy I. De Voe, former secretary to Clara Bow, motion-picture actress, appeared before Superior Judge Wood yesterday and pleaded not guilty to thirty-seven counts of grand theft. The date of her trial will be fixed by Judge Wood on the 4th inst.

The indictment charges Miss De Voe with misusing approximately $16,000 of Miss Bow's funds during the two years she served as her secretary. The defendant, however, denies the charges, asserting that she did not misappropriate any of the actress's money.

The charge against Miss De Voe was filed several weeks after she left Miss Bow's employ and after she had filed a civil suit against the District Attorney and several of his investigators demanding the return of articles taken from her safety-deposit box and given to Miss Bow.

Officers assert that most of the articles removed belonged to Miss Bow and that the others are material evidence.

Old-Timers of City Gather for Maxwell Rites

When last rites for Walter Scott Maxwell, pioneer merchant of this city, were conducted yesterday morning at the Ivy H. Overholtzer chapel scores of old-timers of Los Angeles who had known him during the fifty-five years of his residence here gathered in the chapel to pay their last respects.

Mr. Maxwell, who was 74 years of age, died at his home, 2854 West Ninth street, last Friday. He was a native son, having been born on a ranch near Mission San Jose, where his parents had settled after their arrival during the days of the gold rush of 1849.

Road Work for Jobless Urged

Advocating construction of four sets of highways from the Pacific to the Atlantic ocean as one means of reducing unemployment, Daniel Jones, in an address at the City Club yesterday, said such a system of thoroughfares which "would make Caesar turn in his grave from envy," could and should be built with money provided by counties, States and the nation, and that expenditure of funds for this purpose would give work to thousands of men.

As an immediate relief for those who need food, Mr. Jones said that the 72,000,000 bushels of wheat now held by the Farm Relief Board should be ground into flour and distributed free to the people who need it and whose tax payments made it possible for the relief board to purchase it from the farmers.

WASHINGTON SUBJECT OF FILM

Belle Bennett Will Play Role of Martha Washington; "School Girl" Authoress Signed by Lasky; Mary and Doug Here for Holidays

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

A tremendous film production dealing with the life of George Washington is to be made, we learn. It will be financed by one of the leading business men of this country, whose name is not to be mentioned for the present, according to a "cross-my-heart" promise which we have made.

BELLE BENNETT.

The picture, which will, of course, reveal the father of his country in moments of public and private utterance, will be made either at Universal or Metropolitan studios.

The production will afford Belle Bennett one of the biggest parts of her career, as she is to play the role of Martha Washington. Miss Bennett, formerly of the stage, has been seen all too seldom in the talkers, especially as she is considered one of this country's finest stage actresses.

The actor to play George Washington has not yet been chosen, and, of course, there will be many a voice and action test taken before he is picked.

Alan Crosland will, it is reported, be borrowed from Warner Brothers to direct the production.

The writer who will pen the story is not yet ready for announcement, but it is known that no pains are to be spared to make the production one of the greatest of the year. Already a research department is being established to search every available source of information regarding the life of the great American statesman and first President of the United States.

YOUNG PLAYWRIGHT SIGNS WITH LASKY

There was a time when it was thought impossible for anybody under 30 to write a play or a novel, but now a days our high school girls and boys are turning them out.

The youngest playwright to arrive in Hollwood is 18-year-old Carmen Barnes, author of "School Girl," which is now playing on Broadway.

Miss Barnes has just signed a contract with Paramount, and will write the scenario and dialogue for the film version of the play.

Seen yesterday, Miss Barnes turned out to be the most modest of young playwrights. She has blond hair and big, talkative brown eyes, and is pretty enough to give some of our young stars a run for their money. But she doesn't want to go into acting, being all wrapped up in writing.

She admitted having another fairly well-developed idea for a play, and confessed it was a thoroughly sophisticated one. She expects to work on it soon.

There is a likelihood that "School Girl" will be produced on the stage of a local theater, especially as it is meeting with much success in the East.

Noted Pair to Remain

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks are not, after all, to be parted at Christmas time. Both admitted yesterday that they couldn't consider such a thing.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

Which looks as though Fairbanks had gallantly given way to Miss Pickford's desire to spend the holiest of holidays at her own fireside with her family. Fairbanks himself was anxious to go to St. Moritz for Christmas, but would not go without Mary. Mary is really a home body at heart.

Lottie Pickford, who in private life is Mrs. Russell Girard, has been ill, but is recovering. Jack Pickford is here, and of course, Gynnne Pickford, Lottie's daughter and Mary's niece, will be on hand. Certain of Douglas's nieces and nephews also will come in for attention. So that it looks as though Pickfair will be a jolly place at Christmas.

After Christmas, Douglas Fairbanks will strike out on a trip, possibly a rough one through Siberia, but Mary will remain here and begin at once on another picture, the story for which has not yet been selected, or at least is not yet announced. The only thing Miss Pickford divulges about it is that it will be a stage comedy.

Margaret Livingston Cast

That very capable screen vamp, Margaret Livingston, is to play another of her famous characterizations in an R.-K.-O. picture.

She has been signed by that organization to appear with Betty Compson in "Children of the Streets," according to an announcement.

Another player of note, Edgar Norton, was signed yesterday. Norton has been given a featured role. The actor was formerly of the New York stage.

John Barrymore Returns

John Barrymore, accompanied by his wife, Dolores Costello, and by his baby daughter, as well as by the baby's nurse and special physician, will arrive in Los Angeles Harbor today on Barrymore's yacht, if all goes as expected.

JOHN BARRYMORE

Warner Brothers received a radiogram yesterday from Barrymore to this effect. Barrymore was ill while the party was in South American waters, but is said to have recovered.

He will start work almost at once on "Trilby" as his next starring vehicle, with a strong probability that Dolores will play the title role.

Other Comics With Keaton

You can't have too much of a good thing, according to the ideas of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. At any rate the officials of that organization are signing not only the famous Charlotte Greenwood to appear in Buster Keaton's new comedy, but also yesterday assigned two other comics.

CLIFF EDWARDS

Cliff Edwards and Edward Brophy, who recently were seen with Keaton in "Doughboys," will appear with him again. They are cast as a bellboy and a detective, respectively.

Edward Sedgwick will direct the picture, and others of note will be Reginald Denny, Sally Eilers and Dorothy Christy.

German Actress Returning Home

Marlene Dietrich, German actress who scored an overnight success in talking pictures, left Hollywood last night en route to Berlin to spend the Christmas holidays with her husband and daughter.

MARLENE DIETRICH

Josef Von Sternberg, director, discovered Miss Dietrich a year ago when he went to Germany to direct Emil Jannings in his first talkie and brought her to this country. Her first role was in "Morocco." She will return in the spring.

Three Paving Contracts Let

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded three contracts for paving and improving streets, aggregating $59,241.75 in value. The contracts are the paving, sidewalks and curbs for One Hundred Ninth Place between Broadway and Figueroa street, $12,595.37; the paving and sewering of Meyler street between Santa Cruz street and the Pacific Electric tracks, $18,697.30, and the paving and sewering of streets in the King-street and G-street district, $27,949.08.

CRUELTY TALE FREES WIFE

Drinking away from home was her husband's custom, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Farrell yesterday asserted in obtaining a divorce from Jack L. Farrell, a cook. She charged cruelty. The Farrels married September 14, 1928, and separated September 18, last. Superior Judge Yankwich granted the wife a decree.

PARK LEASE STEP NEARER

County Supervisors Vote to Investigate Titles to Royal Palms Land and Improvements

Acting on a resolution offered by Supervisor Quinn the Board of Supervisors yesterday ordered the proposed lease of the Royal Palms acreage at White's Point for county park purposes placed in escrow dependent upon the titles to boundaries, water rights and physical improvements being clear.

The matter came up during the last half-hour of the old board and was the most important piece of business of the morning from the standpoint of outside interest centered in it. Several weeks ago, when the matter was before the board the Supervisors ordered the proposition sent to County Counsel Mattoon to determine whether the titles are clear.

OBSTACLES ARISE

Following submission of the matter to the County Counsel several obstacles arose relative to clear titles to the physical improvements on the property, which are valued at $275,000, title to a pipe line that furnishes the property with water, titles to boundary lines and also whether certain roads leading to the acreage could be dedicated as public highways.

When the resolution of Supervisor Quinn was offered yesterday, Councilman Henning of Los Angeles, representing the harbor area, delivered a forceful speech wherein he asked that the Board of Supervisors lease the property for park purposes. He was opposed on the floor by John Steven, associate secretary of the Los Angeles Municipal League.

TERMS OF LEASE

Steven asserted a great crack in the earth exists on the club grounds from an earth fault similar to that at Point Fermin and that it had affected some of the buildings. He believed it unwise for the county to lease the property for a park.

Under the proposal as offered to the county by heirs of the Sepulveda estate, owners, the Supervisors would lease the grounds and physical improvements for a period of forty-four years. The terms would be $60,000 a year for the first eight years and $28,000 a year for the remaining time of the lease.

According to Supervisor Quinn, the action of the board yesterday in adopting his resolution leaves the matter open for dropping it if investigation of the titles does not prove satisfactory. Also more public hearings would be held before the board took final action.

MRS. CAMPBELL EXERTS SPELL

Noted Actress Appears In Revival of "Ghosts"

Portrayal of Mrs. Alving Discloses Fine Art

Douglas Shares in Large Tribute of Applause

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

One may set down as a rare experience in the theater the seeing of Mrs. Patrick Campbell in the role of Mrs. Alving in Ibsen's "Ghosts." She enacted it here last evening at the Vine-street Theater, with Tom Douglas importantly cast as the ill-fated son. The result was a performance that rose to heights of emotion and power when these two were alone on the stage, and especially in the final scene.

I have seen "Ghosts" often, even in the latter day with the cherished Duse, but I do not believe I have ever beheld the mother role more memorably interpreted in the Oswald death scene than by Mrs. Campbell last evening. Raven garbed with her shoulders covered with a filmy black shawl, she seemed like some shadowed spirit of fate, brooding over a pitiful tragedy of man—emotion suppressed, tears held back, only a sovereign pity and indomitable strength.

There is sorrow in the Campbell portrayal of Mrs. Alving, but it never descends to mellow pathos. The reserve that she brings to the role in the midst of devastating catastrophe is such that even the play's semblances of horror do not appal. The strange power that she gives to the character, the note of fatefulness, make the collapse of her son seem less hideous than it is, even though none the less real.

Mrs. Campbell dominates the stage in this play, and unfortunately she rather lacks competition except in the instance of Mr. Douglas who is both sincere and capable. Expressions of approval for his work were generaly heard, and there is no doubt that in the Oswald Alving role he is both appealing, sensitive and finely repressed. The perfect fluency of the portrayal is perhaps a little lacking as yet, but it is excellent in a great variety of ways—fine particularly in the transition to dissolution.

Both Mrs. Campbell and Douglas were recalled numerous times by the applause after the last scene, and finally Mrs. Campbell made a speech of thanks, devoting most of her words to praise of Douglas. There were several curtain calls even after she had made the talk.

The pith of the revival of "Ghosts" was concentrated in the final act, though at many other moments it was replete with interest and effectiveness. Most of these moments were to be traced to the presence of Mrs. Campbell or Douglas, with an occasional creditable bit of work done by Clarence Geldert and Wauna Lidwell. James O. Ryan as the minister, Manders, seemed somewhat miscast, this portrayal being scarcely in the mood of the play. One charge only may be made against Mrs. Campbell's interpretation and that is that her speech was so suppressed at times that it must have been difficult to hear and understand in the rows toward the rear.

It is a satisfaction to behold exemplification of Mrs. Campbell's fine tradition and fine art in this Ibsen classic, which is still a powerful dramatic creation. An attentive audience was present.

Organ Played Masterfully by Germani

BY I. M. J.

Fernando Germani, organist of Rome, played the magnificent new organ at Royce Hall, U.C.L.A., last night and left students of the university and members of the American Guild of Organists wondering at his amazing genius. Having appeared in a morning recital two years ago at Hollywood High School, Germani was known to be an extraordinary artist and the large auditorium was well filled. The university and the guild are to be congratulated upon his presentation.

The high point of enjoyment in last night's comprehensive organ program was reached in the Cesar Franck Choral No. 3. It is heavenly music and Germani transcended all difficulties and rose to its fullest realization. Some of the passage work was taken at a tempo only possible to a Germani, but he lost nothing of its clear beauty.

His first number, the allegro from Handel's G minor concerto for organ, established his unquestioned mastery. One did not need the setting of strings and oboes in its original score when Germani played it. A "Noel" by D'Aquine proved to be a delicate embroidery of tone with many refinements in the way of pianissimi. The Bach prelude and fugue in D major might have been written by a contemporary of Germani's, so tenderly did he play it.

Max Reger's charming Berceuse arranged for organ by Germani was a delightful interlude after the great chorale, and the printed list closed with a jolly Gigue and Badineri by Corelli and Bonnet's astoundingly difficult variations for concert with embellishments by Germani. The encores were the Finale from Vierne's organ symphony and Etude by Bossi, the latter being Germani's distinguished teacher.

This was ideal organ playing by a man whose technical mastery is surmounted by colossal musicianship.

ROLE COMPLETED

Robert Ellis, usually cast in straight dramatic roles, has just completed a part in a feature comedy, "Caught Cheating," a George Sidney-Murray production at Tiffany.

"CAT CREEPS" ANNOUNCED

Starting Thursday at the R.-K.-O. Theater will be "The Cat Creeps," adapted from "The Cat and the Canary," stage play. Helen Twelvetrees is starred.

Raymond Hackett has the male lead as a man just slightly afraid of ghosts. Neil Hamilton is the heavy and Lilyan Tashman relieves the tensity of the situations with her blase humor, it is said.

Others in the cast are Jean Hersholt, Montagu Love, Lawrence Grant, Theodore Von Eltz, Blanche Frederici and Elizabeth Patterson. Rupert Julian directed "The Cat Creeps" for Universal.

Something New in Music Promised

Jeanette MacDonald

Will sing some original tunes by Rudolf Friml from the screen of the United Artists' Theater starting Friday when "The Lottery Bride," an Oscar Hammerstein production, will start a run.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

THINGS are picking up. There's goin' to be a season in this here town yet. Announcements of shows are popping right and left. And go into most any theater in town of an afternoon and you will find a director bellowing or whispering (according to his temperament and habits) at a gathering of actors come to rehearse. Yes, ma'am, there will be some shows in Los Angeles about the first of the New Year.

"Lost Sheep" Arriving

One of the lot is "Lost Sheep" which the Erlanger interests are preparing for a 27th inst. opening at the Columbia Theater, San Francisco.

ARTHUR COLLINS

This is the show that George Choos and Jack Donahue did in New York in the spring. It has an English locale and there is a lot of good, hearty cockney comedy in it.

Arthur Greville Collins, who produced "Fata Morgana" and "Death Takes a Holiday," is directing for Erlangers and is now mustering a cast in Los Angeles.

May Beatty, an Australian star, and Tyrrel Davis, will share the leads, I learned yesterday. Colin Campbell, Snub Pollard and Tempe Pigot will be other memers of the cast, all English.

It is due in town January 17, two days before "Street Scene." As yet no theater is named. This, in case you are interested, is the second Erlanger-produced show. The first was "Subway Express."

More of O. D. Woodward

A gentleman who keeps his ear tuned to the throbbing of the theatrical rialto tells me not to be surprised if O. D. Woodward, who brought "Dracula" to Los Angeles theatergoers and whose name has long been well known in middle western and Coast stock circles does a local show pretty soon. He says Mr. Woodward is just about ready to trot out a brand-new comedy.

Cartoonist Satirized

A cartoonist, a newspaper man and an actor got together recently and wrote a play which they call "The Comic Stripper." They plan to tryout either in Hollywood or Pasadena within the next few weeks.

EMERSON TREACY

The cartoonist is Clifford McBride, creator of "Uncle Elby," the newspaperman, Joseph Mears of the Pasadena Star, News, and the actor, Emerson Treacy, who divides his time between pictures and Duffy shows.

Treacy, in a letter to this column, says, "'The Comic Stripper' might be the prototype of any one of several famous cartoonists. He is a lazy, egotistical fellow who makes several hundred thousand dollars a year on a strip he doesn't even take the trouble to draw himself. He's fair game for women, among other things, and takes for granted the love of his sincere little secretary who is really responsible for keeping his nose to the grindstone and pulling him out of many difficulties."

PASADENANS ACT "SHORE ACRES"

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

In presenting "Shore Acres," that sturdy specimen of the genus Americanus by James Herne, Pasadena Community Playhouse again unfurls the banner of "My county, 'tis of thee I sing" with a genuinely fine native flourish.

In this drama one finds the vital factor is the fight of those who love and have lived by and through the soil, against the predatory forces which seek to destroy their peace. Instinctively they resist this overwhelming commercialism, whose vague presence they began to sense, unconsciously aroused to the fact that the trek away from the soil means the disintegration of the family.

In this American saga of the soil there is revealed the soul of a people engaged in a futile struggle against changing conditions. There is a homely humanity and an unashamed virility which makes for drama of the natural instinctive sort. When James Herne produced this drama and played in it during the nineties he, like many innovators, was beset with many obstacles. He insisted upon the quiet ending, against the judgment of his manager, and achieved his end only through resorting to the device of holding the curtain until he, as Uncle Nat, had put the house in order and quietly gone upstairs to bed. His ruse succeeded and it was conceded to be a moving and proper climax.

The settings at the Playhouse are conceived with accuracy and in the manner of the original stage version by Charles McGee. Especially noteworthy is the old wainscoted kitchen of the second act. The ship scene is realistic and done in the grand style of the nineties.

The Pasadenans are giving the play with splendid spirit and Sam Hinds as the gentle-hearted Uncle Nat, James Herne's original part, brings sympathetic charm, together with rich humor, which make it an outstanding performance. George Reis with his Yankee humor keeps the audience in gusts of laughter. Martin Berry, with all his bitter religious fanaticism, is realized with incisive strokes by Morris Ankrum. Martin's wife Ann is acted with convincing candor by Mrs. James N. Hawks. Jeanette Nolan gives an appealing version of the daughter. Murray Yeats gives reality to the part of the young wooer of Ann, and James N. Hawks is well cast. Jane K. Loofborrow as the hired girl contributes her own original humor to the situation.

OPERA STAR WINS FAVOR IN RECITAL

Edward Johnson Charms Audience at Town House With Varied Numbers

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Genevieve Gray of the Town House presented Edward Johnson of the Metropolitan in a morning musicale yesterday. It was the first of his two programs here. The other one is to follow at the Philharmonic Auditorium tonight. Mr. Johnson gave a long program which seemed short. He told many beautiful and important stories in song and was vigorously supported by Mr. Karl Young, an American pianist from Chicago.

Mr. Johnson has the Irish gifts of song and imagery and he apparently thrives on work. His programs are invariably interesting and he always brings new songs. Although he has made his mark in opera, he is a recitalist par excellence. In the classical atmosphere of the Wedgewood Room in which he sang yesterday the refinements of his portrayals were subtly heightened.

The "Invocazione de Orfeo" by the sixteenth-century composer, Jacopo Peri, proclaimed the dignity of his calling and established an approach to the fine songs which followed. An eighteenth-century air from an opera by Thomas Arne became an example of indefinable rightness called style as Mr. Johnson sang it. The accompaniment, simulating a resonant harpsichord, was perfectly done by Mr. Young.

A song of particular beauty in this old group was the aria from "Il Floridoro," by Stradello. It held the allure of old Italy, the Italy which inherited beauty from Greece. The popular "Che Gelida Manina" from "La Boheme," was a declaration of love such as all ladies sigh for and in answer to the demand for an encore, Mr. Johnson sang a folk song of Bologna that was like a rhythmical etching.

In planning this program the singer carried out an interesting idea by including two groups of songs in English. One group consisted of songs from England and the other of songs from the American composers. The English numbers had the simplicity of greatness. "Linden Lea" by Vaughan Williams and "The Piper" by Michael Head brought the outdoors indoors, and a Page's road song by Novello is memorable for its beauty. The climax came in ballad arranged by Cyril Scott around the dramatic story of Lord Randal. "Tallyho!" was the encore.

The youthful Mr. Young displayed a marked rhythmical sense and technical grasp of his soli by Debussy, Ravel and Chopin. He is also an alert accompanist.

A song of unusual worth was Rachmaninoff's "Un Fragment d'Alfred de Musset" with a harp-like accompaniment. It will be repeated tonight. The aria of Julien from "Louise" made one wish to hear the whole opera.

The American group included the works of Carpenter, Griffes, Hadley and Tom Dobson. Carpenter's "May, the Maiden" was a well-rounded song and Griffes's "We'll to the Woods" was rather more definite in character than usual for this poet of music. Henry Hadley's "Time of Parting" proved worthwhile and "Cargoes," written by the gifted Tom Dobson to the words of John Masefield, closed the American tribute. Dobson's song idealizes the American love of rhythm without vulgarizing it, and it is a grateful song to sing. Dobson, whose untimely death was a loss to American music, composed another setting to a Masefield poem, "An Old Song Resung," which will be used on Mr. Johnson's program tonight.

The rest of the program is devoted to old Italian, old English, modern German, modern English and French songs.

Playground Case Referred to City Prosecutor

Evidence Indicates Felony Not Committed

Public Property for Private Uses Asserted

Continuing the investigation of the Playground Department ordered by Mayor Porter, Deputy City Prosecutor McDonald announced yesterday that he has directed David Berniker, assistant superintendent of construction and maintainance, and Miss Alma Wilson, supervisor of camps, to report to his office today for questioning.

Earl G. Smith, former machinist in the department, said a quantity of city stone and cement, with a city concrete mixer, were used in the construction of a miniature golf course at 454 Los Feliz Boulevard, Glendale, of which George F. Schriber, forman of the carpenter shop, is asserted to be part owner, according to McDonald. Schriber has been arrested on suspicion of grand theft, McDonald said.

CASE REFERRED

Smith also reported delivery of a sign, valued at $2.50, made in the shops, to another person, McDonald said.

After reviewing the evidence thus far obtained in the inquiry, William McKay, chief of the District Attorney's complaint department, announced that he will refer the entire matter back to the City Prosecutor's office today for action.

The reason for the District Attorney's withdrawal from the case, McKay stated, is that under the law it appears that no one is guilty of a felony and the City Prosecutor has jurisdiction over misdemeanor matters.

LAW EXPLAINED

Further explaining his position, McKay pointed out that it is a felony for a public official to steal public money, no matter how small the amount. But this same law, he asserts, does not make it a felony to steal public property but indicates that such offenses shall be punished as ordinary theft cases.

Under the laws of theft, stolen property taken on a specified occasion must amount to more than $200 to become grand theft. It is contended the present investigation indicates that on no occasion did the property taken exceed $200 in value.

However, if new evidence is found indicating that a felony has been committed action will be taken by the District Attorney, McKay said.

Aviatrix Scores in Overland Flight

RUTH NICHOLS SETS MARK

Mrs. Keith-Miller's East-West Record Eclipsed; Showing Second Only to That of Hawks

Faster than any woman pilot and all but one man flyer, Ruth Nichols, Rye (N. Y.) aviatrix, crossed the continent from New York to end her flight here yesterday at 11:57 a.m. Her elapsed flying time was 16h. 59m. 30s.

She set the swift Crosley Lockheed-Vega cabin monoplane down at United Airport, Burbank, after taking off on the last leg of the cross-country speed run from Kingman, Ariz., at 10.22 a.m.

When she flashed out of the sky to a landing at the local base she tumbled all records for women over the same distance and came within three hours and one-half of the sizzling record held by Capt. Frank Hawks, set in a special racing plane on August 6, last. Hawks made a mark of 13h. 35m. 43s.

RECORD CLIPPED

Miss Nichols clipped eight hours forty-four minutes and thirty seconds off the mark established on October 10, last, by Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, located yesterday after being reported missing four days in an attempted water hop from Havana to Florida.

It probably will be a week before Miss Nichols gets away on a proposed flight to lower the women's record over the west-to-east route.

"I will wait for good weather this time, and it is possible I may make it a one-stop trip with a landing at Wichita, Kan., for fuel," she said.

"The plane now has tank capacity of 350 gallons and I may have more installed before going back.

BAD WEATHER CITED

"Weather coming this way was terrible east of Amarillo, Tex., forcing me to fight snow, rain and fog most of the way, sometimes pushing me down to where I had to skim tree tops."

The ship in which Miss Nichols made her record run is much larger than that used by Mrs. Keith-Miller, being powered by a 450-horsepower Wasp motor and capable of a speed of nearly 200 miles an hour. She averaged a fraction more than 143 miles an hour over the 2446 airline distance between New York and Los Angeles.

Bad flying weather held her on the ground at several points on her route. She left Roosevelt Field, N. Y., a week ago yesterday.

During her stay in Los Angeles, Miss Nichols will be a guest at the home of Edwin H. Sharpe, American Airways official, in Burbank.

of the so-called secret conferences if used by the board only to get at the bottom of any matter under consideration without formality, but I am firmly convinced that every official act of this board on any and every subject should be in open public session. The public not only has a right to know our decisions, but it also has a right to know the basis upon which we arrive at our conclusions.

"No important matter affecting the welfare of the people of this great county, and having real merit, can, in my opinion, be injured by turning the sunlight of publicity upon it. For that reason let us avoid the so-called process of rushing controversial matters through the board. Opportunity for full and free discussion often will point the way to united action."

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCED

Following his address, Chairman Wright announced his new committees organized under the new order of things with three members on each committee, as follows:

Henry W. Wright, newly elected chairman of the Board of Supervisors, resides at 1823 Romana avenue, South Pasadena. He was born in Chicksaw, Iowa, in March, 1868. He attended both the grade and high schools and later studied at the Iowa State College and the Omaha Commercial College.

In 1915 he was elected member of the California Legislature and thereafter served three additional terms. During the period of 1919 to 1921 he was Speaker of the Assembly.

He was appointed to the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county by Gov. Richardson in June, 1921 to fill an unexpired term and was elected in 1924 for a full term and has served the county since that time. He has been head of the finance committee most of his terms.

HOPKINS TAKES OFFICE FOR SEVENTH TERM

Lack of all ceremony yesterday marked the induction of Ed W. Hopkins into the office of County Assessor for his seventh consecutive term.

Hopkins, who was elected at the primary election, officially became Assessor for a new term at noon. Exactly at 12 o'clock he was congratulated by Chief Deputy Weed and Francis Marshall, accountant, who happened to be in his office at the time.

"I almost forgot about it," said Hopkins as he picked up a pile of documents and went to work.

Plea for Divorce Relates Husband's Misconception of Chiropractic Art

Petting with a chiropractor was her husband's announced ambition, Mrs. J. Michael yesterday testified in obtaining a divorce from Everett Michael.

"On May 25, last, my husband made an appointment with a woman chiropractor for treatment at her office," Mrs. Michael told Superior Judge Shaw. "After he kept the appointment, he said he tried to pet with the practitioner but that she repulsed him. He also boasted of conquests of other women."

The Michaels married in Yuma, Ariz., June 21, 1928, and separated January 26, last.

LAST RITES CONDUCTED FOR DIVINE

Rev. Eli Reece, Who Died Saturday, Active for Years in Church Circles Here

Rev. Eli Reece, retired pastor and professor of theology, who died Saturday at his home, 807 North Harvard Boulevard, was buried yesterday in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. in the First Friends Church at Huntington Park.

Mr. Reece, who was 70 years of age, came to Southern California in 1917. He was president of the Huntington Park Training School for Christian Workers for four years and pastor of the Trinity Missionary Church in Hollywood for five years. He leaves his widow, four sons, Gurney Reece of Glendale, Rev. Joseph G. Reece of El Modena, Philip E. Reece of Huntington Park and Clement Reece of Long Beach, and one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Frazer of Puente.

Police Officers Get Freedom in Burglary Case

W. C. Hayes and J. F. Pfeffer, Los Angeles police officers, yesterday were acquitted of a burglary charge in Superior Judge Aggeler's court when Judge Aggeler ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty after hearing the prosecution's evidence.

The officers were charged with breaking into a house at 651 North Bailey street and stealing sixteen barrels of whisky.

Central and Georgia divisions. And Amman will supervise No. 3, including University, Newton street, Seventy-seventh street, San Pedro and Wilmington divisions.

Each acting inspector will have full authority to transfer members of the department in his area, the drafting of emergency squads to crime districts as he sees fit, and will be held responsible for both the prevention of crime and apprehension of criminals in the territory under his command, according to Chief Steckel.

COMMENT OF CHIEF

"The new organization," said Chief Steckel, "will, I believe, serve to create a closer co-operative effort between the uniformed division and the detective bureaus in the prevention and investigation of crime, and so will develop a greater proficiency in every member of the department. Each inspector will have the opportunity to concentrate all his efforts to that one purpose. It will also eliminate the necessity of the early organization of a crime-crusher squadron to combat seasonal crime under the supervision of the detective chief, as has been the custom in the past."

School Addition Contracts Let

Contracts totaling $66,301 for the construction of a twelve-unit addition to the Horace Mann Junior High School, on South St. Andrews Place, were awarded by the Board of Education at its meeting last night.

The general building contract went to George Mittry on his bid of $56,666. The other contracts are for plumbing, heating and ventilating, painting, and installation of electric wiring.

MANIAC SLASHES CHILD SERVING HIM AS GUIDE

A dangerous maniac, wielding a knife of razor-like sharpness, last night deliberately drew the keen blade across the face and right hand of a 6-year-old boy who had trustingly accompanied him to the foot of Glen Eden street in compliance with the man's request to be shown how to cross the Los Angeles River.

The boy, Orville Smith, was taken to his home at 2959 Glenview street, a block from the scene of the attack, where he received emergency treatment from Dr. Jack Renfrew, police surgeon.

Examination disclosed that the little finger of the youngster's right hand, and the finger next to it had all but been severed, and that a deep gash had been cut in his right cheek. Although in a serious condition from shock, fright and loss of blood, the boy was said by the police surgeon not to be in danger of death.

The story as told by the boy is that the "slasher," apparently about 25 years of age, an American, and well dressed, approached him while he was playing in front of his home. He said he had lost his way, wanted the boy to show him how to get across the river, and Orville willingly offered to accompany him.

When near the river, in a secluded spot, the man suddenly drew his knife and slashed the boy. Without otherwise molesting him, the man then ran away.

WOMAN AND MEN QUIZZED ON BANDITRY

Quartet Taken Saturday Will Be Looked Over by Store Hold-up Victims

Three men and a woman were questioned at length in the District Attorney's office yesterday in an attempt to solve numerous Los Angeles drug-store robberies during the last two months. The prisoners are Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, 24 years of age, of 1250 East Fifty-first street; Charles A. Chapman, 38; Frank Dominguez, 31, and Allen Raymond, of the same address.

The three men were arrested Saturday night near a market on Mesa Drive by Jack Chriss, Tom Cavett and Clyde Plummer of the District Attorney's bureau of investigation. The officers assert they seized a large pistol from Raymond.

The arrest was made on a tip that a group of bandits planned to hold up the market. Mrs. McDonald was taken in custody later when it was found she was living at the same address as the three men.

Furthermore, said Mrs. Allison, her husband used her jewelry to raise $300 to start a dairy store, and then sold the store for $75, keeping the sales price.

Alabama Coach Says Washington Staters Shine on Defense

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Dec. 1. (AP) Wallace Wade, University of Alabama football coach, came here today, after scouting Saturday with the opinion his team will meet "one of the greatest defensive elevens" he has ever seen in the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena New Year's Day.

WALLACE WADE.

The Washington State team is similar to the Washington University eleven that Alabama defeated, 20 to 19, on its first trip to the West Coast in 1925, Wade believes.

"I have never seen two elevens more alike than the Washington University team we played in Rose Bowl and the Washington State team," the Alabama mentor said. "Washington State has one of the greatest defensive teams I have ever seen.

Jones Won't Shift Tay Brown to End Berth

BY BRAVEN DYER

While the palpitating public is engaged in violent chin exercise over the relative strength of the two teams, Southern California's Trojans yesterday began their final week of practice in preparation for Saturday's grid Titanic with the sons of Notre Dame.

TAY BROWN

When Howard Jones called his charges together at 4 o'clock he discovered that every man-jack of the squad was present, including all the cripples injured in the Washington game or prior to that contest.

They were all there, yes, but three were still unable to take part in the afternoon's workout.

"Dutch" Wilcox, out of the hospital for the first time since November 15, appeared in civilian clothes, looking wan and weak but bent on absorbing all the knowledge possible even if he couldn't run through plays. I seriously doubt if Wilcox will play at all, but will not be surprised if he does. It does not seem humanly possible that a player can be of any use so soon after a head injury such as Wilcox received.

SPARLING ON CRUTCHES

Ray Sparling was also on deck, but traveling with the aid of crutches. He is definitely out of the game.

Al Plaehn, who subs for Bob Hall at tackle, appeared in civilian clothes, being handicapped by a leg injury which ought to respond sufficiently to allow him to play Saturday.

Ernie Pinckert was back, running a bit stiffly and apparently afraid to give his injured side more than a light test. He should be ready to start Saturday but I don't look for him to play his usual game nor to last the full contest.

Byron Gentry, who had a cleat driven into his leg, will be ready, reporting yesterday with most of his usual zipper.

Marshall Duffield, who went to San Francisco over the week-end to take the Rhodes Scholarship tests, returned and was out for practice.

Although there has been considerable chatter about it there is little likelihood that Tay Brown, tackle, will be shifted to left end to help out Howard Joslin. Jones stated yesterday that, although he had considered the move he hardly felt that he would make it.

"I don't think Brown could adequately learn the position in four days," was Jones's comment, "and that's no reflection on Brown."

It might be stated that the left-end position on Jones's eleven is probably the hardest to learn of any, principally due to the offensive duties of the man who plays there.

UP TO JOSLIN

This leaves the job strictly up to Joslin, a little fellow of 170 pounds, who despite his weight, is a great battler and a good pass catcher.

ROCKNE OR JONES "DREAM" SOON TO EXPLODE

The offensive power shown this year by the University of Southern California and Notre Dame football teams has been the type of which their coaches dream about. One is due for an awakening when the proteges collide Saturday at the Coliseum. A powerful line has given punch to the U.S.C. offensive. Notre Dame's backfield, directed by Frank Carideo, quarterback, has trampled over everything in sight.

ROCKNE SURE MEN CAN WIN

Thirty-eight Athletes in Special Train

Squad Scheduled to Arrive Friday Evening

Mullins, Conley Slightly Under the Weather

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Battered and weary, yet filled with that fighting spirit that has carried them onward to victory in eighteen straight football wars, Notre Dame's Roughriders today began their westward odyssey for their epic struggle with the dashing Trojans of Southern California.

LARRY "MOON" MULLINS

Cheered by several hundred loyal fans, who braved a bleak December afternoon to shout encouraging farewells, Knute Rockne loaded his great crew of Riders on their special-train at 3:30 p.m., and headed for the land of roses and sunshine where the Notre Dame victory bubble, swelled by two years of triumph, will be pricked or further inflated next Saturday afternoon.

ONE WORKOUT

Thirty-eight players, the full coaching staff of five men, newspaper men and five coaches filled with fans of all shapes, sizes and ages started the westward journey, which will end at 5 p.m., Friday, when the special train steams into Los Angeles. One stop will punctuate the journey, at Tucson, Ariz., where workouts will be held on the University of Arizona field — one Wednesday afternoon, one Thursday morning and one Thursday afternoon.

If Coach Rockne dreaded the invasion of the House of Troy, he failed to reveal it as he stepped aboard the train today.

"Well, I think they have a better team than we have right now," he said. "My boys are pretty well battered up as a result of the last three games with Drake, Northwestern and the Army, but we'll be feeling better by the time we get into Los Angeles. The warm air of Arizona and the long ride doubtlessly will stir up the boys.

"We'll need some luck to win this

BOXING GROUP TO MEET HERE

Committee to Investigate Boxing Conditions

Southern California boxing conditions will be investigated, starting Thursday morning, when the Governor's committee, appointed especially to probe affairs in the ring, will convene here.

JACK DOYLE

The committee is to meet both Thursday and Friday at the Alexandria, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning. Chairman Allen B. Bixby will preside. Other members who will be present include John F. Sinclair of San Francisco, Will F. Coffman of San Francisco, Charles S. Hutson of Los Angeles, Leon French, legal adviser, and J. R. McFarland, secretary. Harry Brand, another member, is not able to be present because of a recent operation for appendicitis.

ELKS PLAN CHARITY GAME

Phelan to Coach Western Team for Tilt Against Easterners at Coliseum on 27th Inst.

The proposed East-West all-star football game to be played in the Coliseum on the 27th inst. will be staged under the auspices of B.P.O. Elks No. 99, it was announced yesterday by Champ Pickens.

Early in the season Pickens signed Knute K. Rockne to coach the eastern eleven, and the Notre Dame leader has promised to form a team from some of his old "Four Horsemen" eleven and this year's outfit.

JIMMY PHELAN

According to Pickens the western team will be coached by Jimmy Phelan of Washington, and will have as probable members available seniors on this year's Southern California and other Coast teams, a few former greats, and one or two players from the Far South.

Duffield and Apsit of the Trojan backfield; Shaw, guard, and Wilcox, end, are last year men at S.C., and Pickens also plans to lure Russell Saunders, Jesse Hibbs and Francis Tappaan into the line-up.

Pickens says he has acceptances from Maffett, star end, with Georgia this year, and Dodd, all-southern quarter of Tennessee and best passer in the South, to play with the western team.

According to present plans Rockne is to remain here after the Notre Dame-Southern California game next Saturday to coach his eastern team. The Notre Dame team leaves for home Sunday, but players selected for the all-star team will return during the holidays.

Rockne's outfit, it is said, will be picked from the following: His entire 1930 Notre Dame backfield with the exception of Schwartz, including Carideo, quarterback, Mullins and Brill; Jack Elder of the 1929 team; Christy Flanagan, one of the former greats; Tim Moynihan, center of 1929, and Yarr from this year's team; All-American Jack Cannon, Kassis, Metzger

PREP PLAY-OFF DATES CHOSEN

C.I.F. Semifinal Round is Listed for Saturday

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

The mere fact that the Southern California-Notre Dame classic is scheduled for Saturday meant nothing to the four prep elevens participating in the semifinals of the C.I.F. play-off this week-end. Instead of playing on Friday as was first suggested, both games will be held Saturday afternoon and will find Redondo at Santa Barbara and Long Beach and Whittier playing on Hadley Field at Whittier College.

CLARENCE SCHUTTE

All four schools have expressed a willingness to play the finals in the Coliseum on the 13th inst. However, Zach Farmer, who has charge of the big bowl, hasn't given the final word as yet but Seth Van Patten, director of athletics for the C.I.F., is quite hopeful of the finals being played there.

The reason why the semifinal games aren't being played Friday is because the Long Beach boys are going to take part in some kind of a parade Friday evening and the Redondo squad can't see their way clear to make the trip to Santa Barbara on that date.

Coach Clarence Schutte's Santa Barbara eleven will take the field

"SHANO" COLLINS SIGNS TO BOSS 1931 RED SOX

BOSTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—John F. (Shano) Collins, former White Sox and Red Sox outfielder star, today returned to the American League as the 1931 manager of the luckless Boston club.

In announcing his appointment, Owner Bob Quinn, who has tried out three other pilots since he assumed control said: "Collins has made a wonderful record as a minor-league manager and I see no reason why he should not do well with the Red Sox."

Collins succeeds Charles (Heinie) Wagner, who was made manager last season when Bill Carrigan retired. Lee Fohl was manager in 1923, when Collins was last identified with the club.

The new pilot, born in Boston forty-five years ago, broke into professional baseball in the now disbanded New England League as a pitcher a quarter of a century ago. An injured arm forced him to become an infielder and he played first and second base until 1910, when he went from the Springfield club

DEAN OF MEN TO PROBE BEAR SPORTS SITUATION

BERKELEY, Dec. 1. (AP)—Thomas Putnam, dean of men at the University of California, announced today the faculty would undertake an independent investigation of the athletic situation on the university campus.

Dean Putnam said the probe was a direct result of the recent football war climaxed by the resignation of the head football coach, Clarence (Nibs) Price, but added all phases of athletics would be investigated by the faculty committee.

The dean said he hoped all colleges in the conference would follow suit with similar inquiries. Information gathered on the Berkeley campus will be set before delegates to the Pacific Coast Conference in Los Angeles the 8th inst., when the entire subject of asserted professionalism and subsidy of football players in Pacific Coast colleges will be reviewed.

The faculty investigation will be carried on independently of the executive committee study author-

Showing Against Army Leads to Prediction

S.C. Mistakes Might Result in Notre Dame Win

Kicking of Carideo Stands Out in Game

BY EDWIN B. DOOLEY
Former All-American Quarterback

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—If Notre Dame beats Southern California next Saturday we venture to say that it will not be the South Benders' ability but rather Southern California's mistakes that will be responsible for such a result. All season we have been hearing about the precision, the power and the remarkable football ability of Rockne's team. Its supposedly perfect blocking, fine tackling and rare teamwork were watchwords wherever football men gathered. With these things in mind we watched Notre Dame play Army at Soldier Field last Saturday.

In view of what has been written and said about Notre Dame this season the contest was most disappointing. Even though the game was played in a sea of mud, and a drizzling rain the showing of the Fighting Irish was far from impressive. The South Bend attack had no subtlety or deception about it, and the blocking was not as good as that of half a dozen teams in the East this year. Rain and mud may hamper passes, but they don't affect good blocking.

Army is a mediocre team. It lacks offensive strength and aggressiveness. Its one virtue was the tenacity with which it held the South Benders in their place. In four periods the Cadets gained about 19 yards. They seldom got the ball beyond their own 30-yard line and failed to show the semblance of an attack. And yet Notre Dame with the ball in Army's territory, almost throughout the battle could do no more than score one touchdown.

One touchdown, of course, is enough to win a ball game but the fact that the "Fighting Irish" could tally but once against such a poor team as Army is indicative of the real power.

There was nothing exceptional about Rockne's team, save the remarkable kicking of Carideo. This outstanding pilot booted the ball sixty and sixty-five yards, sent it flying across the side lines on the 4-yard mark and repeatedly put Army in embarrassing positions. Sebastian of Army vied with the Notre Dame field general occasionally by sending long spirals for rides of fifty-five yards. But Carideo was master of ceremonies for the day so far as kicking was concerned. Carideo's blocking was poor, however, and his judgment at times questionable.

Notre Dame is a well-rounded, splendidly coached team and not one easily scored against as its marvelous record shows.

But as for being a phenomenal and invincible eleven, that is quite another thing. It has been extremely fortunate in winning some of its important games this season.

Judging by Southern California's record this fall, and the quality of the teams it has played we pick the Trojans to defeat the South Benders. Army could have done it with a half-way decent attack. Certainly Howard Jones's team can do it with the offense it possesses and the line it has in front of it.

Experts Flock to See Game

Just to prove that the Notre Dame-Southern California contest here Saturday is a gigantic, more sports writers will gather in Los Angeles for the game than for any other contest ever played in Southern California.

From Portland to San Diego, and from Boston to San Francisco, they have wired and written for press reservations. Al Wesson, the elusive young man who doles out the Trojan publicity and, on occasions, the press tickets, furnishes the following partial list of writers who will be here. It does not include any California news hounds:

Theodore Reidy, Syracuse Journal-American; Gordon Mackay, Philadelphia Record; C. L. Parsons, sports editor, Denver Post; Bill Cunningham, sports editor, Boston Post; Curly Grieve, sports editor, Rocky Mountain News, Denver; Wilfred Smith, sports editor, Chicago Tribune, and four other special Tribune writers; Ronald Callvert, Portland Oregonian; Phil Sherman, Boston Globe; Warren Brown, Chicago Herald and Examiner; Robert Edgren, syndicate; Christy Walsh and his coaches; Owens and Lawrence, El Paso Herald and Times; Al Warden, sports editor, Ogden Standard-Examiner; Ed Cochrane, Kansas City Journal Post; Warner H. Laufer, sports editor, N.E.A.; John W. Stahr, sports editor, South Bend Tribune.

The SPORT LIGHT
by Grantland Rice

AT THE recent Notre Dame-Army gathering in Chicago there must have been from eighty to a hundred well-known coaches who dropped by to see the game. From this list it was surprising how many were picking Southern California to beat Notre Dame. Most of these based their conclusions upon the same factors:

(1) The tenth game of a hard schedule.

(2) The long jump west to a different climate after the Northwestern and Army pressure.

(3) The loss of Joe Savoldi, the leading "power back" of the country.

In the first place, everyone knew that Southern California has a great football team, a fine, fast-charging line, with one of the best backfields in football.

A team of this type, waiting at home, will be hard for a team to beat down at the end of a grinding campaign. Many figured that Southern California might even get the jump fast enough and hard enough to run up three or four touchdowns.

"They might beat us," Rockne said, "but it won't be that sort of game. It will be a battle. Fortunately, my team came through the Army battle in fine shape. The weather was bad for good ball, but the soft ground protected my men. They will get a chance to rest on the train trip and I feel sure will be in shape to give their best. This, however, is something no one can tell about before the game is played. I figured from the start it would be the hardest game on our schedule and I know it will be, now."

It is understood that over 250,000 applications for tickets have come in to Southern California against a capacity of 88,000. If both teams are at their best, it will be the big shot of the year—one of the best contests in football history. It isn't often that two such teams meet in a final, decisive contest.

Carnera Again

Carnera is still the man of mystery. He beat Paulino on Sunday, but Paulino isn't the cove he was two or three years ago. No one this far away can say just how much there is in the story of Carnera with gloves that tied up both hands and prevented him closing his fingers. This may be one of those aftermath squawks or it may carry some bearing on the result.

Carnera has improved in every way except his punching. He is evidently still more of a shover than a puncher. If he can ever develop any snap or kick to his hitting he should be out in front by a mile. But this is the hardest knack in boxing to pick up unless it happens to be a natural product.

Colgate and N.Y.U.

Two of the best teams in the East will meet in New York on Saturday when Colgate and N.Y.U. play for the unemployment fund. It may be that Colgate is one of the best teams in the country. As a matter of fact Colgate is. Andy Kerr has power and deception combined, with a full share of speed. He has two great backs in Macaluso and Hart, two of the best big, fast, hard-driving types that are hard to check.

N.Y.U. is fully good enough to test the merit of any team. Chick Meehan has a young team but he also has an improving one. When the Violet happens to click it can play a lot of football. With any young team, the clicking isn't always consistent.

Colgate lost its chance for an unbeaten season by fumbling away the game with Michigan State and Michigan State was strong enough to tie Michigan. It has been a romp for Colgate since, but there will be no romp on Saturday.

Safely In

Alabama and Washington State are safely in the unbeaten fold, but Notre Dame has its hardest test.

If Southern California should beat the South Bend party, Alabama and Washington State will then decide the name of the one outstanding team in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. In that case there should be one solitary survivor from the leaders who started so briskly nine weeks ago. Utah is still unbeaten, with a fine team, but the Utah schedule wasn't quite as rugged as that of the other leaders.

All of which takes nothing away from Utah's superiority in its own circuit.

WILLIAMS STILL HOLDS POSITION

to reach a compromise failed, but it was understood at that time that the five nondraft leagues were ready to agree to the draft if a higher draft price were made. It was after the failure of that conference that the majors threatened to discontinue dealing with the leagues in question.

Just what tomorrow's conference may bring remains to be seen, but it was believed possible the three AA circuits might make an offer for the majors to consider at their joint meeting in New York this month.

Both the Pacific Coast and International leagues were understood to be split today on the draft question. The International's session, in particular, was a heated one, marked by hot debate, and with membership understood to be evenly divided on the question, four to four. Baltimore, Montreal, Newark and Buffalo were reported solidly against the draft.

Outside the draft question, these two meetings accomplished little. The International League did hear the treasurer's report and re-elected Charles H. Knapp of Baltimore president, Lawrence Solman of Toronto vice-president and William J. Manley of New York as secretary-treasurer.

The Pacific Coast League tried vainly to elect a president, with four votes for Harry Williams of Los Angeles, the incumbent, three for J. C. Ewing of Oakland and one for J. J. Sullivan of Seattle. Williams drew his support from San Francisco, Sacramento, Portland and Los Angeles. Ewing's three votes came from Hollywood, Oakland and Missions, while Seattle threw its aid to Sullivan.

Another attempt to break the deadlock will be made either at a meeting here this week or in Los Angeles in January, probably on January 19.

FEW TRADES AT MONTREAL CONFAB

MONTREAL, Dec. 1. (AP)—Trades and purchases were few today as minor-league club owners and managers gathered here for the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The Jersey City club of the International League, which signed a new manager, George Toporcer, also traded Maurice (Jess) Bream, right-handed pitcher, to St. Paul of the American Association for Frank (Bots) Nekola, former college star at Holy Cross.

The Baltimore Internationals announced the purchase of Ralph Boyle, outfielder, and Bernie James, infielder, from the Boston Braves. Boyle was out on option with Providence and Albany of the Eastern League last season and James to the Newark Internationals.

LEWIS BEATS FREBERG

SEATTLE, Dec. 1. (AP)—Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former heavyweight champion, defeated John Freberg, Chicago, here tonight in the headliner of a wrestling card with a body slam in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round go. Freberg was unable to continue in the fifth. He took the first fall in the third on a body slam.

of the Eastern League to the Chicago White Sox. He then became an outfielder and during his Chicago career, which lasted eleven years, he played on two championship teams, in 1917 and 1919. He was one of the players absolved of all blame in the world series scandal that caused the retirement of several White Sox stars from organized baseball.

Collins and "Nemo" Leibold came to the Red Sox in 1921 in a trade for Harry Hooper. The former remained here as an outfielder until 1925, when he became manager of the Pittsfield Eastern League club. The next two seasons were spent piloting the Des Moines club in the Western League, and he returned to Pittsfield, now his home city, for the seasons of 1928 and 1929. He started last season as manager of the Nashua club in the New England League and, when that twilight circuit was disbanded, returned to Des Moines, jumping that club from last to third place.

De Forrest in Lead on Links

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—John De Forrest of Surrey, Eng., shot a 38-36—74, two over par, today to lead sixty-seven amateurs in a preliminary qualifying round for the $7500 open golf tournament to be played here December 4-7.

Owing to the big entry list of amateurs who will compete along with the country's leading professionals, the preliminary qualifying round was necessary.

The regular qualifying trials will be held Tuesday. Thirty of today's players qualified for the regular qualifying round. Play was over the Lake Merced course while the tournament will be held on the Olympic Club's lakeside course.

JAMS THRILL FANS AT SIX-DAY EVENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Just twenty-four hours after the start of New York's forty-ninth international six-day bicycle race, a full day marked by jams and spills, an offer of a $25 cash prize for a one-mile sprint started the excitement afresh and brought one of the most stirring hours of jamming of the race. Tony Beckman took the prize, but its influence went further, carrying the jamming on for a full hour and keeping the 8000 spectators in a state of constant excitement. Positions changed with great rapidity as the teams stole lap after lap.

At 10 o'clock the American-Belgian team of Freddy Spencer and Gerard Debaets was in the lead, a lap ahead of four rival teams.

MILLIONAIRES TRIM BAY CITY PUCKS, 4-3

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1. (AP)—The Los Angeles Millionaires defeated the San Francisco Tigers, 4 to 3, in an over-time ice hockey game here tonight. The game was won when Dan Carrigan picked the puck out of a mad scramble in front of the net and shot it in.

A few minutes after the second period started Jack Silkin of the Millionaires made the first score by shooting in a rebound from the baseboard. Buster Huffman of the Tigers evened the score a few minutes later. Each team scored twice in the third period. Walt Peltier, on assists from Carrigan and Dutch Singer, accounted for both Millionaire tallies. Huffman and Vic McGregor scored for the Tigers.

CUMMINGS WILL COMPETE AGAIN

Ranking Racing Star Sends in Entry for Race

Bill Cummings, third ranking A.A.A. speed king of the United States and one of the latest sensations of the auto-racing game in this section, yesterday signed to drive in next Sunday afternoon's 100-lap grind at the Legion Ascot Speedway. The easterner, who broke in the picture here two weeks ago and surprised by winning the Italian Helmet Dash, the fastest race on the local schedule, the first time he had ever driven the course, will again handle his No. 19 Frontenac special.

The "big three" of the national championship competition will be at the starting line Sunday. Billy Arnold, the champion, does not expect to drive but he will have his No. 40 creation entered with Ernie Triplett at the wheel. The monarch of the American speedways will be on hand to give Triplett final instructions. "Shorty" Cantlon, runner-up for this year's title, has had his car overhauled and will be among those going to the post. Cummings, who finished right on the diminutive Detroit ace's heels this year in the battle for the national title, is expected to qualify among the first three starting the century jaunt.

Word being passed around local gasoline alley is to the effect that some blinding speed can be expected from Ralph De Palma. The Italian star, who was overtaken by hard luck two weeks ago when motor trouble forced him back to fifth place, has completely rejuvenated his Miller and intends to show the youngsters some tricks of the game.

DOC SPEARS NOW RUMORED FOR PRICE'S JOB

BERKELEY, Dec. 1. (AP)—Persistent but unconfirmed reports on the University of California campus today were that Dr. Clarence Spears, University of Oregon football coach, was one of the leading candidates to succeed C. M. (Nibs) Price as coach at California.

Following the Oregon-St. Mary's game, in San Francisco Thanksgiving Day, Spears and Graduate Manager W. W. Monohan of California held a long conference. It was considered significant, inasmuch as Monohan will pick the new California coach.

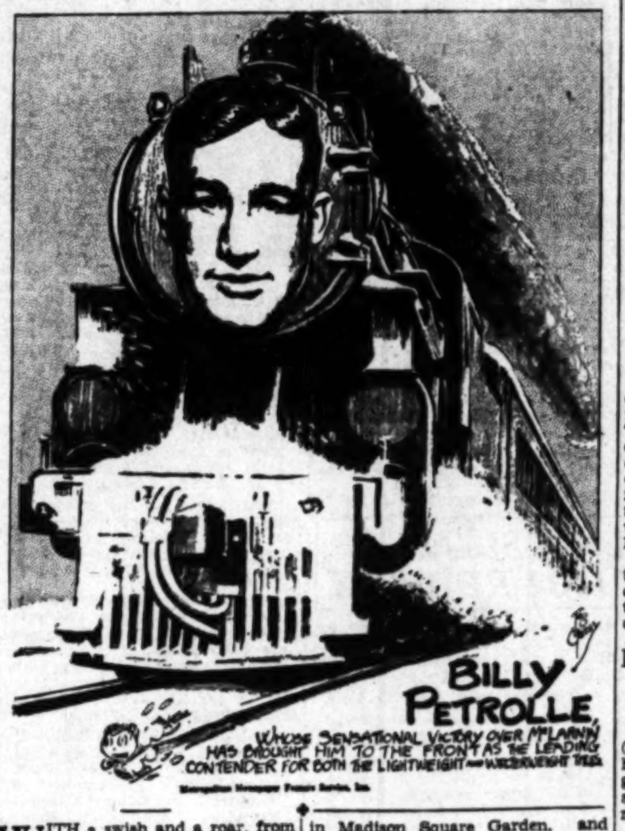
It was reported Spears is in a receptive mood. He has a five-year contract at Oregon, which began this season, but it is said the contract is binding only on the university's side.

Monohan was uncommunicative on the subject.

MAPLE LEAFS WIN OVER L. A. BRUINS

Val Richards, star Maple Leaf forward, made a sensational goal with only three minutes of the game left to play, to give his team a 3-to-2 victory over the Los Angeles Bruins in a Southern California Senior League ice hockey tilt in the Palais de Glace last night. The Bruins were leading 2 to 0 in the earlier stages of the contest, but a fast rally by the Maple Leafs accounted for three goals and a victory.

FARGO EXPRESS - by Feg Murray



BILLY PETROLLE,
WHOSE SENSATIONAL VICTORY OVER McLARNIN HAS BROUGHT HIM TO THE FRONT AS THE LEADING CONTENDER FOR BOTH THE LIGHTWEIGHT—WELTERWEIGHT TITLES Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

WITH a swish and a roar, from the snow-covered plains of South Dakota comes the Fargo Express, leaving destruction in his "wake." Woe to any lightweight or welterweight that gets in his way, for this engine of destruction is on a nonstop journey to a title right now, with no lights or signals set against it.

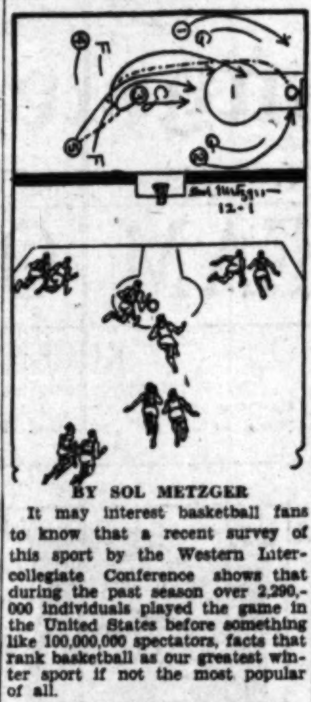
New York is still talking about the pulse-throbbing fight on November 21, when Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, defeated Jimmy McLarnin, the idol of fistiana, in one of the most sensational melees ever seen in a New York ring. One spectator actually died of heart failure, and thousands of surething betters, who had McLarnin at 5 to 1, nearly met the same fate, especially in that never-to-be-forgotten fourth round when the baby-faced Terror was down twice for counts of nine.

Petrolle was the third short-ender to upset a favorite in as many weeks in Madison Square Garden, and one's mind grows dizzy at the thought of what a $10 note, parlayed on La Barba, Canzoneri and Petrolle, would have brought in at the prevailing odds. These three Italians triumphed over supposedly more formidable rivals when La Barba beat Kid Chocolate, Canzoneri k.o.'d Al Singer and Petrolle whipped Jimmy McLarnin.

The little fellows are certainly taking the play away from the heavyweights lately. A few more evenings like November 3, 14 and 21 and the slump in the sock market will be completely ended!

Billy Petrolle, who has now won fourteen victories in his last fifteen starts, was born in 1905 and started his "career" in 1924. He has already scored a win over Tony Canzoneri before the "Little Babe Ruth" won the lightweight crown, but prefers a shot at Welterweight Champion Tommy Freeman first, rather than a go with Tony. Billy would naturally lose less prestige if beaten by the heavier Freeman, and then could fall back on a Canzoneri match.

Purdue Uses Quick-Break Casaba Play



BY SOL METZGER

It may interest basketball fans to know that a recent survey of this sport by the Western Intercollegiate Conference shows that during the past season over 2,290,000 individuals played the game in the United States before something like 100,000,000 spectators, facts that rank basketball as our greatest winter sport if not the most popular of all.

At the same time a record team was produced at Purdue by Coach Ward Lambert, a five that won the Western Conference title without a defeat or tie, placed two of its men, Murphy, a giant center, and Wooden, the running guard, on the all-conference team and two others, Harmeson, a forward and crack football back, and Boots, another guard, on the second mythical line-up.

So, let us start this series of articles by studying the system that put Purdue on the pinnacle. Here's one of its best plays, a play that starts when its guard, No. 5, gets the ball in the back court. The other four team-mates then take the positions shown in the diagram. No. 3, the center, runs toward No. 5 and takes a pass from him, enabling No. 5 to cut past him like a flash as No. 3 pivots and hands the ball to No. 5, thus blocking both their opponents from stopping the dribble of No. 5 for the basket. To further insure his uninterrupted progress, No. 1 and No. 2, Purdue's forwards, break for their respective court corners to draw their immediate opponents from the center of the floor down which No. 5 dribbles for an easy shot, ere they in turn break for the basket to secure the rebound in case No. 5's shot misses.

DE MILLE SCORES WIN AT CULVER CITY CLUB

Augie De Mille won by a knockout in the fourth round over Manuel Trevino at the Culver City arena last night. The bout was the main event of the evening and was originally scheduled for six rounds. Jack Willis scored a four-round victory over Lawrence Mazarro in the semi-wind-up. Jack Shoemaker knocked out Ted Daniels in the second round of the special event. Johnny Uzcudin kayoed Eddie Tomansio in the second round and Jimmy Torres defeated Pat Gomez in the four-round opening bout.

JAYSEE SQUADS BATTLE FRIDAY

Riverside and Compton to Clash for Laurels

Riverside and Compton Junior colleges will meet for the championship of the Southern California Junior College Conference Friday, according to an announcement made yesterday by the heads of the two schools. The game is to be played on the Riverside field and will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Compton, which is undefeated this season, won the western division title. The Tartars, coached by "Deacon" Pine, Frank Anthony and Ed Suggett, have won eight games and tied two. The ties are a scoreless game with the Trojan frosh in the beginning of the season and a 6-6 battle with the Santa Ana Junior College team. The Tartars hold wins over the Loyola freshmen, Taft Jaysee and the U.S.S. Mississippi in addition to their conference victories.

The Riverside Tigers have dropped but one game, a 7-6 battle with the Redlands varsity. Coaches Jess Hill and Jess Mortenson have a powerful squad built around Ollie Arbelbide, brother of the star Trojan end, and expect to win from the Tartars.

The winner of this battle will meet the winner of the Menlo-Bakersfield fracas for the State championship. Menlo and Bakersfield are the semifinalists in the northern section.

ELKS TO STAGE CHARITY GAME

and Law as guards; Twomey, great lineman of 1929; Bach, McMullen and Miller as tackles; Conley, Voedisch, O'Brien and Walsh as ends.

Although Rockne has been billed to appear in New York and Chicago coaching all-star teams preceding the local date, Pickens says the terms of his contract call for the Irish mentor to stay here and coach his all-stars for the Coliseum game.

Pickens is the gentleman who came west with the Alabama team that beat Washington, 20 to 19, and he promoted the South-West all-star game which was all but rained out here in 1928.

ROCKNE THREATENS TO CANCEL GAMES

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—Old-time football stars from Notre Dame may never play another charity game under the direction of Knute Rockne.

The Notre Dame coach told friends here today just before he left with his Irish gridders for Saturday's game with Southern California that he was seriously considering calling off the charity games scheduled for his old stars in New York on the 14th inst., and at Los Angeles during the holidays.

The decision came, it was said, after Coach Rockne and Chicago Shrine officials had checked over the expenses of staging the Notre Dame-Northwestern old-timers' battle at Soldier Field on Thanksgiving Day as part of a charity day football program.

"The expenses of the Notre Dame team averaged $148 per man. There were twenty-two men on the squad and the expense account aside from the hotel bill in Chicago, totaled almost $3400."

Will H. Wade, chairman of the Shriners' charity game committee, said tonight:

"Rockne thought this was too much and he told me he believed it would end his charity game program for this year and that he would wire the promoters in New York and at Los Angeles that the other two games were off."

Mr. Wade continued the chairman of the Shriners' game committee denied there was any controversy over the payment of the expense accounts, but said the settlement would await Rockne's return from Los Angeles following the Notre Dame-Southern California game on Saturday.

The report that Rockne was considering the cancellation of the game in the East and on the Pacific Coast came as a shock, particularly to the New Yorkers, who were to stage the December 14 contest between Notre Dame's old stars and the New York Giants, a professional team. The advance ticket sale for this game opened in New York today and it reached the $40,000 mark.

The New York promoters declared the games assured a charity fund of from $190,000 to $200,000. They had not received any notice of cancellation from Rockne. They declared if there was a controversy coming out of the Chicago game involving a few thousand dollars they would gladly pay the bill if it would assure the appearance of the Notre Dame old stars in New York.

But Rockne was aboard a special train speeding west. Whether he changed his mind about cancelling the games after he left Chicago could not be determined tonight.

RODGERS QUITS AS MOUNTAINEER COACH

MORGANTOWN (W. Va.) Dec. 1. (AP)—Ira Rodgers resigned tonight as head football coach at West Virginia University, a post he has held since 1926. He declined comment regarding his action.

The university's athletic board of control announced that A. Earle (Greasy) Neale, former coach at Washington and Jefferson, would be recommended to succeed Rodgers.

West Virginia ended its season with five victories and five defeats by losing to Oregon State at Chicago Thanksgiving.

YOUNGSTER VICTOR IN MANDELL BATTLE

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Dec. 1. (AP) Steve Halaiko, Auburn, N. Y., smashed his way to a brilliant victory over Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., former lightweight champion, in an eight-round battle here tonight. The rising young scrapper battered his more experienced opponent with a ripping left jab. Both of Mandell's eyes were nearly closed at the end of the bout and he had a cut lip and battered nose. Halaiko weighed 137, Mandell, 140.

Junior Tennis on Tap Sunday at Local Club

Invitations were recently issued to fifty-three junior boys and girls in Southern California to compete in the second semiannual round robin tennis tournament, which is to be staged on the Los Angeles Tennis Club courts Sunday under the auspices of and sponsored by the Southern California Tennis Association, the Tennis Patrons' Association of Southern California, and the L.A.T.C. The purpose of the event is to develop junior tennis players of the Pacific-Southwest. It is being run off under the direction of the junior development committee, which is composed of Perry T. Jones, secretary of the S.C.T.A., chairman, Miss Doris Cook, Roland D. Reinke, Jack Tidball, Almon F. Manspeaker and Rea P. Chittenden.

There will be two events, junior boys' and junior girls' singles. Thirty-two will be entered in the boys' event, which will be divided into four groups of eight players each. Each player will play the other seven players in his group a total of eight games, thereby allowing each player to compete in a total of fifty-six games.

Twenty-one are going to play in the girls' singles, with three groups composed of seven players each being arranged. Each girl will play the other six in her division a match of eight games, making the total, for the six matches, forty-eight games. In case of a tie in any match—that is if both players get four games—one set will be played to determine the winner.

Three prizes will be presented in each division to the boys and girls winning the greatest number of games, "providing the winners are appropriately attired for tournament competition, exhibit the highest ideals of sportsmanship, and display a proper tendency toward good and sound tennis tactics, together with proper stroking." First prize, in both events, will either be a three-months playing privilege at the L.A.T.C. or a new tennis racket. Second prize will be either of the selections not taken by the first-prize winner, while third prize will be a box of tennis balls.

Because of the great interest shown in the first junior tournament of this type—a junior-senior doubles event—the tournament officials are expecting even a greater interest in the coming event as it is to be a singles tourney. No admission charge will be required of spectators, and all interested are cordially invited to attend the matches throughout the day.

Bulls, Bears in Cage Tilts

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange Institute Basketball League will soon end a most successful season of play. The league is divided into two sections, the Bulls and the Bears. Altogether ten teams, representing as many brokerage firms identified with the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, have participated in the play this year.

E. F. Hutton & Co., winner of the Bull division, and E. A. Pierce & Co., winner of the Bear division, will meet in a three-game play-off tomorrow, Friday and Monday nights, at the Hollywood High School, to determine the championship.

The winner of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Institute championship will meet the winner of the San Francisco Stock Exchange Institute for the State championship. This game will be played the 13th inst.

Coach Jim Blewett, of the noted Blewett family, has piloted the Pierce outfit through the spirited opposition of the Bears without losing a game. His squad of big players, incidentally several over six feet, played heads-up basketball at all times, and undoubtedly are the class of that division. The line-ups:

Cooklin	Forward	Steppling

SHELL OILERS MEET ROYAL GIANTS NEXT

Bill Piestner's Shell Oilers, one of the strongest clubs of the Winter League, make their Wrigley Field debut next Sunday when they play a double-header against the fast-stepping Philadelphia Royal Giants. The Shells have several Hollywood favorites in their line-up, among them being Johnny Kerr, now with the White Sox; Jess Hill, popular young outfielder; Mickey Heath, who reports to Cincinnati next spring; Dud Lee, sparkling shortstop, and Hank Severeid, slugging catcher. Ray Jacobs, Angel infielder, and Hal Rhyne, former Seal who is now with the Red Sox, are also on the Oilers' roster. Howard Craghead, who was recently sold to the Cleveland Indians; Lou McEvoy, Yankee right-hander, and Herman Pillette are the Shell pitchers.

SHELL OILERS TAKE ICE HOCKEY BATTLE

The Shell Oil Tigers defeated the Sunfreeze Bears last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace by 8-to-3 score. The game which was one of the roughest of the season, was featured by the sterling play of Doc Clayman, goalie of the winning team.

FRESNO PREPS NAB TITLE

FRESNO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Overwhelming the Fowler High School team under a barrage of power plays, Fresno High School's football team today won the county title. The score was 46 to 0. Fresno High will play Taft High School here Friday or Saturday in the semifinal for the San Joaquin Valley grid title.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

ROCKNE'S PSYCHOLOGY

IT IS quite apparent that in preparation for next Saturday's gigantic Mr. Knute Rockne is not going to let his esteemed rival, Mr. Howard Jones, get the psychological jump on him.

Knute says some of the Los Angeles newspaper men have made Southern California the favorite over Notre Dame by four touchdowns.

If that is true, Knute has been writing letters to himself on the subject. No football scribbler in this section has been so giddy in the dome as to predict an overwhelming victory for the Trojans.

The Trojans may win after a terrific struggle, but not by any such margin as Knute mentions unless the Irish are a lot weaker than their unbeaten record indicates.

However, it's a great idea to put in the minds of his players, but if he wants to produce any clippings as evidence Knute will have to hire a plant and print his own newspaper.

A BLOCKING STORY

THE story of superb blocking was told again in Notre Dame's victory Saturday over the Army. Blocking, generalship and the speed of a good back.

Notre Dame had been pecking away at the Army line all day with indifferent success on a slimy, slippery field. Suddenly, Schwartz was sprung into the open for a 60-yard run in which Army men were cut down as if with a scythe.

Four years ago Notre Dame beat Army 7 to 0 the same way. Notre Dame had Christy Flanagan that year. They broke him loose just once—the same play as Saturday (between tackle and end)—and Miller and Voedisch, left tackle and left end, respectively, came over from their positions to cut down the left side of the Army box defense as Flanagan ran to the right.

When Notre Dame came to the Coast in 1926 the Trojans were laying for Flanagan and that play. Flanagan was bottled up, but while the Trojans were keeping him in hand the Irish scored in two plays from midfield, O'Boyle knocking off 27 yards on a split buck and O'Riley going the rest of the way around end.

Both runs were the result of great blocking, and when you see Notre Dame and Southern California in action next Saturday you will see two teams which have developed this fundamental to the highest degree.

WHAT A WHOPPER

THE more you think of Rockne's radio talk about the Trojans whipping the Irish by "four touchdowns" the funnier it sounds.

The weakest Notre Dame eleven Rockne ever sent out to the Coast was beaten by a two-touchdown margin.

That was the 1928 team, which already had been trimmed by Wisconsin, Georgia Tech and Carnegie Tech. The Trojans won 27 to 14, and the Trojans had an undefeated team.

This year Notre Dame comes to the Coast with victories over all, and not even a tie. Southern California has been downed once.

And on successive Saturdays the Irish have beaten the strongest teams in the Middle West and East—Northwestern and Army.

Oh, Mr. Rockne, how could you pin such a prodigious one on your newspaper friends?

DE PALMA'S JUDGMENT

RALPH DE PALMA certainly gave the current crop of race drivers a cheer over KHJ during The Times sports half-hour interview the other night.

"They're smarter and get more out of their mounts than the old-timers," he said.

Generally, the youngsters suffer by comparison with the old-time heroes, but De Palma puts them ahead of names that were idolized years ago.

De Palma lists Joe Boyer, David Bruce Brown, Jimmy Murphy and Dario Resta as four of the greatest drivers he ever knew or drove against. All of them are dead. Resta is the man who raced De Palma neck-and-neck the year Ralph won at Indianapolis—1915.

Olympic Auditorium, and Tom Gallery, manager of the Hollywood Legion Stadium are expected to be among the first witnesses called. The meetings are open to the public. The committee already has held several investigations in the north, but will not make its report until all of the meetings have been completed.

Mercury Five Face Sagehens

Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball players make their season's debut tonight at Claremont, the Mercuries taking on the Pomona College Sagehens in a practice game. "Rags" Wilcox, player-coach of the club team, plans to try out his entire squad of men tonight, as he has had no opportunity to look over his talent in a game.

Charley Hyatt, the "Red" Grange of the hardwood court, will start at one of the forward positions with Wilcox occupying the opposite berth. Tom Pickell, the six-foot, six-inch giant from Arkansas, will be at center with Carl Shy and Jim DeMers at guards. Wilcox and DeMers are the only holdovers from the championship L.A.A.C. team of last year. Hyatt is an all-American from Pittsburgh, while Pickell won the same rating in the South. Shy is from U.C.L.A. and one of the best defensive guards in the West.

Frank Smith from U.S.C., Nip McHose from Stanford and several more capable reserves will see action with the clubmen tonight.

COACH FRED DAWSON MAY RESUME WORK

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Fred Dawson, whose 1922 and 1923 Nebraska football teams conquered Notre Dame, is considering returning to coaching following a two-year lay-off made necessary by a serious breakdown in health.

Dawson resigned as football coach at Nebraska at the end of the 1924 season and went to Denver for his health. There he coached until two years ago, when he was forced to give up all activity.

CASANOVA, RUDENSKI SIGNED FOR RING GO

Sandy Casanova, Mexican light-heavyweight, will meet Frank Rudinski, Polish heavyweight, in one of the six-round feature bouts at the Main-street Club Saturday night. He is the heaviest opponent Casanova has met, being a 185-pounder while the Mexican tips the beam around 170 pounds. Casanova has scored ten straight knockouts at the Main-street.

ends and a bigger backfield than Alabama.

"From what I could judge, Washington State and Alabama are pretty evenly matched in weight. The Cougars will outweigh Alabama in the backfield and we may have a few pounds to spare in the line.

"Hein, Washington State's great center, is one of the best pivot men I have ever seen against forward passes. He intercepted three passes Saturday. There may be a better center in the country than Hein, but I have my doubts."

Wade expressed the conviction the Cougars should have scored "six or seven" touchdowns over Villanova.

He did not discuss his training plans, other than that he probably would give his men a week's rest before beginning preparation for the Pasadena game.

COUGARS' PLAY DIAGRAMS GONE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Where, the Washington State College football team wanted to know today, are the papers?

A suitcase containing diagrams of the plays which Washington State intended to use in its game against Alabama, at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses January 1, was stolen from William Tonkin, the team's quarterback, at a New York hotel Saturday night.

The suitcase with its precious freight was filched during a party the players held to celebrate their victory over Villanova at Philadelphia.

The Washington State team was in Washington, D. C., today to meet President Hoover.

ZORILLA, FERNANDEZ MEET IN PASADENA

Santiago Zorilla will meet Ignacio Fernandez Thursday night at Pasadena. Four-round bouts which will supplement the card will be: Joe Pimenthal vs. Lew Title, 123 pounds; Jack Haywood vs. "Gabby" Gene Mullen, 170 pounds; Henry Gaitten vs. "Bad Man" Divila, 160 pounds; Eddie Guangco vs. Johnnie Granonle, 122 pounds; "Honest" Murphy vs. Eddie Lozano, 140 pounds.

ANDERSEN EXPECTS BIG ANGLING SEASON

HERMOSA BEACH, Dec. 1.—Capt. J. M. Andersen, skipper of the big Olympic fishing barge, is expecting the best winter deep-sea fishing season for Southern California in years. With good angling weather prevailing and the fish biting harder than ever, the genial skipper of the Olympic is in good spirits these days. Mackerel, sand-dabs, bonito and blue perch top the daily catches.

Olympic Signs Four Fighters

Two December matches were announced yesterday by the Olympic. They will feature Eddie Mack with Maurice Holtzer the 9th inst. and Baby Joe Gans with Andy Divodi a week later.

Mack, Denver lightweight, was held to a draw by Cecil Payne two weeks ago here. Holtzer won nine out of ten rounds from Bud Taylor recently.

Gans is just home from New York where he has become an established attraction and is hailed as the Negro junior welterweight champion of the world. Divodi, New York Italian, has been boxing in San Francisco where he scored two quick knockouts.

TROJANS DRILL FOR ROCKNEMEN

How he will perform against an attack such as Notre Dame presents remains to be seen. Joslin will be backed up by Biggs from last year's frosh.

Garrett Arbelbide at right end will have Gene Clark as his understudy. Beyond these four men the Trojans haven't much to offer in the way of wingmen.

Harold Hammack's fine performance against Washington on Thanksgiving day gives the Trojans an adequate replacement for Pinckert if Erny is unable to go the full route as seems likely.

Aubrey Devine, who has been East more than a month scouting the Irish, returned Sunday night, flying back from Chicago. Devine is no chatterbox on football at any time, but yesterday he was a positive sphynx. He did cut loose with the following bits of information:

"Notre Dame is a lot better than I ever saw them before.

"The Irish are not a muddy-field team.

"Metzger, weighing, so they say, 155, is the best guard for his size I ever saw.

"Brill and Carideo are the best Notre Dame backs and there is little to choose between them.

"Notre Dame has wonderful ends. More yardage has been lost than gained trying to run around them."

Having said which Mr. Devine shut up like a clam, declaring that the golf was excellent in the Midwest and that he considered himself lucky to return from Chicago without any bullet holes in his hat.

Officials for Saturday's game are Frank Birch, referee; Horace Gillett, umpire; Jay Wyatt, field judge, and Norman Barker, head linesman.

IRISH OUTFIT ON WAY WEST

one, but maybe we'll get it," he shouted as a farewell.

There was no doubt Rockne expected another victory.

All of the players with the exception of Larry (Moon) Mullins and Capt. Tom Conley, an end of no mean ability, were in fair condition. Both suffered bruises from the Army entanglement, but both of them insisted they would be back on the firing line Saturday. They undoubtedly will be.

CAPABLE TEAM

Seven ends, six tackles, seven guards, three centers, four quarterbacks, eight halfbacks and three fullbacks made up the personnel of the Notre Dame squad. They were Vik, O'Brien, Mahoney, Kosky, Host, Conley and Baille, ends; McNamara, McMannon, Kurth, Hoffman, Donaghue and Culver, tackles; Greeney, Harris, Kassis, Kersjes, Metzger, Pierce and Terlaak, guards; Yarr, Rogers and Butler, centers; Carideo, Cronin, Jaskwich and Murphy, quarterbacks; Brill, Kaplan, Koken, Leahy, Lukats, O'Connor, Schwartz and Sheeketski, halfbacks; Mullins, Hanley and Howard, fullbacks.

Among the fans aboard the train was J. E. Brill, father of Marty Brill, one of Notre Dame's prize halfbacks. The elder Brill said nothing about giving his son another $1000 a touchdown bonus like he did in the Pennsylvania game, but admitted the lure of seeing his son play his final college football game was too much for him."

OXY CAGERS TURN OUT FOR PRACTICE

Thirty-five potential cage artists turned out for the first formal basketball practice at Occidental yesterday afternoon. Coach Eddie Kienholz drove his aggregation through a hard practice and ended up with a scrimmage between two squads. He plans to have two fives of equal strength this season.

The Tiger mentor is fortunate in having six letter men from which to build his quad this winter. They include Capt. Larry Dimter, Dick Clover, Abe Elliott, Johnny Gustovich, Bob Blee, and Jerry Hiatt. Besides these men, the work of Don Main, Al Hunt, Bill Noble, Art Powers, and Joe Margudant was outstanding in yesterday's scrimmage.

TWO NEW HOCKEY STARS JOIN LOCALS

Two new hockey players will join the Los Angeles Millionaires Thursday when they face the Oakland Sheiks at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. Mel Malwick yesterday announced the acquisition of Ted Jacques, 190-pound athlete from Minneapolis, and John Bruenteau of Winnipeg. Saunders and Pridham failed to get across the Canadian border.

The Millionaires will head south tomorrow, when their northern tour will have been completed. The Sheiks, last year's champions, have started on the way to another title, and it will be up to the Millionaires to knock them off.

GEORGE STARTS MAT WORKOUTS

Challenger Loses No Time Preparing for Champ

Don George lost no time in getting down to heavy training in preparation for his finish title battle with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, scheduled for the Olympic, the 10th inst.

GUS SONNENBERG

The challenger rounded up a group of trainers who helped him prepare for his first meeting with the champion, and went through his first strenuous grind at the Commercial Club, yesterday.

There are two things George will work for in getting ready for this bout. One of them is the perfection of the flying tackle, the hold he used so effectively in his first match with Sonnenberg, and the other, a new hold.

George used nearly every effective grip he was master of in his first attempt to wrest the title from Sonnenberg here in October. In past bouts here Sonnenberg has always shown that he beats his foes easier the second time he meets them than he does the first time. The reason for this is said to be the fact that he gets a very good line on his foe's ability the first time they clash.

This was pointed out as to have been the case in the return match Sonnenberg has had with Ed Lewis, Joe Stecher, Joe Malcewicz and Everette Marshall, here. These grapplers, according to close followers of the mat game, used only the same grips on the champion in return matches.

George gave Sonnenberg so much trouble with the grips he used that the mat king was out on his feet at the time the match ended. According to experts, George had a more bewildering collection of holds and more endurance than the champion had encountered in any challenger he had met as title-holder.

Sonnenberg postponed two bouts to come west at this time for the George match. He is expected to fly east immediately after the bout to keep his engagements, if he is still champion at that time.

Promoter Lou Daro is working on an all-star supporting card that is expected to include such grapplers as Henri De Glane, Nick Lutze, Dan Koloff and Ed Lewis.

favored over the lighter Redondo eleven; while Long Beach and Whittier appear to be fairly evenly matched.

Schutte has a very heavy first team this year, the line averaging 181 pounds and the backfield 175 pounds. That seems pretty heavy for a prep team, but last year's Golden Tornado was even heavier, the line being about the same, while the backs hit the scales around a 188 pounds per each.

The chief threats in the front wall are Joe Tortillini, tackle; Tenney, guard, Stone, line captain and center, and Lillard, end. Eddie King, the backfield captain, is the best of the ball packers. Louie Sacconaghi, quarter has at times shown great ability.

Lloyd Waller's Redondo squad resumed work yesterday after their 31-6 triumph over Covina Saturday, and are hoping to turn the tables on Santa Barbara, as they did on the Colts. With "Dynamite" Walt Schell in good shape, the Tornado will have quite a time stopping the hard charging Seahawk backfield ace.

Don Douglas's Whittier Cardinals, with ten straight victories under their belts are primed to give the Long Beach Jackrabbits a wild battle. Orian Landreth's eleven has lost but one game in two years, an early season 19-6 decision to Manual Arts this year, and Long Beach fans claim that the Jackrabbits are going to repeat their performance of last season, when they won the Southern California title from Santa Barbara.

SAVOLDI'S PLAYING COSTLY TO BEARS

COLUMBUS (O.) Dec. 1. (Exclusive)—The Chicago Bears, professional football club of the National Professional League, will be fined another $1000 for the second infraction of the college class player rule after playing Joe Savoldi in the game Sunday with the Portsmouth club in Chicago.

Attaches of the president's office here said that the Bears "had been warned not to use Savoldi" following their playing of the former Notre Dame star on Thanksgiving Day and "were told that further use would bring another fine."

MIDGET WOLGAST IN EASY FISTIC VICTORY

JERSEY CITY (N. J.) Dec. 4. (AP) Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia, recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as world's flyweight champion, came back to the ring tonight after a long rest and decisively outpointed Al Todisco of Jersey City in a ten-round bout. Wolgast weighed 114 pounds, Todisco 117.

OAKIE TO ENTERTAIN IRISH

Jack Oakie, film star, will serve as master of comedy at the reception banquet held by the Notre Dame Club of California for Knute Rockne's "fighting Irish" the evening of the squad's arrival in Los Angeles to meet the Southern California Trojans. The affair will be staged Friday night, at the Ambassador Hotel, and Oakie has been chosen as the only nonmember on the welcoming committee at the dinner.

Firemen Take Short Layoff From Gridiron

Bill Blewett, coach of the Los Angeles Fire Department football team, announced yesterday that his players who have won nine games this season will take a layoff for the next ten days. The Firemen have rolled up one of the highest scoring records in the nation. They have beaten such teams as Arizona State, West Coast Army, San Jose State College, Santa Barbara American Legion, Oneonta Military Academy, Submarine Base, U.S.S. California, Arroyo Grande A. C. and the San Diego Marines.

The Firemen boast one of the finest lines in the country and a backfield which just sparkles with power. On the squad are such stars as Don Moses, Boots Byers, Milt Nolan, Les Grimes, Royce Wheeler, Hank Reisner and Lawrence Casey.

The "big game" on the fire department schedule will be played on Christmas Day at the Coliseum. They face North Dakota University, a team that has lost but one game this season and that to the West Point Army team. When you consider that the Pointers lost but by one point to Notre Dame is it something to look forward to when they meet the Hook-and-Ladder squad.

E. O. Barnett, athletic director for the Firemen, believes that the game will draw the largest crowd that has ever seen the Smoke-eaters perform here.

OXY GRIDDERS FETED

The Oxy senior football men were guests at a banquet given last night by Bill Anderson, assistant varsity grid coach. Coach and Mrs. Anderson are hosts to the senior Tiger gridders each year and served nine last night. They were Capt. Jerry Chappell, Dick Glover, Howdy Marsh, Bill Meyers, Art Elliott, Stoney Johnston, Ernie Jensen, Bob Freeman, and Bob Williams, manager.

LES KENNEDY TO SUB FOR AL FAY IN HOLLYWOOD GO

Al Fay has an injured hand and will not fight Al Morro at the Hollywood Legion Stadium but Les Kennedy, Wilmington heavyweight, will substitute for Fay and he fights Morro. This shot brings together Kennedy and Morro for the first time. Fay will probably meet the winner when his hand is right, which will be in three weeks.

The Morro-Kennedy fight is regarded at Hollywood as the equal of the Fay-Morro fight. Jim Jeffries states yesterday that Morro is ready for any heavyweight on the Coast. He should beat Kennedy, according to Jeffries, who has his protege in excellent shape.

Joe Galvis, Filipino lightweight who will be remembered for the decision he won over Young Papke at Hollywood, fights Johnny Previs in the semi-wind-up. Previs stopped Marcelino Lomelli the last fight he had at the stadium. He has won his two fights at Hollywood by knockouts.

A pair of flyweights will be featured in the special event. Mickey Erno fights Pepi Sanchez, a newcomer.

William A. Reid, graduate manager, in replying to the St. Mary athletic officials, pointed out Colgate already had agreed to play a post-season contest with New York University at the Yankee Stadium next Saturday for the unemployment fund.

This, he explained, had made it necessary for the student body to shorten its Christmas holiday, and further cuts of class-room time were impossible.

HECTOR, CORDOZA TO COLLIDE TOMORROW

Mike Hector, veteran welterweight scrapper, and Joe Cordoza, hard-hitting Culver City youngster, clash in the ten-round main event at the Wilmington Bowl Wednesday night. Cordoza, who has scored seven kayoes in his last ten starts, is a 10-to-8 favorite over the veteran Irishman.

Alf Cleverley, former light-heavyweight champion of the British army and navy and of New Zealand, meets Andy Dumler, Pasadena warrior, in the six-round semi-wind-up. Other bouts carded are: Sailor Smith vs. Lafayette Pierson, heavyweights, six rounds; Don Con vs. Harold Olton, welterweights, four rounds; Georgie Hanford vs. Pete Shaveda, four rounds.

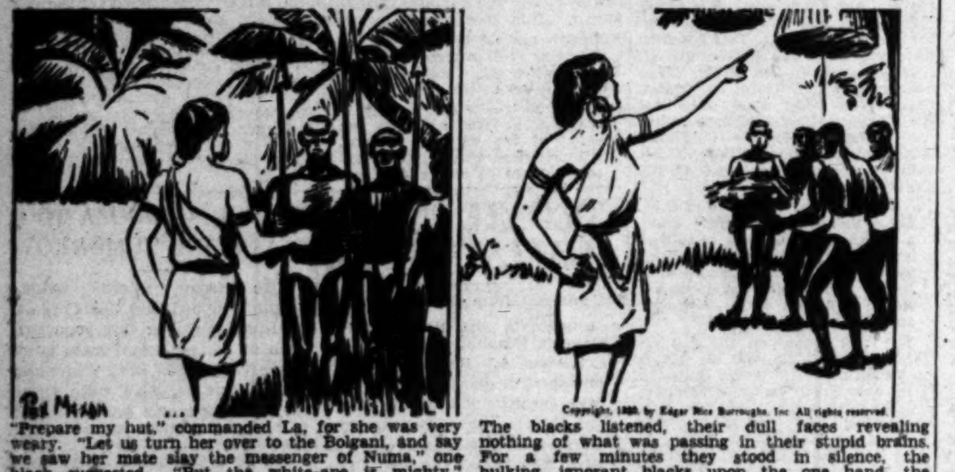
TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

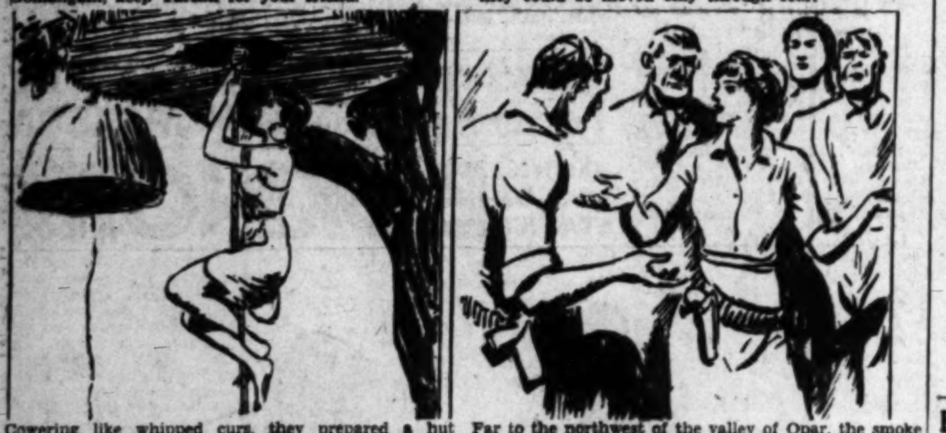
By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, [illegible], by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

"Prepare my hut," commanded La, for she was very weary. "Let us turn her over to the Bolgani, and say we saw her mate slay the messenger of Numa," one black suggested. "But the white-ape is mighty," cautioned another. "He would make a terrible enemy." "You are right," cried La, "he is great. Single-handed he grapples with Numa, the lion, and slays him. You saw with what ease he lifted the body of huge Bolgani to his shoulder; how he carried it lightly down the forest trail. If you are wise Gomangani, keep Tarzan for your friend."

The blacks listened, their dull faces revealing nothing of what was passing in their stupid brains. For a few minutes they stood in silence, the hulking, ignorant blacks upon the one hand, the slender, beautiful woman upon the other. Again La spoke. "Go!" she cried imperiously. It was the Queen of Opar now, addressing slaves! Her commanding tones wrought instant change in the villagers and the High Priests of the Flaming God knew that Tarzan was right in his assumption that they could be moved only through fear.



Cowering like whipped curs, they prepared a hut for her, fetching fresh leaves and grasses for its floor, fruits, nuts and plantains for her food. When all was ready, La clambered up the rope, and through the circular opening in the floor, she drew the rope up after her. Throwing herself upon the soft bed, the swaying of the swinging hut and the silence, save for the voice of birds, soon lulled La of Opar into deep slumber. And as she slept, Tarzan of the Apes sped farther away through the jungle, bearing his dead burden.

Far to the northwest of the valley of Opar, the smoke rose from the cook fires of a camp. In it were some hundred blacks and five whites, eating their evening meal. The blacks, sullen, scowled over their scant food. The whites, apprehensive, kept their firearms close at hand. One of the party was Flora Hawkes. "They don't want much of an excuse to kill us," she was saying, "we sure are in a jam—unless we can get game." "If anyone can get us out of this, you can, Flora," said the handsome fellow they called Carl. "But I suggest we leave the gold, and save our lives."

HOPE REVIVED FOR MISSING

Flickering Light Seen by Skipper on San Nicolas Island Thought Camp Fire of Fidelity Crew

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Dec. 1. (AP)—A flickering light like that thrown from a small camp fire was glimpsed by a fishing boat skipper as he sailed past San Nicolas Island last night, reviving hope today for the safety of the crew of the lost fishing smack Fidelity.

The report was given to the Coast Guard by Capt. N. E. Meaghen of the Ione, who gave the light no thought when he sighted it because he was unaware that a boat was missing. A Coast Guard cutter left for the island, in the Santa Barbara group north of here, to investigate.

Capt. Meagher said the light was near the southeastern shore. Sailors engaged in the sea hunt for the Fidelity, which disappeared in a storm on November 21 with her crew of eleven men, found encouragement in the report, pointing out that the Fidelity was anchored in that vicinity at the time of the storm.

They believed it was likely that the boat was wrecked on the rocky shore and a fire built as a signal light. The island is a desert waste, uninhabited, and off the course of regular sea lanes.

Two other Coast Guard cutters are searching south of here. The Fidelity was known to have had engine trouble and it was believed she might have drifted southward with the storm.

Demurrers to Long Beach Complaint Against Score of Employees to Be Heard

LONG BEACH, Dec. 1.—Demurrers to the city complaints against twenty employees of the offshore gambling ships will be presented by Attorney John R. Burke when the score of defendants appear for plea in Department 4 of the Municipal Court Friday, he announced in court today.

When the men were arraigned, each on two counts of violating a new ordinance aimed at the shore contacts of the gambling ships, Burke asked that pleas be deferred until Friday and Judge Long granted the request.

Burke plans to argue demurrers along the lines of those which resulted in the Superior Court holding the State law and an earlier city ordinance invalid.

Fall From Jail Bunk May Be Fatal to Man

PASADENA, Dec. 1. — His skull fractured late yesterday when he fell from a bunk in the new City Jail, Charles P. Walsh, 50 years of age, who was arrested for intoxication last week, is reported to be near death at the Los Angeles General Hospital. At the time of his arrest, Walsh declared he had been living in a Union-street rooming-house while looking for work.

Police officials reported that Walsh lay down on a second-tier bunk to take a nap yesterday afternoon. He was later found lying on the floor in a pool of blood and although there are reported to have been no eyewitnesses, it is believed he fell when he turned over in his sleep. Although the fall was less than five feet, Pasadena Emergency Hospital physicians reported his skull was fractured.

Walsh requested the police to notify "Sister" Anthony of 2628 West Sixteenth street, Los Angeles, of his condition. The victim's permanent address is unknown.

Drinking Scenes to Be Banned in Pasadena

PASADENA, Dec. 1. — Drinking scenes, which cause motion-picture audiences to grab their hats and dash for the nearest water fountain as a last resort, will be banned from local theaters in the future, C. V. Cowan, city censor, announced today.

"I am endeavoring to eliminate all scenes which make people thirsty and cloak intoxication with smartness and respectability," Cowan declared today.

"During the past year," he asserted, "I have kept on file more than 100 pictures which exploit all forms of drinking, from the old-time brass rail gathering to the effete cocktail party. These scenes are thought by many of our best citizens to be at outs with the spirit of the Constitution."

In his monthly report, Cowan revealed that he has banned a magazine, "Hail Fellows Well Met," on the ground that it lists thirty reasons for drinking.

Man Held on Old Charges

POMONA, Dec. 1. — Vernon C. Smith, alias Mickey McDonald, of Los Angeles, was in the City Jail today on fictitious check charges preferred by local merchants, the charges being eleven months old.

Last year, Smith, according to arresting officers, posed as McDonald, and made a purchase in the F. W. Alley jewelry store, paying for an article with a check for $24.75, which proved to be worthless. He also established credit at several other local business houses, and then disappeared. Today, he again appeared at Alley's store and bargained with the proprietor. Alley immediately recognized the man, and quietly phoned for police, who placed him under arrest.

Fifteen Years in Bed; Veteran Gets Up, Dies

AZUSA, Dec. 1. —(AP)—His first trip to Southern California in fifteen years climaxed in death yesterday for William Samuel Peters, 37-year-old World War veteran, who died at 1:30 p.m. at the Monrovia Hospital from acute pneumonia.

The veteran, after spending fifteen years confined to his bed from injuries sustained during the war, came to Los Angeles a few days ago for his first pleasure trip in years, where he contracted a heavy cold, which, almost overnight, settled into a severe case of pneumonia. As his lungs were weak, the dread disease took its toll quickly, and ended the intended "journey of joy" for the soldier.

He is affiliated with a Masonic Lodge in Canada, and is a prominent member of San Francisco Commandery and Royal Arch Chapter. As he has no relatives here, Azusa Masons will conduct services at the grave in Oakdale Cemetery tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Probationer to Go to Prison on Liquor Count

VENTURA, Dec. 1.—Guy Masterson of this city was ordered sent to San Quentin penitentiary today for an indeterminate sentence by Superior Judge Edward Henderson, who revoked probation given him two years ago. Masterson had been charged with possession and sale of liquor by the District-Attorney's office because in November they asserted, they purchased from him, through special deputies, three half-gallon jugs of bootleg whisky.

Masterson pleaded guilty to the charge of possession of a still in Superior Court in 1928 and asked for probation. He was given a three months' sentence in the County Jail, which he served, and then was released on probation.

He was charged this time with throwing a flask, partly filled with liquor, from a window in his home, when the deputies entered to search it and arrest him.

On the stand today he said he had no idea how the liquor came into his home, unless it had been brought there by his wife under a doctor's prescription.

Artist Son's Trip Nipped in Bud

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 1.—Some Texas cowboys probably missed a chance to reach the hall of fame today when Chattin Maison, 11-year-old son of Mary Maison, the artist, who in private life is Mrs. Frederick Maison of Manhattan Beach, was picked up here by local police while on his way to the cow country to paint cowboys.

Chattin, representing the third generation of artists, is a talented wielder of the brush and palette himself and proudly displayed a small shotgun purchased from sales of his pictures and which he was carrying with him.

The start was made early this morning in company with Norman Nichols, 16, who told police that his father is Rev. N. R. Nichols of the Full Gospel Mission in Ellensburg, Wash., and that he had his parents' permission to beat his way to his grandmother's home in Post, Tex.

The younger lad, reluctant to give up the journey, was turned over to his father and the Nichols boy held until his relatives can be communicated with.

BANDIT NOT LIKE LIGHTNING

He Hits Twice in Same Place, Repeating Performance Given at Ventura Store in October

VENTURA, Dec. 1.—Clerks gave a gasp of surprise at the Safeway Store No. 392, 1796 Thompson Boulevard, Saturday night at 9 o'clock when a hard-looking man tramped in the front door with a big automatic pistol leveled in his right hand.

They had a good reason to be surprised. He was the same robber that had held up the store on October 18, when he locked several customers and clerks in the big ice box and made off with $200 from the cash register.

The gunman had his former procedure down pat.

"This is a hold-up," he announced. "Stick up y'r hands."

As the three clerks and one customer complied, he tersely ordered: "Git into the ice box."

With R. E. Garland, 30 years of age; Dean Blurpon, 26, and Al Payne, 20, the staff of the store, and the one unidentified customer, locked tightly among cakes of ice, sides of meat and other perishable articles, the armed visitor proceeded to loot the place, taking $92.56 from the meat department, and $81.40 from the grocery division.

The store was robbed on May 5, also, when the rear door was broken through and $200 removed from a hiding place in a coffee grinder.

MOON SEEN AT CLOSE RANGE

New Telescope at San Bernardino

N. A. Richardson and Huge Reflector

Giant new telescope at the San Bernardino Valley Junior College, recently dedicated, and N. A. Richardson, chairman of the board of directors at the school. Richardson is a student of astronomy and it was through his influence that the telescope was obtained.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 1.—Students of San Bernardino Valley Junior College have the opportunity of looking at the moon and seeing it as it would appear if only 4000 miles away, following the dedication of the new telescope at the school by N. A. Richardson, chairman of the board of trustees, and himself a student of astronomy.

Shortly after the dedication, Richardson was stricken with illness and has not been able to give the students the benefit of his knowledge. He is progressing rapidly, however, and probably will soon be back at his hobby.

"If you can imagine bringing the moon as near to us as New York, then you have some idea of the many unusual sights which can be seen through our new telescope," said Frank B. Lindsay, instructor in astronomy, who is conducting classes nightly at the college. The glass is a Newtonian-type reflecting telescope and is said by Lindsay to be one of the best obtainable.

The telescope has a tube ten feet long, which houses a mirror having a diameter of sixteen inches and a focal length of 120 inches. The light from the mirror is focused on another mirror at an angle of 45 deg., which directs the light through a high-powered eyepiece on the side. A clock mounted on the telescope drives the tube so that it follows the star being observed. Three weights of 150 pounds each are placed in a position to balance the cylinder when it is being moved around.

The magnifying power is from 120 to 170 times that of the unaided eye. It is powerful enough for observing planetary objects, such as polar caps on Mars, rings of Saturn and belts and marks on Jupiter.

The polar axis has been set as it must be, parallel to the earth's axis, true north and south, and elevated above the horizon the exact latitude of San Bernardino.

The dome itself is fifteen feet in diameter, and can be moved around so that one may look out at any angle, the telescope being directed through an opening. A special staircase has been built for the accommodation of the observers.

Fred C. Hensen of Pasadena installed the equipment, being assisted by Dr. Sinclair Smith of the Mt. Wilson Observatory. The telescope was built by John E. Mellish of Chicago.

Redondo Opens Fete Thursday

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 1.—Preparations for the biggest pre-Christmas festival ever held here have been completed by the Retail Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce and will be formally opened on Thursday evening.

Artistic street decorations and colored lighting in the business district have been provided and prizes are being offered for store window and pageant displays.

Virtually every business house in the city is co-operating and will have appropriate decorations and displays ready for the event, which will continue through until Christmas Eve, with special entertainment at intervals during the three weeks of the festival.

Following the opening Thursday evening, the Redondo Beach Boosters' Association will give its annual prosperity ball and carnival, for which elaborate plans have been made. Additional lighting in the amusement zone and a new public-address system for broadcasting entertainment features through three separate sections of the amusement zone have been installed for the event. The latter feature is being made a permanent one, to supplement the regular Sunday and holiday entertainments which are furnished by the Boosters' Club.

Soft Pickings for This Thief

ONTARIO, Dec. 1.—Somewhere a thief is enjoying a nice soft mattress upon which to rest his undesirable bones, and members of the M. M. Wall family, 711 North Euclid avenue, would like to know who he is and where he is.

He stole the favorite matress from the Wall home.

While preparations were being made at the home to move into their new residence at 2035 North Euclid avenue, the mattress, a full-sized rug and other household equipment were placed on the porch. It hadn't lain there long before a thief, or party of them, drove up with a truck or dray, and hauled the mattress and other things away.

The rug was evidently too bulky to handle, so it was left on the lawn.

Mrs. John Herring, 633 East G street, is of the opinion the thief wanted to eat as well as sleep. He stole a half-case of eggs from her larder.

Work Starts on New Valley Park

RESEDA, Dec. 1. — Construction work on the new Reseda-Tarzana Park has started, and this first evidence of improvement is welcomed by property owners who have grown impatient with the apparent delay of the park department.

Tractors and grading crews are being directed by L. H. Cade. The outer curbing is to be built around the park tract and the grading process will smooth out a space from 150 to 300 feet wide at the border of the park adjoining Reseda Boulevard. This is to be planted to lawn with a background of shrubbery. Later, a miniature lake is to be dug after drainage engineers finish their work. This lake will be fringed with numerous beds of iris plants.

In keeping with a policy of the park department to have each of the city parks distinguished with a certain flower, it is understood iris will be the dominant one for the Reseda-Tarzana Park.

Manslaughter Case on Today

ONTARIO, Dec. 1.—Charged with manslaughter following the death of Miss Gloria Lopez, Chaffey Union High School instructor, in an automobile crash near Fontana October 5, L. W. Wadsworth, Los Angeles, will go to trial Tuesday morning before Superior Judge Charles L. Allison.

Miss Lopez was driving on Arrow route to Fontana to teach her class in Spanish. Wadsworth, it was charged, failed to bring his car to a halt at a boulevard stop and crashed into the machine driven by the young teacher. Miss Lopez was hurled into a tree and death was instantaneous.

Wadsworth told officers he did not see the "stop" sign and drove his car into Arrow route without stopping.

Archie Moore, another instructor at Chaffey, was on his way to Chaffey branch of the high school at Fontana and was closely following Miss Lopez's car and will be the principal witness at the hearing.

MANY INJURED AT POMONA

Unusually Heavy Toll in Week-end Traffic; Eight Hurt; Triple Crash Among Mishaps

POMONA, Dec. 1.—Automobile accidents here over the week-end took more than the usual toll, eight persons having suffered injuries in three accidents, the worst mix-up occurring when three cars figured in a triple crash at the intersection of Gordon and Alvarado streets, Sunday.

J. W. Holmes, 156 La Verne Road, received head and leg injuries of superficial nature, Mrs. L. J. Ray, and L. J. Ray, 441 San Francisco avenue, and Zelfredo Higgins, 441 San Francisco avenue, also suffered minor cuts and bruises, when cars driven by Holmes and Ray collided at Gordon and Alvarado streets, Sunday. Leo J. Beck of Chino had his car smashed slightly when the Holmes car overturned and struck his machine. Beck had stopped to give the car driven by Ray the right of way, he asserts.

Vincent Ostrea, 2124 West Twenty-fourth street, Los Angeles, and Lillian Hoffman, 2034 East Third street, Los Angeles, suffered cuts and bruises when a car driven by Jose Obillo of Santa Maria, and in which they were riding, ran into a tree on the Valley Boulevard three miles west of this city yesterday.

Arthur Taylor, 448 Formosa street, Hollywood, and Andrew Fraser, 326 North Kenmore avenue, Hollywood, were slightly injured when their car ran off the Valley Boulevard at Erie street this morning.

CASH GIVEN TO WALNUT GROWERS

Richland Association in Payment of $28,000, Part of Anticipated $168,500

ORANGE, Dec. 1.—A payment of $28,000 was forwarded today to growers affiliated with the Richland Walnut Association, it was announced by Andrew Smiley, plant manager, who said total receipts for the 1930 crop would probably amount to $168,500 by the time the walnuts have all been sold. Smiley, at the same time, announced that final shipments from the local association were moving forward today, officially winding up plant activities for the current season.

The checks mailed out this morning brought total receipts received by growers to date to 70 per cent of the total crop value, less 1 per cent per pound for local operating expenses.

The Richland plant handled 434 tons during the current season, which represents 50 per cent of last year's output of seedlings and 55 per cent of last year's buds.

Pointing out that pest-control work is bringing about results by eradication of worms and aphis in the groves, Smiley said this year's crop was of higher quality than any he has seen in the past ten years.

Gerber Tells of Conditions Seen on Tour

EAST HIGHLANDS, Dec. 1.—Clyde C. Gerber, former president of the San Bernardino County Farm Bureau and leading dairyman of this section, and Mrs. Gerber have just returned from a 12,000-mile automobile trip to the East and the Midwest and he is convinced that it will be months before the economic depression is removed.

Gerber believes there must be an entire readjustment and this is particularly true in the case of the farmers. He found, however, that dairymen in many sections of the country were having success because people have been convinced of the good of dairy products.

They went up to Canada and found that while most sections suffered terribly during the summer from drought there were some sections that had enough rain to get fair crops. In South Dakota their son became ill with infantile paralysis but prompt treatment at the Mayo clinic saved him from severe effects.

Gerber believes that the greatest suffering is in the industrial sections, where the readjustment that is going on has thrown thousands of people out of work entirely, or on part-time work. He was assured by those who know that after a time conditions will return to a normal basis.

Gardener Drops Dead at Azusa

AZUSA, Dec. 1. — While talking with a friend early today on his way to work, Marcus Miranda, 56 years of age, suddenly clutched his throat, then dropped dead, it was reported by local police.

Miranda, who comes from a well-established California Spanish family, had been doing garden work for H. Matney on Sierra Madre avenue.

Although he was born in Santa Barbara, he had lived in Azusa for fifty years. He leaves, besides brothers and sisters, his widow and eight children.

FATHERS AND SONS TO BANQUET FRIDAY

UPLAND, Dec. 1.—The annual father-and-son banquet is to be held at the First Methodist Church Friday evening in Crowell Hall, it was announced today. Dinner is to be served at 6:30 o'clock by the women of the congregation. George C. Foote, a magician, is to present a program of wizardry and Rev. George Cocking of Riverside is to be speaker. A full program of activity has been planned for the evening.

Inquest Today on Man Killed by P.E. Train

GLENDORA, Dec. 1.—Inquest into the death of Roy Charles Swiegert, 50 years of age, who was killed Saturday when struck by a Pacific Electric train, will be conducted tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at White's funeral parlors in Azusa, it was announced by the Coroner's office.

Swiegert was driving a light truck, which was completely demolished. The accident occurred at the intersection of Citrus avenue and Tenth street and parts of the car were strewn along the tracks for approximately 300 feet.

Thrown clear of the wreckage, Swiegert was unconscious when aid reached him. He was taken to the Monrovia Hospital by an ambulance, where he lived for only a few minutes, never regaining consciousness.

Following an autopsy yesterday it was stated that the man died from concussion of the spine, fracture of the pelvis and other internal injuries.

He leaves a brother and an aged mother. Funeral services will be announced later.

Druggist Prizes Colonial Bill

ONTARIO, Dec. 1.—A $4 bill issued by the colony of New Hampshire, January 26, 1776, is the proud possession of H. W. Kendrick, local druggist at 110 West A street, the bill having been given to him by his father, the late H. P. Kendrick of Lebanon, N. H.

The bill was issued by the colony before it became one of the United States and while the colony was freeing itself from Great Britain. It measures three and one-half by three inches and bears the inscription: "The possessor of this bill shall be paid by the treasurer of this colony four dollars by the twenty-sixth day of January, 1784; which bill shall be received for the aforesaid sum in all payments at the treasury, and all other payments.

"By order of the Council and Assembly." Two signatures are dimly discernible on the bill, J. Smith and P. White, "committee." It also bears the number 166, and the words "For Liberty."

On the other side are the words "Four Dollars" and "Portsmouth, printed by Daniel Fowle, 1776."

CHAMBER WILL HAVE INDUSTRIAL OFFICE

TORRANCE, Dec. 1.—A project whereby an industrial office, separate from the present Chamber of Commerce, can be installed to work with the chamber in securing further industrial development here, has been announced by the directors of the Chamber. The new office will be set up as soon as a secretary-manager can be secured for the department and will occupy a part of the Chamber Building, working in connection with that organization, but relieved of the routine duties of the chamber. Whether Executive Secretary Carl Hyde, who is well qualified for either the secretarial post or as the manager of the industrial department, will be transferred to the latter post, will depend upon the material available for the new situation, the directors decided today.

CHRISTMAS PREVIEW SET

Ventura Merchants Will Stage Their Annual Display Tonight in Business District

VENTURA, Dec. 1.—Ventura merchants will stage their annual Christmas preview Tuesday night. Show windows of all downtown stores, containing displays of the latest fashionable merchandise, will be unveiled at 7 p.m. At the same moment, thousand of colored lights on silver Christmas trees, which have been erected on lamp posts along Main between Fir and Figueroa streets, and along Oak and California between Main and Santa Clara streets, will be illuminated.

Coinciding with the window unveiling and tree-lighting, two bands will start parades from different intersections on Main street. The drum and bugle corps of the Poinsettia City Post, American Legion, will march from Fir, and the Ventura Community Band will start from the old mission.

After the large crowds of spectators expected have had one hour in which to gaze at the brilliantly decorated store windows and enjoy themselves generally with the music and decorations, three Santa Clauses and two Merchants' Bureau representatives will start the distribution of candy and Santa Claus masks to children at five street corners between Fir and Figueroa on Main at 8 p.m.

Additional decorations will be added to the silver trees and lights along the big artery today, in order to put more "zip" into the scenery. Two three-foot green wreaths are to be placed at the base of the trees on each lamp standard.

BODY FOUND BY HIKERS IN HILLS

Half-Skeletonized Remains Discovered at Pasadena

Aviator's Watch Fob Clew to Owner's Identity

Hole in Skull and Pistol at Side Indicate End

PASADENA, Dec. 1.—Marked with a skull and cross-bones, an aviator's watch fob provides a clew which police hope may result in the identification of the body of a man found in the hills east of the Church of the Angels by hikers last night. The body, half-skeletonized by at least six months' exposure to the elements, is at the Reynolds & Eberle mortuary awaiting identification.

A hole in the victim's skull and an automatic pistol of Spanish make, found a few feet from the body, indicate that the man ended his life after seeking a remote spot in the hills, according to Detective Lieutenants Robert O'Rourke and Clair Corbin.

So far as could be ascertained, the remains are those of a middle-aged man of more than average height and weight. The hair appears to have been brown or red tinged with gray. The body was clothed with a dark suit, brown felt hat, white shirt with stays in the collar, and black "Delmar" oxfords. The man's teeth contained an unusual amount of bridge work.

The belt buckle bears the initial "G." The only distinctive marks of identification are the aviator's sterling silver and black enamel watch charm, and the unusual tying of the shoe laces. The laces, according to the detectives, are tied in a distinctive, but regular pattern.

Two Vessels to Take 'Whoopee' Parties South

ENSENADA, Dec. 1.—To accommodate Southern Californians who wish to make "whoopee" New Year's Eve here, where the Volstead Act is just "a scrap of paper," two steamers are to be placed in service by the Admiral Line, according to an announcement just made by R. B. Schutten, assistant general passenger agent, and director-general of the traffic to this west coast port.

In bringing the throngs here to celebrate the advent of 1931 the Dorothy Alexander will share responsibility with the Admiral Rogers. This will make it possible for more than 500 merrymakers to make the ocean excursion here, where plans are already in preparation for the gayest New Year's Eve this quaint little resort has ever known.

The schedule calls for the Dorothy to leave Wilmington at 10 p.m. Tuesday, the 30th inst., and arrive here the following afternoon and leaving at 5 a.m. on New Year's Day to reach Wilmington at 7 p.m. the same night. The Rogers will sail at 8 p.m. Wednesday, the 31st inst., from Wilmington and will arrive here one hour later than the Dorothy, but will remain in this Mexican port until noon on January 1, tying up at Wilmington at 7 a.m. Friday, January 2.

Reservations already made indicate that both steamers will be loaded to capacity, and the new Playa Ensenada Hotel and Casino is making preparations to entertain hundreds of celebrants.

Steinbarger in Change of Post

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 1.—John L. Steinbarger, for six years manager of the Commercial and Regent branch of the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, today assumed the managership of the West Los Angeles branch of that system, succeeding Frank L. Slusher, deceased.

During his business life here Steinbarger has contributed largely of his time and energies to all movements for community development, and his appointment to the new managership, which was announced here yesterday, will necessitate the filling of many important civic positions which his removal from the business life of the city will leave vacant. He is resigning as director and treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, of which he has served as a director for three consecutive terms; president one term and treasurer two terms.

He is also leaving this city as treasurer of the local Rotary Club and chairman of its fellowship committee; chairman of the streets and highways safety committee and member of the executive committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce, Southern Region; member of the advisory council of the Los Angeles County Taxpayers' Association, and president of the Centinela Valley School Savings Association. He is past president of the Centinela Valley Bankers' Association and also of the Inglewood Credit Association.

Prior to coming to California in 1924, Steinbarger was connected for fifteen years with the First National Bank of Lewistown, Mont., as cashier and director. He began his business career in Columbus, O., where he received his early banking experience in the Commercial National Bank, the Hayden-Clinton National Bank and the City National Bank.

TWO TOURISTS DIE IN CRASH

Man and Wife Killed When Truck Hits Auto

Several Other Persons Hurt Seriously in Traffic

Hospital Report Shows Huge Gain in Accidents

While Georgia-street Hospital was adding up its accident cases and finding it had handled more than ninety-three cases a day in November, two dead, another probably mortally injured, and several seriously injured were added yesterday to the traffic toll.

The exact number of accident cases handled in November was 2793, of which 80 per cent resulted from automobile mishaps. In the previous October 2626 were handled, and in November, 1929, the total was 2404, showing a steady increase.

KILLED BY TRUCK

The two killed yesterday were Robert V. Nitzche, Sr., 56 years of age, and his wife, Letitia, 49, tourists from White Bluff, Wash., who with their 19-year-old son, Robert V. Nitzche, Jr., had been occupying a cabin at the Lincoln Park Auto Camp, 4101 Alhambra Road.

The son was driving the family car yesterday, with his parents as passengers, when it was struck by a gravel truck in front of the camp. The father was instantly killed; one of Mrs. Nitzche's legs was torn off, and the other had to be amputated at Georgia-street Hospital. She died last evening. The son escaped with minor hurts.

John Leich, 60, living at the Bible Institute, was struck by an automobile at Tenth street and Grand avenue driven by C. E. Conway of 2869 South Marino street and suffered a skull fracture. He was taken to Georgia-street Hospital.

SKULL FRACTURED

Le Roy Bethel, 24, of 942 West Eighty-second street, suffered a skull fracture in a collision at Jefferson street and Grand avenue between his motorcycle and an automobile driven by Robert A. Bidler of 5424 South Wilton Place.

Two truck drivers were seriously injured when they sought to avoid a collision between their machines on Valley Boulevard near Puente yesterday. Albert Lenton, 57, driver of one truck and Robert Hillen, Jr., driver of the other machine, were the victims. In trying to avoid a collision both men lost control of their trucks and drove into the ditch. They were taken to the California Hospital.

David S. Schwartz, 1104 West G street, is in a dying condition at the California Hospital as the result of injuries he received when struck by a car driven by C. W. Atwell, 1037 West One Hundred and Second street. His skull was fractured and an arm was broken.

G. E. Hicks, injured in an automobile-truck crash in Downey last Sunday night, died last night in Valley Hospital, Downey. Tom Walker, Santa Ana resident, driver of the automobile which police said struck Hicks's truck, was booked on a manslaughter charge. Mrs. Mary Hicks, the traffic victim's widow, is in the same hospital suffering from a fractured skull, received in the crash which killed her husband.

Blame for Dog Death Argued in $30,000 Suit

Just who was responsible for the untimely demise of "Shanty," a member of a troupe of performing Scotch terriers known as "Le Groh's Piano Hounds," was debated in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday, in the $30,000 suit filed by W. H. Groh, owner of the late "Shanty," against the Los Angeles Transfer Company.

Groh contends that the dog died as a result of carelessness of employees of the transfer company. Attorney P. B. Plumb for the defense, declares that the dog must have been ill, or it wouldn't have died during its transport.

Miss Charlotte Groh declared the animal's death resulted from injuries.

Groh, in explaining why "Shanty" was worth $10,000, described a "dog football game" in which the deceased pet acted as referee. He asked $20,000 more damages, he said, because of loss of time in staging the dog act.

Attorney John M. Bowen represented Groh. The case will be continued today.

Shakespearean Actor Freed of One Charge

Following a reversal of his petty-theft conviction by the Appellate Division of Superior Court, charges against Alexander Light, Shakespearean actor, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Curtis.

The dismissal was granted at the request of Deputy City Prosecutor Jack, who said he did not have sufficient evidence to warrant a retrial. Light was sentenced to jail for a year by Municipal Judge Bogue after he had been convicted by a jury of theft of $169 from Clara Vogelsong, a school teacher, who declared she had paid the money for costumes and instruction in acting and did not receive full value.

Light is scheduled to appear in Superior Court next Friday for hearing on probation on check charges. He was accused of cashing a check for $35 without having funds to cover.

SHOW BIRDS PREENED TO WIN PRIZES

Annual Poultry Exhibit Will Be Opened Today at Shrine Auditorium

Feathered aristocrats from poultry farms of almost every State in the country will vie for honors at the fifth annual Los Angeles county midwinter poultry show, which opens at the Shrine Civic Auditorium today. The show is under the sponsorship of the Greater Southern California Poultry Association.

On exhibition will be standard bred turkeys, geese, chickens and pigeons. The pigeon exhibit will be under the auspices of the Los Angeles Pigeon Club. In conjunction with the poultry show also will be an exhibition of fur-bearing rabbits. Manufacturers of incubators, brooders, chicken feed, etc., have pretentious displays.

One of the features will be the baby chicken exhibit under the direction of M. A. Schofield, a recognized authority, of Vista. An egg exhibit under the direction of Frank W. Newburg of Santa Barbara is expected to be the center of much interest.

C. P. Scott, president of the Rhode Island Red Club of America, will judge the poultry in this class, and A. C. Smith, professor of poultry hubandry, will judge all other breeds. The show will close Sunday night.

Prize winning posters made by high school pupils to advertise the show were selected by a committee of judges yesterday, so they might be exhibited today at the opening. First prize was awarded John Peacock of the Glendale High School; second prize went to Howard Droneweth of the same school; third prize was won by Sarah Wheeler of the Alhambra City School, and Joseph Wallace of the same school won fourth prize.

CHEST AID TO CHILDREN INCREASES

Chairman Receives Report That 5000 Youngsters Get Free Food and Milk

Five thousand school children in Los Angeles are being given free food and milk daily by the Los Angeles Tenth District Parent-Teacher Association, a Community Chest agency, according to a report to Campaign Chairman Kerr of the Community Chest. The statement reports this is 1000 more children than received the same service a year ago, and indications point to a still greater increase as the winter advances, due to unemployment.

Chairman Kerr said: "It should be considered that these little fellows are the children of parents who are too poor to give them the money with which to pay for a 10-cent lunch and a 3-cent half-pint bottle of milk. Without the assistance of the Community Chest fund these thousands of youngsters would not be able to remain in school—they would be in a sad plight.

"If you who read this statement have not already subscribed, or are in a position to materially increase your subscription, please do so at once. Telephone headquarters, WEstmore 7351, and a special solicitor will be sent for your subscription. Persons desiring to mail in their subscriptions should address them to the Los Angeles Community Chest, 216 Chamber of Commerce Building."

Three Chinese Sentenced by Federal Judge

Three Chinese, each accused of violating the Harrison Narcotic Act, pleaded guilty yesterday in United States District Court and each was sentenced to jail or prison terms.

George Way, who asserts he is an American citizen, and who was arrested at Fresno with seventy-five taels of smoking opium, admitted the charge and was sentenced by United States District Judge Cosgrave to two years at McNeil Federal prison and to pay a fine of $500.

When Wong Tuck pleaded guilty to possession of narcotics he was sentenced to a year in Fresno County Jail and to pay a fine of $1[illegible]. Lee Gin, 73 years of age, pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was sentenced to eleven months in Santa Barbara County Jail.

Ex-Investigator for Education Board Arrested

Accused of posing as a police officer and extorting $50 from R. A. Parker of 3286 Larga street, Warren F. Summers, former investigator for the Board of Education yesterday was named defendant in a felony complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Colegrove.

The complaint charges that Summers representing himself to be an officer demanded $50 as "protection" money from Parker. Parker paid the money, but arranged with police to arrest Summers a few minutes later.

SECURITIES COMPANY FRAUD CASE HELD U

Absence of Robert O'Neill, defense attorney who was reported ill, yesterday caused the trial of W. W. Costello, J. J. Costello and Frank Creasey to be deferred until today in Superior Judge Schmidt's court. The three defendants are accused of defrauding clients of the Commonwealth Securities Company of approximately $40,000. The indictment charges eleven counts of grand theft.
